Mayor Baskin sent in a communication appointing Samuel Paul as city jailer in place of Ed. Cook of Police Justice, also appointing John J. Gleason as policeman at Liberty Park in place of Daniel Cammmille. He asked their Lordships' confirmation of his action. Committee on police.

GAS ORDINANCE VETOED.

The following was read by the recorder:

E. G. Stanton, City Recorder:

Dear Sir—I hereby enter disapproval ordinance No. 212, entitled "An Ordinance for the construction and maintenance of street mains and services for utilizing and distributing natural and manufactured fuel gas in the city of Salt Lake," passed by the City Council July 5th, 1892, for the following reasons:

First—The New American Gas & Fuel Co. is without doubt seeking to secure the right and privilege of using any and all streets, avenues and alleys of the city in which to lay rich gas pipes, mains and service pipes. The only consideration placed upon this sweeping grant are in the following provisos: "Provided, that said streets, avenues and alleys shall be specially repaired and put in as good condition as they were before laid up." Provided, also, that no more than one main pipe shall be laid in any one street within the corporate limits of the City Council, and that in the construction, maintenance and operation of said mains and service pipes, the said company and its successors and assigns shall at all times conform to such ordinances, rules and regulations as may hereafter be adopted by the City Council in relation thereto."

In my opinion the general grant granted is not sufficiently limited by these provisos. If but one pipe be laid in each street, it follows from the grant itself that the company would have the right to lay service mains across the street wherever it chooses. Some of the streets are already paved with asphaltum, others will soon be, and within twenty years granted in the proposed charter the streets in most parts of the city will be paved. It is impossible to make these pavements by repairs, when cut through by trenching, as long the legal authority were there, therefore, in place of requiring only one pipe to be laid in each street, a pipe on each side of the street would be required to enable the gas to feed on both sides, and the company prohibited from crossing the streets by service mains except by permission of the Council.

The city has already expensive experience of water and sewer pipes. These provisos also in the four letters by years is expressed, for the reason should be included as to prevent any interference with these systems or their future extensions. This can be easily done by reserving to the city the right to require the company to change the locations of its pipes and mains as necessary may require and the right to compel the laying of mains of the pipes and mains in the first instance.

Second—As it is very difficult to prevent the escape of natural gas and as such accidents are liable to occur in case of its escape the right of inspection might be reserved to the city, which authority to require the company to make such repairs as it may find necessary and adopt such appliances as experience may develop point out as conducive to safety in the use of gas.

Third—The maximum price is more than fair, since the company may charge consumers at present 75 cents, I do not think satisfactory, considering the great cost and hazard of the proposed undertaking. Nor do I believe it will be satisfactory to several years to come, but it may become so before the expiration of the charter. The city is rapidly increasing in population and business and the consumption of gas will increase proportionately thereto, and as it increases the profits of the enterprise must also increase, and while I recognize the fact that a process for the manufacture of gas discovered by the energy and enterprise of the principal promoters of the proposed company is of great value to the community, and the parties who have developed this important discovery should be granted fair compensation for their ingenuity to enjoy for time, yet it is the duty of the people should which a point is reached the police should exercise the power which the state has conferred upon them and the city should have power to reduce the price to a reasonable minimum. I therefore recommend the rejection of a charter allowing the City Council, after the lapse of five years or four years to fix the price which the Gas Company shall charge for some reasonable sum less than twenty cents.

E. G. Stanton, Mayor.

Lawson—These points are all fully covered; they were thoroughly discussed before the passage of the ordinance and the Mayor's recommendations are therefore unnecessary, and I now move that the ordinance be repassed notwithstanding the Mayor's objections.

The ordinance passed over the Mayor's veto on the following vote:

Ayes—Beardsley, Evans, Ewing, Folland, Hardy, Heim, Horne, Kesler, Lawson, Moran, Rich, Stimmel.

Noes—Loofbourow, Bell.

CONSTRUCTED A NUISANCE.

Robert J. Jeanes, of 198 Salt Lake Avenue, and others represented that "one Peter Nielson, of Sanpete, has for the last two seasons been allfeeding this patient and long-suffering community with a wild, screaming hand-organ, playing some eight well-contrivedly sick. This distressing person, with a persistence term of hostile depravity, starts in at 6 a. m. and whoops it up until after 11 p. m. daily, in the principal thoroughfares of the city, to the public disgust in general and the destruction of the temperament of several people in particular. This Nielsen Peter Lawson is a public nuisance of the most vicious kind, and your petitioners respectfully but urgently ask that he be stopped at the first crossing and shipped back to the wilds of Sanpete."

DEPUTY CITY AUDITOR.

The Mayor and Finance committee reported that F. O. Perkins had been appointed deputy city auditor at a salary of $125 per month.

Evans—Is this appointment permanent?

Bell—It is.

Evans—Then I shall oppose it, for when the matter of appointing such an officer first came up it was clearly stated that the office was only a temporary one.

Bell (emphatically)—It is your privilege to do so, Mr. Evans.

Moran—It seems that the action of the committee and Mayor is unsatisfactory, and I move that the appointment be made to hold good during the pleasure of the Council only.

Lawson—I second the motion. It is time that this Council was looking after its officers. I consider Mr. Moran's motion an excellent one.

Horne—I am opposed to making the appointment permanent.

Evans—Did the last city auditor have an assistant?

Bell—No, City Recorder—He did not.

Evans—Then I am more strongly opposed to the proposition than ever.

Moran's motion then carried.

MORAN'S MAJORITY REPORT.

Moran offered the following majority report:

JULY 12, 1892.

To the President and Council:

We your committee to whom was referred the matter of mayor's veto of ordinance No. 212, entitled "An ordinance for the construction and maintenance of street mains and service pipes," and the communications upon which said report was made, beg leave to report as follows:

We have carefully considered of the testimony and also hearing the statements of the committee in support of the veto, and have then very advised by a proper motion in vacating the house mentioned, their purpose being, based upon the representations made to them which they found to be true. The committee on gas were given the Mayor by the mayor's approval of the veto of the Mayor relieved that committee of further investigation.

Considered we recommend that said four members of this council be exonerated and that their action be sustained.

Respectfully submitted,

F. J. MORAN,
C. H. HARDY,
S. R. LAWSON,
Committee.

MINORITY REPORT FROM EWING.

Ewing offered the following minority report and asked that it be adopted in lieu of the majority report:

As members of your committee appointed to investigate the action of certain councilmen, as set forth in the communication of the Hon. Mayor to the City Council on the 5th day of July, 1892, I beg to submit the following minority report pending said matter:

I suppose that the members of the said council referred to in the communication of said mayor, were acting and doing in question at their own will thereon, and on their own responsibility, and were not acting any official business authorized by the body to which they belong. It also appears from the testimony before the committee that the said councilmen on the evening and evening in question were engaged in investigating the conduct of certain officers of the police of the city, the investigations were entirely unofficial and not called for by the council, it is therefore my opinion under the circumstances that this body has no authority to take any action in the premises.

Heim (rising quickly)—I move the adoption of the minority report.

Bell—I second the motion.

Moran—I move to amend by adopting the majority report.

Lawson (promptly)—I second the amendment.

Bell—I claim that the Council has no jurisdiction over its members after they leave this chamber. Their acts are those of private citizens, and this body has no power in the premises. I shall therefore vote against the majority report.

Evans—As an interested member of the Council in the matter I wish to say that I made the text of my motion as accordingly referred to by his Honor, the Mayor in the communication he sent to this Council. I did so with four other councilmen of this council, two of whom were members of the police committee.

Ugly rumors and damaging insinuations have been in our way regarding immorality in the police department. I was asked to assist in investigating the charges. As a matter of duty I accepted the invitation and would do so again under like circumstances. Insinuations of the mayor notwithstanding. I have no apologies to offer for my conduct that night. I did nothing but what I am willing and anxious the public should know. I have been compelled to listen to this thing in silence for three weeks. This is the first opportunity I have had to defend myself and shall speak plainly and without fear. The reputations of my colleagues and myself are infamous and untrue. As to the statement that the committee should have acquainted the Mayor with the facts I will say that, one of the members of the committee called at his office four days in succession with the intention of acquainting the object of his calls. The Mayor ignored the committee when they did hold a meeting and then inaugurated the proceeding of the call for the purpose of humiliating and degrading the committee. The Mayor has said, and seems to be satisfied by the belief that a conspiracy has been established to branch his administration. This I deny in toto. If any such scheme had been carried on I certainly would have known it and should have been the first to denounce such action. I served my country four years in the army and navy and during the terrible struggle of that late war civil war. During that service I received many wounds and the suffering from them was intense but they caused me no death pangs as the efforts that have been made by those whom I supposed were my friends, to injure my character and reputation as a man. Again I say that I have no apologies to offer. I come into this Council with the firm determination that I would do all in my power towards giving our constituents as pure an administration as possible. I stiffened by my resolution in this respect. I regret very much that the mayor has taken an unfair advantage in putting myself and others in this matter.

Mr. Evans spoke warmly and eloquently and at the conclusion of his remarks he was rewarded with a round of applause by the big audience that filled the Council chamber.

President Loofbourow (striking the table vigorously) said he wanted it to be most understood that this is a session of a deliberative body, and not a political meeting. No more such demonstrations will be allowed.

Lawson—As a member of the police committee I say that the mayor has overlooked his bounds in attempting to ostracize and scatter such gentlemen who belong to this police and who were in the strict line of their duty, and I cry we should not allow to be done without showing the mayor that we do not approve of his conduct with reference to this case.

Ewing—I call the gentleman to order.

The President—I think that the fellow and fixed discussion should be allowed to the best of our ability. We have much work to do and proper rounds nevertheless. The point of order is well taken.

Moran was about to protest when the president said an appeal thought he would reverse his ruling and allow Mr. Lawson to proceed.

Lawson—I do not think there is any member in this Council who has more respect for the Mayor's position than myself, but I ask you in all candor, Can anyone of our elected officers to be humiliated and treated by the mayor as they have been when we know that they were serving the city and serving it well? The Mayor tells (ironically) of unconstituted committees. It was he who constituted himself to a committee of one and he is never in question for his own private benefit and then endeavors to bring honorable men with disgrace. I shall vote for the majority report.

Moran—Something has been said about these four councilmen not being on duty on the night in question. I take the stand that when we were elected we did so in the understanding that we should always be on duty and so we are. These gentlemen should be exonerated. The mayor has done wrong. I have heard their statements and believe they are correct, notwithstanding the affidavit of Mayor Baskin.

Ewing—I deny that we are on duty all the time. I am not and would not be for the salary. Five per year that I receive is not worth the trouble. Some after they leave this chamber are merely private citizens. They took an unfair advantage of the proprietress and inmates of the house they visited on that night. These people did not know that they were city officials. They should have been appointed so as to who they were and for what purpose they were coming, so that the women could have been on their guard. These men should not be held up to maligns.

At the junction of Ewing's speech he had a personal fall with Moran. After some was restored.

Bell took the floor. He said: If Mr. Ewing's singular way of reasoning is correct and it is so we have this council chamber we are no longer on duty—no longer representatives of the people—then our committee work is all illegal, for it is done outside of any hour of the week and all outside of council capacity. All the councilmen did their plain duty.

Folland said he was glad that there was any conspiracy was all wrong. There were certain charges against a policeman, and several members of the committee adjourned to visit the house, where it was said the information could be had. They did so. On their way home from the first house they were told that the marshal and his friends were at Billie Wilson's. He said he hoped it would be understood he believed he had a right to investigate all actions of the members of the police force or any other city employee. He went there on June 17, in the line of his duty, and he had no desire to shrink from the consequence of such action. He had been dubbed a member of the "smelling committee," but he came nothing for that. He denounced the statement that there was anything in the nature of a conspiracy in his action or that of other members of the Council.

But then made another long talk in favor of the minority report and that the our committees directly interested had no right to vote on the majority report. The president sustained Bell in his position, and declared that the vote would now be called on Moran's motion to adopt the minority report.

Moran—Do I understand, Mr. President, that you absolutely refuse to allow three councilmen to vote.

Mr. President—I do.

Moran (emphatically)—Well, all I have to say is that such a ruling is wrong. If three men were impeached it would be different, but they are not. If I were one of their number I would vote to know the reason why.

Evans wanted to know why the chairman ruled that he and others were debarred from voting.

The President—Because no member of a deliberative body has a right to vote on a question which concerns his own actions.

THE VOTE.

The vote on Moran's amendment stood as follows: Ayes—Beardsley, Hardy, Lawson, Moran.

Noes—Bell, Heim, Ewing, Horne, Loofbourow, Stimmel.

Lost.

The question of the adoption of the minority was put with this result.

Ayes—Beardsley, Bell, Ewing, Heim, Loofbourow, Stimmel.

Accepted.

EXPUNGING FROM THE MINUTES.

Moran moved to expunge all references to the conclusions from the Mayor's vetoes and communications. This called another protest from Bell but it was carried all the same. The following is the vote:

Ayes—Beardsley, Ewing, Hardy, Lawson, Moran, Stimmel.

Noes—Bell, Heim, Loofbourow.

POLICE JUSTICE KESLER'S CASE.

In the case of Police Justice Kesler, charged with conduct unbecoming a public officer, the special committee reported as follows:

We, your committee to whom was referred the matter of the charges of misconduct relating to the conduct of Police Justice Kesler, in connection with other city officers, have the honor to report that this case be referred to the committee on police.

So referred.

The report was signed by Councilmen Ewing, Moran, Hardy and Lawson.

It is certain that the majority of the American people do not want the Chinese to come here. But whether we have the right to exclude them by a simple law of congress, without at all consulting China in the matter, while three votes between us and China a friendly treaty, is a question about which there may well be two opinions.
