QUAY AND M'KINLEY.

Both Decline to Be Interviewed Concerning the Conference

BUT BOTH ARE CANDIDATES.

Nothing Extraordinary in the Meeting —Only a Pleasant and Cordial Conference.

CANTON, O., May 22.—At 12:45 P. M. Senator Quay was driven from the McKinley home to the depot and took the train eastward. Both McKinley and Quay declined to be interviewed about the conference. Later in the afternoon McKinley stated to Chairman Hanna that he had nothing to say, but intended to talk his mind and remarks again Monday, the guest of Mr. Hanna.

PITTSBURG, May 22.—Senator Quay arrived at his home in Beaver road, Canton, O., about 5 o'clock. To the query as to whether he believed McKinley would be nominated, he replied: "I have nothing to say whatever."

The senator broke his resolution not to talk the next moment, however, and to the suggestion question as to whether he was still considered a candidate emphatically said: "Yes, yes, I am still a candidate for the Presidential nomination, and shall be voted for at the St. Louis convention."

CLEVELAND, May 22.—The Leader, which usually represents McKinley, perhaps, than any other newspaper in the United States, will publish elaborate comments on the conference upon the visit of Quay to McKinley.

"Quay came to Canton not as the leader of measures from any section of party or men, but as the leader of the Republican party in Pennsylvania. He did not come as his lieutenant to counsel in Washington, to question McKinley about his attitude on the money question. He was a Republican leader visiting the man who will undoubtedly be the nominee of the Republican party for President. The giving of offices was not considered, for was the campaign for the nomination measure, because every Republican knows that campaign to be practically ended. One thing they did discuss was the campaign which Mr. Hanna will wage against the Democratic candidate for President. The conference was most pleasant and cordial on both sides. The visit of Quay was such as will undoubtedly be made by many other Republican leaders with before and after the St. Louis convention."

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

Cook County Democrats Advised to Stay Away.

CHICAGO, May 22.—When the Democratic gold standard committee reached today the call for the county convention as issued by the county central committee, a meeting was called and war to the knife was declared.

After two hours' consideration of the question, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That this committee recommend to the executive committee of the Democratic National committee that it advise all Democrats of Cook county who are in favor of honest primaries and honest money, to remain away from the primaries to be held on Monday next, and to further

Resolved, That this committee recommend to the executive committee that it present at once to recognize the Democratic party in this county.

Ready to Investigate.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The subcommittee of the Senate committee on Banks appointed to consider the investigation of the bond bond transaction, the Pacific railroads, held its first meeting today, but transacted no business beyond directing that a letter be written to Secretary Carlisle requesting him that the committee was now prepared to proceed with the investigation, and would be pleased to receive the statement in writing which he had signified a willingness to lay before. No time was set for the next meeting, and probably none will be called until Mr. Carlisle's statement is received.

STOPPED IN MIDAIR.

The London "Ferris Wheel" Comes Near Getting at an Inopportune Time.

LONDON, May 22.—The circular Wheel had operation would at Earl's court is an imitation of the famous Ferris wheel of the Chicago World's Fair, but it is larger, the highest point being 300 feet from the ground, while the top of the Ferris wheel was only 264 feet high. Shortly before 8:15 p.m. yesterday the wheel moved with quite a number of people on board, and everything went merrily until 8:25, when the structure ceased to revolve. A number of people were endeavoring to leave when all night and until noon today.

Southwest and Flood.

PERRY, O. T., May 22.—A slight storm occurred in this part of the territory last night, eight to twelve inches of rain falling. Residences and tenant houses were blown from their foundations, stables and other buildings were blown down, and other were washed away. The South Perry railroad tracks for a long distance washed away. News of great damage comes from the country, but owing to the weather being so high, nothing definite is obtainable.

Filibusters Land.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—A private dispatch received in this city tonight states that the steamship Laurada, which left New York on May 9th, has landed on Cuban soil all the men and ammunition she carried and that the expedition was entirely successful. The number of men landed is not definite of the party aboard the ship.

Trans-Missouri Freight Troubles.

DENVER, May 22.—As nearly as can be ascertained tonight, the Trans-Missouri freight pooling has not, not since the Southern Pacific freight Denver to day, though it was confidently stated that an agreement was reached. It was stated that the report of the committee would probably be made to a single of eight. The other lines now will probably be taken up tomorrow. This afternoon a message was from the Denver chamber of commerce attorney for corporation.

A Compromise.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—The conference on the Utah and Idaho bill have reached a mutual agreement on the Southern California road. It provided that the commission shall be restricted to the Senate bill, and that the Senate shall not insist upon the provision for the relief bonds. The appropriation for the fiscal year is reduced to the relief bonds for the appropriation for the fiscal year is reduced to the relief bonds.

The Reform Prisoners.

LONDON, May 22.—A Pretoria dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says: There are serious fears that mass meetings will be held in Johannesburg at the sentences of the reformers prisoners. The telegraph offices refuse to transmit messages relating to the political situation. The publication of a Cape-Cape dealing with the reform movement has been prohibited. The reform prisoners are now allowed luxuries and attendant.

RECEIVED BY THE CZAR.

The Representatives of the United States Government.

MOSCOW, May 22.—The Duke of Connaught, representing Queen Victoria at the coronation festivities, was presented to the czar the new grand cross of the Vladimir order, which has been newly conferred by Queen Victoria, and also an autobiographical note of the Alexandra palace.

The czar today received in private audience the United States ministers, Mr. Breckinridge, and then received the special envoys of the United States, and to represent the government of the United States at the coronation. These included General McCook and his brother, Anthonetta, ex-Senator Cameron, Commodore Benson and Rear Admiral Gherardi, and Rear-Admiral Ingersoll, who brought his flag ship, the "Minneapolis," to Cronstadt to attend the festivities as the naval envoy of the United States. Mr. Breckinridge, Mr. H. S. Pierce, secretary of the United States legation and the other attaches of the legation, with the full suite of the Russian court, the Russian court, the Russian court,
