Charged With Robbery.

Where Do They All Go?

The chicken thieves' harvest is not yet over. During Saturday night or the early hours of Sunday morning the chicken-house of Brother J. W. Barnigo, in the Seventeenth Ward, was forcibly entered and upwards of forty-five Leghorns stolen. In fact, not a solitary bird was left out of the entire roying batches.

Burglars in Ogden.

Some time early yesterday morning the safe in C. L. Peskins' drug store was cracked open by burglars. They got away with $135.50 in cash, a gold watch and chain, a diamond ring and some other little trinkets. A pair of sleeve buttons which were marked and which were in the same purse with the money were left.

The robbers climbed up to the veranda at the rear of the building, broke a window, entered the wall paper department, once more mounted to where the safe was located and began their work. They drilled two holes a quarter of an inch apart on the left of the combination. A sledge was brought to bear on some chisels and the inside bolt broken in two, giving easy access to the safe. No trace of the robbers has been found. The large arc light in front of the store went out at midnight and it is thought that the burglars availed themselves of the darkness.—Standard, Sunday, Nov. 22.

A HOUSEBREAKER

Put to Flight by a Woman, whose Residence he had Robbed.

Yesterday morning, about 2 o'clock, the residence of Mr. Harry Robinson, sr., First W. West Street, was entered by a housebreaker, who proceeded to ransack the premises, but his movements awoke Mrs. Robinson, who peered from beneath her bed clothes and saw the fellow examining the contents of a bureau drawer. As quietly as possible she reached for a rifle which was standing near the head of her bed. The sound of the action and made a lock through the front window, carrying with him a part of the sash. He was evidently cut by the fragments of glass from the shattered window, as he cried out with pain. Mrs. Robinson fired two shots in rapid succession at the fast retreating robber. It is not thought, however, that either of the shots took effect. Careful inspection yesterday morning showed that the burglar's trail was covered with blood. He succeeded in carrying off a box of valuable jewels. As usual, no clue.

FOUR SPECIFIC CHARGES

Of Gambling Preferred Against a United States "Spotter."

Judge Zane Has Not "Taken a Hand in the Game," as Alleged by the "Tribune."

It will be remembered that United States Marshal Parsons' deputies raided a gambling den over Shade's saloon on Thursday night last and arrested some of the players. It transpired, however, that Lewis Miller, one of the gamesters, was not taken into custody for the reason that he was present as a spotter, and was wanted as a witness. On the following night Detective Glenn, a city officer, arrested Miller on a charge of gambling and placed him in jail where he remained until Saturday, when he was released on $100 bail, giving in the police court by Deputy United States Marshal Goodsell. Late Saturday afternoon the accused appeared before Justice Orn and plead not guilty. Miller asked that the matter go over until after the cases before Commissioner Pratt, should be disposed of on Wednesday, the 25th instant, in which he would be wanted as a witness.

Assistant City Attorney Eichner opposed this motion and also stated that the defendant was in the justice's court charged with gambling on the one hand, and was the witness for the prosecution on the other. Under such circumstances he was not prepared to go on with the case until he had consulted with City Attorney Hall.

Detective Glenn then stated that the defendant was found in a gambling house and that preparations had already been made for him to testify against the other gamblers on Wednesday next, and unless the case should be disposed of before that time the defendant could not be punished, even though his guilt should be established.

This claim was substantiated by Mr. Eichner who quoted the following section of the revised statutes of Utah of 1888, on gaming:

"No person otherwise competent as a witness, is disqualified from testifying as such concerning the offense of gaming, on the ground that such testimony may criminate himself, but no prosecution can afterwards be had against him for any offense concerning which he testified."

Upon that showing the case was continued until this morning at ten o'clock.

Certain members of the police department are very much incensed by the action of United States Marshal Parsons in arresting gamblers that they themselves should have taken into custody. Accordingly Detective Glenn yesterday rearrested Miller on three additional charges of gambling. His bonds were fixed at $100 in each case, but being unable to obtain security he was sent to jail, where he spent the night. This morning he was brought before the court to plead but a continuance was had until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

W. H. Hill, an alleged colleague of Miller's was also arrested yesterday on a charge of gambling. He gave bonds to appear for trial this afternoon.

Commenting on the above the Tribune of this morning says:

"It is stated on good authority that Judge Zane has taken a hand in the game, and on yesterday morning issued an order, which was directed to Police Justice Orn, Marshal Young, City Attorney Hall and Assistant Attorney Eichner, commanding that Miller and Hill should not be molested in the performance of their duties. This order, it appears, was issued, for in the afternoon Miller and Hill were arrested for gambling, and Miller intimated that he was released by the order of Judge Zane, and that he would not be molested. Marshal Young and Attorney Hall were compelled to go to jail, for legal fees will fly today, sure enough, and somebody is liable to be punished for contempt."

Assistant City Prosecuting Attorney Eichner informed a News reporter today that the above statement was erroneous in every detail. No such order as the one referred to had been issued by Judge Zane by any of the city officers.

Mr. Eichner says that he will make every effort to convict the accused as he is of the opinion that if a "spotter" plays cards in a gambling den he is as guilty as the man who resorts to such places for unlawful purposes.

HILLER AND HILL CONVICTED.

On the re-assembling of court this afternoon Miller and Hill were arraigned and plead not guilty. Both men were placed on the witness stand and testified in their own behalf. They were adjudged guilty and a fine of $50 in each case was imposed. The defendants gave notice of appeal.

New Ward Organized.

The Center ward of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion was organized on Sunday, November 22nd, 1891, with the following named brethren as the Bishopric thereof: Albert W. Davis, Bishop; Daniel P. Callister, First Counselor; James E. Langford, Second Counselor.

The brethren were unanimously sustained to act in these positions, and were ordained and set apart to labor in their respective callings under the hands of President Joseph F. Smith, of the First Presidency, and Angus M. Cannon and Charles W. Penrose, of the Presidency of the Stake.

The ward is formed of part of Brighton and North Point wards and bounded as follows:

Commencing at a point on the west bank of the Jordan river on the north side of South Temple street, running thence west about three miles to the west line of township, running thence north about two and one-half miles, to a point directly west of the center of what is known as the "Lane," thence east along said lane about three miles to west bank of Jordan River, thence south along said river to point of beginning.

The new school house recently erected by Brother Albert W. Davis, at his own expense, will be used as a meeting house until a more commodious building is erected by the ward.

President Joseph F. Smith, Angus M. Cannon and Charles W. Penrose gave some timely instruction on ward government, and the building was dedicated by President Joseph F. Smith.

COWARDLY ATTACK.

Philip Pugsley, of the Twenty-second Ward, Held Up.

About 6.30 o'clock on Friday night Philip Pugsley, of the Twenty-second ward, went into his stable and was proceeding to do his regular evening chores, when he heard a noise behind him. Turning quickly he saw a strange man with his arm uplifted. He had in his hand a heavy short instrument. Mr. Pugsley attempted to get out of the way, but was struck a terrific blow on the head, which for the time being so dazed him that he was unable to defend himself. His assailant then made an attempt to rifle his pockets when Mr. Pugsley rolled over to his son, who the fellow took to his heels and escaped.

Amusements.

The latest laughing success, "C. O. I.," with John T. Kelly in the leading role, will be the attraction at the Salt Lake Theatre for three nights, commencing tonight. The piece is full of bright and witty dialogues, new music and clever dancing. Mr. John T. Kelly is said to be immensely funny in the character of O'Donovan Jones. In the company will be found the following well known people, Dutch Mike, Fred West, Georgie Dennis and others equally well known.

"A Straight Tip" at the Salt Lake Theatre, three nights and a matinee, commencing with a Thanksgiving day matinee Thursday, Nov. 26th. James T. Powers, Peter F. Daly, John Sparks, F. T. Wade and Lillian Kennedy are the male merrymakers, full of life and frolic, with plenty of talent. Emma Manley makes a fine appearance, she has a good singing voice, and in Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl, shows considerable dramatic talent.

SET AT LIBERTY.

Thirteen of the Alleged Robes Discharged by Justice Orn.

Green Williams, the son of a well known farmer, who resides at Huntsville, and who came to this city on Friday morning last, was among the gang of tough characters who were arrested at Fitzgerald's saloon on Friday night. He was taken into custody with the rest and was locked up in jail, where he remained until this afternoon, when Attorney Newton appeared before Justice Orn and represented that young Williams had $60 on deposit in the sale of a well known merchant on First South street. He therefore contended that Williams could not be considered a vagrant and asked for his discharge. The request was granted.

Mr. Newton asked the court to administer a reprimand to the officers who made the arrest that they had not seen fitter. He said that certain members of the police department were interfering too frequently with individual liberty. He closed by saying that some of the city police would look better behind the bars than the unfortunate inmates.

Thirteen of the gang had a hearing before Justice Orn this afternoon and were discharged. Mr. Newton demurred that the cases against the prosecuting ten be dismissed. He then made a personal attack upon Marshal Young by saying that if he were guilty of making the mistake so with constantly characterized that official's action, he would "give up the police business and go to herding hogs."

A Distressing Case.

A case of destitution is reported. There resides on Second South street, between Third and Fourth East, a family named Smith. The domestic circle consists of the parents and six young children whose ages range from six months to ten years. The father, suffering from rapid consumption, lies on the brink of the grave, and the poor mother is almost frantic with grief and anxiety. They are in the most abject poverty, and are said to be entirely without friends. To add to the misery of the situation, they are at the current mercy of a landlord in the shape of a modern Shylock, who demands the arrears of rent due to him or the immediate eviction. Some within a few days. Mr. C. B. Glenn, clerk of the city police court, has interested himself in this painful case, and will be glad to receive and hand over to the destitute family any sums sent to him for their relief.

The Grand Jury at Work.

There was quite a crowd of persons congregated in the passage just outside the door of the grand jury room in the Wasatch building this morning, and inquiry revealed the fact that they were witnesses who had been subpoenaed to give evidence before the grand jury in regard to the gambling evil, this week subject that body is now investigating. Marshal Young and several other members of the police force were on hand. Of course the proceedings in the grand jury room are conducted with the utmost secrecy.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

Two Months in Jail on a Charge Now Withdrawn.

ALLEGED BREACH OF WARRANTY.

The Grand Jury Resumes Its Labors—Court Notes on General Matters.

The place of Chief Justice Zane on the bench in the Third District Court this morning was taken by Associate Justice Anderson, Judge Zane sitting in the upstairs room and taking motions on the civil docket which have previously engaged his attention. Judge Anderson had but a short bench full court for more than an hour, and then adjourned until 2 o'clock. The Chief Justice, after transacting about half an hour's business, took a recess and did very little more before the noon adjournment.

HELD ON A FELONY CHARGE.

As soon as Judge Anderson took his seat, Assistant District Attorney Stephens stated that a young man named S. G. Lowenthal had been held a prisoner in the county jail for the last two months to answer a charge of forgery. He had been tried into the circumstances and found that the forgery—if such it could be called—consisted in this, which to his mind did not constitute a forgery at all. There was due to the defendant from his employer a sum of money. He asked his employer to give him a check to cover this money payable to a third individual, to whom Lowenthal was indebted in the sum of $25. A check was made out according to the request, and handed to the accused. Instead, however, of giving it to the other party the defendant put it into his own pocket, and then money elsewhere wrote he wrote his name across the check, cashed it, and appropriated the money to his own use. The check was never delivered to the man in whose name it was made out. Under these circumstances Mr. Stephens asked the court to grant an order for Lowenthal's release on his own bonds, as he did not think he ought to be longer held in custody.

Judge Anderson said the grand jury would be in session today and the case could be represented to them.

Mr. Stephens—If it can be arranged I would like to have the matter dismissed. Otherwise, I do not think this man should be held, under the circumstances I have stated.

Judge Anderson said he understood that two of the grand jurors had been excused for today by Judge Zane. Mr. Stephens had better take the case before that body at the earliest opportunity.

Mr. Stephens replied that he would certainly do so.

SOME GRAND JURORS.

A verdict was found for three grand jurors.

A SEALED VERDICT.

T. F. Rancke vs. J. W. Thornley. In this case, filed on Saturday, the jury brought in a sealed verdict, finding for the defendant.

FIVE DAYS TO PLEAD.

In the case of L. Ritzinger vs. Henry Wagenstat et al., five days to plead were allowed.

ALLEGED BREACH OF WARRANTY.

The first case tried was that of Mary A. McLaren, plaintiff (for whom Attorney S. W. Dodge appeared) vs. Henry Haynes and Emma Haynes, defendants, who were represented by City Attorney Hall.

This was an action for breach of warranty, the sum claimed as damages thereby being $1000. It was alleged that plaintiff purchased from the defendants a piece of land in October, five 1889, the same being guaranteed free from and incumbrances. It was afterwards discovered, however, that the property was mortgaged, in the January prior to the transaction, to one James H. Bacon, as trustee, to secure the payment of $375 with interest.

The case—in which a jury was waived—was, after argument by counsel, taken under advisement by the court.

ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP.

Thomas C. Bond, a Dane, and Frederick W. Norris, an Englishman, both residents of Salt Lake, were this afternoon admitted to citizenship.

A REAL ESTATE DIFFICULTY.

The case of Eugene F. Jones vs. Sarah H. Cannon, being a dispute over a real estate deal, was in progress this afternoon.

BEFORE JUDGE ZANE.

Daniel H. Hoshkan, an Englishman, now a resident of Salt Lake County, was admitted to citizenship.

Upon the application of counsel, all the Bastard cases were postponed until Saturday, the 28th inst.

The Nevada Water Irrigation Co. vs. Mary Erickson et al., was the next case on the list for trial.

COURT NOTES.

James Griffin, sentenced in the First District Court at Ogden about twelve months ago, for involuntarily cutting his daughter, by having shot and killed a man named Hamer, has been pardoned by Governor Thomas. The petition for his pardon bore the signatures of many prominent men in the Territory.

The Dillon murder trial at Ogden will, it is expected, occupy the greater part of the present week. The numerous witnesses for the defense occupied the stand all day, and force testimony to the singular actions of the accused. Dr. H. W. Foster, of this city, was called as an "expert" witness, and his examination was in progress when the court adjourned until this morning.

A suit for papers of which bear the title of Park City, plaintiff, vs. Elizabeth Nelson et al., defendants, was filed in the Third District Court on Saturday afternoon. It is an action to move certain property mentioned in the complaint. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants, the Ontario Silver Mining Company, is a foreign corporation organized and existing under the laws of California; that plaintiff desires to appropriate and have condemned to public use for a street certain real estate consisting of a strip of land which constitutes the only convenient and practicable route whereby the people can reach the cemetery which lies west thereof, for the burial of the dead.

Before Judge Anderson on Saturday afternoon, in the case of Fred K. Innes, the well known bandmaster, against Francis A. McKeown, manager of the Chicago company, being an action for an alleged breach of contract and in which the presence of a Tabernacle audience are concerned, a motion to dismiss plaintiff's complaint was sustained, a motion to amend complaint denied, and the plaintiff was ordered to file bond for security of costs within thirty days, all proceedings to be stayed until bond is accomplished and the plaintiff has paid defendant the costs of the suit.

In the divorce suit of George H. Meredith vs. Linda Meredith, Judge Zane signed a decree of divorce on Saturday afternoon. The parties were married at Ogden in 1886, and on January, 1889, the defendant wilfully deserted her husband.

In the case of Elizabeth Cook vs. Salt Lake City, an action for damages for personal injuries occasioned by falling into a waterspouts trench, in which the plaintiff on Friday obtained a judgment for $100, a stay of ten days was granted by Judge Zane on Saturday afternoon.

Judge Lindelow stated for the court today on a two or three weeks trip. It is expected that upon his return he will be Master in Chancery. He his report in the Church sequestral proceedings.

In the Third District Court on Saturday afternoon John F. Appelquist, a native of Sweden, was admitted to citizenship.

Buggy Accident.

On Saturday evening, just as darkness set in, Mr. C. S. Glenn, clerk of the city police court, and his law partner, Mr. Arthur Brown, met with an accident when driving from the Warm Springs which might have been attended with very serious consequences. They had driven out to the Springs bound for the city, and when between the first and second electric light poles the horse fell into a deep ditch which some fifteen feet deep. The animal kicked and extricated itself and dashed away, leaving Mr. Glenn and Mr. Gunter lying on the ground. The buggy was smashed almost to pieces. Both gentlemen were badly hurt, Mr. Gunter being severely cut across the cheek, the wound requiring some five or seven stitches to close it. The horse is said to be almost uninjured and is to be brought before the City Council.

Personal.

Messrs. Martin Maguire, William Thompson, Charles W. Lyons, J. L. Rich and A. C. Hoss, delegates to the Denver Mining Congress, from Montana, arrived in this city yesterday and left for home today.
