EVENTS IN THE WEST.

A Record of Occurrences in Neighboring States and Territories.

A PHYSICIAN DRUGGED AND ROBBED.

The Passing of California Pioneers—Run Over by an Engine—A Runaway in the Line—Oakland Improvement Club.

Five brooms out Wednesday morning in the extensive hunter yards of the Cogging Brothers on Jackson and Front streets. The brooms were discovered. The north bound train was delayed over four hours, about four feet of the Southern Pacific railroad track was burned.

Another arrest on a charge of forgery may be the sequel to the series of proceedings against Henry Carroll of Oakland, Cal. The latter propposes to hold Detroit authorities responsible for the consolidation issues that Mrs. Garrett, formerly a Miss Fuller, and was the wife of Carroll, set forth, which Carroll charges Collins fraudulently obtained.

Two men fell over the cliffs of Telegraph hill, near San Francisco, early Wednesday morning. The dead body of one of them, supposed to be that of Hector F. Wilson, was found on the foot of the hill, near Chestnut and Kearny streets. The other, John Joseph Johnson, was found on the brick of Battery and Union streets. He was taken to the receiving hospital with a broken arm and a badly contused side.

A general city improvement club that promises to have a large membership has been organized at Oakland, Cal. The constitution gives the following statement of the objects for which it was formed: "For the sole purpose of advancing, promoting and encouraging general municipal improvements and studies and advancing the best interests and welfare of the municipality and not to advance the selfish interests of any one, but only to promote the public welfare."

Wm. C. Andrews, aged 25 years, and F. A. Whiteside, aged 20 years, were booked at the San Francisco city police Wednesday night on the charge of stealing 40,000 pounds of copper from the railroad office. Andrews and Whiteside turned stately witness and were given their liberty.

Thatcher F. Dabney, a pioneer of California, died very suddenly of heart disease at his home near Acton, that state, Tuesday night. Mr. Dabney was a native of New York, where he was born in 1824. He crossed the plains with a large herd of cattle in 1852, reaching Marysville in the winter of that year. After settling in Acton he engaged in mining in 49 Dorado county for a year, and then went to Monterey, where he died his rank at farming. He moved to St. Joe county in 1856 and located upon the spot of land near Acton, which he subsequently purchased and upon which he resided until his death.

In spite of the search of officers aided by a bloodhound, the man who held up the Mendocino City, Cal., stage and murdered J. E. Barnes, still at liberty. Information received at Under Sheriff Hardy, Nelson McClure and Virgil and J. L. Johnson left the scene of the tragedy as soon as the news was brought to him. The robbers, however, had a number of hours' start, and darkness overtook the officers before they reached the scene of the crime. Barnes reached the place of the holdup, they were forced to wait the return of Driver Rice from Ukiah to telegraph to secure a description of the robbers.

Mrs. Mary E. Wakeman died at Sealright, Cal., Wednesday morning of heart trouble, probably hastened by the shock of the gunshot wound inflicted, three years ago, by her husband, aged 68 years of age. She went to California in 1849 with her father, General John Wyman, who was the first naval officer of San Francisco, having been appointed by President Taylor. He was subsequently collector of the port. Miss Wakeman was present at the admission day ball in San Francisco in 1850 and danced with General Taylor. Ex-Governor Frederick Low was her cousin. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. H. C. Cooper of Santa Cruz.

F. D. McMahon, who shot Deputy Constable A. A. Gerber at Auburn, Cal., six months ago and pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, with intent to kill, was sentenced Wednesday morning to five years in San Quentin by Judge F. H. Dunn at Auburn. He pleaded guilty to a charge of assault when Carriage interfered and shot, shot, the only witness present, who described the incident of the day tragedy. McMahon return to his husband in a drunken condition and ending with the attack on his wife. The sheriff testified to the fact that the court had for himself had always been kind to her except when he was drunken.

Dr. Wilbur C. Watts, a member of the Hugh Dell College of Physicians and Surgeons and a prominent medical practitioner of Los Angeles, was shot and barbed emergency hospital San Francisco all-day Wednesday, at the police station. The officer who shot Dr. Watts, he is unknown, was followed in a drunken fight, followed by a drunken friend, followed his man into his office, and, he claims, he believed he was about to shoot him. Dr. Watts, who is a native of Texas, and it was their intention to present and rob the man, was shot in the back, robbing the visiting physician and bit for the bright service of the emergency hospital. Dr. Watts, it is said, has been married twice, and has two children by first wife.

The national counties of an unknown man, supposed to have been murdered by opium eaters at Fresno county, were found at a vacant Wednesday night in the railroad yard at Mint and Fifth streets. The man was dressed in good condition, and was thought to have been murdered for his money. The only articles found with the body were a silk handkerchief, a ticket watch, a business card of the Palace House, on Pacific street, and two of Attorney H. Hall, on Sixth street, every street, on the back of which was the address of Fred Herman, 11 Shakespeare street, Sacramento. Chief Engineer Corbett accompanied himself to the scene, and he was charged with manslaughter and he based on his own responsibility.

William Martin Nunn, who died on Tuesday in his home in Santa Cruz, Cal., had a romance in his life, and leave a widow and a daughter. He left parents and the second and third who had for some Tuesday night. Mrs. Nunn was in the dark and dreary that he was unknown and it was upon seeing his in your that Mrs. Nunn found out. Mr. Nunn was searching her name and owned to be published a second death notice, which resides in the Sacramento Bee, for 28, 1897, William M. Nunn, beloved husband of Ella Nunn, father of William Francis Nunn, son of L. C. and Sarah J. Nunn, a native of San Francisco." The Nunn family resided and still reside in Santa Cruz, recognize Mrs. Ella Nunn and her child; the women is equally determined, and it is said, the result of a somewhat sensational contest is in course. Mrs. Nunn, it is said, is the last of her dead husband's written acknowledgment of the child's paternity and that her mother's certificate of society kept in a safety deposit box. She is fully alive to the value of the papers.

Dr. Fetzmeyer's Hessian's Method.

Are you, I mean my tests early. I get them, if possible, before going to bed Sunday night. I put them in such, just as when you make soup you put the bones in the pot and let them simmer, and later skim off what rises to the surface, or just as we used to strain the coffee through a cloth and let it settle. Then I let the process Saturday night. It takes time for the tests to strike down and the stools to strike up.

Beyond this planning process my methods are very variable. I think it's a good thing for a man to do, not a prescription but and have an invariable method of making a sermon. I always carry a pocket full of tracts, I always carry a pocket full of tracts, I always carry a pocket full of tracts,