SURVEYORS NOW TAKE THE FIELD

Three Parties Heading for Utah From California.

GOULD MEANS BUSINESS.

Looks as Though the Western Pacific Would Develop Into More Than A "Paper" Road.

In the excitement following the announcement of the Clark-Harriman deal in Utah the Western Pacific has for the time being dropped out of sight. This project to build a line through from San Francisco to Salt Lake has been credited to George J. Gould, who undoubtedly will never rest until he has a string of railroads extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific. To date he holds the controlling interest in a gigantic system that extends from Baltimore to Ogden. The closing up of the remaining gap of 900 miles to the Pacific is only a matter of time. It is generally believed that the initial step in this direction was taken with the recent incorporation of the Western Pacific in San Francisco.

Whoever is behind the latest road from Salt Lake to San Francisco, however, is not letting the grass grow underfoot. The following clipped from the Plumas National (California) would indicate that the surveys are being pushed in a manner that promises further development at an early date.

The Plumas National says: "On Sunday, A. W. Keddie, the engineer in charge of surveying that part of the Stockton & Beckwith Pass railroad—now absorbed by the Western Pacific company—from Oroville to the Nevada state line, arrived in Quincy from San Francisco, accompanied by a corps of nine surveyors. There was much activity in Quincy Monday in the work of completing the organization of the corps and equipping it for the field work upon which it has already entered.

"This will make the third corps on the line from Oroville east, all in charge of Mr. Keddie. The first corps is making a location survey up the North Fork from Oroville; a second is running a preliminary line from the junction of Indian and Spanish creeks up through Indian valley to Big Meadows; and the third will make a location survey down the river to meet the corps coming up.

"The second mentioned survey, the preliminary, will be taken up by and be under the immediate charge of Engineer W. E. Condon, who came from Denver to engage in work on the line through Plumas.

"The party under Engineer Lorraine will take up the location survey down the river. He was one of the engineers of the Kennedy survey made in 1892, and therefore, is especially fitted for construction work at different points along the line, and that this work will soon begin at the western end.

"A telephone dispatch from Beckwith this morning informs us that a party of about a dozen railroad engineers arrived at Beckwith yesterday from below, and that they, under the direction of Mr. Keddie, who went out there from here the same day, are preparing to take the field. Presumably Mr. Taylor, whose instruments arrived here yesterday, and were returned to Beckwith today, will have immediate charge of this corps. Though no definite information has been received as to the portion of the line they will work on, it is understood that they will survey from Beckwith down this way."

CONTRACT FOR OGDEN FIRM.

Corey Bros. Secure Work on the Battle Mountain Cut-Off.

Corey Bros. of Ogden, it is announced, have secured the contract for grading the new line on the Southern Pacific, known as the Battle Mountain cut-off. It runs from Pitute to Shoshone, Nev., and leaves Battle mountain about two miles off the main line.

CLERKS TO MOVE.

Short Line Getting Ready to Occupy Floor in News Annex.

Auditor McNitt is making preparations to move the passenger auditing offices into the commodious new quarters specially designed for the department in the Deseret News annex. Practically the entire fifth floor is taken up by this department and the Pacific Express, while Parley L. Williams, local counsel for the Short Line, has secured handsome chambers on the same floor that extend across the entire front of the building. The Short Line officials today stated that they hoped to move into the new quarters by the end of the month.

HARRIMAN IN UTAH.

Will Inspect the Lucin Cut-Off Tomorrow and Continue West.

Chairman E. H. Harriman of the Union Pacific system crossed the Utah line this morning from the east and worked his way slowly west on his special with the result that he was expected to arrive in Ogden about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Whether or not he will visit Salt Lake is at this time in doubt. Local officials professed this morning to know nothing of his plans aside from what has been published in the dispatches. Mr. Harriman will be met in Ogden by the Southern Pacific officials who will escort him over the line and show him the famous quagmire and other points of interest.

WRECK ON UNION PACIFIC.

Nine People Injured at Castle Rock Yesterday.

Further particulars of the smashup on the Union Pacific yesterday received in this city denote that the fast mail had a narrow escape at a point near Castle Rock, twenty miles west of Evanston. No. 102, going double-header, ran into a wild steel gondola with the result that nine persons, including the two engineers, were injured and the two engines and baggage cars were badly smashed.

Two of the Union Pacific trainmen were hurt and several of the passengers on the train sustained cuts and bruises from the force of the impact. The list is as follows:

George Baker, engineer, Evanston; leg and hip badly bruised, back sprained and cut and bruised about head.

W. H. Chapman, engineer, Evanston; head cut and bruised and generally shaken up.

Clara Maggaria, Santa Clara, Cal.; body badly bruised.

Andrew Fishern and wife, Santa Clara, Cal.; cut and bruised.

Mrs. J. W. Baker, Fostoria; scalp wound.

Edris Rush, Watson, Mo.; cut and bruised.

Gladys Monweller, Utica, Neb.; cut about face.

Mrs. George Harkiss, Utica, Neb.; hand injured, cut and bruised.

Leng Hing (Chinaman), Boston; abdominal injuries.

The accident occurred on a heavy grade one mile below where the car started. It is thought that the freight crew left the car on the siding while doubling the train over and that in going into the siding the second time the car was hit and started down the track before the crew could get to it to properly apply the brake. The passenger train was going at 40 miles an hour when the smash came on the sharp curve that prevented the engineer from seeing far enough ahead to stop the train.

RAILROAD RUMORS.

Moffat Road Starts a Crop in Northwestern Colorado.

The Moffat road is responsible for a number of railroad projects in northwestern Colorado. If all the rumors are fulfilled, this long neglected and rich territory will shortly be covered by a network of roads. Here are some of the propositions that have been exploited in the press:

Denver & Rio Grande from point near Glenwood Springs.

Denver, Yankee Hill & Western from Central City.

Colorado & Northwestern from Ward.

Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific from Laramie.

Union Pacific from Rawlins.

Three Trains of Soldiers.

Three trainloads of men of the Twenty-third infantry passed through Ogden this morning over the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific en route to the Philippines. The men are nuder the command of Col. Thompson, father of Atty. Walter Thompson of this city, who went to Ogden last night in order to give his sire a good sendoff.

J. D. Welsh Resigns.

It is announced that J. D. Welsh, superintendent of car service of the Rio Grande, has resigned in order to join Manager Herbert on the Colorado & Southern. He is to be succeeded at the end of the month by H. T. Parke, at present chief clerk of the department.

HIS LEG BROKEN.

James C., the 17-year-old son of George F. Newlands, met with a severe accident Wednesday afternoon, by which his left leg was broken in three places. The young man was riding his horse along Sixth South street, and at a point between East and West Temple streets, the animal, in some unaccountable manner, ran into a tree with such force as to break the young man's leg as indicated. Dr. Plummer was called and set the limb, leaving the patient as comfortable as possible.

STRONG FACULTY CHOSEN.

L. D. S. University Engages Large Teaching Force for Next Year.

Manual Training is Added and Salt Lake Business College is Included As a Department.

The faculty of the Latter-day Saints' university of this city has been substantially completed for the ensuing year from June, 1903, to June, 1904. The new list shows a number of changes. Prof. O. J. P. Widtsoe is to take a furlough for the purpose of pursuing higher studies at Harvard. Prof. J. W. Jensen is to accept another position. Instructor Goddard leaves in order to take a course of study, and Instructor Fairbanks will go to Paris for courses in art. The new faculty, as far as completed, will be constituted as follows: Joshua H. Paul, Ph. D., president, professor of philosophy; Bryant S. Hinckley, M.Acc., professor of economics; Henry Peterson, D.B., professor of pedagogy; John H. Evans, instructor in English; Benjamin Goddard, principal of business college; D. J. McRae, instructor in shorthand; R. Leo Bird, B.Pd., instructor in bookkeeping; Charles F. Bowen, M.S., professor of physics and chemistry; Joseph P. Jensen, B.A., professor of history; Christian Larsen, B.S., instructor in English; Marlow Porter, B. S., professor of biology; John T. Miller, D.B., professor of physiology; Ardelia Bitner, instructor in elocution; Willard P. Funk, instructor in telegraphy and typewriting; Emil Maeser, D. B., principal of preparatory department; Evan Stephens, B. D., professor of vocal music; Philip Maycock, LL.B., professor of law; James D. Todd, instructor in penmanship; Donnette S. Kesler, instructor in kindergarten theory; Elmina Taylor, instructor in kindergarten practise; Mary F. Kelly, instructor in dressmaking; Freeman Bassett, instructor in athletics; John U. Hicks, registrar; Matthew A. Miller, M. Acc., instructor in bookkeeping; Milton H. Ross, instructor in penmanship; Ina Evans, instructor in shorthand; Ada Bitner, instructor in shorthand; Francis Mortensen, instructor in shorthand and woodwork; Le Roi C. Snow, instructor in German; Charles Kent, chorister and glee singing.

The teachers of art, domestic science, and mathematics have not yet been chosen. The acquisition of the Salt Lake Business college practically doubles the force of instruction in the departments of bookkeeping and shorthand, and has made necessary the employment of a principal and business manager for the business departments as a whole.

The summer session of instruction will be limited this year to the business branches with elementary English and mathematics. The bookkeeping and business practise will include both methods, the cabinet system of the Salt Lake Business college and the Sadler-Rowe system of the Latter-day Saints' business college. The shorthand instruction will include both the Gregg and the Benn Pitman. Each of these four divisions will be under a separate force of teachers, and business college students may take their choice, as to the system of shorthand or accounting they will pursue.

Woodwork and mechanical drawing will be given this year, under several of the teachers already selected, and one more yet to be chosen.

There will be no material changes in the courses of study, outside of the provision of mechanical training, as above mentioned; but the work in domestic science is to be somewhat remodled, so as to give fuller practise to the lady students of the domestic arts. This department will occupy the Lion House, as will also the fourth-year students. All the other departments will be located in the three new buildings, the business college, Barratt hall, and the Young Memorial, now nearly completed. A field for outdoor sports is preparing, at the rear of the business college, and will be in use this season. The gymnasium is to occupy its present quarters, and the work in wood may be given on the lower floor of the gymnasium. The four-rod road, on the south of the university, grounds is now being graded, paved in part, and lined with shade trees. This is a private road controlled by a handsome iron and stone fence on the west. Presiding Bishop Preston is taking active measures to beautify this part of the grounds. Hon. George Romney of the building committee hopes soon to announce the completion of the new building, the most beautiful school structure in the city.

SHEEP DYING BY HUNDREDS

Flockmasters Said to be Sustaining Heavy Losses.

HARD WINTER THE CAUSE.

Herds in Such Poor Condition That Travel From the Winter Range Proves Disastrous.

Reports received in this city indicate that the sheepmen who are driving their herds in from the desert are losing quite a number of their animals owing to the sheep succumbing to the rigors of travel after being thinned down by a hard winter. From Garfield beach to Skull valley it is said numerous carcasses flank the highway and the "pelters" are profiting by the misfortune of the flockmasters and are making considerable money in following the herds and skinning the carcasses. Of course the herders get all the pelts they can, but there are said to be numerous weaklings left behind in the march to the shearing pens.

During the winter the sheep have subsisted on dried grass and herbage, but now that the grass has begun to shoot the animals decline to touch their former food and hunt for the tender shoots of green. There is not enough to go around, especially when the same road is traversed by numerous flocks all bound for the shearing pens. The consequence is that the animals become weaker each day and finally the weakest go to the wall. There are numerous sensational reports being circulated regarding heavy losses but when investigated it is all hearsay. The usual story is, "I have not lost such a great number, but you should see Jones' herd." Jones in question when interrogated says that he has lost a little above the average, but Brown is the man who has been hit hard. Brown has the same story, only this time it is Robinson who has been unfortunate, and so it goes.

Everything points, however, to the losses this season being much heavier than usual.

NEW POSTMASTER FOR CORINNE.

(Special to the "News.")

Washington, D. C., April 24.—William Howard has been appointed postmaster at Corinne, Box Elder county, Utah, vice Francis E. Roche, resigned.

Idaho postoffices established—Harrisburg, Idaho county, with Frank E. Harris as postmaster. Locust, Cassia Co., with August Samuelson as postmaster.

BECKSTEAD A HERO.

Deputy Sheriff Stops a Runaway at His Own Peril.

Deputy Sheriff H. W. Beckstead acquitted himself as a hero yesterday morning at Bingham Junction, in stopping a runaway horse attached to a buggy, and thus, at the risk of serious injury to himself, preventing the animal from running into a crowd of school children who were playing in the street and perhaps seriously injuring a number of them. Mr. Beckstead saw the runaway animal heading for the children, and he quickly stepped in front of the horse, grabbed him firmly by the bridle and succeeded in stopping him. Not before he himself was dragged for a considerable distance, however, and received bruises which will confine him to his room for several days.

JUNK DEALER ARRESTED.

Accused of Purchasing Stolen Brass From Little Boys.

This afternoon Officer Furster arrested a junk dealer named Fred Ragafsky, on the charge of purchasing stolen property. It is alleged that three little boys stole some copper and brass valued at about $15, and Ragafsky gave them 15 cents for the stuff. The man pleaded guilty before Judge Diehl this afternoon and will be sentenced tomorrow.

THE M'CORNICK NOTE.

Banker Did Not Decline to Extend Payment till Fall.

W. S. McCornick said today that he did not refuse to extend the school note until fall, as he was made to say in a morning paper report of last night's school meeting. What he did say was that he declined to extend the note for another year—an altogether different proposition. Mr. McCornick does not object to the fall extension, as the board could only pay half now anyhow, and in the fall when the taxes begin to come in, the board will be in better shape to pay the entire note. Mr. McCornick believes that parents will come to the rescue so that the full school year can be filled out.

FEDERAL COURT CASES.

The motion to dismiss submitted yesterday in the case of Strawberry Cattle Co., vs John Cummings, was sustained this morning by Judge Marshall on the grounds of want of jurisdiction. The case of the same plaintiff against E. J. Nash was also dismissed on motion of C. S. Varian, attorney for plaintiff. This afternoon before a jury the third of the damage suits for trespass of stock brought by the Strawberry Valley Cattle company went to trial, the defendant in this case being Ben Argyle.

Marriage Contract Annulled.

Judge Hall this afternoon rendered a decree annulling the marriage contract between Beatrice Fargus and Edward Fargus. The question which arose in the case was as to the validity of a decree of divorce obtained by Mrs. Fargus against her former husband. The court held that the decree was invalid and hence annulled the marriage contract between plaintiff and defendant in this case.

BEAR RIVER LANDS.

Permission Granted to Sell Some for Railroad Purposes.

Judge Marshall this afternoon signed an order permitting Wm. M. Bradley, receiver for the Bear River Irrigation & Ogden Waterworks company, to sell certain lands situate in Bear River valley to the Malad Valley Railroad company, for the purpose of a perpetual right of way for railroad purposes.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS.

There will be a special entetainment by the West End Minstrels April 28 and 29 in the Twenty-second ward amusement hall for the benefit of the ward annex. The following program will be presented, with George Pugsley as the interlocutor: First Part—"Please Let Me Sleep" (comic), Dock Evans; "Down in the Deep" (basso solo), Frank Flashman; "Ise Goin to Live 'Till I Die" (comic), Jack Evans; "My Dream of You" (tenor solo), Will Philips; "You are Drifting Farther From Me, Day by Day" (baritone), Willard Bywater; "Miss Green" (comic), Earn Langton. Part Second—"Musical Sketch," Del Beesley; "Monologue," Earn Langton; fancy club swinging and high kicking, Rippeto and Bassett; coon town quartet in original selections. The whole to conclude with the laughable afterpiece, "The Rival Coons."

BUSINESS NOTES.

Sugar dealers were notified late Thursday night of an advance of 15c per hundred pounds in the price of the refined product. As the Utah and Amalgamated companies both have a big supply on hand, the news was, of course, gratifying to them. The price of beet sugar in this market is now $5.55. A year ago it was sold for more than a cent a pound below that figure.

* * *

Today's local bank clearings amounted to $420,260.39 as against $439,837.54 for the same day last year.

* * *

Dun's Review for the week ending April 18, has the following to say about the week's business conditions in this city: Little change can be noted in the business situation. Jobbing trade is generally satisfactory, with a fairly steady business in groceries, drugs, furniture, hardware, shoes and notions. Retail trade is favorably affected by milder weather. Collections are slightly better, but still drag. Sheep shearing has commenced in the southern districts, and the wool movement is expected to materially help collections. Money is in satisfactory supply and fair demand, but bankers are conservative and rates firm. Local stocks and securities are quiet.

* * *

William W. Turner and wife have transferred to the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, for $4,000, 3x10 rods of ground in lot 4, block 116, plat A. The property is located on the north side of Second North, between Third and Fourth West streets.

AFTERNOON CALL.

Daly-West and Lower Mammoth Both Stronger.

The feature of this afternoon's call of the stock exchange was the advance noted in the price of Daly-West, which sold up to $44.60, evidently being influenced by the further rise in the price of silver, which is quoted at 52⅝ cents per ounce today. Lower Mammoth was also in much better tone this afternoon. The sales quoted were, as follows:

Daly-West, 25 at 43.63½; 100 at 44.60.

Grand Central, 200 at 5.05; 200 at 5.02½.

Lower Mammoth, 200 at 53; 200 at 53¼; 1,200 at 53½ s 30; 300 at 53½; 1,200 at 53¾; 100 at 53½ s 60.

Uncle Sam Con., 500 at 21.

Victor Con., 1,800 at 24; 1,000 at 24½ b 60.

SILK SALE

Today is presented another sale of

Dependable Goods

We are sweeping the city with low prices.

At

Dependable Prices

By a

Dependable Institution

A GENUINE REDUCTION SALE of dress goods is always interesting to the ladies. Such sales seldom occur, the ostensible sales being so clothed with misrepresentation that confidence is shaken. Keith-O'Brien Company are revolutionizing conditions. Their statements are absolutely dependable. Every price used in an advertisement means reduction. Today's sale will be attractive to careful buyers. It is an astonishing markdown from regular prices which, however, are lower than prices prevalent elsewhere

One feature of the sale is the magnificent assortment of silk grenadines—that delightful transparent fabric interwoven with embroidered dots, in which all of the pleasing shades appear. It is just the goods for evening gowns, airy, graceful creations so dear to the feminine heart, and for nobby street attire. Think of such exquisite productions being sold at 79c

Then there will be shown a profusion of silk plaids—the reigning fad in metropolitan centers. These plaids are rich in quality as they are modern in design, while they range through pleasing, striking and effective colorings. For shirt-waist suits and waists these plaids at 92 cents will thrill even fastidious womankind. A superb, extensive and varied presentation of the latest creations by the world's master designers of stylish fabrics.
