FIRE AND POLICE BOARD.

The Cases of the Discharged Firemen Taken Up and Discussed.

Both New Boys Being Guilty of the Charges Preferred—Routine Business.

For the first time since March 30th, the fire and police board met with a quorum present last night at which time the cases of the recently discharged firemen, Clark and Burns, were looked into. The matter came up upon an official communication from Chief Devine giving his reasons for discharging J. J. Clark. The charges against him were using obscene and disrespectful language and being under the influence of liquor.

The members of the board indulged in a slight discussion as to the rules in the premises, in view of the fact that the dismissal had been made under the new law which gave the chief power to discharge men. Chairman Varian thought the men ought to be given a hearing, while Commissioner Cohen was of the opinion that the chief's action is one that and it was finally agreed to give the interested parties a hearing if they desired it.

Mr. Clark then stated to the board that he was not guilty of the charge preferred and would like to have a trial. He asserted that his discharge came about because of the chief being prejudiced against him.

THE CHIEF'S STATEMENT.

The hearing then went on with Chief Devine's statement first. He said that after returning from a call during Conference time, he had stopped in front of the station to converse with a friend when he heard Clark make some very unfriendly remarks. He afterward called Clark into the office and remonstrated with him, whereupon he began using some very impudent and insulting language, which it was apparent to the chief was he was under the influence of liquor, and he ordered him discharged from the department.

A CONFLICTING DISTRIBUTION.

Clark then gave his version of the affair, which was in effect a complete contradiction of all the chief's allegations. Fireman Burns corroborated the testimony of Clark, after which the announcement was made that the board would take the matter under advisement.

BURNS IN HIS OWN BEHALF.

Fireman Burns then addressed the board in his own behalf, he having been dismissed for being disrespectful language to a superior officer, Lieut. McCarthy. At the time of the trouble leading to his discharge there was general confusion in the Bethesda, the horses stamping around and all the boys yelling "Whoa, whoa" together. He was pulling on his coat to go out, and in a spirit of fun shouted "Whoa," too. McCarthy told him to "shut up." He then walked up to McCarthy and asked him that he meant nothing, whereupon McCarthy told him if he did not "shut up" he would to made to. One word led to another until he told McCarthy to "come off," as words to that effect, and his discharge followed.

This case was also taken under consideration by the board.

ROUTINE BUSINESS.

The city recorder notified the board that the Council had passed a resolution providing for an additional desk sergeant, but no action was taken upon it as the ordinance has not yet been passed.

A batch of bills aggregating $[illegible] for the police department and $[illegible] for the fire department, were presented and allowed.

Commissioner Cohen, chairman of the committee on fire department, reported that Chief Devine had $[illegible] in his possession, resulting from the sale of hose, etc., with a recommendation that it be turned over to the board and that all other some contemplated in the same manner be similarly disposed of. Report adopted.

In regard to the Hammond typewriter in use in the office of the fire department and for which H. N. Weston, the agent, had submitted a bill, Commissioner Cohen stated that inasmuch as it had not been purchased by anyone in authority, that it could be returned at any time. Although the department required a typewriter, however, and recommended the setting apart of $75 of the money now in the chief's hands for such purpose. On a vote the $75 proposition was defeated.

A bill for $5 submitted by the secretary of state for missing certificate notice of the police and fire law to the board was referred upon an expression by the chairman that it was an outrage of proposition for one public office to charge another in the same state for a public service.

A contract with C. A. Gunter of Louisville for his new fire alarm boxes at $[illegible] each, to be paid for within twenty months, was reported by the committee and adopted.

The chief of police reported against conferring police authority on Mr. [illegible], the night watchman, and William Weird, a new night watchman in the Union Pacific depot. Adjourned to the regular meeting, but the case of the Union Pacific watchman was taken back to him, with instructions to confer with the railroad authorities.

The Lunger resolution, requesting the board to see that one of its police detail two officers for duty only at the depot, was then and referred to the committee on police.

Reliable Electric Work.

For safe house wiring and adjusting the chandeliers, go to the Intermountain Electric Co., 43 East First South street.

Anton Jeik (sic), was discharged on a report from Chief Devine, urging the board to take some action in regard to it. It was the sense of the board that the Council should be asked to assist in the matter, but which was deemed beyond its jurisdiction.

The board took just an executive session and adjourned.

Wants a Thirty Heir.

The will of Josephine R. Williams was filed in the probate division of the Third district court late yesterday afternoon. The estate of the deceased consists of a $2,000 insurance policy, money in the bank and personal property amounting in all to about $2[illegible]. The estate is bequeathed to his son Albert R. Williams, aged 19, but it is at variance with the will that the last child mentioned in the administration of the estate is to be brought in years of age.

The petition of the will reads as follows:

"It is my will that my son Albert R. Williams shall have any possession, control or management of my estate or be vested with any part of income therefrom or of the interest therefrom, or be subject to or interfered by title or claim of any kind or nature during the continuance of the minority of said minor. I desire, however, that my said son be educated by said trustee, reasonable care according to his circumstances, the money to be taken from said fund and $40 per month, and long as will be required, but not in a manner different from that in which he is now supported, either by relatives or dependents or adopted, his guardians, by his own choices.

"I do not wish there to arise out of the control in a litigious way during the minority of the said minor. I give my trustee discretion to act for him in such manner, the best of which shall not exceed $[illegible] and there may doubt be the best interest of my son and consequently, with the guardian of my estate, that it may not be crippled or greatly diminished.

Graham F. Williams is named executor under bonds in the sum of $5,000. The petition for the probate of the will is set for hearing on May 1st.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATERS.

The University of Michigan Glee, Banjo and Mandolin clubs appeared on the stage of the Salt Lake Theater before a good sized audience last evening. Nothing in the nature of classical singing or playing was expected and the college songs and banjo, guitar and mandolin playing as done at the university were indulged in. The local University club compiled the right hand stalls and displayed the colors of the Michigan club over the proscenic ceiling and at the rise of the curtain gave vent to their college yell. The U. of U.'s the High school and others were in evidence also and their yells burst upon the audience at irregular intervals. The performance consisted of Irish songs and banjo melodies, together with banjo, guitar and mandolin playing. There were a number of clever songs, chief among which was the rendition of the First Regiment Fuller by the banjo club. The singing was fair and what was expected from a lot of college fellows who are bent on having a good time. An amusement feature was the apparently ready response to encores and what would be a spicy program was made a trifle tiresome, no objection is made, however, to the application of the performers, but it is time the encore fiend was checked somewhat in his mad career.

A announcement was made that the boys had decided to stay over another day and would give an afternoon performance, commencing at 3 o'clock, with a complete change of program. After last night's performance the Michigan clubs were hard to the players of the University club to be Mr. Cornick book and apparently entertained in a fraternal way by the local organizations.

AT THE GRAND.

The successful company at the Grand pottery emporium this week in the form of the well known play The Wages of Sin. The drama was well received and followed with interest by a good sized audience. The cast is evenly balanced, giving the entire strength of the company an opportunity to exhibit their various capabilities. The interest centers upon a rich man who is a moment of doubt and remorse rejects her estate over and throws her lot with his unscrupulous cousin, who is a villain without a single redeeming trait.

To Miss Kennedy is both hope, falls the lot of imparting the strong with her rendition of the various emotional scenes with which the play abounds demonstrated that she is as equally at home in melodrama as in drawing-room plays. Miss Tuna, whose first appearance here she both welcomed with interest made a favorite of Barbara Dale, her attention to detail strength, but as an attributed actress who will undoubtedly be welcomed in the hearts of the friends and patrons of the season closes. Walter Edwards portrayed the role of George Grant in his well known and favorite manner. Stephen Murray in the hands of C. W. Irving was a repulsive character but was not as earnestly done by the gentleman as it should have been. Hinkemann and Clark although very good and much scope to display talent in not made the most of their parts. The issues of the cast in the scenes of Madge Carr Cook, Minnie Dean, Bryce and Hemmens, was well sustained. The play, which gives evidence of painting in the comedy colors, and especially without a blot or unnecessary lapse of memory on the part of the performers, and judging from the manner in which it was received last night a good week's business is assured.

CONVENTION AT THE THEATER.

The sale of seats for the Carpenter convention commence at the Theater box office and from present indications a good house is assured. The subject of Japan, to be treated by Mr. Carpenter, is of national interest at the present time and the people will be glad to hear what kind of a people the "Japs" are. Every seat should be filled at the theater tomorrow night.

Edward L. Mahoney, a noted San Francisco politician, got drunk Saturday night and beat his wife almost to death. He was starting for home with a heavy cane when a lawyer who was coming from the street car to and recognized him and a long struggle. Mahoney said he was put in a padded cell at the police headquarters, he was so violently insane. [illegible]

THE PLAIN CITY FATALITY.

A Corrective Statement of How it Occurred.

The Falling of Some Furniture Through Being Stuck in a Binding Pole Was Purely Accidental.

[illegible]

PLAIN CITY, Utah, April 21, 1906.—In the issue of the semi-weekly News of the 17th inst., your Hyrum correspondent gives an account of the accident which occurred at Plain City on Monday the 16th. This account is not correct and does an injustice to the young man referred to. The Standard in its issue of the 14th inst. gives a report which is very nearly correct. The facts in the case are as follows, which, in justice to Walter Brunwell, should be published.

On Monday, April 16th, Walter Brunwell sent his two sons, Walter and Arthur Brunwell, with a load of cut to issue Furniture's barn. Upon their arrival Bro. Furniture instructed the boys to drive on the north side of the barn and pitch the hay through a hole on that side of the barn. While the boys were untying the binding pole Bro. and Sister Furniture and Hyrum Weatherdon were preparing a place on the inside of the barn to receive the hay. Sister Furniture had their baby in her arms. She gave the baby to Bro. Furniture and started towards the house. By this time Walter Brunwell had loosened the binding pole. He looked along the sills and end of the load to see for at the pole to the ground. He then let the heavy end of the pole to the ground, and then permitted the shoulder to slide off the load. At this moment Bro. Furniture came out of the doorway of the barn and right in the way of the falling pole, said doorway being immediately behind the load of hay. The pole struck him on the head, he falling upon the ground with the baby in his arms. Sister Furniture saw him fall, and her screaming caused Walter to look around, when he saw Brother Furniture lying upon the ground, the pole being about one and a half feet from his body. The boy ran down from the load and raised Bro. Furniture to his feet, and was then and not till then, aware of the fact that the pole had struck him. Brother Furniture lived about two and a half hours.

To say, rather what, that an inquest be held, and Justice William Compton was summoned, was selected Charles Waterhouse, William Cole and James L. Hudson as jurors. The evidence showed that it was purely an accident, and that no blame could be attached to any one, even it could not be attributed to carelessness. As it is, the boy is overcome with grief over the matter.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed in the Spring, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A proper use of this medicine has often averted long and fatal illness. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting a feeling the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. Only 50c cents a bottle. C. C. M. I. drug department.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Immodale, Mich., we are permitted to make the extract "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Sixes Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little intermission and it seemed as if she would not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. It was quick to its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at C. C. M. I. drug department. Regular size 50c and $1.00.
