AMONG THE PIGMIES.

Queer Inhabitants in Unexplored Regions of Guatemala.

REPORT OF A CHICAGO PROFESSOR

Inexhaustible Silver Mines in Mexico—Mineral Resources of that Country.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Frederick A. Starr, professor of anthropology in the University of Chicago, has just returned from a three months' trip through unexplored portions of Guatemala and Mexico. Prof. Starr's object in making the trip was to visit all the tribes in the two countries whom, in his trip last summer, he had heard so highly praised, and to find the pygmy tribe which was supposed to live somewhere about there. The professor spent two days among the Maya, the famous tribe known, who are supposed to retain some of the mystical instincts of their ancestors. The professor and his companion, a German political refugee, had no trouble in getting along with them.

In speaking of his trip, Prof. Starr was very enthusiastic. The results he said, had been so successful and the tribes so promising that he expects to return there October 1st. He says "The state of Chiapas is attracting much attention at present on account of its coffee, and American capital is flowing in at a great rate. Every possibility or piece of ground available for coffee growing is being seized upon by speculators."

Prof. Starr said the country offered special facilities for research in his line. In Oaxaca 100 different languages are spoken, thirteen in Chiapas and twenty-six in Guatemala. Tribes indicative of many different tribes of people and the opportunity to study them is extraordinary. Concerning the pigmies and whether the existence of the country might not be discovered from the mountain life, the professor said: "I think that all tribes in the country, but in no case was there any connection between them and the little people. Credible, as the tribes are calling are descendants of pygmy people. Dwarfs is a disease that is covered by the scale of the people drink, and the descendants of the pygmies people are mostly deaf, dumb and idiots. The small people are not dwarfs and retain all their faculties. There are so many of them that it is impossible to call them freaks, but I could not find any pygmy tribe from which they descended, but I believe there is such a tribe."

Prof. O. T. Farrington, curator of geology of the Field Columbian Museum, one just returned from a three months' trip to Mexico. The object of his trip was to study the mineral resources of the country and to collect specimens of the same and others illustrating volcanic and glacial phenomena. The famous silver mines of Guanajuato, Zacatecas and Zacatecas were visited and Prof. Farrington says of them:

"Although many of these mines have been worked for more than 300 years, they still seem inexhaustible. The labor supply is unlimited, the silver is all done by hand, and the silver is extracted by what is called the patio process. In some of the mines controlled by Americans or Englishmen, machinery has been introduced, reducing the cost but has not always proven profitable.

"The Mexicans impress me as a civil, patient and mild-mannered, industrious people, who under the right government with the law now enjoy and will when more is brought in contact with civilization, will become one of the strong nations of the Americas. They are credited to the American and expressions admiration for our country and its institutions."

Small Craft for a Long Voyage.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Frank and "Tony" Cassiano of Brooklyn, have completed a twenty-foot sloop in the mariner's ship at the Battery. The sloop was completed at Nyack, N. Y., in five days and it is built of cedar and cedar and the builders intend to attempt a voyage from this port to south shipping in her. They will start May 27.

A MURDEROUS BOY.

Arrested for Alleged Attempts to Poison a Family.

EDMONDS, Ore., April 14.—One Fulmonger, a lad 12 years old, was arrested on a charge of poisoning his father's family. He was found in the house of Mr. Hiram Smith, a widow who lives on a farm adjoining that of the Fulmongers. For some time the Smith family have felt that they were the victims of persecution, as repeated attempts had been made to poison the entire family by scattering poison about the house and vegetables.

O. O. Garrison, a detective, was applied to a special officer to detect the malefactor. He disguised and visited the house on Saturday. Mrs. Smith was away from home, but one of the little girls was left to keep watch. She saw the boy come with a tin box and put something into the pump. The next day the boy was working about the outside house and was struck over the head with a hoe. He was knocked to the floor by the blow and left unconscious. Other evidence was secured against the boy which sufficient was obtained to warrant his arrest. It is supposed that Fulmonger's act is the result of some quarrel between the families.

Hotel Men's Convention.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 14.—It was nearly daylight this morning before the last of the delegates to the seventeenth annual convention of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit association reached Los Angeles. They were detained six hours waited, but the snow storm in Arizona delayed them. A royal welcome was extended to the delegates, and the ride from Barstow to this city. Was exceedingly pleasant after the tedious journey through mountains and desert.

The program today began with the opening of the convention at 10 o'clock.

In the afternoon a carriage drive was taken through the orange and lemon groves, the delegates will go to Santa Monica, where a rail will round out the day's pleasure.

Wilson in Italy.

NEW YORK, April 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Rome says: The German emperor has invited the Prince of Naples to the grand maneuvers of Brandenburg next autumn. Gen. Von Kaulbelsdik, the German military attache, has a long conference with General Ricotti, the minister of war.

Signor Crispi says that the statement to the effect that he had asked but had been refused an audience with the emperor is untrue. He never asked for the audience.

The Herald further further asserts that in spite of the importance that has been attached to it in diplomatic circles, the meeting at Venice was not worthy of such attention. He also stated that the emperor had intended to evacuate Kassala, but that the indignation shown by the people when the proposal was made caused the emperor to change their minds." Signor Crispi stated he will on Monday to bring about his own return to power.

Death's Harvest.

LEROY, April 14.—John F. McClennie, aged 34 years, died last night. He was a cousin of Vice President Stevenson and was superintendent of the system of the Illinois at Bloomington. He was recently operated on at Chicago for cancerous tumor. He leaves a wife and several children. He was a brother of James McKenzie, of Kentucky, minister to Paris.

JAPAN AGGRESSIVE.

The Spirit of the Western World Has Penetrated that Country.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, April 14.—Bishop Warren, of the M. E. church, returning from his mission-ary trip around the world, was accorded a warm reception at the Methodist missionary meeting yesterday where he delivered addresses. Dr. Walden talked of China, Japan and India, speaking mostly on Japan. During the last seven months he has traveled 15,000 miles.

He said Japan is not a heathen nation, but is aggressive. The spirit of the western world has penetrated that country, but it has not yet had its effect on morals of Christianity. The educational system is good but it is conducted by those who were taught to live as godless and with instead of man and mass.

"The Methodist church should not attempt to Americanize the Japanese and Chinese, but to evangelize them, and the time is coming when there will be a Japanese Methodist from top to bottom."

THE DEVISHES MASSING.

Not Dervishes Reported to Flock into Suakim.

NEW YORK, April 14.—A dispatch to the Herald from Cairo says: The Emir of Dongola is moving northward with a considerable force. Some report his having passed Abou Fatmeh, 70 miles south of Suakim, to join the Dervishes who are massing at the latter place, whence he is sent for from the Egyptian outpost at Asseuan.

The opinion is held at Egyptian headquarters that a considerable difficulty will be met by the Dervishes from breaking any formidable advance north of Suakim.

The prestige of Osman Digna is reported to be on the wane, and it is likely to be still further compromised by his defeat by friendly Arabs near Tamai. Desertions from the forces are coming in daily.

It appears highly probable that there will be more fighting in the immediate future. Dongolese authorities profess that that the ruling of the mikes (Dervish) will be carried out. A tolerably large force is assembled at Dongola, which is to be joined by a force from Berber, and it is said that the Dervishes are massing in the neighborhood of Suakim.

Dispatches Have Been Sent to the Sheriff.

PUEBLO, Colo., April 14.—The Western Union telegraph office at this place have received a dispatch from Mariano to Pueblo, thirty-five miles, giving Pueblo a direct connection with all points between El Paso, Texas, and Los Angeles, Cal.

A Blow to Prohibition.

YANKTON, S. D., April 14.—The supreme court has given positions in decisions which will be in favor of allowing the Yankton city attorney to bring suit. Tom Dunham, a saloonkeeper, arrested by a city police for selling liquor without a city license, appealed to the district court where the verdict was sustained. Again he appealed to the supreme court which tribunal now decided that the city was the right to require a license.

Frightened to Death.

CLEARINGHOUSE, Iowa, April 14.—Mrs. John L. Gard of Clearinghouse was frightened to death last evening. She heard a noise in the street and rushed to the door just in time to see a runaway team pass by. The driver's coat had fallen and wound about the lines which it wrapped around the horses's legs. The woman died in minutes thereafter. Dr. Walden talked of China, Japan and India, speaking mostly on Japan. During the last seven months he has traveled 15,000 miles.

THE CUBA DILEMMA.

The Spanish Government Does Not Accept Cleveland's Offer,

NOR ARE THEY WILLING TO FIGHT.

The Premier Refuses to Be Interviewed, but Is Has a Conversation from Washington.

LONDON, April 14.—A dispatch from Madrid to the Pall Mall Gazette says: Senor Canovas del Castillo, the Spanish premier, is ill and cannot be interviewed. His relatives, however, confirm the existence of a "memorandum" from President Cleveland, but in the present state of public feeling it will be impossible for the government to accept his offer. Matters are very complicated and, while the government will do everything in its power to avoid a quarrel with the United States, it will prefer to fight rather than let Cuba through foreign pressure. The coming Cortes will grant Cuba every reasonable franchise to be enjoyed under the Spanish flag.

SERIOUS AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Nothing is known at the state department of any such communication from President Cleveland to the Spanish government. Senor Castillo, as reported to the interview from Madrid. It is admitted, however, that the minister has talked into the Spanish politics and is perhaps using therefrom more or less distorted to serve party purposes.

Come to Austria.

VIENNA, April 14.—The emperor and empress of Germany, and suite, arrived from Venice this morning.

NICARAGUA CANAL AND PACIFIC CABLE.

Two Questions Considered by the House Committee on Commerce.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Nicaragua canal and Hawaiian cable questions were considered by the House committee on commerce today and no votes were taken on any of the bills. It was decided to oppose Bailey of the question of reporting the canal bill to the house without recommendation. Tomorrow the committee will probably enter upon the consideration of the government's alliance with the Pacific Cable company, of New Jersey, of which Col. Spalding of the Hawaiian Islands is president, which is claimed to be a monopoly in the favorable terms of the company. The resolution was adopted by a vote of ten to four, expressing the sense of the committee to be that the government should aid by a subsidy the condition of the Pacific cable. Neither of the two rival companies which are competing for government patronage was named in the resolution and no terms were suggested.

DANNEMORA, N. Y., April 14.—Joseph Donnel was put to death in the state prison by electricity at Clinton today. He murdered his sweetheart, Theresa Kennie, by cutting her throat with a razor on August 24, 1895. Jealousy was the cause.

Senator Tillman in Denver.

DENVER, April 14.—Senator Tillman arrived in Denver this morning. He was met by a delegation of leading Democrats. Tonight a public reception will be held at the Oxford and Vendome, and tomorrow night he will address the state Democratic convention. He said the outlook is altogether favorable for the Democratic convention to be controlled by the free silver wing. He probably will not leave Denver until Tuesday.

"I am a Democrat," said Senator Tillman today to Mayor McMurray. "Nothing would be pleasanter to me than a week of service in the free silver Republican of Colorado, and Senator Teller in the St. Louis convention as chairman of the delegation with instructions, which he will doubtless obey, to lead the delegation from the convention hall for the nominee McKinley or any other gold bug is nominated for President, or any other platform than one demanding free silver. Without meaning the success of England."

He concluded: "The country is going to hell, let us show the world that we know it and that we are determined to interfere."

THE VENEZUELAN COMMISSION.

Reports by the Individual Members—Hope Submitted.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Venezuelan commission met today after ten days' recess with all the members present. The time was consumed in reading the reports from the individual members upon the progress they are making with the difficult subject of investigation entrusted to them. Perhaps, among the Venezuelan government, submitted city maps and charts which were receiving consideration. Also he had presented a few translations of documents included in the mass of evidence prepared at Caracas and transmitted to the commission through Minister Andrade.

Word has come from London to the effect that the British government is preparing a supplement to the blue book containing translations of documents generally referred to in the first volume, which is expected to reach Washington soon, by carrying the investigation of the blue book—and which the commissioners—the British government is to be invited to follow the course pursued by Venezuela and submit to the commission and that there will be no complaint of not being allowed to be represented by counsel.

THE SENATE.

All the senators congratulated him and received congratulations from many of his associates.

Shortly after the session opened Mr. Hill moved that the Tuesday next after the morning hour be devoted to the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill. Mr. Morgan (Ala.) then was recognized for a speech on the real estate of Hawaii.

Mr. Morgan said all the evidence taken by the committee on foreign relations is admissible in the cause. The decision of the chair of a character involving a matter of nothing modern artillery. Texas, since he were assuming that in the case of war, not which people would suffer immediately. He concluded: "We are entitled as a nation with a sense of deep sorrow and sinking sadness impatience to attack, while our very sea coast cities and ports, including San Diego, San Francisco, Puget Sound, Portland, Astoria and Seattle are left defenseless against the attack of foreign powers that possess navies."

A LONDON VETERAN.

Mr. John T. Lane Visits This City on His Sixth Trip Around the World.

Mr. John T. Lane, a London veteran who for many years was connected with the London Illustrated News, giving into the singles of that establishment in the year 1843 arrived in this city last evening on his return trip.

Talk in the state time that Mr. Lane has been around the world. He left London for the latter trip in July of last year, and has spent some time visiting with a portion of his family in Australia. Mr. Lane says business is looking bad in that section of the country and in the vicinity in which he resided. Mr. Lane says the people in those sections are empty and those which are occupied bring very little rent. It is no uncommon thing, he says, to see people traveling along the streets, begging and imploring for the necessaries of life.

Mr. Lane is a member of the printing profession and in his vest pocket he carries a beautiful gold watch, the inside of the case of which bears the inscription that it was presented to him by members of the staff on his retirement from the profession some twenty years ago. The gentleman is over eighty years of age, but nevertheless he has a vigorous grasp, is hale and hearty and seemingly, taking in the principal cities on his way.

While Mr. Lane's first visit to this city and while his stay here has been a brief one, yet, from the observations which he has taken have greatly improved this city. Salt Lake has a prosperous look to it. This information he gleans by the streets and photographs it is proved about the city, and he intends to take some of them with him to his destination, he intends to spend two days in Ogden.

CHOIR IN SACRAMENTO.

OLD CHIEF WASHAKIE.

His Heart is Heavy Over the Death of His Son, Jim Washakie.

Chief Washakie, of the Shoshones, is very much in sorrow in his death in person Will Lemmons and Cal O'Neal for the part they took in killing young Jim Washakie. The old chief takes his daily walk from the house over to the military post, but he bent is bowed with the step measured by the weight of eighty winters which he carries on his shoulders. The most of his talk is concerning the murder, and he makes no secret of his demand for justice at the hands of the white man.

Poor old man! One by one his sons have met a violent death. His chief, who was made war chief of the tribe, was killed in battle on the Sweetwater, near Burnt Ranch, by the Sioux, in 1866. Another son was murdered in North Park a few years ago, and still another was killed in the woods while chopping timber, and now comes the death of his favorite grandchild, the support and comfort of his old age. He has two more sons, George, who is known as anything but a good Indian, and Dick, a popular young lord, who is a scion of a Prince of Wales of the tribe.

Chief Washakie is an Indian whose word is good with everybody who knows him. Falsehood and treachery are not in his composition, and he takes pride in speaking the truth (sometimes) at all times. For his sake it is hoped that Cal O'Neal and Bill Roberts, the two men belonging to the Lemmons crowd who are not yet arrested, will be caught and suffer the full penalty of the law.

Captain Wilson, the acting Indian agent, is deserving of credit for his management of the Indians during the late excitement. The other men of the Shoshone tribe expressed their confidence in the agent, and it is thought to be owing to his service, and that violence is avoided.—Rawlins, Wyo., Journal.

DROWNED IN A DITCH

Lifeless Body of Mrs. Charles Emmons Found This Morning.

HAD FALLEN INTO THE STREAM.

Coroner Berg Holding an Inquest to Ascertain the Details of the Fatality.

Special to the News, per Deseret Telegraph.

PROVO, April 14.—Mrs. Charles Emmons, wife of a veteran, and a lady sixty years of age, was found dead this morning in a stream of water running near her house, by Deputy Marshal Keary.

The night was very dark and she was near a bridge and must have fallen while attempting to cross. A bridge on her temple indicated that the fall had stunned her. She fell about four feet.

Coroner Berg is holding an inquest.

A PROSPECTIVE PATROLMAN.

A Young Man From Tooele Passes An Excellent Examination and Wants to Join the Force.

A young fellow with the happy thought and hope that some day he might be privileged to patrol the streets of Salt Lake, clad in a blue uniform dotted with brass buttons, stalked into the police station yesterday afternoon and made inquiry of the desk sergeant as to where to go to get on the police force.

Sergeant Adams saw about a "pocket of fun" and he very politely directed the visiting gentleman for patrolmanship honors that he was in the proper place to make such application.

"Well," said the ambitious fellow, "I want to get on the police force and I've come in to be examined. I am twenty years of age, a south shot and a scrapper of considerable note."

The desk sergeant, was by the way, always alive to mirthfulness and accommodating, called in the city jailer and introduced the aforesaid to "Tip." It called informed that Tip had that the visitor was desirous of undergoing the requisite examination to test his qualifications and fitness for a position on the police force.

"Very well," said the doctor, as he sized up his "patient" with his critical eye, at the same time exhausting a tape measure from his hip pocket, "take down those measurements sergeant."

The sergeant obeyed and "Doc" Kimball diagnosed the young man's experimental assign as follows: Height, 5 feet 9 inches; weight, 154 pounds; breast, 38 inches; waist, 30 inches; thigh, 24 inches; calf, 16 inches; leg, 36 inches; pulse, 107; held breath, 20 seconds.

This done the young man was ushered into the training room where he was given a chance to show his "scrapping" proclivities by taking some with the punching bag. He however, was apparently amused to quarreling with a mere "wind bag" and consequently did not show himself to very good advantage.

Then the "doctor" subjected him to a severe verbal examination from which the information was elicited that the applicant hailed from the city of Adriatic District, but that he had no relatives with the Emmons church District, that he lived in the little hamlet of Vernon, Tooele county, Utah; that he was physically sound, and had had one cement, that of a cure to the second toe of the left foot.

The examination in charge notified the young man that so far as his physical qualifications were concerned, he was fully entitled to the position he was seeking, but secure that could be secured there was one essential feature that must be complied with, he must become a member of the Roughriders ever which Josh Davis, the Calcasian Mongolian presided, and as the young stranger was perfectly willing to comply with that requirement, "Tip," Kimball wrote out a letter of introduction and sent prospective Patrolman Deere-Tip in search of the inimitable "Josh."

Missionary Entertainment.

The missionaries, returned and going, held a very enjoyable sociable in the Twenty-second ward last evening, Elder Solomon, Bishop, presiding.

The following returned missionaries gave very interesting addresses: Elder Mathew Noall and wife, Rosa Isaac Laughlin, George A. Horne and Alfred Hodge; also the following who are going on mission: William T. Noall, Samuel Bartell, Fred Langton, James Hayes, Brigham Haslam, Julius Billeter Jr. and William Hinsman. Remarks were made by Bishop Solomon and Counselor Arthur Winter. The following program was very creditably carried out after the spare-time: Song by a quartette, consisting of Eliza Noall, Hessler, Goodyear and Bartell; a recitation was beautifully rendered by Rose Solomon; solo sung by William M. Clayton; recitation by Julia Solomon; duet by Hawkins and English; by Eliza M. Noall and F. Hessler.

The people did not separate until after 11 o'clock when all had heartily broken the bank of the departing missionaries and wished them God-speed to their several fields of labor.

The entertainment was got up under the auspices of the Relief Society of the ward and was very much enjoyed.
