THE DISTRICT COURT.

The Sawyer Jury Disagrees After Being Out All Night.

SENTENCES PASSED TODAY.

Attorney F. G. Waite on Trial for Obtaining Money By False Pretenses—Civil Matters.

This is the last day of criminal trials in the Third district court for the September term, but tomorrow Judge Hartch will hear the applications of Judge Powers in the Charles Carter case, wipe off one or two other matters that have been held over and receive the final report of the grand jury, which body are hopefully looking forward to their discharge.

Judge Merritt had a light morning.

GOT OFF EASILY.

Harry Thompson and George Hamilton, the two young fellows who yesterday plead guilty to an indictment charging them with assaulting E. C. Pettis, with intent to commit robbery, came up for sentence.

Each of the defendants is 19 years old and neither has the appearance of the ordinary bulldozer. On the contrary, they are both of respectable exterior. Thompson stated, in reply to the court, that his parents resided at Terre Haute, Indiana, where his father was employed as salesman. He left home last October and went to Denver, whence he came to Salt Lake. He did not realize the seriousness of the offense—the crime of which was his poverty-stricken condition—when he committed it, and this was the first time he had been in trouble.

Attorney J. M. Hamilton stated that he wrote to the defendant's mother and from her received quite a pathetic letter in reply. It appeared that Thompson had always conducted himself soberly and honestly and his mother was very much surprised to learn of his present trouble. His parents were in very poor circumstances, the father being now out of work, and during the time young Thompson was at home he always contributed towards his family's support.

Judge Hawaii said that the defendants used no violence upon Pearce, and under all the circumstances he thought the court might exercise leniency.

Hamilton stated that he, too, was driven to take part in the robbery through extreme hunger. That was all the excuse he had to offer. He came here from San Francisco, where his friends lived. This was his first crime.

Attorney Hamilton told the court that both defendants had worked for railroad companies and accidentally met in this city. He asked the court to inflict a light punishment.

Judge Harris said the court was inclined to give the full penalty in this class of cases, but under all the circumstances he passed sentence of one year only in the penitentiary.

The hold-up took place near the Knutsford hotel, but there appeared to have been none of the usual aggravating features about it.

LYNCH CLEARS.

Wm. Lynch was again arraigned and now pleaded not guilty to a charge of forgeries, alleged to have been committed with Edith Karren.

Attorney S. P. Armstrong interposed a demurrer, on the ground that the indictment did not charge a public offense, but this point having been already raised in several similar cases the court promptly overruled the same and an exception was entered.

AND SO DOES DUGGAN.

Ben Duggan plead not guilty upon being arraigned on an indictment charging robbery.

M'KERNAN ACQUITTED.

The trial of Hugh McKernan on a charge of committing fornication with Lena Carter was resumed. The offense was alleged to have taken place at the Albany hotel on the night of October 22nd, the girl being a daughter of "General" Carter.

After a brief consultation—less than a quarter of an hour—the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

A JURY DISAGREES.

The case of F. M. Sawyer, tried for fornication with a 16-year old girl named Louisa Fowler, was given to the jury at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, and they struggled valiantly to reach a verdict throughout last night. Nothing having been heard from the jury room up to 11:15 this morning, Judge Hartch sent a bailiff to bring them into court. They were then asked whether they were likely to agree. The foreman answered that he thought not.

Judge Hartch explained that the present term was about to expire, and as the defendant was in custody it was advisable that the jury should arrive at a verdict if possible. Upon this a juror arose and said he thought that if they retired for a few moments longer they might possibly agree. The court therefore directed that the jurors return to their rooms. They did so and came in again ten minutes later, when the foreman stated that an agreement was impossible.

Judge Hartch therefore discharged them.

The jurors stood ten for conviction and two for an acquittal.

AN ATTORNEY ON TRIAL.

Frederick Garfield Waite, a member of the Salt Lake bar, was next placed on trial on an indictment charging him with having obtained the sum of $10 by false pretenses from the Western Show & Dry Goods company on October 13th of the present year.

Assistant District Attorney Richards prosecuted; Attorney W. C. Bailey defended.

The first witness examined was M. G. Johnson, manager of the Western Show & Dry Goods Co. of this city. He testified that the defendant called at that store about seven o'clock on the evening in question and wrote him a check for $10, stating that he wanted to catch the early train next morning to Eureka, whence he was going on business. Knowing Mr. Waite, and having had dealings previously with the law firm of Winchester & Waite, of which he was a partner, witness readily did so. The check was drawn payable to the order of "cash," on the Utah National bank, and bore the defendant's signature.

When presented, however, next day it was found that Waite had no account at the bank.

The defendant himself took a hand in the cross-examination of the witness, who admitted that even if Waite had not said anything about going to Eureka he thought he would still have cashed the check.

In reply to Attorney Riley, Mr. Johnson said that Waite paid back to witness the $10 in cash on the Saturday following the above transaction, to be applied on the check, and he gave him a receipt for this. As officer had the check at that time, however, or he would have returned it to the defendant.

The prosecution moved to strike out the whole of the statement as to the payment of the $10, on the ground that it had no bearing on the present charge, and the court so ordered.

Jamie Thompson was this afternoon examined by the defense. He said that on October 23rd Waite came to him and stated that he wanted $10 to meet some checks which he had issued. Witness proceeded to let him have the money. Mr. Thompson's testimony was taken at this time, out of order, because a pressing business engagement demanded his attendance elsewhere.

Cyrus L. Hawley, teller at the Utah national bank, was then called by the prosecution. He proved that the defendant had no funds at the bank at the time the check was given to Mr. Johnson. At one period he had made an arrangement for an overdraft, but that amount had become exhausted some months prior to Oct. 23rd.

The trial was proceeding when the NEWS report closed.

CONTINUED.

The case of the People vs Frank Carroll, charged for grand larceny, has been continued for the term.

HIS FARE IS QUITE.

Deputy Marshal Cannon this morning arrested John W. Smith, a contractor, against whom the grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging him with having fraudulently taken a mail from the United States possession.

The defendant's bonds were fixed by Judge Harris at $2,000.

Before Judge Merritt.

Judge Merritt sat for one hour this morning, and having disposed of all the business coming before him up to that time adjourned till 2 p. m. The following were the only orders made during the forenoon:

Waldemar Van Cott vs Otheria P. Pratt. Arguments were resumed from yesterday and the case taken under advisement.

H. Brasher vs C. T. Nelson. Motion to dismiss appeal argued and denied.

Central Trust Co. of New York vs the Utah Central Railroad company et al. Motion of the Vacuum Oil Co. for leave to intervene. The court ordered that the petition be filed and all parties have twenty days to answer thereafter.

THE RICHARDS MANDAMUS.

The mandamus proceedings instituted by Register McClane of Juab county against Territorial Secretary Richards came before Judge Merritt yesterday afternoon on a demurrer to the application filed by the U. S. attorney for the secretary. Judge Howat made an argument in support of the point made in the demurrer, that the petition did not allege that McClane had been employed to the performance of the duties of his office on all the days for which he claimed compensation. The petition was amended in this respect. Judge Merritt overruled the demurrer, and gave Secretary Richards seven days in which to answer.

ALONZO H. RICHARDS.

Alonzo H. Richardson, formerly cashier of the Park City bank, was arrested late yesterday afternoon on five indictments, charging him with fraud in keeping accounts in the books of a corporation. He was taken before Commissioner Greenman and gave bail in the sum of $500 on each charge. The indictments arise out of the failure of the Park City bank and relate to entries, alleged to be false, made in the ledger of the bank.

SIEGEL VS STARKEL.

Judge Merritt has taken under advisement the arguments in the suit of W. F. Nealen vs S. P. Teasdel and the assignees of the firm of S. P. Teasdel & Sons, et al, in regard to the appointment of a receiver and for an injunction.

FROM "QUINLAN'S PUSH."

Christmas Compliments to Chief Pratt With Hopes That He May "Never Get Out."

Chief Pratt is being daily reminded in more ways than one that he is not a free man. Sympathetic communications and expressions have poured in upon himself and former officers in goodly numbers. Only one missive of opposite sentiment has been received by him and that is an epitome of brevity and sarcasm. It was received through the mails, written in a clear, legible business hand and is as follows:

Chief Pratt—Compliments of Quinlan's Push. Merry Christmas, and hoping you will never get out. By order of the committee.

The name of Quinlan is quite familiar to readers of the public newspapers and to victims of the lower law and street labor services, but the identity of the writer of this letter is endeavored to mystery.

From Northern Utah.

James Aitin, representing Hewlett Bros., has just returned from a business trip through Cache and Malad valleys. He reports being successful in placing their goods in considerable quantities among the people in those districts. At present there is considerable snow in the north everybody is "on runners."
