LOCAL BRIEFS.

The grand charity ball in aid of St. Mark's hospital, will be given at Christensen's this evening.

It is said that Arbor day, as designated by Governor Wells, for April 21, will be more generally observed this year than ever before.

Geo. F. Burnham of Farmington, N. M., of which place he is Bishop, and W. K. Burnham, his brother, of Hibbard, Clarke county, are both in Salt Lake.

Hon. Thos. E. Ricks of Rexburg, Idaho is among the visitors to conference. He reports good health and good prospects among the people. A new economy has just been built there and the ground is being staked off for the erection of a $25,000 Church academy building.

A special meeting of the City Council will hold this evening to consider the fixing of appointees of the chiefs of the police and fire departments. It is not known that another special meeting may be called for tomorrow night. The matter is one that will admit of little delay as final action must be taken Saturday.

Chief Deputy L. H. Smyth of the U. S. marshal's office has gone to Ashley valley. His business is to serve subpoenas on the witnesses in the case against Jesse and Dennis A. Winn and W. J. Burgess. These individuals were indicted for stealing government property from the Ouray agency. Mr. Smyth will return with a young man who was arrested some time ago by the Indian police on the Ouray reservation and charged with stealing a cow and calf.

The 85th birthday anniversary of John Needham, formerly a resident of this city but now at Cache valley, was pleasantly celebrated in the Eighth ward meeting house beginning at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The members of the family and many friends of the guest of honor were present and congratulated him in appropriate manner. An impromptu program of speeches, vocal and instrumental music was carried out and delicious refreshments served.

The old comrades, officers and men of the Nauvoo Legion, who were enrolled in that organization before the edict of Governor Shafter caused their disbandment, are anticipating an enjoyable time at the "muster" announced for tomorrow evening, in the Thirteenth ward assembly hall, and they feel sure they will not be disappointed. The meeting of old-time friends, joining in old-fashioned dances, listening to brief interest addresses from those who were prominent officers in the Legion, partaking of refreshments served by their children or grandchildren, cannot fail to make the occasion one of unalloyed pleasure.

THE IDEAL.

Agent of the Famous Windmill Factories in Salt Lake.

John M. Irwin, superintendent of agencies, representing the Flower Manufacturing Co., of Freeport, Illinois, is in the city in the guest of the Co.-operative Wagon and Machine Co., who handle the product of the Flower people in all of Utah and Idaho. The Flower company manufactures very largely windmills, and as it is represented by a little booklet that is printed, they are represented most thoroughly in all civilized countries of the globe.

Mr. Irwin's special business in Utah and this city is to meet with the editors and users of the best and most popular windmills, the farmer, while not always the choicest, is claimed to be the best windmill made, but the tower, as the gentleman states, are sufficient to erect any and all reasonable requirements.

Working models and also full sized mills in operation can be seen on the premises of the C. W. & M. Co., this city, and also at their branch house, Ogden. Mr. Irwin is a thoroughly conversational and agreeable gentleman, and shows evidence of extensive travel. He is just now returning from a trip around the world, and states recently he spent two years in Europe, establishing agencies for the Flower Manufacturing Co., and a short time since closing an exclusive contract with the British government to furnish the army with their windmills for use in the arid districts occupied by their armies.

IN CHARGE UNTIL SUNDAY.

Up to That Time Chief Pratt Will Head the Police Force.

ALFALES YOUNG SERGEANT.

Report That He May Get an Official Desk Position—Some of the Proposed Changes.

Speculation is rife as to the extent of the contemplated changes to be made in the police department. The respective chiefs admit that there will be several changes inaugurated in both the fire and police forces, but beyond that fact they will not divulge anything as to whom will be dropped from the rolls. That there will be a decided shaking up all around at police headquarters is the general verdict of those that are in touch with the force. It is predicted that the reorganization of Salt Lake's "finest" will commence on the morrow, that will complete the selection of the officers who were removed illegally on the recommendation of Chief Pratt, and May only to be subsequently reinstated by the Supreme court. If this should be the case the names of the men who will remain on duty on the list of appointees will be as follows:

Frank C. Witt, Matt Rhodes, Geo. Raleigh, Joseph A. Murphy, Horace S. Heath, Richard L. Shannon, Thomas J. Everett and William E. Carey.

The names of Sergeant Young and Patrolman Peter C. Brown are said to be among those who are willing to step into the shoes made vacant by the death of Desk Sergeant David C. Emery. In the meantime all concerned, including Chief Pratt, will retain their positions until Sunday, the 9th inst., when the subordinate officers and men, who are to be confirmed at tonight's meeting of the Council on the recommendation of the chief, will step into their appointments under the leadership of Chief Hilton, providing, of course that they have been duly qualified.

WILL BE SOME CHANGES.

So Says Hilton, the New Chief of Police, to the "News."

"How many men of the old force do you propose to retain on the police roll Mr. Hilton?" asked a "News" reporter this morning of the new chief.

"Well, now, you are asking questions," came the response, "but you can rest assured that there will be some changes made. I feel that will be submitted to the Mayor for his approval this evening, it stands to reason that to insure good discipline and a harmonious working of the department that those men who are antagonistic to my appointment will not be among those retained.

"I want it distinctly understood, however, continued the new chief, "no matter what anyone may state to the contrary, that Chief Pratt will have nothing whatever to say or do regarding the nomination of new men or the dropping of some of the present members from the force. At the time of my appointment Chief Pratt so expressed himself to me and that he left the matter entirely in my hands and desired me to make whatever changes I deemed necessary without consulting him on the matter. I want it distinctly understood that I take upon my own shoulders the responsibility of submitted to the selection of the personnel of the new police force, and it is my desire to keep politics entirely out of the department."

Mr. Hilton went on to state that reliable information had reached the chief with him, but what he would insist on was that the make would be open only to men who were the bona fide residents of Utah; those who were residents and recognized citizens of the State would be preferred to all the places of those made vacant by removal.

When asked what he thought the revised list would be through at the Council meeting tonight, Mr. Hilton said that he was not prepared to state that there would unfortunately be some opposition manifested by some at the contemplated changes, but he felt that the chief, "you know that it is hard to please everybody, but I entered to do my duty regardless of all else to the best of my ability, is a matter that will be conducive to efficiency and to the best interests of the people of Salt Lake City who have placed in my hands the safe keeping of their persons and property."

WITH THE FIRE LADDIES.

Devine Gives It Out That Two or Three Must Go.

Over at the fire department there is a good deal of unrest manifested among the members of the brigade, although to a lesser degree than in the police department. One thing is certain, however, that contrary to the assertion of a morning contemporary, Assistant Chief McCarthy is not going to leave his post and he is not going on a cruise. He has not had time to receive a line, if letter at all. Consequently W. H. Dewsnip, captain at the west side station, will not be elected to the vacant post, neither will Amos Morrison be let out of the department in the face of the fact that he was dismissed because of a year ago and has not been at his post there for duty since that date.

Chief Devine says that there will be some changes on the new roll to the effect that "men who have grown old, but that only means that better ones will take their places and the department will be benefited by it and be a better state of efficiency, if possible, than heretofore."

When asked regarding the contemplated new station for the east bench, the chief said it was needed more and more every day to protect the rapidly growing portion of the city east of Brigham street, but that the city was in possession of a lot on E. street, north of Third street and the improvement ought to have been made some time ago, the residents in that section of the city would gain by it, their property would be comparatively safe and, moreover, the insurance would be considerable less insurance to pay than is at present demanded by the agents from the residents of that portion of the city. The chief, in conclusion, intimated that there will be some changes made in the rolls of the department, but he is confident that the new men who will be selected will be found to be equally as good firemen as those who are now in the service.

Chief Devine hopes ultimately to see this much needed improvement made that will place the east side in the best protected district in the United States.

AMUSEMENTS.

The crowds at the Theater still come to see the Sousa-Kidder-Wade engagement will take its place among the red letter financial events of the historic house. Even at the Wednesday matinee, with dollar rates prevailing and with a storm which is a danger for the tell, there was a great crowd in attendance, and that was the case on and condition of the School for Scandal, every seat in the expensive portions of the house was occupied. Hamlet was reckoned in a most scholarly way with Mr. James as the melancholy Dane, and Mr. Wade as the ghost. It might be objected that Mr. James is hardly the ideal of the youthful prince, and his interpretation of the character is not to be considered the acme of perfection. Miss Kidder was a charming Ophelia. The School for Scandal at night was with the same beauty features as before, and there is no doubt that the remaining performances on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon will be just as heavily attended. Tonight will doubtless be the last appearance of the Wade, Julius Cesar being the bill, and several schools attending in a body.

At the Grand there was another big crowd last night to see The Hot Old Times, and they had to be turned away. The engagement continues for tonight, the evening when the engagement of this company comes, Bobby Gaylor opens tomorrow night.

The advance sale for Stuart Robson's engagement which opens at the Grand tonighand is tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next week opens at the Theater Saturday morning.

The Tabernacle should be thronged tonight to hear the Swedish choir from Scandinavia and Her People will be delivered for the benefit of the Deseret Museum, the lecture will be illustrated with stereopticon views and the well known abilities of the lecturer ought to insure a good attendance.

BULLETS FELL LIKE HAIL.

Utah Volunteer Writes of the Natives, His Monkey and Other Things.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Gunn are in receipt of a letter from their son Thomas S. Gunn who is in the Philippines. Mr. Gunn was a member of the part he took in the fight of February 14, 1899, of which the following are some extracts:

"The fight opened on Saturday night, (Feb. 14). I was asleep at the time the firing commenced and the first I knew we were in playing cards. When I found out what was the matter I jumped up and ran to the door of the tent to see the barracks where our two guns were situated. I was just on guard that night and the bullets fell like hail all around me. In a short time our company had to leave the barracks. My little monkey, which you saw, was in the tent fight with the standards, close under the barracks. The boys christened him "Battery."

"Sunday morning we received orders to take our tents down and move to quarters; and while on the way the bullets came whistling all around us from all sides. I was walking along, right out, and was doing there a second that the natives will never forget. We had to leave our tents another out on the face yesterday. He is one of the boys who got his discharge papers and is now willing to go home. I was shot at close range, (a few yards) and I was not hit. The natives are shooting little bullets, and we are sent back as we want to make every bullet count.

"I will close now, and will send more which I think will interest you. We buried some sharpshooters who had climed some tall cocoanut trees and bullets so that we could not see them until we were right on them. I saw what I thought was a bird, and two days climbing a tree, and taking good aim blazed away.

"The time we will end happy.

DEATH OF WALTER BOWEN.

Respected Citizen Passes Suddenly Away While at Work in a Quarry.

Quiet, unoffending old Walter Bowen, who lived on the corner of J and Sixth street, is dead. He passed suddenly away yesterday while at his work. Passengers on the Sixth street and Center street cars will miss the genial and good natured old man, and there is a familiar figure on those lines for years past. Walter Bowen was a character in every sense of the word. He was as innocent and as harmless as a child, and as honest as the day is long. Born in a Welsh village not far from Swansea, he loved to dwell upon the many beauties of his native country, and recite the noble deeds of his ancestors, which he would proudly declare, were among those who, in the early struggles, took up the fight in behalf of freedom and liberty. Walter was to mortuary in his dearly loved home and always sang while at work. The "Cymric" was his favorite, but he changed to "Hog and hear it." He was a hard working man; he commenced work in the quarry when a little over of Wales and kept it up to the day of his death. He rode to town on the 7:40 a. m. car and walked to work after his transfer to the Warm Springs. Asked by the writer as to how he was feeling, he replied, "Not very well; not very well, sure enough." Walter had for years been employed at the quarry near the Warm Springs. He went into the cave where the rock is blasted yesterday morning and in the afternoon his lifeless form was discovered on the ground. He had died in the harness, very old. His sudden death will cause his many friends a great sorrow, for all who knew the old gentleman honored and loved him.

The funeral will be held from the Twenty-first ward meeting house at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

THE QUO VADIS LECTURE.

The Quo Vadis lecture at Assembly Hall by Dr. David C. Dance last evening was a most entertaining affair. Together pleasant and high class throughout. Dr. Dance read his lines very well and relieved in details detail the absolutely interesting story contained in the book whose title he makes the title of his lecture. Prominent in the recital of the feasting at the imperial palace, the contests in the arena, the horrible end of those who were the victims of the Christian martyrs. The stereopticon illustrations which illustrated the lecture were very good.
