

shadow of grief as ho spoke of his dead wife and the lost home. He went to his bed without even a goodnight, lying down on the cot without removing his clothes and instead of the bedclothes using his overcoat, for covering. In the early hours of the night he was heard snoring and breathing heavily by several of the inmates of the dormitory, but there had been no action to arouse suspicion, and it was not until near to 6 o'clock this morning that the suicide was discovered by J. Wilson when he arose from the bed adjoining that on which the corpse lay.

E. B. Hamilton, night clerk at the hall, was immediately informed of the discovery of the dead, and the police were immediately notified by him, Dr. M. R. Stewart, who was called by the police found that the man had been dead several hours, and the body was ordered removed to O'Donnell's mortuary,

Goddard, who was aged about 55 years, is survived by two brothers, Harry and John, and one sister, Mrs. Isadore Morris, the mother of Jan L. Morris who in March killed his wife and committed suloide at the Orpheum rooming house on State street. He was well-known in Salt Lake, having lived here for many years past and working as a miner for the greater part of the time. He had latterly been in the employ of the water works system and had expected to return to its employ. The only motive ascribed for his act of self-destruction is that of das

The only motive ascribed for his act of self-destruction is that of despondency over the death of his wife last winter, after which he resorted to drink. Capt. Edson said to a "News" reporter today:

HAD NOT BEEN DRINKING.

"Goddard eame to me about 5 o'clock last night and asked if he could get a room. That was the first time I had ever seen the man, but he told me that he was broke oud had no here. he was broke and had no home. He said that he had a life interest in a lot from which he received $12 a month rent, and that in a few days he would have chough to pay for his room. He wasn't under the influence of liquor. He wasn't under the influence of liquor, and after questioning him I readily Eave him a bed. He wont out and came back within an hour or so, and after sitting around a while went to his bed. That was the last we saw of him alive. He didn't look to be despondent or even Worried, and certainly gave no intima-tion that he intended to take his life." Mr. Hamilton, the night clerk, said:

air. Hamilton, the night clerk, said: "Before I went to bed this morning before I o'clock I went through the halls and dormitories putting out the lights. I heard Goddard snoring then and he was also breathing and mean-ing like well like a mean that was have ing like well, like a man that was having a sort of a nightmare. I didn't pay much attention to him, thinking that he was only not sleeping well. About 10 minutes to 6 o'clock this morning that a man was dead up stairs.

"J. Wilson, who occupied the bed next to Goddard, had noticed something wrong with the latter, and when he looked to see had found that he was dead. An empty laudanum bot-the was lying on the floor. Wilson and some of the others told me this morn-ing that they had heard Goddard soormet at the depot in the afternoon and a reception will follow at the Brigham Young university after which luncheon will be served. The party will then be taken in automobiles to the attractive features of the A banquet wills be given in the ing at the Hotel Roberts, and evening at the day will be closed with a grand ball.

WOULD PROBE EXTORTION.

Mr. Gallinger Said What Country is Demanding is Prompt Action on The Tariff Bill.

Washington, May 18 .- Senator Gore's resolution directing the committee on finance to conduct an investigation into wholesale and retail prices of commodities was discussed before the senate today at some length. Secking to have the resolution adopted Mr. Gcre said he wished to have statements concerning the extortionate prices of retall dealers fully probed so that the country might know just where the responsibility for high prices rests. Senator Aldrich said it was evident such an investigation as that contemplated by the resolution could not be conducted before the pending tariff bill was disposed of, but he had no objection to such an investigation being undertaken. Senator Carter pointed out that in doing this work the finance committee would necessarily cover the same ground which the proposed tariff commission would cover. That the cotton manufacturers sell their products with an agreement as to the price at which they are to be sold at retail was the substance of a charge made by Mr. Owen. Demanding proof of this assertion,

Mr. Gallinger said that what the country is demanding is prompt action on the tariff bill. He added that it had been asserted that the business interests of this country were losing $10,000.-000 a day by the holding up of the tariff bill

Referring to the "pledge of the Re-publican party, to make the tariff rates equal to the difference in cost of pro-duction here and abroad, Mr. Owen said it was the duty of the majority to inform the senate as to what that difference was.

Mr. Aldrich replied that the committee had done much to furnish facts, but the Oklahoma senator con tended that there was no available information of the kind he wanted Mr. Carter made an impassioned appeal for a business-like proceeding, "Every morning," he said, "some senator arises in his place here to dafend the country merchant from charge that has never been made." No charge of extortion, he said, had ever been lodged against the retailer.

VISITORS TO STATE PRISON.
