THE LAST HONORS

Paid to the Late King of Hawaii The Casket Taken to the Flagship "Charleston."

REV. SANDERS REED DELIVERS THE FUNERAL DISCOURSE.

THE LATE KING.

A Vast Number of People Attend the Funeral.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The last honors were paid to the late Kalakaua of Hawaii this afternoon. The body lay in state last night in the mortuary chapel of Trinity Episcopal Church, guarded by State soldiers. This morning the streets in the vicinity of the church were thronged with people. The invited guests began arriving at the church before 1 o'clock, the Hawaiian representatives being the first to enter the structure. Admiral Brown and staff, followed by Golden Gate Commandery, Knights Templar, which had several times entertained the King and been invited by him to attend a grand entertainment in their honor in Honolulu last summer, Admiral Brown had requested that the commandery act as a guard of honor. They were followed by other Masonic bodies, representatives of foreign governments, city and county officials, Federal and state judiciary, various civic societies, clubs and trade organizations.

At the chancel the American and Hawaiian colors were draped and flags arranged in the form of a crown. The pews reserved for the Hawaiian party were draped in black, and the chancel was filled with large and choice floral pieces, the offerings of personal friends and societies of which the King had been a member. The most noteworthy was that of the Islam Temple of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, to which Kalakaua had been admitted but a few days before his death.

At 1:30 p. m. the casket was brought in, followed by the party which accompanied the King from Honolulu. All the Episcopal ministers in the city, except Bishop Kip, who was ill, were present. A selection from the Scriptures was read by Bishop Spalding and the hymn "Jerusalem the Golden" sung by the choir. Rev. Sanders Reed delivered the funeral discourse. The choir sang "Rock of Ages," the creed was repeated by the clergy and those present, and after the benediction the funeral cortege slowly conveyed the coffin to the hearse.

The procession was headed by two troops of the Fourth United States Cavalry and the band of the Fifth United States Army Artillery. Next came the light batteries of the Fourth Artillery, followed by the Second Brigade, National Guard of California. The hearse was escorted by Golden Gate Commandery, Knights Templar. The suite of the King followed the hearse in carriages and after them came General Gibbon and staff, Admiral Brown and staff, Federal State, city and county officials, civic societies and private citizens.

Dense crowds thronged the streets. Between Powell and the foot of Market Street not less than a hundred thousand people were assembled. Although there was no call for the closing of business houses, there was a general suspension of business along the line of march.

At the foot of Market Street the troops formed in line and presented arms. The casket was placed on the lighthouse steamer and taken to the Rapidly Charleston. There it was placed in the after-starlette, under a stands of American and Hawaiian flags. The Charleston's anchors were soon weighed and she moved down the bay, while guns were fired from Alcatraz and the Presidio. She passed through the Golden Gate at 5 o'clock.

MAIL STOLEN.

A Package of Letters Secured by a Shrewd Thief.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The facts have just transpired in regard to the theft of a very valuable package of letters belonging to the Northwestern National Bank. Yesterday morning the bank's messenger called at the postoffice for the bank's mail, and was told to call for the remainder in fifteen minutes. Just before the expiration of that time a young man, who had evidently overheard the conversation with the messenger, called for the remainder of the mail. It was given to him without question and nothing more thought of the matter till the arrival of the regular messenger. By that time the thief had escaped. The stolen package consisted of about sixty letters, containing from $100,000 to $150,000, most likely in coupons, checks and other negotiable papers.

WAR PREPARATIONS.

Guatemalan Officers Purchasing Arms and Ammunition.

(Special to the Evening News Bureau.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Two officers of the Guatemalan army are now in New York City, purchasing quantities of arms and ammunition and a third representative of the Guatemalan government is buying horses that, from the standard fixed, will be just suited for cavalry and artillery service. The officers' mission appears to more than threaten that the peace so recently established between Guatemala and Salvador is to be broken.

March is the time fixed by people acquainted with the peculiarities of the two countries for the beginning of hostilities. A letter received here dated December 5, confirms the rumors of war. "I am sorry to say," the unfortunate country will be carried into the ... a failure and that war with Salvador will be renewed. The government is endeavoring to prepare itself for a struggle, which on some pretext or other, will be begun in March next, as soon as the harvesting of the coffee crop is ended."

Confirmatory evidence of Guatemalan warlike intention was given when General Aguilar, one of the best officers of artillery in the Guatemalan service, and General Regna Barrios, nephew of the late president or dictator of Guatemala, arrived in New York as the acknowledged agents of their government and as quickly as possible began the actual purchase of rifles, side arms and ammunition. Within a few days Senor Melgarejo another agent of the government, arrived. Ostensibly his purpose is to buy horses for a government has four but he wants singularly good animals for the work and those up to his requirements will not be hard to convert into chargers. One more Guatemalan has arrived but there is more mystery about his mission than about the objects of the others. He is Senor Jose Matamoros and is connected with the diplomatic service of his country. It has been said he was sent there to assist in the adjustment of the difference between the United States and Guatemala resulting from the murder of General Barrundia on an American vessel by Guatemalan officers.

The fact that, so far as is known, the agents of Guatemala have not purchased any artillery in the United States is accepted as evidence that ordnance is being purchased in some other country. The Central American States use cannon of German make in preference to American guns. In Guatemala preparations for war are going on quietly, but steadily. The army, which was reorganized after the last peace with Salvador is being recruited and from reports in Central American newspapers, is better disciplined than ever before. In addition to purchases of arms and munitions of war, Guatemala has recently contracted for 20,000 uniforms and evidently intends to put a man in every one of them. From all that is said about President Barrilla's preparations, he will be able to put from twenty-five to thirty thousand men in the field. Whether Salvador is asleep in fancied security and confident that the peace drawn and accepted by Presidents Ezeta and Barrilla and their cabinets will be kept is a question. President Barrilla thinks that the Salvadorans will not be ready to make an effectual resistance when the season for war in Central America, which is the early spring, comes. Then the coffee crop will be converted into money and with the sinews of war available and absolutely nothing for the people to do, fighting will begin. Barrilla is jealous of Ezeta, and his extravagant and impoverished government needs the revenue which Guatemala formerly drew in tribute from Salvador.

The relations of Honduras and Guatemala just now are of such a nature that they will almost certainly be allies when war is declared. The crushing of Salvador will greatly advance the political desires of both countries. Then, too, they will be much nearer the pet scheme of at least two Central American republics—a union of all.

Meeting for a Daughter.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—It is stated that Count Sarinay, of Aurada, Hungary, has been in the city three weeks hunting for his seventeen-year-old daughter, who was stolen from a convent abroad by the former admirer of the count, who then sought revenge. Traces of the young countess have been found in the low dens of Thompson street, where it is believed the abductor placed her, but the girl cannot be found.

Parnell's Intentions.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—During a conversation in the lobby of the Commons today Parnell declared his intention to assert his authority as leader of the National party, and engage actively in work during the present session of Parliament. It is claimed that the motion in regard to the Administration crimes act made by Parnell at today's session of the House cuts the ground from under McCarthy's feet, as obtaining precedence to McCarthy's motion concerning the trial of William O'Brien.

PINE RIDGE, Jan. 22.—Orders for moving away the various commands now in the field are being prepared. Forty more guns were turned over to General Miles this evening.

GIRLS RUN AWAY.

Several girl inmates of the Indian boarding school have run away, having been induced to do so, it is stated, by their parents, who told them the structure was to be burned down by the Brules.

COLONEL FORSYTHE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Assistant Adjutant-General Corbin was asked tonight if the official report on the investigation of the Wounded Knee battle condemns anyone. He replied: "It finds that Colonel Forsythe was unmindful of the instructions issued by General Miles against the very things that happened that day. The reports that the inquiry freed the responsible persons from blame are erroneous."

THE SILVER POOL.

Lawyer Hill Gives Some Information to the Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—E. N. Hill, a lawyer, said that one J. W. Hedenberg, a real estate man from Chicago, came to him last spring, talked over silver legislation, and showed what he said were certificates for a thousand ounces of silver each, suggesting that witness could sell some on a margin of $25 a thousand ounces, and would be paid one certificate for every four shares sold. Witness said he might sell some to his business friends, but Hedenberg interrupted him with the statement that he wanted the certificates sold to members of Congress. Witness did not want to go into the thing. He had no knowledge of any certificates being offered members of Congress. Witness had written some essays on bimetallism which had appeared in the Congressional Record.

Dingley asked if they were delivered as speeches, but witness laughingly answered that he did not know what was done with them.

James A. George, who said he ran a provision store in this city, had heard the communications between Hill and Hedenberg. Hedenberg had told him that he had got a post organized that held a million ounces of silver. Hedenberg wanted witness to see the members, and said he did not want free coinage, but the House bill. Witness told Hedenberg that he was a free coinage man, and if he knew of a Congressman going the other way he would expose him.

Hedenberg, in reply to a suggestion from witness that he (Hedenberg), coming from Chicago, ought to see the Illinois members, replied that he would look after them and wanted witness to see the Southern members. After the statement that witness was a free coinage man, however, Hedenberg dodged him constantly.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Pension Certificates—Other Items.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—The statement of the Pension Office shows that during the first fifteen days of January 16,317 pension certificates were issued, a larger proportion under the dependent act of June last. This is the largest number ever issued by the bureau during a like period. The large number of applications concerning pending claims daily received from members of Congress, all of which have been answered, is seriously interfering with the regular business of the office. One day last week the inquiries of this character received amounted to 2380.

POSTMASTERS.

The President today sent the following nominations to the Senate:

Postmasters.—Oregon, William F. Rosting; Wyoming, A. A. Bailey, Evanston.

TRANSPORTATION OF CHINESE.

The Secretary of the Treasury has approved a proposition made by G. H. Williams, on behalf of the Southern Pacific, to transport the Chinese intended for deportation at Seattle or Tacoma, Wash., to San Francisco by rail and thence to Hong Kong by steamer at $41 each, which sum includes food for the entire journey and an adequate guard between Seattle and San Francisco. The Secretary accordingly requested the Attorney General to instruct the United States marshals to turn over to the company designated all Chinamen intended for deportation, and to have a deputy marshal accompany them to the steamer.

Stealing Diamonds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—William C. Duncan, city salesman for the diamond house of Lewiston & Co., Maiden Lane, has disappeared with $20,000 worth of diamonds and pearls. Inspector Byrnes is working on the case.

An Unnatural Mother.

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Lucenia Anderson today gave her three children, aged 5, 4 and 2 years, morphine and took a dose herself. She is dead and the children are not expected to live. Jealousy of her husband was the cause.

American Pork in Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—In the Reichstag today Barth, a member of the Deutsche Freisinnige party, moved to repeal the prohibition on American pork and bacon. Secretary Von Boetticher said despite the increased stringency of measures taken in America to suppress the trade in bad hog products, there was still no guarantee that Germany would be sufficiently protected from the danger of trichinosis. He asserted that seven per cent of the American hogs were affected with the disease, as against six per cent of German hogs.

Schmidt, of the Freisinnige party, urged the necessity of supplying the working people of Germany with American meat, which was considerably cheaper than German meat.

Roesnel, of the Deutsche Freisinnige party, held that it was unconstitutional to make the people's necessities of life dear to the landowners interest.

Von Boetticher further said the English and American people did not eat raw meat, such as is consumed in Germany.

The Northern Pacific Scores a Point.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—A St. Paul special says: For many months two roads have been racing against each other, building parallel lines to the sea at Gray Harbor, Wash. One was the Northern Pacific, the other G. W. Hunt's. Today the Northern Pacific scored a point by attaching Hunt's roadbed and all his tools and material for a distance of 300 feet. Hunt's representatives say the suit was brought merely to delay them.

It Didn't Disturb Them.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Julius Lundell, a young Swedish servant, suicided in the basement of the Huntington mansion tonight while an entertainment was in progress upstairs. He had been dissipated of late. Huntington had the body removed and kept the matter from the knowledge of the guests.

Chinamen Maltreated.

PENDLETON, Ore., Jan. 22.—A report comes from Milton that a hundred men, supposed to be discharged railroad hands, went to the Chinese quarters last night and led the Chinamen out of town with ropes around their necks, handling some of them very roughly.

Suicide of a Broker.

RAHWAY, N. J., Jan. 22.—C. E. Pratt, a Wall Street broker, shot and killed himself here this morning. The tragedy caused a great sensation. No reason is known why the deed was committed.

That Kansas Bank.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 22.—The run on the Kansas City Deposit and Savings Bank subsided this morning. Since Monday it has paid out $130,000, and is prepared to pay the balance of the deposits, $200,000. The Central Bank was absorbed today by the Merchants' National Bank, which will pay all claims. The Central Bank went out of business because its profits were too small to pay an adequate interest on its capital.

Italy Does Not Want Him.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—Signor Crispi says the Italian government is determined to expel from Italy M. Maret, editor of the Paris newspaper Le Radical. Maret is at present in Rome under the plea of ill health. The Italian government, however, has charged Maret with devoting his time to writing special articles for Le Radical, in which violent attacks are made upon Signor Crispi and his policy.

SISTER MARY CRESCENTIA'S REASONS FOR LEAVING HER WORK AMONG THE LEPERS.

The ground was divided into three parts: one, the "suspects"—that is, persons about the suspects are not suffering the disease—one for the lepers under Dr. Lutz's treatment, and the third for the persons brought in for examination and the unfortunates waiting to be shipped to Molokai. The board of health vested the entire control of the hospital, apart from the medical and surgical work, in their agent, who also acts as a sort of police man to catch the lepers, and bring them up for examination. He in his turn gave over the authority to the Lunas—a sort of general overseer—one of the lepers patients, a man of no education, who confessed himself that before he "got the disease" he was fond of drinking and often "had the devil." This overseer retained all the keys of communication until the day I left, even of the "suspect" side which he ought not to have entered, as he was a confirmed leper.

Spare work fell were I to tell of all that took place during those six eventful months. In that time some of the patients, formerly pronounced lepers, were cured; the condition of all was ameliorated, and hope sprang up in the hearts of these hitherto despairing people. Then came a time when, in several instances, the doctor's whims and mine were put aside; some of our patients were made to work for the Lunas in an utterly unfit condition; one, indeed, who had a strong fever, was so thrown back that he nearly lost his life. Lastly, we heard from the patient that the Lunas and their agent had been speaking against the doctor and myself, trying to prejudice the people and do us harm. We complained to the Board of Health, as the matter became more serious; they seemed unwilling to take any steps in the matter. A native gentleman, representative of the people in the Legislative Assembly, took up the matter and brought it before the House. A committee from the House visited the hospital three days, and took down volumes of evidence which was printed in a report. They found that the Luna was unworthy of his office, and should be immediately removed, as also the agent of the Board of Health. This was not done. The President of the Board of Health was removed from his office.

For some unaccountable reason of their own, they upheld the Luna and the agent, and there was nothing left but for the doctor and myself to resign, it being impossible to work any longer under the then existing circumstances, and so, with an aching heart, we left the people, with all the more sorrow that their lives had been so bright with hope before, as one of them said in his speech before the committee of the legislative assembly. "There never has been such a doctor before in these islands; there never has been a woman who has cared so for the lepers." From the Ladies' Home Journal, for February.

TOO MUCH RAIN.

Damage Done in Several Places by Floods.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Much rain has fallen over New England and the Middle States today and tonight. From many points come tidings of freshets and threatened floods. Bridges are being swept away in Dutchess County, New York. In the Mohawk valley there is an immense gorge of ice at Tribes Hill. The people in the low lands fear a flood.

On the lower Hudson all day the heaviest gale and rainstorm of the season prevailed, and some places are completely flooded.

At Highland Light, Mass., a terrific southwest gale is likely to cause considerable damage to the bay and about Provincetown.

A terrific rainstorm, accompanied by high winds, prevailed at Danbury, Conn., doing a vast amount of damage. It is still raining and the lower floors of factories are flooded. In all parts of the city cellars are flooded and the streets are almost impassable. The schools are closed and business is practically suspended.

Several washouts occurred on the New York and New England Railroad. In Waterbury, Conn., the river is rising. The merchants are flooded out and factories closing.

The large shop of the Norton Jewelry Company at Chesley, Mass., nearly completed, was blown to the ground.

Near Monson, Mass., the main roads are schwerged and piled with ice, which has crushed the telephone and telegraph poles. Houses and barns are flooded and stock is suffering.

Several points in Vermont report washouts. This morning water came pouring down from the hills west of Harrington, Mass., and in a short time the sewers were choked up and the streets and houses flooded, causing great damage.

A terrific rainstorm swept over Wyoming Valley in Pennsylvania.

Over one-third of Wilkesbarre is now under water, and traffic is completely suspended on the street railways. A gorge in the Susquehanna River extends thirty seven miles and if it freed today's storm will cause the river to break up and flood the valley.

The dam at Hibernia, N. Y., on Washing Creek, broke, adding the water of a large pond to the already swollen stream. The ice and water moved a large iron bridge on the Central New England road. The iron highway of the bridge was destroyed and part of the mill at Hibernia torn away.

At Pleasant Valley the people were driven into the second stories of houses and are only able to get about in boats.

The people resident in the vicinity of Cape Henry were terrified last night by the storm. Houses swayed and trees were uprooted. The wind reached sixty-five miles an hour. The Naugatuck and Connecticut rivers began rising, and by noon seven feet of water was falling over the dam. The Meadows and the Derby driving park were flooded. All the factories are closed and sentinels are stationed to watch the dams.

This evening the gate house on the west end began to waver and five minutes later it was twisted around by the mass of ice and a section of the dam was torn away. The ice and water rushed out. An alarm was given and the people rushed from their houses. An immense volume rushed down the river, and a paper mill and Doggett's postal factory were damaged, a railroad trestle carried out and several factories will have to remain closed. Great excitement prevails, but no further serious damage is reported. The dam, which is 500 feet long and 22 feet deep, cost a million dollars. It is pretty badly damaged.

IN NEBRASKA.

The Independents Said To Be In a Dilemma.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 22.—The joint convention of the Legislature to hear the election contest met this morning, but at once took a recess till 2 p. m., when a decision of the Supreme Court on the legality of the proceedings was formally delivered. The court holds that the signatures of the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor to the concurrent resolution are necessary to make the acts of the joint convention valid.

This leaves the Independents in somewhat of a dilemma. They must proceed to pass another concurrent resolution, and this will take about six days. If Governor Boyd refuses to sign it, under today's decision, no contest can be made. They assert that a resolution calling a joint session to contest the right of the Governor to his seat should be legal without his signature, but the State Constitution is mandatory on that point. There is some talk of their dropping the contest. If they do, the only obstacle in Boyd's way will be the proceedings to oust his citizenship instituted by ex-Governor Thayer.

Knights of Labor, Farmers and Other Citizens Join in Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Representatives of the Knights of Labor, Colored Farmers' Alliance, Farmers' Union and Citizens' Alliance, began a meeting here today, in accordance with the instructions of the Ocala conference. Representatives of three other organizations are expected tomorrow. A plan of agreement, looking to a confederation was drawn up. It provides for a joint committee of five from each organization to represent the confederation. The St. Louis platform shall be the basis. Each shall stand pledged to assist, when possible, in all local efforts to better the conditions of the people. The joint committee shall have power to admit other organizations with similar objects. Each organization shall be bound to support the plans agreed upon by the joint committee.

Kansas Failures.

MEDICINE LODGE, Kas., Jan. 22.—Stanley, Ford, Youman & Eldridge, general merchandise, were taken possession of today by the sheriff. Liabilities, $75,000; assets, about the same.

The First National Bank was seized to the hands of the Government examiner. There has been a run on the bank for the past four days, but the principal cause of suspension was the quarrel among the stockholders. Assets, $92,000; liabilities, $50,000.

Depositors Paid in Full.

OMAHA, Jan. 22.—The run on the South Omaha branch of the Nebraska Savings Bank continued this morning, and as the depositors were paid in full confidence was restored and the rush ceased.

Literary Note.

In The Ladies' Home Journal for February Emma C. Thursby, Campanini, Madame Albani, Clara Louise Kellogg, Maud Powell and Albert Parsons have crisp and practical articles on voice-training, piano-playing and music generally. There is many a help and hint in the words of these great artists, who make room further on in the number for Sister Rose Gertrude's first printed article on "My Work Among the Lepers," in which the young heroine of the leper settlement of Molokai tells the true reasons why she resigned her work among the stricken lepers. Edward Bellamy follows his original nationalistic ideas in an article on "Women in the Year 2000." George W. Cable, the Creole novelist, begins a series of papers on "How to Teach the Bible;" Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney's new novel, "A Golden Gossip," goes on; Mr. F. T. Bartons, with portrait, is sketched by a skilful hand; "Judah Allen's Wife" and Rose Terry Cooke have each a story. Dr. Talmage is especially good in his department, as also Mrs. Mac. Margaret Bottome in her "King's Daughters" page, and Mrs. Mallon in her fashion pages. The number is a splendid one from a helpful as well as an entertaining standpoint. Published at 433-435 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

IN CONGRESS.

Aldrich's Closure Resolution Taken Up in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—In the Senate the Vice-President ruled Aldrich's motion, to proceed to consideration of the closure rule, in order and overruled Harris' point of order.

Harris appealed, but the chair was sustained. Messrs. Teller, Wolcott and Stewart voted with the democrats.

Aldrich moved to proceed to consideration of the closure resolution and Gorman moved to table it. The Vice-President submitted the question and a vote was taken. It resulted yeas 36, nays 35, so the motion to table was lost and a vote was then taken on the motion to consider the closure rule. It prevailed by a vote of 36 to 32.

Immediately, however, Harris called up his point of order made against the closure resolution Tuesday, that it was not explicit enough to meet the rules.

The Vice-President ruled against him, but Harris took an appeal and was permitted to debate it. He commenced reading from an apparently interminable mass of manuscript to kill time.

Finally, on motion of Aldrich, Harris' appeal was laid on the table—35 to 29.

After further debate and notices of amendments by Stewart and Gibson, Cockrell, who had the floor, yielded, and the Senate took a recess till to-morrow.

The object of taking a recess instead of adjourning is supposed to be to avoid questions being raised as to correction of the journal. There will be no journal and the legislative day of the 22nd is finished.

IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—In the House this morning Rogers (Ark.) raised the point of no quorum, but the Speaker counted 168 members and directed the reading of the journal.

McMillan (Tenn.) impeached the ruling of the Speaker of yesterday, declaring dilatory McMillin's motion, that the resolution reported by the rules committee be recommitted, etc. Springer, Bland and others supported him.

Speaker Reed said the debate, while nominally upon the approval of the journal, had really been upon the propriety of certain rulings. He did not think the tirkerings of the past few days added to the dignity of the House. The business of a legislative body was to legislate, and not to permit its legislation to be wantonly interrupted.

After further debate the journal was approved by a rising vote.

The District of Columbia appropriation bill was passed and the House went into committee of the whole on the Naval appropriation bill. Boutelle explained it, the committee rose and the House adjourned.
