TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

NO. 278 FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1894, SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. VOL. XXVII.

THE WAR ON LIQUOR.

Resolution Adopted by Presbyterians in Missouri

IN CONFERENCE ASSEMBLED.

The Party Committed to the Licence Policy can Expect the Support of Christians.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 16.—Considerable discussion resulted at the conference of Missouri Presbyterians, now being held here, over the adoption of the following resolution, which was finally endorsed:

Whereas, the liquor traffic is one of the permanent evils, which is blighting and destroying the work of our schools, and

Whereas, it is evil and only evil, and

Whereas, Jesus Christ, our blessed Lord, has manifested that he might destroy the work of the devil, and we the followers must continue that work; therefore be it

Resolved, that it is the duty of every church member ever and always to work and pray and labor against the liquor traffic and that it is the sense of this synod, while it is not in the province of the church to dictate to any man how he shall vote, yet the synod declares the present party has the right to expect the support of the Christian men adhering to that party stands committed to the license policy, or refuses to put itself on record against the saloon.

CAME LIKE A DOVE.

The Report of Miss Zeigler's Bicycle Record.

WALTHAM, Mass., Oct. 19.—The report that Miss Zeigler had ridden a mile in 1:50 on a bicycle at Hartshorne to let the a home stall in the camp in the record breaking bicycle riders at the Waltham track, Manager Tom Jack immediately began to pack his trunks and this morning, Brother Jonnie Johnson and his big crew of pacemakers to get ready to start west at noon. He admits Johnson had patent faith in the Waltham track, but a patent gale had blown across the surface sufficiently for a fortnight so the air became sharp that record breaking attempts were out of the question. The party will not go direct to Sacramento, but will travel east by stages, stopping for trials at every fast track on the way.

In Buffalo they will try for a mile under conditions never before attempted. A mile straight away course will be marked out on an empty coal and equipped, a machine carrying Johnson—Stasch, Hoeges, Newby and O'Connell, will set the pace the first part of the course and Mays and Saunders and Charles Cadwell and Charlie Murphy of the Tennessee will keep it finish. With a high wind or their backs they expect to slip a few seconds from the records.

In time they will get to Texas, where warm weather and black is whole and bright. Meanwhile, if they still are unsuccessful and Mr. Kolb's record is accepted as offered, they will go to Sacramento to have a try at the new track there.

Millers Want Tariff Reform.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 19.—A number of millers of Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois are here to-morrow to consider for the bettering of their business. Justice Lewis, of Lexington, Ky., explained the object in the morning, saying:

"We desire a change in the tariff legislation under the Wilson law. Our wheat is exported free of duty, while our flour is taxed. We want both taxes taken. Our mills with Ohio are destroyed on account of the high duty."

"Will you form a syndicate?"

"No, it would be impossible to control all of the interests. We are looking merely for the purpose of coming on something that will enable us to protect ourselves. The flour milling business is terribly cut up and the present tariff law kills our trade with foreign countries. If we can get the Congressional clause removed we shall be placed on our feet again."

Soldering Aluminum.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—A method has at last been found by a Chicago metal worker of soldering aluminum by heating the metal and scraping the surface so as to remove the oxidizing film until the metal is "tinned." The alloy used consists of fifty parts of tin, twenty of silver, twenty-five of aluminum and mills of magnesium. Almost any tin solder will do, however.

SUBTERRANEAN CAVERN.

Alarming Discovery Made by a Gas Well Borer.

NORTH, Ind., Oct. 19.—The residents of Bedford and vicinity, six miles east of this city are greatly excited over a discovery made Saturday by Gas Well Contractor Samuel McPherson, of this city.

A few days since, while Mr. McPherson was drilling a well there for a natural gas company he then was suddenly astonished when the heavy drill, which weighs nearly a ton, took a sudden drop as if in a bottomless hole. It had penetrated the earth about the hole where it plunged downward as far as the rope would permit. The drill was pulled out and lowered again, and the 1,000 feet of rope was not long enough to reach the bottom. Two sets of eight inch casing pipe were then lowered and they too were lost. The drilling tool cut some small rock and dropped down into the hole with the same result.

The cavern seems to be very deep and is believed to be the same cavern found at Bedford, only miles away where just such a hole was found recently.

Hanged in the Bayou.

HAZELHURST, Miss., Oct. 19.—A shooting affray occurred two miles out of town on Saturday night, which resulted in the death of Jim Stone, a negro, who was hanged in the bayou. Stone had been in town all day and had quarreled with several people. He was last seen at about 10 o'clock in the night. The affair is shrouded in mystery. Stone was a man of good character and was well known in this city.

RAILROAD FREE PASSES.

An Agreement to Limit the Issuance of Them for the Next Year.

All Roads West and Southwest of the Mississippi Joined in the Effort.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 19.—The agreement reached by the executive board of the western and southwestern railroads regarding the reduction of free transportation for the year 1895, covers the territory within the jurisdiction of the Western Freight association and the Western Trunk Line committee and probably, before it becomes effective, the Union and all Texas southwestern lines will join them, so that all roads west and southwest of the Mississippi will be united in a strong effort to reduce the free lists for the coming year. The Southern Pacific is also a party to the agreement.

The intent of the agreement is to limit the issuance of free transportation, annual, limit, and trip passes, mileage tickets and all forms of free transportation as far as possible. No free or reduced transportation is to be issued to influence business in either the freight or passenger departments.

In general, the party will try to decline to issue annual or time passes to agents or employes of connecting lines or members of their families (except upon the request of the president, vice president, general manager or general superintendent of lines parties to the agreement), to representatives of street or cable lines, representatives of foreign lines, coal mine agents, agents, commissioners or other officers of the Interstate Commerce commission, and all other private car lines, as owned or controlled by the lines, are subject to the agreement.

The exchange of annual passes shall not be made to apply to lines of less than 25 miles in length, unless directly connected with the lines which lines and for lines less than 100 miles in length, only three passes shall be issued. Passes issued to employes of lines in a position to influence business shall be furnished with free transportation as becomes to local or auxiliary companies, or shipping clerks of any kind be placed on the pay roll for the purpose of evading the intention. An executive committee has been formed of which Commissioner Midgely is chairman and the membership composed of the managing officers (two at each of the following-named terminals: Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Paul, Denver.

The members at each terminal point will act as a sub-committee to passupon all applications for passes originating at that terminal and a weekly report shall be made of all applications and the disposition of each application to the chairman. A managing officer, however, will have authority to issue a pass on duty notifying the chairman that he has done so. The sentiment of some of the members of the committee was decidedly in favor of wiping out free transportation entirely, but no minority report was rendered, as it was known that no such thing as either party would receive unanimous support. It was drawn up much on the lines of the antipassenger agreement of 1892, which died before the snow was off the ground from an aggravated attack of bad faith.

The new agreement will be effective January 1, 1895.

Stickney, of St. Paul, president of the Chicago Great Western railroad and one of the wealthiest men in Minnesota. Dr. Schiffman was one of the leading dentists of St. Paul and was prominent as an amateur oarsman, being a member of the famous St. Paul boat club for a number of years.

BODY WASHED ASHORE.

The Question is Whether This is a Case of Accident, Suicide or Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—A body washed ashore at San Diego has since been identified as that of J. H. Strasinger, an engineer of national reputation, who had been living in San Francisco for the last few years. Now his friends are waiting themselves to find whether his death was the result of murder, accident or suicide.

Mr. Strasinger was a man of cheerful disposition. He was not financially embarrassed and did not attempt to escape.

Early in September he mentioned to some of his friends that he was going to Australia to look after some mining interests there and had cut loose from ties.

SICK UNTO DEATH.

All Hope of the Recovery of the Czar Now Abandoned.

HE SETS HIS HOUSE IN ORDER.

Another Sudden Attack Last Evening—The Emperor Summoned—Regency to Be Appointed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 19.—There seems to be no longer any reasonable doubt that the czar is rapidly approaching the end. A dispatch from Livadia today says: It is feared the condition has changed for the worse since yesterday and the imperial family is alarmed.

A special dispatch received unofficially from Livadia says the czar last evening suffered from a sudden spasm of the heart, which compelled him to lie down. His condition before so critical that his confessor, Father Yanishew, was hastily summoned.

It is reported here this afternoon that an imperial edict will be published on Monday, authorizing the regency in the Caesarevitch, Grand Duke Georgi Vorone Zlaroff, one-de-camp to the emperor and minister of the imperial house; K. O. Pobedonostseff, procurator general of the holy synod; Actual Privy Counsellor Witte, minister of the interior and General Vannovski, minister of war.

FOR FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

An Amazing Claim: Claims $10,000 from the Government of Peru.

CHICAGO, Oct 19.—Peter McGinnis is on his way to Washington where he will present a claim against the Peruvian government for false imprisonment, damage to his health and violation of his rights as an American citizen, and as the Peruvian government pay him $10,000. Mr. McGinnis is a native of New York, but has resided during the last four years in the Argentine republic, under which government he served two years as a prisoner of English in the national colleges of Cumbaras and Mendoza. At the commencement of the present year, in company with Senor Alberto Lorenzo, of Buenos Ayres, he started for the United States with the intention of visiting all the Hispanic-American republics on the way. After passing through Chile they visited Bolivia and reached Peruvian territory at Tacao on Lake Titicaca. Desiring to go to Cuzco to time to witness the feast of Corpus Christi, May 24, they went to the subprefect and applied for a guide. Senor Medina proposed they should accompany the Lieutenant governor of the district, Senor Jarrogui, whom, he stated, went on official business to Cuzco the following morning. After a forced march of two days they arrived in Cuzco May 23. Here they were handed over to the lieutenant of police. Ten minutes after their arrival they were ordered to hand over their pocket books and accompany him to the prefecture. There they remained prisoners in charge of the military. Once more they separated and each thrust into a dark room full of fleas and without beds. The night was bitterly cold, it being winter at an elevation of 10,000 feet above the sea level. They had not eaten for twenty-four hours when they were thoroughly tempered. In this dark room they stood all night, shivering with cold, hungry, thirsty, tired and tormented by vermin. Next morning the French vice consul, Henri Pupe and the Spanish vice consul, Senor Lamberry, appeared and asked to see them which request was granted. On being informed what had occurred, Senor Machala said they were detained by order of the prefect, on foreign spies and they would not be released until the charge was disproved. Upon the consul having mentioned this would entail diplomatic trouble, Senor Machala answered they should follow the diplomatic claims if they wished to see how little importance they in Cuzco attached to them. The consuls insisted and they were finally released on condition that they leave Cuzco the next day, which was accepted as the only alternative. They were then told Senor Jarrogui had accompanies them simply to send them over as preachers in Cuzco. On their return journey Mr. McGinnis was taken ill, owing to the use of food was his imprisonment and still suffering from the effects of that illness.

Refinery Finds No Guilty.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The sugar trust officials, Messrs. Havemeyer and Searles, were arraigned in the criminal court of the District of Columbia before Judge Cole today, and pleaded not guilty to the indictments against them for refusing to answer questions of the Senate trust investigating committee. The proceedings were brief and rather informal, from the arraignments took place after the usual hour for holding court. Nathan Wilson represented the trust officers, and District Attorney Birney and T. A. J. Bliss, his assistant, represented the government.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Stock market opened fractionally higher. Sugar gained 1 with a subsequent loss of 1.

The market was held steady on small business up to 11:30 o'clock, the only important change being a decline of 1 per cent in sugar. Just as the stock sugar opened 7 8 cent lower, 11:30, rallied, 1 per cent, the latter recovering 1.

The market was strong after 1:00 and prices moved up sharply, sugar at one time the best of the day. Cordage, preferred, rose 3; the common, 1; other shares, 1; the latter sugar. Cordage closing 1 per cent to 10, reacted to 13 and recovered to 20.

GEN. MILES EXPLAINS

He Did Not Refer to President Cleveland in His Report.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—The following remarkable correspondence in reference to a modest paragraph in General Miles's annual report is self-explanatory.

"KANSAS CITY, MO., October 17.

"Hon. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., Fort Sill, Okla., via Hot Springs, A. T.:

"The paragraph in your recent annual report is being much quoted and commented upon by the press and public.

"The conduct of the troops in restoring order and confidence, where mob violence and a reign of terror existed in Chicago, was marked by great forbearance, intelligence and excellent discipline, and their action here very greatly contributed to the maintenance of civil law, and in my opinion, saved the country from a serious condition. Whatever had been publicly uttered to excite by one of the most responsible officers of the existence.

"It has been said the one you refer to is President Cleveland, and it has been explained by your friends that you evidently meant Eugene V. Debs. Will you please write a statement about the matter to the Associated Press, Kansas City, Mo., for dissemination throughout the country and thereby favor us?

"MELVILLE E. STONE,
General Manager Ass'd Press."

THE REPLY.

"SANADORIA, O. T., Oct. 19.

"Melville E. Stone, General Manager Associated Press, Kansas City, Mo.:

"The language of my annual report does not warrant any such absurd interpretation. The earnest desire and efforts of the President of maintaining the supremacy of law and civil government and the foundation of peace with the minimum of military aid, is well known to be unmistakable and highly appreciated. NELSON A. MILES, Major General."

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Reported From the Northwestern Part of the City Last Night.

A sad case of domestic infelicity and attempted suicide of a young wife and mother is reported from the northwestern part of the city.

According to the story as vouched for by those who investigated the matter, a young man and his wife living in that neighborhood have been exceedingly unfortunate in their matrimonial experience by reason of incompatibility of temper and general conduct. Last night, it is said, the couple had one of their periodical quarrels. The husband went away from home taking their little child with him. Where he went at now long he was gone has not been explained on account of an attempt to make the mother up as well as the injured wife is known to have given.

A couple of young men in returning to their homes from the Democratic convention shortly after last midnight heard the woman lying on the ground near the sewer, upon Morrison street, in the lower part. She was unconscious and to all appearances dead. She was conveyed to her home where a physician was hastily summoned. The doctor in making a diagnosis of the case found that the patient had swallowed a big dose of laudanum, which, it is said, was taken with suicidal intent. A minute examination of the effects of the powerful anodyne were given but it was reported that the dagger she had had been passed up to this afternoon.

MRS. POLLOCK NOT DEAD.

The Lady Has Recovered and Is Now On Her Way to the United States.

Definite and reliable news from Mae Salem has at last been received concerning Mrs. Pollock, wife of the deceased ex-consul of the United States from this city to that Republic.

It seems to confirm to Mr. Lynch's letter from said city in the west to Washington asking whether or not it was true that Mr. Lynch was need as published by the San Francisco Chronicle and reproduced in the News. It is assumed that the department officials at Washington received a cablegram from San Salvador on the subject as the telegram which was received by Mr. Lynch this morning reads: "Elite (Mrs. P. dead) sailed for the United States." The dispatch was received with a glad sense that was almost overwhelming to Mr. Lynch. Of course Mrs. Pollock is bringing her children with her.

STORM IN A TEAPOT.

A Special Court Bailiff Who Is Very Sensitive and Wants Satisfaction.

A man named Krantz was among the crowd which surrounded the entrance to Judge Bartch's courtroom this morning just before 10 o'clock. He, like many others, was very anxious to get inside and listen to the details in the Thiede murder trial, and when Special Bailiff Stookey, who was guarding the door, requested him to "stand back," it would appear that he did not obey the command quite as readily as desired. Therefore Stookey placed his hand upon the old man's shoulder. Krantz disapproved of this and began to show his displeasure by what the "special" termed "cussing him." For this he was promptly arrested and taken before Judge Bartch, who had just taken the seat on the bench. The Judge, however, said he was too busy then to inquire into the matter and hence allowed Krantz to be "released on his own recognizance" until Monday morning next, at 10 o'clock, at which time he was told to again present himself.

TESTIMONY ALL IN.

Arguments in the Thiede Murder Case Begun Yesterday Afternoon.

THE ACCUSED AS A WITNESS.

He Says He Could Find Out Who Killed His Wife, if given Time.

This is the ninth day of the Thiede murder trial and the attorneys entering on the closing in Judge Bartch's court was again very large. Every seat was taken, and many persons remained standing. The female element was more numerous than usual.

Only one witness testifying during the remainder of the morning's proceedings by Julius Hoeral, whose evidence was entirely of a rebuttal character. Two Judge Hoeral, on behalf of the prosecution, began the introduction of testimony in rebuttal.

The second man Thiede was on the Wednesday night, the News went to press yesterday. Further answering Judge Cherry he said his wife was living two downstairs when he found her dead.

"What did you do after Lauenberger told you to send for the doctor?"

"I went into the saloon for my coat and washed the blood off my hands, my hands were bloody after lifting her up. Then I went with Lauenberger for the doctor."

"Did you meet anyone on the way to the doctor?"

"Two two men going towards Salt Lake."

"What did you do after calling the doctor?"

"I went to telephone, but the office was closed, and I went to Harry Hayden's store and woke up the clerk. A lady came to the telephone was out of order, and we couldn't send a message."

"Why did you want to telephone to?"

"To the sheriff and my relations."

"After you got home did anyone call at the house?"

"Yes, a man came in and I told him he looked very ugly."

"What did you do then?"

"We cut a light and the doctor, Lauenberger and myself went to the body."

"The doctor examined it and we looked around for the knife, but couldn't find it. We then carried the body into the saloon and placed it on the pool table."

"Who carried it?"

"The doctor and Lauenberger."

"You went to the Lewsley to get a lantern?"

"Yes."

"When you first found your wife's body did you say to Dr. Pettibone that when you picked her up she said, 'Oh, Charley.'?"

"I said the doctor there was a low noise, which sounded to me like her saying, 'Oh, Charley.'"

"When you and the doctor were together, after your wife's body was taken into the saloon, did anybody else come before daylight?"

"No, the doctor and I were together alone, till daylight."

"Did you go into the house or did you remain in the saloon till daylight?"

"I got the key which the doctor had taken out of my wife's pocket and went down to the house. I thought my wife might have concealed suicide, and I wanted to see if she had left any note; but I doesn't find any."

"How do you account for the blood stains on the piece of linoleum in the bedroom?"

"We used the place where the blood was taken from for hanging up meat and game."

"Was there anything hung on it recently before the killing?"

"Yes, a deer and a rabbit there."

"Did you recently hang anything else there?"

"Yes; a piece of liver; and we always hung meat and game there."

"Do you know how the blood stains got on the door and on the wall of the saloon?"

"No, I cannot."

"What time did the sheriff get there?"

"About 8 o'clock. He came right up to me and said, what's the matter? I said 'they killed my wife' and he said 'yes, it looks like it; you killed her you s—— of a b——.' I said 'you must be either crazy or drunk.' He again said 'you killed her.' I said, I was hell by yourself you did, and he knocked me down."

"Did you tell the sheriff you killed your wife?"

"I did not. He put me under arrest and I said, all right. With the called Montgomery and asked him to get some rope in the barn, and I told there was plenty of rope in the brewery and the other of us went and got the rope in the barn. Mr. Queen then took me to the place where the body was found and said, 'There's the place you killed that little woman, you s—— of a b——.' I told him I hadn't done it and about the two men taking them to hay wagon and asked him to go towards Bingham and we went. We didn't see anyone and Mr. Queen said, 'this is some of your work, you'd the one that killed her and if you don't confess I'll shoot you.' He stopped me and I stopped and put me down on the steps to sit."

"Was any arrangement made on Monday about your little daughter Annie going to the school ma'am?"

"Yes, Annie asked me to let her go and I let her."

"How did your wife act towards you and the little girl up to the time she was killed?"

"She was always good and kind, as good a little woman as ever dragged an American soil."

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Judge Howe—How old was your wife when you married her?

"Twenty-nine."

"Are her father and mother living?"

"No, her mother died since I have
