AROUND MOUNT NEBO.

A Strike of Great Magnitude in the Grey Eagle Mine.

THE VEIN FIFTEEN FEET THICK.

The Locality Flooded With Miners and Prospectors—The Mines of Mammoth—Trading on "Change.

Special Correspondence of the News.

NEBO, Juab County, Oct. 27, 1896.—There is considerable conversation going on down among the southern settlements about the great strike of pinch lemons are at Mount Nebo, about ten miles up North canyon. The strike took place several days ago at the Grey Eagle mine, on which lots of work has been done this summer. Messrs. Hyde, Murphy and some Springville parties have worked the property all summer and they have indeed been well rewarded for their courage in going on with the development work at at the mine.

Without overestimating the strike, there are several thousands of tons of steel galena ore in sight. It is not a strike at one or two foot value which we hear so much talk of around Silver City, but a big deposit measuring over fifteen feet in thickness. The vein dips north and south, and it is fairly rich in silver, lead and a little gold.

The Grey Eagle company are transporting the ore with ten burros from the mine down to the fort at the mountain, a distance of eight and a half miles. There is quite a large deposit of ore on the dump which will be shipped this week to the smelters for treatment. This new discovery will add another bonanza to Utah's already wonderful ore store. It is also reported that bids will be received by the company for the construction of a new wagon road from the Grey Eagle property down to the land mills of Mount Nebo.

Considerable prospecting is going on in the Mount Nebo district since the rich strike at the Grey Eagle property. Miners have been turning out in large numbers, and it is safe to say there will be some good ore shipments this quarter very shortly. Mr. Harry Kay, an old time resident of Nebo, has some fine looking ore on his claim, the Columbia. The shaft is now twenty feet, and the vein which was uncovered a few days ago shows up very rich in silver chlorides. Mr. Kay is well pleased with the prospect of soaps, which will justify making shipments. The mine is some five miles from the railway track, and as soon as Mr. Kay can get the property in good shape he will commence making ore shipments to the smelters.

It is reported on good authority that a sale of mining property was made last week for the purpose of forming a work company of some of the prominent Nebo mines and claims on the east hills of Mount Nebo, which are showing up in fine style. The company will be known as The Empire Consolidated and will have some eight or nine claims under its control. There has already been put in work a small shift of men on the claim known as the Emma No. 3, and Superintendent Jacques of the mine reports that they have just encountered a fine good lead and silver ore which shows up freely large quantities of native lead. The vein as yet is very small, but Mr. Jacques says that they are sure to uncover the main body in a little while, and he thinks that the Empire Consolidated company will develop some of the claims into good mines and make paying propositions out of them. At present we are unable to give the names of the promoters of the Empire Consolidated Mining Company, but we presume that they are parties residing in the Tintic district.

MAMMOTH, Oct. 27, 1896.—Shipments from the Mammoth district this week: The Mammoth eight, Ajax three, and Black Crook Consolidated five carloads. Shipments from the Mammoth district have been very small this week but the Mammoth mine has made some heavy shipments from the mine to the mills, shipping three carloads per day which they will probably continue during the remainder of this week.

The Black-Ajax miners will be paid their usual monthly salaries in a few days.

The Opex mine is still working quite a large force of miners and is sinking day and night. The shaft is down nearly 200 feet, and everything looks very promising for the future. The Opex company is not the only one which lives in hopes of getting its picks into the Centennial Eureka ledge, which is now known to be somewhere on the north side of Mammoth hollow. The Grand Central the Dunnigan and the Southern Eureka are all near the same ledge.

The Southern Eureka shaft is now down 185 feet. A force of men are working night and day on the shaft. Parties are still supervising the work going on.

The Emerald or Diamond property is still employing quite a large force of men and doing some extensive drifting. No ore has yet been encountered, but the company is in hopes of striking something in the way of ore very soon.

Mr. Erickson the miner at the Ajax who fell down a slope fifty feet last Monday week, is now able to get about without the aid of crutches. His injuries were terribly bruised and he received several ugly cuts which will cripple him for life. How he escaped being killed puzzles every miner in the camp.

Silver city is waiting anxiously for the presidential election. Several week's work properties are keeping quiet, and will not trouble themselves to ship one ounce of ore until after the election, if we get free silver one president was heard to remark, why Silver City will be a summer and become the greatest camp in Utah.

Dr. H. J. Faust will exhibit the Australian ballot at the Mammoth opera house tonight. Several well known speakers will expound the great silver issue.

The new school house between Mammoth and Mammoth is almost completed and in a few days more everything at the school will be in good shape for the youngsters of the Mammoth district.

Robinson is growing fast. The erection of a new butcher shop was commenced today and will shortly be ready for business. The new restaurant is expected and will be ready for business next week.

TRADING ON 'CHANGE.

A Demand for Gas Stock, Which Sells at Very Low Figures.

Aside from the demand for gas stock on 'change today, there was no exceeding brisk trade, with the bulls and bears in the pit. Four Aces gave up 100 shares of 18 cents, after which no other stocks were given the quick shuffle as far as sales were concerned, until Gas struck a popular chord and sold to the extent of 8,000 shares at three-eighths of a cent per share. More of the stock would have been taken up at the same figure, but holders were not willing to sell under one-half a cent.

As usual the Swansons received good figures as did also Mercur and Mammoth, but the quotations were not quite enough to bring about the consummation of sales.

The closing figures were as follows:

Ups and Downs.

A strike is reported in the Lucky Boy at Custer City, Idaho, the ore from which is said to run very high in values.

A strike of ore was made in the Honest Ike at Silver City yesterday, samples of the mineral running 35 ounces in silver, 24 per cent copper and $2.50 in gold to the ton.

Deep Creek mining properties are said to be exciting a great deal of attention at present, and managed men are looking forward to the time when those mines will be brought to the front through the building of a railroad into that section.

Reports have it that a fine lady of carbonates has been uncovered in the Redbird mine, on Black mountain, near the head of City Creek canyon. This is an old property and is now being worked under lease and bond by Charlie Hanks of this city.

It is believed that the Wonder at Mercur is on the eve of tapping the great Mercur ore zone. The shaft on the property is now down 477 feet and has just gone through a fifteen foot body of hard lime, which is supposed to overlie the ore expected to be shortly encountered.

News of the sudden ending of Thomas P. Gillespie, the superintendent of the Sterling Mining company's properties in Nye county, Nevada, came as a great shock to many of his friends in this city, especially among the mining fraternity, where he was best known.

Injured by Rumors.

C. C. Anderson, who had the misfortune to lose his eyesight and to be otherwise badly injured by an explosion of giant powder at Price, Carbon county, about ten years ago, and who is a familiar figure on the streets, where he is often seen in his efforts to gain a livelihood, requests the News to state that great injustice is being done him by parties who circulate stories about his being possessed of fabulous wealth, when in fact he has difficulty to get his living. He has a small farm near Huntington, Emery county, but as he cannot pay the taxes on it, he wants to sell it cheap; he thinks it will pass from him anyway, for the reason stated.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Prisoner of Zenda, a play that has been made famous on account of its strong romantic interest and the elaborate and artistic manner in which it is staged and presented by Daniel Frohman of the Lyceum theater, New York, will occupy the stage of the Salt Lake Theater three nights, beginning Monday, Nov. 2nd. It is a dramatization by Edward Rose of Anthony Hope's remarkable romance and was first brought out by Mr. Frohman at the Lyceum, where it ran with unabated success for more than 200 nights (not seasons, and has been seen in Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco and other cities with the same manifestations of approval as in New York. The following from the San Francisco Chronicle speaks for itself: "It is a play that can never die." The play is in a prologue and four acts, and will be staged here with the same scenery, effects and attention to detail, as was the original production.

The couple of Mrs. Amanda Swenson gave a public recital at Christensen's hall last evening before a good audience, made up of the friends of the participating pupils. A varied and interesting program was carried out and thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance.

CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 25, 1896.

To the Editors:

To the Elders laboring in Southern California the past week has been one replete with pleasant events, the remembrance of which will linger long with them.

Unfortunately for an appointment by President H. S. Tanner, our regular semi-annual conference in this part of the vineyard commenced at Los Angeles Sunday, October 18th. The Elders from the other fields in this conference arrived here during the previous week. Our number was increased to eleven by the addition of Elders A. N. Murdock and Charles Brown who had been laboring in the north. Elder H. S. Tanner and Elder Willard Snow-ball and wife who intend to make an evangelizing tour of the fields, opened in this conference, were present. By way of advertising, 3,000 hand bills were judiciously distributed, most of them being left at the doors of residences.

Three fairly well attended meetings were held, beginning at 10 a. m. and 7 and 7:30 p. m. respectively, presided over by the president of conference, Elder P. T. Wright. After opening the morning service in the usual way, the interim president, conference president, and clerk were sustained by a vote of the Saints and Elders present. Brief reports from the different fields were read showing twelve baptisms since last April, with fair success in sowing precious seed and creating an interest in the Gospel preached by the Lord and Master.

Elder P. T. Wright made a few appropriate opening remarks, and Elders then called in turn upon Elders Jos. S. Berry, W. C. Hersey, E. A. Beckman, G. F. Harding and J. L. Irvine, who bore faithful testimony in the same they represent and spoke respectively, in an earnest and logical manner upon the following subjects: Faith, Faith and Works, Repentance, Baptism and the Holy Ghost. The effect of the morning was enhanced by the rendition of an anthem and a song at appropriate intervals.

After opening, the order of the afternoon was as follows: Elder E. M. Wallentine spoke on the Resurrection of the Gospel; a solo was rendered by Elder W. Snowcroft; Church organization was explained by Elder Jas. Christensen; Divine Authority was proved to be a necessity in all Gospel work by Elder German E. Ellsworth; an anthem by our waiting kin from the north; Elder W. Snowcroft spoke for a short time on cardinal doctrines of our Savior; Elder Wright favored the audience with a solo.

The audience of the evening was the largest of the day. President Tanner occupied the time on the subject, "Mormonism a force which unites and cleans all revealed truth." He said the Savior was not a plagiarist, as unbelievers had charged, because He taught truths found in the oldest religions of His day. The Gospel had been taught successively to Adam, Noah, Abraham and Moses, which accounts for the similarity of and philosophies to the divine principles taught by Christ during His personal ministry; the philosophies contained many truths mixed with error, the Gospel contained the same truths with the error eliminated. Divine truths that have been lost or cast in gaps of superstition are found in their simplicity in Mormonism so-called.

The special music furnished by our sisters from San Francisco and Oliver Wright was an agreeable feature of the conference. A good spirit pervaded throughout and all pronounced it a day of spiritual upbuilding and we give thanks to Him from whom all good comes.

A Priesthood meeting was held the following day, October 19, at which President Tanner talked to the Elders nearly four hours, giving them some excellent advice, pointing out possible stumbling blocks and ways to avoid them. Each of the Elders received a circular letter of uniform instruction with the request to read it carefully and attend.

We were assigned to our respective fields of labor as follows of labor as follows: Elders P. T. Wright, German E. Ellsworth, W. C. Hersey, James Christensen and Charles Brown to Los Angeles; Elders J. D. Irvine, G. F. Harding, H. S. Snowball and Joseph S. Berry to San Diego; Elders A. N. Murdock and E. M. Wallentine to San Bernardino and vicinity.

The Elders received a full measure of the kindness and generosity of the Saints.

On the evening of the 19th the Elders and many of the Saints were guests of Brother H. C. Jacobsen and wife. That part of the evening's enjoyment which ministered to the inner man served Brother Jacobsen to be a master at catering to the epicurian side of human nature. The artistic and sumptuous spread served to regale the eye as well as satisfy the appetite. The table setting revealed the work of an artist. It was a marvel of beauty, the sight of which would have made the mouth of a well fed man water.

P. T. WRIGHT,
President of Conference.
E. M. WALLENTINE,
Clerk.

PROVO.

PROVO, UTAH, Oct. 26, 1896.

Brigham Young Academy.

Yesterday morning the Central building, near the postoffice was formally taken possession of by the Brigham Young academy, and will hereafter be occupied by the primary and grammar grades of the institution. The second and third stories have been partitioned into suitable and very convenient rooms for school purposes, and the central vestibule of the building makes it easy of access for the younger pupils, and the boards of trustees are showing of great care for securing such desirable quarters for the primary grades.

The change was made necessary by reason of the overcrowded condition of the academy building proper. About 100 pupils were transferred to the new quarters and there is room for 100 more; this will give room in the main building, which will be occupied by the academic normal and collegiate grades for 200 additional students. At the opening exercises were present Elder Davis John, vice president of the board of trustees; Prof. Cluff, president of the academy; Prof. George H. Brimhall, who will have charge of the grades in the Central building; J. C. Wilson, assistant principal of the Central school; Prof. A. C. Lund, the teachers of the primary grades and a number of leading students of the higher departments.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by Elder John and brief addresses were made by Prof. Cluff, Prof. Brimhall, Messrs. J. C. Wilson, Jesse Osborne, W. R. McBride, Marion Clinger, L. A. McBride, Osmond Bach and Elder John, all of congratulatory nature in the people upon having such pleasant quarters, and urging the young people to take advantage of the opportunities for learning and qualify themselves for the performance of the duties of life.

Notes.

The name of Mr. Nutall, the beneficiary of the theatrical performances given in the Opera house Monday evening, is Joseph and not George as appeared in the News. The members of the forty-fourth quorum of Seventies, of which Elder Nutall is a member, gave a social in his honor last evening, at the home of Mr. Joseph T. McBride, where a very enjoyable evening was spent.

A meeting will be held in the Bowery room, Saturday afternoon, by the owners of lots in the new cemetery five miles, to hear reports of committees on shareholders having shares of the stock taken with their lots, and parties in regard to the water in Dry creek.

The M. I. A. of the Second ward will give a benefit ball in the ward room tomorrow evening, in honor of Elder Andy J. Stewart, who expects to leave on a mission for Germany on November 7th.

G. L. A. Calmer has filed notice of entry with Recorder Thomas, and placed stakes located in the northwest part of township 10 south, range 3 east.

Charles Peters of Lehi, a native of Germany, took out papers yesterday at the Lehi City to become a citizen of The United States yesterday.

Joseph Hooper of Pleasant Grove, age 21, and Rosie Robertson of Lehi, aged 20, have received a marriage license.

JUDICIARY VOTE.

The November Forum will contain An Maine Gem, or Gem the Unique, by Hon. Thomas B. Bale; Mr. Elmer P. Clark under the title "The Old South." Deserving, contributes an interesting sketch; Mr. E. W. Codington, a humorous take of Farmer, discusses the money question, and suggests a plan for placing our finances upon a sound basis. Dr. W. E. Brooks, of John Hopkins university, on evolution explained, written on Wordsworth the Naturalist; Mr. Ellis, discussing in September the malignant aspects of female suffrage. Mrs. W. E. Smith is a striking article entitled The Immediate Future of Arkansas, advances an original idea for solving the Eastern question. Under the caption Best the Forum contributions to Metaphysics? Mr. Julie Ward Howe discusses the cross problem. Mr. J. Sanderlin, the distinguished street engineer, contributes an essay entitled with a brilliant and intensely interesting account of the explosible of the Monitor, of April, Delight, and of the discovery—one is of supposed yet more—of relics of spectacles of Greek music. Mr. Henry D. Lloyd in a short, entitled, "Emerson's Wit and Humor," shows the sage Concord in an entire new light—but it is within the highest order. Mr. William Forster's rising young Italian scholarship, and the author, with Primary Lessons, of The Forum Offenders, contributes a paper entitled Work with Metality. Professor Tarring, who occupies the chair of economics at Harvard, writes very plain spoken about Bond Rules and the Gold Standard. The Rabbi Isaacson Dr. Dick Nutting Ave. will be in charge of an article by Mr. Mary H. Schoeler, its secretary. Other articles are: The Future of Spiritual Revision, by Mr. Benjamin E. Smith; and Austin Poses of the New Education, by Miss Gertrude Buck of the University of Michigan.
