XLVIII CONGRESS.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, 9.—Senator Plumb, from the committee on public lands, reported favorably the bill to give California five per cent of the proceeds of the sale of public lands in that State.

The Mexican soldiers' bill was taken up. Pending amendment it was laid on the table, being Riddleberger's amendment to strike out the phrase "for the suppression of the rebellion" from the amendment providing that pensions for soldiers who were in the late war for the suppression of the rebellion should be increased.

Williams moved to lay Hoar's amendment on the table. Carried, yeas 25, nays 15.

Several amendments were made and laid on the table, and further consideration was deferred until to-morrow.

The chair appointed Aldrich, Blair and Bayard a committee of conference on the labor bureau bill.

Executive session. Adjourned.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, 7.—The bill forfeiting the unearned Atlantic & Pacific grant passed to-day.

The committee on appropriations reported the general deficiency bill, and it was referred to the committee of the whole.

The bill repealing the pre-emption and timber culture act and amending the homestead laws, was called up and an amendment adopted repealing the act for the sale of desert lands in certain States and Territories. An amendment was also adopted providing that all persons who have heretofore in good faith, made settlements on the public lands under the pre-emption laws shall be permitted to make final entry upon not exceeding 160 acres.

Holman offered an amendment providing that no public lands of the United States adapted to agriculture shall be reserved for actual and bona fide settlers only under the provisions of the homestead law; subject, however, to bounty land warrants and college scrip issued by authority of Congress, and grants which Congress has made for the purpose of education. To the debate which followed Goff of West Virginia gave a slightly political turn by the declaration that the homestead law had been almost solidly opposed by the democratic party, and vetoed by a Democratic President.

Cobb retorted by the statement that since the republican party had come into power, it had in the most flagrant manner wasted and given away the public lands.

Holman contended that the homestead law was essentially a democratic measure.

A long discussion followed, confined principally to a declaration of the necessity of reserving the public lands for actual settlers.

The vote upon an amendment offered by Hubert showed no quorum, and the House adjourned.

Washington, 9.—The republican side of the House was reinforced this morning by the return of a number of members from the Chicago convention.

The House went into committee of the whole, Wellborn in the chair, on the river and harbor bill.

O'Neil, of Missouri, asked a liberal appropriation for the improvement of the Missouri river, and hoped Congress would be governed by no small considerations in the appropriations for the improvement of the water ways of the country. Without action the committee rose.

A number of bills of local interest were passed, and then the Speaker appointed Evans, O'Neil, of Missouri, and James, conferees on the bill to establish a bureau of labor and statistics.

The Senate bill passed to fix the terms of United States circuit and district courts for the eastern and northern districts of Texas.

The Senate bill passed placing Newport News on an equal footing with other ports of entry, with regard to the immediate transportation of dutiable goods.

Recess till 7 p.m.

At the evening session of the House a number of amendments, increasing appropriations for a variety of improvements in rivers and harbors, were offered and voted down. After consideration of six of the 47 pages of the bill, the committee rose and the House adjourned.

AMERICAN.

Deadly Work of the Revolver.

Duluth, Minn., 9.—Last Saturday Mrs. Eericka, a farmer's wife went to a neighbor's for milk. Not returning, search was instituted, lasting till to-day, when the body of Mrs. Eericka was found. It was the most horrible butchery ever known in this part of the country. The woman had been shot in ten places, outraged and then put on a log head downwards. Her bowels were then cut open, and she was otherwise cut in a manner too horrible for print. Parts of her flesh were thrown to one side. The community is greatly excited.

Millersburg, Pa., 9.—In a political fight in a tavern near Liverpool last night, three men were fatally wounded. Morris Bayer, James Weiss and James Hogan. Twenty men were arrested.

Indianapolis, 8.—Gen. Abe Buford of Kentucky, the best shot in America, committed suicide at Danville, Indiana, this morning at the residence of his nephew, Benjamin R. Buford. Gen. Buford came to Danville last week and attended the races this week. He seemed much depressed, which visibly increased after reading an account in a newspaper of the decadence of the Buford family, written in connection with the return of Tom Buford to an anchorage in an asylum a physical and financial wreck. The General's fortune was also swept away. Tragedy in his room just after breakfast this morning, he had been there but a very short time when the report of a revolver was heard, and he was found in a dying condition, having shot himself in the head. He died without a struggle. Two statements are made, one dated this morning, stating that financial misfortune and the death of his family induced the act, and the other is the trouble of his brother, Tom Buford, who killed Judge Elliot. His body will be sent to Lexington, as requested by him.

Death and Disaster by Fire and Water.

PITTSBURG, PA., 9.—A McConnellsville, Pennsylvania, special says: A landslide at the deep cut on the South Pennsylvania Railroad, near Sheepskin Hollow, to-day killed two Italians and seriously injured four others. No further particulars.

El Paso, Texas, 9.—The Rio Grande is rising rapidly, causing great damage to property along its banks. Trains cannot cross the railroad bridges; it is feared the street car bridge will be washed out before morning, which would cut off travel between Mexico and this side. No trains or mails up from the North.

Ottawa, 9.—The residence of Alexander Carter, one of the best of this city, was burned last night; four children perished.

St. Johns, N. F., 8.—A fishing schooner commanded by Veit Shanner, with a crew of thirteen hands, was wrecked in Trinity Bay; all hands perished.

Springfield, Vt., 9.—This village has been visited by a terrible storm. For a day a moderate rain fell, but in an hour a storm of terrible force broke upon the village. The storm was then in progress about five miles north of town, and a high wind that changed in direction from south to west and northwest and back again as the river was falling from the heavens, and the whole north of the town that slopes west to Black river and east to the creek, sent a torrent of water towards the village. Without warning, at once the streets were a raging torrent. Rise that few had time to save anything, all were forced to flee for their lives. The channel of the creek took of houses, barns and other buildings, which forced it in other directions. One stream passed through a Springfield house, another through Hart & Dodge's livery stable, and another through Ellison Bros' stage barn. The loss and damage to the highway reached at least $50,000.

Gold and Silver for 1883.

The Director of the Mint, in his annual report on the production of the precious metals places the total production during the calendar year 1883: Gold $30,000,000; silver at its coining rate, $46,200,000. Following is the product of States and Territories;

	Gold.	Silver.
Arizona	$ 950,000	$ 520,000
California	14,120,000	15,600,000
Colorado	410,000	17,379,000
Dakota	3,200,000	150,000
Idaho	1,400,000	2,100,000
Montana	1,800,000	6,000,000
Nevada	2,520,000	5,430,000
New Mexico	280,000	2,845,000
Utah	140,000	5,420,000

The remainder was produced principally in Alaska, Oregon, Georgia and Carolina.

This is a reduction of $2,500,000 gold and 3000,000 silver from the yield of 1882.

FOREIGN.

British News.

LONDON, 8.—A minority of the British cabinet oppose Earl Granville's concession of international control. A strong section of the Liberal members of Parliament will vote against the establishment of such control. Should the vote of Parliament reject the agreement with France, Granville will resign.

King John of Abyssinia has accepted the treaty proposed by Admiral Hewitt.

Under the heading "A Beaconsfield Beyond the Seas," the Pall Mall Gazette says: Blaine's nomination is the most notable event for England since Lincoln was assassinated. Wherever Blaine can he will oust the British from positions they hold on the American continent; he will use his influence to push trade for America; his menacing intimation that he disregarded the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is an evil augury for the future relations of England and America. His intervention in Peru was most ominous; where he disliked England to win commercial triumphs in fields belonging to America. England watches with extreme solicitude the progress of the campaign.

The voyage of the steamer Maine was uninterrupted until 5 on the morning of the 2nd inst., when her shaft broke. The vessel then proceeded under sail with variable winds. She sailed well the weather being calm. Eighty bags of mail, a few passengers, and £10,000 in specie were landed at Southampton.

The Orange meeting here to-day protested against the proclamation of Earl Spencer directed against the meeting of their brethren, which was announced for to-day, at Newry, and expressed their sympathy for the royalists of Ireland, and resolved to give them every assistance.

Shortly before the meeting separated, telegrams were received stating that 850 Orangemen had started for Newry by the Shanrear route, 650 more sailed from Fleetwood, and 1,200 from Burrow-in-Furness for the same destination.

General Items.

PARIS, 9.—Anam accepted the treaty as proposed by France, without making any modifications. By it Anam is placed under a French protectorate. France will reside in Cochin China, will represent Anam in all her foreign relations, and Anam will form a customs union with Cochin China. The departments of public works, postal and telegraph service and finance and customs will form a single branch of administration, under the direction of French agents. The provinces of Bin Thuan and Than Gea are restored to Anam. A customs system similar to that of China is established. The French military occupancy of all strategetic posts in Tonquin will be effected, if necessary, permanently.

French garrisons will hold the ports and citadel of Hue.

Berlin, 9.—Bismarck will send his son Herbert to direct the Legation at the Hague, in order to watch the succession policy of the Dutch government in the event of the death of the Prince of Orange. It is reported that King William of Holland has secretly affianced his three-year-old daughter, Princess Wilhelmina, to Prince Boudouin, son of the Count of Flanders, heir apparent to the throne of Belgium in order to reunite Holland and Belgium. Bismarck supports the candidature of the Duke of Nassau.

Bavaria will vote in the Federal council against the bill for the taxation of the Bourse operations.

St. Petersburg, 9.—One hundred persons were arrested at Kief on a charge of Nihilism. Forty army officers are among the number. Two hundred arrests were made at Charkow.

Rome, 9.—The consistory for the creation of cardinals is deferred until autumn, owing to a disagreement between the Vatican and the government on account of alleged breach of concordat.

Chicago, 9.—Hon. W. W. Morrow, chairman of the Pacific Coast delegation; Jos. B. Fullaysou, Secretary Wm. Parks and Oregon Sanders started home at 9 o'clock to-night and will arrive in San Francisco on Friday morning.

Chicago, 9.—A Boston special says: The Maine and California delegates arrived in this city to-day. Their reception here was very cool; not one prominent republican met them at the depot. They left for Augusta by special train at 11 o'clock. The freezing treatment accorded them first puzzled and then disgusted the ardent Pacific Coasters who were not backward in expressing their contempt of the Boston politicians. A warm welcome awaits the delegation at Augusta.

New York, 9.—A train bearing several hundred delegates arrived this morning, among them the New York reformers, who refuse to state what action was meditated in view of their defeat. The Blaine men appear jubilant.

Washington, 9.—The Attorney General has sent a letter to Representative Springer, saying that criminal proceedings are about to be commenced against John Hall, late marshal of the western district of Pennsylvania. It is said Hall has failed to account for from $20,000 to $40,000.

It has been reported for several weeks that Secretary Frelinghuysen had under consideration the policy of making certain concessions from Nicaragua for constructing a navigable water-way across that country from ocean to ocean, and the matter has been a subject of discussion between himself and President Arthur and other members of the cabinet. It is understood the subject has recently taken some form, and the Secretary requiring sums of money of about $300,000 for carrying his views into effect.

The Treasury Department is informed that in some instances certificates of Chinese gold have been passed as genuine, but that the Department has ordered the matter investigated and such certificates have been given Chinese merchants. Under this practice duplicate certificates may sometimes be granted, and one, at least, of these has been presented and used.

The President to-day sent a message urging the propriety of Congress appropriating $50,000 for the purpose of making a complete and harmonious exhibition on behalf of the Government at New Orleans. It was referred to the committee on appropriations.

The minority report of the Senate committee on the Danville riots says that decent respect for the opinions of mankind should have impelled the Republicans to conduct the investigation with fairness and self respect. A glance at the majority report would satisfy everybody that this has not been done.

Of the living heroes of the Jeannette expedition, Nindermann is a laborer in the Brooklyn navy yard at $2 per day, Noros is a dry goods clerk in New York, and Lauterbach is as yet unemployed, and in such straightened circumstances that he was recently compelled to raffle his Arctic clothes.

Spring is here and throughout the broad land the American husband is anticipating his wife's demands for money for spring outfits. "I am very dear to you, am I, not?" she begins. "You are; you are, indeed, my love," he responds with emotion, as he reaches for his pocket book. "How much do you want?"—Chicago Sun.

Senator Logan has six enormous volumes of letters commending his (Logan's) course in opposing the reinstatement of Porter. In speaking of these letters, General Logan said he believed they represented every county of every State north of Mason and Dixon's line. General Slocum, now the chosen champion of Porter, once wrote a letter when he was a soldier and not a politician of the bitterest character against Porter.

A good story, and one as yet unpublished, was told about Henry Irving, the actor, at a recent dinner of Harvard alumni at Buffalo. When the English actor visited Boston, President and Mrs. Eliot were among the spectators at the first performance, and in order to do the honors of Harvard, he had invited one to Harvard, whom all the college knew, and, finally entertained at a luncheon to which a select party of the distinguished dons were bidden.

"By the way, Mr. Irving," said the president, with a view to drawing the conversation upon a subject of general interest, "we got a sunfish in the river the other morning." "No, sir, it was the actor," answered Mr. Irving, with a bow of profound respect for the college president and in general, he added, "the only instance of a successful attempt to land a sunfish in the Charles."

"It is said that the little blushing child on Thursday that San Francisco is destined to furnish its quota of the Canadian Parliament is of origin. In the case of a three-year-old boy, named Joseph Broad, which is an unusual name in Canada, the mother, a French Canadian, in her anxiety to do the proper thing by her child, had, in the registration of his birth, written down the name as Joseph Bo-Peep. The mistake was too highly amusing to be corrected, and Joseph Bo-Peep it remains, as a large, merry, chubby-cheeked, curly-headed cherub, who, if he cannot obviously wait to hold the chair of Commons, as they do in Mexico, they do in Mexico. The risk she ran of capture by the police was not as great as the risk of some friend of the family catching her in the act and taking summary vengeance.

This kind of crime has a definite motive and can be explained. But what can be said of the crank who for some weeks past has been breaking into houses for the mere purpose of tickling ladies' feet? His risk is enormous. If the master of the house should perforate his intestines with a 32-caliber, it would be no excuse for him to plead "Sir, I only meant to tickle your wife's pretty feet." A coroner's jury would undoubtedly find that his studies in comparative anatomy had properly led to the hole in his own. It is astonishing what risks men will run for barren pleasures. Some years ago there were a lot of cranks who used to travel on the Hudson river boats in New York and on hot nights when ladies opened the windows of their state-rooms to get a breath of fresh air, they, like the fiends here, would thrust in their hands and tickle the feet of the fair sleepers. But one night a lady who had been annoyed more than once in this way, borrowed a cleaver and neatly amputated the intrusive hand just at the point of the wrist. After this prying fingers fell out of fashion.—N. F. Chronicle.
