PACIFIC RAILROADS.

Representative McGuire Will Oppose the Funding Bill

AND STATES HIS REASONS WHY.

When the Interest on $27,000,000 Amounts to $250,000,000, it is Better to Pay the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Representative McGuire, of California, will make vigorous opposition to the effort to take up the Pacific railroad funding bill. He will also contest the measure on the floor. If Chairman Reilly succeeds in having Speaker Crisp fix a time for the bill before the holidays, said Mr. McGuire: "It is true the bonds are about to mature and the government will have to meet them, but it has been paying interest on the bonds for years and those payments for interest reach the amazing figure of $250,000,000, while the principal is only $27,000,000. There should be no alarm therefore over the payment of the principal, when the government has already paid out twice as much as the principal.

The main objection to the pending bill is that it extends for fifty years the absolute dominion of the Pacific over the traffic of the West. It also limits the security of the government to certain designated roads. It will be better if Congress lets the subject alone and makes no adjustment, rather than make use of disadvantages to the government and to western development.

McGuire was asked, if Congress did not act, whether the Pacific roads would not lapse into government control. "Undoubtedly they would," said he, "and it would be a practical realization of government ownership of railways. It would not be necessary for the government to operate them, however, unless private interests refused to carry them on. Their foreclosure to the government would follow the course of any other mortgage forfeiture, and the actual assumption of government proprietorship would come some time between January 1, 1895 and January 1899."

THE NEW REMEDY.

Anti-Toxine on Trial in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—The first trial in this city of antitoxine cure for croup and diphtheria is in progress, and the results thus far encourage hope of the success of the new remedy.

The disease under treatment is that of laryngeal diphtheria, otherwise a virulent croup, and the patient is an infant of seventeen months. The child is of Italian parents. When summoned the physician, Dr. E. L. De Corral, found the babe in an almost hopeless condition, and the usual remedies produced no improvement. He procured some anti-toxine from the board of health. Hypodermic injections produced a remarkable change in the child's condition, but Dr. De Corral says it will be necessary to wait the normal period, to complete the apparent cure.

Mining Man Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—A mining man named W. C. Bennett, who came to this state recently from St. Paul, Minn., has been missing to his friends here for several weeks past, and they are considerably worried about him. He has of late been operating in the vicinity of Grass valley, but his enterprises have not been financially successful.

In St. Paul Bennett was at one time a prominent man in real estate circles, and was noted for his enterprise and business qualifications.

Pigeon Relief Cases.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 8.—Since the filing of charges against District Attorney Fellows, the court of appeals' office has had filed with it a large number of pigeon-relief cases from district attorneys all over the state, some of them dating back for many years. One of them was the people against Carl Fuller, and is just twelve years old.

Carl Fuller was indicted in Brooklyn on the ninth of January, 1882, for selling lottery policies. He was tried and found guilty and sentenced on the 4th day of February to be imprisoned in the county penitentiary for six months and pay a fine of $250. He appealed to the supreme court and Judges Dykman, Barnard and Pratt, in December, 1884, denied the appeal. He appealed to the court of appeals and the case is filed in December, 1894, not ten years after the final judgment. The convicted man, it is understood, has never been imprisoned or fined.

POISONED MOLASSES.

The Bleached Article Containing Sulphate of Zinc.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8.—A startling method of adulteration of New Orleans molasses came to the attention of the State Dairy and Food Commissioner McNeal. A very extensive dealer in molasses and preserves sent him two samples of the molasses—one "bleached" and the other "unbleached." Those who purchase this article are aware that a large amount of light colored New Orleans molasses is on the market. The manufacturer in question states that this "bleached" article is the unbleached with sulphate of zinc added. The zinc is poisonous. The manufacturer in question says he has been forced to bleach his syrup in this manner in order to compete with the New Orleans wholesalers who first inaugurated the practice. His conscience troubles him at the idea of selling an article that is necessarily injurious to the health and for that reason he calls Dr. McNeal's attention to it in the hope that he may be able to check the sale of the bleached article.

He also sent a bottle of the bleaching solution, which is made by treating powdered burnt sugar with sulphurous acid. Dr. McNeal will follow the matter up at once and attempt to stop the sale of bleached syrup in Ohio.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 8.—Word has reached this city from the interior of Canada that Carl Beardsley, the University of Michigan student who mysteriously disappeared from this city while attending the Cornell-Michigan football game on Thanksgiving Day, has been found there hopelessly unbalanced mentally. Previously he said to have been the victim of his condition.

For Something.

PARIS, Ill., Dec. 8.—The Christian county grand jury indicted seventeen combined members of Paris for gaming, and suddenly adjourned just as similar cases were to be brought in relation from Taylorville and Morrisonville. There was also a sensational case from Paris about to be sprung when that jury adjourned, after being in session but a few days. The Paris gamblers will pay a fine of $27 each.

HAYWARD'S CONFESSION.

Adry Says His Brother Planned the Murder of Miss Ging.

The Motive For the Crime Was to Secure the Insurance Money On Her Life.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 8.—Adry Hayward has confessed. Harry Hayward planned the murder of Miss Catherine Ging, and C. A. Bilat, an engineer of the Ozark fleet, committed the deed. Bilat was arrested early this morning and locked up in Central station. After committing the bloody deed Bilat returned to the city and disposed of some of his clothes to a workhouse prisoner named Erickson. Mr. Erickson left next morning for Iowa Falls, Iowa, where his wife is employed in a hotel and there had the clothing washed. He returned to Minneapolis and sold some of the clothing to a pawn broker on Washington avenue, south. The remainder of the clothing was undoubtedly turned in to furnace in Clark's flats. The motive for the crime was the securing of the insurance on Miss Ging's life.

NUMEROUS TRAMPS.

They Kill Their Companions and Rob Them.

FORTORIA, Ohio, Dec. 8.—In a fight between tramps in a box car on the Baltimore and Ohio train, two persons were killed and another fatally wounded. The fight occurred about midnight last night. The murder was not discovered until the train had reached this city. The dying tramp, names Harris, says the murderers alighted from the train before it reached Fortoria. Harris gave the names of his companions as Lonse and Morgan. He stated that the men who did the shooting were driven out of a gamble yesterday and boarded the train at Auburn. The shooting was solely for the purpose of robbery. Sixteen dollars was stolen from Harris and considerable amounts from his companions.

"Resolved, That we act inside of the law, until the present session of the legislature closes, and if a fair election law is passed, as well as a fair mineral law, by which the last state election can be fairly contested, we will stand by the result in the contest, but if the legislature shall fail or refuse to pass the two acts above referred to, or shall pass any oppressive laws, then we shall call upon the chairman of our executive committee to call a state convention to consider the situation and adopt some line of action by which we shall be given our rights."

MURDER WILL OUT.

The Chicago Mystery Clearing Up—Arrests Made.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—John B. Jerzy today confessed that he, together with Edward Jordan, murdered A. D. Barnes, whose mutilated body was found in the Fisech shipping case yesterday. Both Jerzy and Jordan are under arrest. They were employes of Barnes, and the motive for the crime is thought to have been rivalry between Jordan and Barnes for the chief lieutenancy of the Hawaiian battlery, which position the murdered man held. Jordan being his first assistant.

Jordan has exhibited remarkable coolness throughout, having been the first to identify the body.

Jerzy said Jordan, on the afternoon of the murder, gave him some money, told him to get a few drinks and to back to work at 8 o'clock that night. When he reappeared Jordan asked him to carry up the shipping case, and on doing, some tools fell from the box and fell into Jerzy's sleeve. He asked Jordan what that meant, and the latter told him there was a dead man in the box, and he had better keep quiet. Really scared, Jerzy kept silent until the terrors of the situation wrung the story from him.

The police place little confidence in the burglary story told by Heller.

THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Less than twenty-five members were present when the House was called to order at noon today. In the morning hour Mallory (Dem., Fla.) from the committee on internal commerce, called up the bill to provide the efficiency of the revenue cutters. The bill provides for the retirement of officers of the service incapacitated by the reason of infirmities of age or physical or mental disabilities. Mallory, Goodlet (Dem., Md.) and Covert (Dem., N. Y.) supported the bill, but it was assailed by Clark (Missouri), who deliberately avowed his intention of talking it to death. Clark's speech was characteristic, humorous and audacious to the point of sensationalism, and it kept the House in a confusion of laughter, cheers and jeers.

The morning hour expired without action and Brown (Dem., Md.) gave notice that Thursday next he would call up the contested election case of Williams vs. Settle. The House then resumed the consideration of the railroad funding bill.

LITERARY NOTE.

"Pat, a Christmas Tale of the Western," is the title of a little story by Alfred Lambourne, that cannot fail to be of much interest to local readers. It is built upon incidents familiar to mining communities and the scene is in Cottonwood canyon. It hinges upon the snowslide, a subject which the author seems to have studied closely and handled with great skill. A mountaineer encounter the avalanche of snow have furnished incidents for many a thrilling story, and Mr. Lambourne's effort to add a score of that kind to the models of Western range, the Alps of the West, will be received with interest. The little volume is profusely illustrated with views of local scenery, giving an idea of the mountains during the different seasons, as well as of the wonderfully beautiful lakes that feed our clear mountain streams. The book will be offered to the public shortly before Christmas, and as it is richly artistic in every respect, it will be an excellent gift, proper for that season. It is a work calculated to inspire love for home and admiration of nature and will be an adornment to any library.

"Molecular Forces."

Dr. Talmage's lecture on molecular attraction, at the L. D. S. College building last night, drew a large and highly interested audience, which was composed mostly of young people. The lecturer began by expounding the meaning of the term "molecule," etc., and now the various forces are exerted, being known to us under the names of gravity, magnetism, and kindred attractive and repellants. In illustrating the various features of his lecture a number of articles were used—a piece of India rubber, a stick of crayon, pieces of lead, a leaf of gold, besides various appliances to show the force of capillary attraction. The tendency of liquids to form spheres was beautifully shown in a large flask in which colored fluids were mixed and allowed to separate, forming beautiful colored globules of various sizes, each keeping separate from the other, one representing the sun, and the earth, with their satellites of various dimensions. An amusing illustration was also given of the tendency of the air to cling to surrounding bodies by blowing out a lighted candle behind a bottle, and the failure to perform the same act by blowing at the candle between two bottles, though the space between them was half an inch.
