A Gang of Accomplished Counterfeiters Caught in Colorado.

MARRIED IN A COUNTY JAIL.

A Woman Dies from Exposure to the Cold.—A Hard Winter in Montana.—Burglary.

The cold wave has touched Boise City, Idaho. At 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning the temperature was five degrees above zero. Later in the morning the mercury had risen to eight.

A Chinaman entered the town of Lafayette, Col., a day or two since. He was immediately conducted out of the city by a committee and told never to return to the place or he would be severely dealt with.

Louis Wright, who was arrested at Boulder, Colorado, a few days ago on a charge of forgery, has been married in the county jail to Gertie S. Schoolcraft of Longmont. The mother-in-law went Wright's bonds and the happy couple went on their way rejoicing.

George Newell has left Nampa, Idaho, for the opal field with pockets properly filled out, and expects to file on a number of claims before he returns. It is reported that he is working in the interest of a large syndicate of the Seattle men, and that they will commence development work in the early spring.

A fatal accident has occurred in the second level of the Bunker Hill mine at Wardner, Idaho, resulting in the death of Owen Thomas, an employe of the company. The fall of a large quantity of rock caused the accident. The deceased was a native of Wales. Money and drafts amounting to $400 were found upon him.

Henry C. Burnett, warden of the penitentiary at Santa Fe, N. M., under Governor Ross' administration, has just died at St. Vincent's hospital. The immediate cause of his death was a congestive chill. He was forty-three years old and came here eight years ago from Leavenworth, Kansas. Deceased was a man of fine journalistic and general business ability.

The case of McCann vs. Tabor was called in the district court at Leadville, Colo., this week, but as the attorneys, who reside in Denver, were not present it was stricken from the docket. This is the twentieth time that this case has been docketed. The case involves a mill, the value of which is estimated at $10,000.

A few nights ago burglars effected an entrance at the rear of Lowman & Sons' dry goods establishment, at McCook, Nebraska. Manipulating the combination of the safe, they succeeded in securing $200 in cash and valuable papers. In the safe were some diamonds belonging to Mrs. Lowman that have been in the family 200 years.

During the past six days Great Falls, Montana, has been visited by the worst spell of cold weather since the winters of 1886 and 1888. Twenty-five and thirty degrees below zero for twenty-four hours at a stretch have not been uncommon occurrences. One morning the thermometer in the outskirts of the city registered fifty-two below zero, while those in town reached the fifty mark. It was forty-five below at 10:30 at night.

W. O. Owen, says the Laramie (Wyoming) Boomerang, states that while parties are talking of driving from Laramie to the Yellowstone Park they must understand from the beginning that it is not possible to get into the park from Wyoming without packing. The only way to drive to the park from here is to go to Green River, thence north along the Green river, turn west and go south of the Grand canyon into Idaho and thence by road to the northeast into the park. It would take about ten days to make the trip from Green River.

In the Idaho supreme court the case of G. B. Rogers vs. R. J. Hayes, H. R. Garlitz and D. Breckenridge, as commissioners of Bingham county, has been submitted on briefs and taken under advisement. The case grew out of an action of the commissioners remitting $15,567 of the state and county taxes of the Union Pacific for the year 1891. The company's taxes amounted to $61,480. The road refused to pay but $45,925, and the commissioners accepted that proposition. Rogers secured from the district court a writ of review against the commissioners and Judge Standrod overruled their action in remitting the taxes. The commissioners then appealed.

Walter Booth, Reason Smith, Dick Smith and Albert Converse have arrived from Liberty, 200 miles southeast of Las Vegas, N. M., bringing with them, as a prisoner, John Burke, charged with the murder of C. A. Elliott, an employe of the S. H. T. outfit. They had also with them one "Georgie," a woman of the town. The latter says that Elliott had been at her place at Liberty, and shortly after he left she heard his voice crying out near her house: "For God's sake, Johnny, don't shoot any more." The body was found a mile and a half from the house, showing that it was carried there after the murder. The probability seems to be that Burke and Elliott met at the woman's bagnio and quarreled over her. Elliott, being under the influence of liquor, was murdered by Burke and his body afterwards taken to a distance of a mile and a half.

A gang of counterfeiters, operating in Boulder, Colorado, has been broken up by Agent Walker of the United States secret service. The gang was just getting in full swing when he swooped down upon them and arrested George B. Parks and Lewis G. Wright, who are awaiting trial. The rendezvous and workshop was in the house of W. H. Miller, a brother-in-law of Wright. In the house were found molds, coins and black tin. Evidence was not easy to get, and not until a few nights ago did he obtain it. He went to Miller's house, peeped through a crack in the blinds and saw the men at work. The arrest followed. The gang had planned to go to Denver and "shove" some of the "queer." They had made considerable. Wright, one of the parties under arrest, has just been released from a bi-chloride hospital at Longmont.—Abridged from the Denver Sun.

About 3 o'clock p.m., January 17th, Mrs. Margaret McGarvey, living six miles southwest of Elizabeth, Col., aged 67, started to visit her sister, Mrs. Charles Smith, who lives two miles distant. Mrs. McGarvey was overtaken by the darkness and lost her way, wandering over the prairie until 8 o'clock the next morning, when she was discovered walking in a circle about half a mile from her sister's house. It was found that Mrs. McGarvey had frozen both hands and both feet very badly and work was begun at once to draw the frost out of her hands with snow and water, with entire success, but the pain was too great to follow the same process on her feet, as a physician was called, but found it had gone too far to be stopped short of amputation of both feet. Then it was decided to take her to a hospital at Denver to make the amputation, but she was too feeble to be moved. Blood poisoning set in and she has died.

The failure and sudden disappearance of Charles Cameron, the dry goods man, is the theme of conversation at Hastings, Nebraska. Through a search of the city instituted by the friends of Cameron every nook and corner within the limits of the city has been examined. When last seen, on the evening of January 30th, by members of the family he appeared somewhat excited and nervous. He had purchased two flasks of whisky and his friends supposed that he had retired somewhere to drown his trouble in the liquor and expected that he would show up after he had slept off the effects. Next morning, Mrs. Cameron, the grief stricken wife, received a drop-letter from her husband, in which he states that his troubles are more than he can bear, and bids his wife and daughter an affectionate farewell. His closest friends think that he has destroyed himself, and that he is still within the limits of the county. Cameron is (or was) a pioneer Nebraskan, and went to Lincoln early in the 70's, operated dry goods store there for some time, when he moved to Hastings and engaged in the same business. He acquired considerable property in Lincoln and Hastings, and was classed to be worth $70,000 or $80,000. He has been financially embarrassed for some time, due to his landed interests. He is president of the city council.

Attorney General Parsons of Idaho has submitted an opinion, in response to the following question, propounded by L. E. Workman, chairman of the house judiciary committee: "Will it require an amendment to the constitution to enable females to exercise the right of suffrage in this state at any and all elections, and hold office in the state, or will an act of the legislature be sufficient to accomplish the purpose?" The attorney general says the state possesses the power to prescribe the qualifications of electors and to designate the particular classes of persons who may vote, subject to the restrictions of the federal constitution, but it is settled that a state may in its constitution restrict the right of suffrage to males. He quotes article 6, section 2 of the constitution, and says: "Women have the right to vote at school elections, if they have the qualifications of electors, but even this privilege is subject to the will of the legislature; and this provision may be taken as indicating the constitutional intent in conferring the right of suffrage upon women. In section 2 of that article the limitation upon the legislative power is clearly stated. It says: 'The legislature * * * shall never annul any of the provisions in this article contained.' One of the express conditions of section 2 confines the right of suffrage to male citizens of the United States, except at school elections; and, while the legislature may prescribe additional qualifications and conditions, it cannot, in my opinion, under the authority therein conveyed, extend the right of suffrage to females. This will require an amendment to the constitution."

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

WHEREAS, ON THE TENTH DAY OF February, 1891, Robert Gardner and Margaret Gardner his wife did make and deliver to the undersigned as trustee a certain trust deed of the real estate hereinafter described, for the purpose of securing to Edward D. Swan the payment of certain promissory notes [illegible]

And, whereas, it is in said deed of trust expressly stipulated that upon failure by said Robert Gardner and Margaret Gardner, to make any of the payments in said notes or either of them stipulated, promptly as the same became due, then the undersigned should at the request of the legal holder of said notes proceed to sell the said real estate at public auction to the highest bidder, first giving twenty days' notice of such sale by advertisement in some newspaper printed in the English language and published in Salt Lake City, and from the proceeds of such sale pay the expenses of said trust, including attorney's fees and compensation for said trustee, and the amount due upon said notes, principal and interest; and whereas default has been made in the payment of said notes, both principal and interest, and the legal holder of said notes has requested me to proceed to sell said real estate as in said deed of trust stipulated.

Now, therefore, the undersigned hereby gives notice that on Saturday, the 18th day of February, 1893, at 12 o'clock noon of said day, at the front door of the County Court House in Salt Lake County, Utah Territory, he will under and by virtue of the power given him under said trust deed, as such trustee, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, the property hereafter described, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay said notes, with interest, costs and attorney's fees.

The real estate in said trust deed conveyed, and to be so sold, is described: Beginning at the southwest corner of the southwest quarter of section [illegible] in township one (1), north of range one (1) west, S. L. meridian, and running thence [illegible] rods, thence east [illegible] rods, thence south [illegible] rods, and thence west [illegible] rods to the place of beginning, lying in Salt Lake county, Territory of Utah, and containing [illegible] acres of land.

Dated January 28, 1893.

How Much will you Risk for One Cent?

THE difference in price between the PUTNAM NAIL and cheaper brands amounts to one cent on each horse shod.

Are you willing to use the cheap coldsheared and sheared nails, with all their manifest disadvantages, in order to save that one cent?

The process of their manufacture is against them. The cold process disintegrates the iron and causes it to flake in layers, so that after the point is clinched and the nail is driven into the hoof it is extremely liable to split, and ruin a valuable horse. Had you ever stopped to think of that?

Now this is how you can save the two or three hundred dollars you would have to pay for a dead horse, but you would not save your own.

Use the Putnam Nail.

It is Hot-Forged from the best Swedish iron rods, while at a welding heat, by the action of Hammers alone, and then Hammer-Pointed.

Thus, the old hand process is followed, which was hot-forging nails under hammers, and hammer-pointing them by the sheer, cold, without any clipping or shearing whatever.

AND THE NAIL CANNOT SPLIT.

But it will cost you one cent more for each horse shod!

The shoes will stay on longer and your reputation will be thereby increased.

ALL FOR ONE CENT.
