CARNIVAL EXPENSES.

Report by the Executive Committee of Salt Lake and Ogden.

Yesterday the carnival executive committee submitted the subjoined financial report to the citizen's committee. It is proposed to turn over the floats, etc., to the semi-centennial commission, provided for by the last legislature, and to ask that commission to return to pay the deficit of $1658, which amount represents the excess of expenses over receipts by the carnival committee.

Following is the letter transmitting the report:

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH,
July 14, 1896.

Hon. Heber M. Wells, Mr. F. H. Auerbach, Mr. E. G. Wallace, Committee:

Gentlemen—I herewith enclose you a statement of receipts and expenditures of the executive committee of the Midsummer Carnival, showing a deficiency of $1,658.34.

The committee has left in my office all the vouchers, canceled checks, and all other papers, and they will be open to the inspection of any one who wishes to inquire more minutely into the business management of the carnival. Vouchers are on file for every expenditure.

The committee has on hand the floats used in the various parades, and other valuable material, which would be used to good advantage next year should a similar celebration be held. This property would be worth, for this purpose, at least $1,000.

Among the most pleasant memories of our five carnivals is the generous and unselfish support given to the committee by all classes of citizens. While the work has been new to most of us, and while there has been much hard work done, yet the best of feeling has prevailed among the members of the committee, and we feel amply repaid for our labors by the consciousness of having done the best we could.

Yours very truly,
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.
By E. G. BOOTHE, President.

Slayers of Washakie.

It will be remembered that in March last Jim Washakie, a grandson of the noted Shoshone chief Washakie, was killed in Wyoming. The circumstances of the tragedy are said to be as follows: Wm. Lamereaux, a half breed, Fred Ozell, a white man, and two other white men had shouldered Jim Washakie's wife and were taking her to Montana. The husband, accompanied by an interpreter named John Hereford, a half breed, started in pursuit and overtook the abductors and attempted to hold a parley with them. As Jim Washakie and Hereford approached the abductors' camp, Lamereaux and Ozell opened fire on them, killing women as Jim Washakie which proved fatal.

The trial of Lamereaux and Ozell was begun at Cheyenne yesterday, and John Hereford testified for the prosecution, making substantially the above statement of the circumstances of the crime.

Sprinkling Out of Season.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah,
July 15, 1896.

To the Editor:

Notwithstanding the heavy rains of the last few days, the street sprinkling wagons were at work early this morning. There was not the slightest necessity for it. But that's the way the taxes go. Every one knows that a dry road is better than a wet one for travel. But the wise scientific men and those who live on the taxes don't seem to know it. They seem to think that a road of street can never be too wet. How long is this to continue, and how long are the pockets of the taxpayers to be drawn upon for this sort of thing?

TAXPAYER.

Will Name a Commission.

Governor Wells has under advisement the matter of the appointment of a commission to represent Utah at the exposition which opens at Nashville on May 1, 1897. The exposition is to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the admission of Tennessee into the Union and will continue for six months. In a letter to the Governor, Commissioner General A. W. Wills says:

"It is the first time in the history of our country that there has been an event so celebrated, and it is embracing, we are preparing to have one of the greatest expositions ever held in this country.

"We have petitioned your Excellency, therefore, to appoint a commission of five or more of the citizens of your State, who will take an interest in the work of securing exhibits and display of the resources of your State for exhibition at our centennial. It is our purpose for these commissioners to secure, if possible, sufficient funds for the erection of a house which will be set apart in a building we contemplate erecting on the best quarters of the respective states, where the officers of the official states, collecting into the spirit of this work, as well as all others, will always find a hearty welcome; and Atlanta, where several states have erected state buildings at their own.

"Our exposition will be state and interstate, national and international in its character, and we hope to inspire the spirit of patriotism throughout the nation, whereby the interest of one state will be the interest of all states as the union, and when the states that are to follow Tennessee in the celebration of their one hundredth anniversary, you may not regret that Tennessee will be only too happy to reciprocate."

UTAH CROP REPORT.

Practical Condition of and Prospects for Crops in the Counties.

The following reports as to the condition of crops throughout the State, and the general effect of the weather on the cultivation, growth and harvesting the same, have been received from correspondents for the week ending July 13th, 1896. Many of the reports were mailed before the recent rains set in and therefore only show the weather and crop conditions up to about last Saturday.

SUMMARY OF CORRESPONDENTS.

Morgan—Week very warm and sultry; heavy rain on the 9th accompanied by hail; the hail did little damage; meadows are covered an inch deep in water and the prospects for the late crops is better; there is a heavy crop of fruit of all sorts.

Cache—Very hot weather during the week. Light showers the night of the 12th with more rain this morning (13th) and it looks like we will have more rain yet; much lucern is cut and but little is stacked; potatoes and corn in blossom.

Weber—This week has been cool for gathering the heavy crop of lucern until this morning; we are having a very hot thunderstorm, laying down heavy wheat and lucern.

Uintah—Harvesting first crop of lucern; good growing weather; no rain and very little thunder.

Lewiston—The past three weeks have been very warm and watered crops are looking fine; dry farm crops burning up some; leaving lucern stopped up stacks for a few days; lucern crop is heavy; green peas and new potatoes, also strawberries the order of the day.

Helper—Past week has been quite hot again; a slight shower on the 9th, only a trace; we had a good one on the 6th when .51 of an inch fell in about 30 minutes; Helper got a good soaking for about half an hour to a short time; much damage to hearts; crops are booming after the week; harvest the week.

Tooele—A week of excessive hot weather; dry farm harvest in full blast with a fair yield; first crop of lucern just about stacked; corn is beginning to show the want of rain, and is not so backward as some anything; potatoes look fair, but a great many minus in the rows in some patches.

Portage—An busy cutting lucern; very hot and dry first part of week; on the 10th it rained at intervals all night from 9 p. m.; never seen such continuous lightning; saw it strike another, so quick could nearly see to read.

Lake Shore—Lucern crop about all landed; barley and oats ripening for want of water; wheat crop doing well; cut valley sugar beets and potatoes; small fruit is fine; squash and corn growing well. The weather has been very warm and very hot during the week; light sprinkle of rain evening of 12th.

Farmington—The first five days the hottest weather we have experienced here; yesterday (12th) we had a refreshing shower; this morning another cooling shower with a great deal of thunder. First crop of hay about in; everybody pleased with condition of first crop. Peaches beginning to "turn;" good weather for corn, some tasseling out.

Payson—Dry and hot; crops drying up some; grain ripening rapidly; corn growing fast; potatoes in bloom; carpetbrier tips; cane growing fast.

Nephi—The past week has been the hottest of the year ripening the grain very fast. Haying is nearly completed; crop heavy as usual. Grain being cut, but is not quite so plump as usual. Rain on 12th; fruit engrained.

Hatchville—The week has been very hot and dry, the temperature rising as high as 95 in the shade on Sunday afternoon, which tends to ripen the grain, some of which is being harvested. Heavy thunder storm with lightning, wind and rain Monday, laying much of the heavy grain, making it difficult to harvest. The rain was timely.

Plymouth—The past week was good for hay making with hot, drying winds. Light shower on 10th but not enough to do any good. Haying nearly all done; grain ripening very fast, needs rain to fill it out; shower on 13th did considerable good.

Cache Junction—Last week warm and sultry; one inch one-half inches of rain night of 12th; looks like more rain.

Newton—Last week's weather favorable; two hours good shower on the 6th which was a great help to the grain. Lucern is being harvested fast; here are doing well; potatoes look favorable; refreshing thundershower night of 12th did a great deal of good to dry land grain.

Mendon—Fine growing weather for everything; waterfall commenced to cut fast; Lucern nearly all up; second crop will be very light on account of scarcity of water; several light showers the last few days; thunder shower night of 12th.

Lewiston—The weather up to Sunday, the 12th, was generally favorable for haying, and most of the lucern crop is secured in good condition. A thunderstorm on the 12th, with heavy wind, laid some grain flat on the ground. Apricots very scarce but honey; bees making more and better honey than they have for years; Weber turkeys small fruit ripe.

St. George—Very dry notwithstanding the very light sprinkle of rain on the 6th and night of 9th, with northwest wind. Drought has caused the atmosphere to be so dry and hot that most grain has been permanently injured to a large extent.

Manti—Weather continues hot and dry. Sky overspread during the week with cirrus clouds. Early peaches ripe. Water for irrigating getting scarce.

Kanosh—Very hot and dry. No rain. New corn, beans and potatoes.

Uintah—Hotter than ever. Harvesting not commenced. Some grain burned upon the high lands where water cannot be had. Potato crop will probably be short; all tops and no tubers.

Brigham City—Haying commenced; fine crop. Those who have large heavy grain off at an hour or rain on Monday, the 13th.

Kaysville—Atmosphere has been sultry and water scarce. Vegetation looking good. Rain on 9th helped it considerably, although only very little rain fell in town. Not the exception all around got a good rain and some places very heavy. Cutting first crop of lucern.

Plain—A slight shower of rain fell on the 9th, reviving vegetation; hoed and potatoes other well where moisture is sufficient; lucern crop gathered very good; wild hay being cut; stacked in some fields and in others good showers on the 7th.

Ogden—Part week hot and dry; having progressing fine; everything growing fast; water rather not pretty well.

VERY GOOD REPORT.

A Patriotic Service.—As Christian Endeavorers we are primarily members of the church, subjects of the kingdom of God, secondly, members of the human family; thirdly, citizens of our country.

Our first concern, then, is the progress of God's kingdom; our second, the progress of the world of the human race, and our third, the progress of our particular country.

The progress of God's kingdom on earth implies that of the human race, and it is at least conceivable that no national progress might not be found in hand with either of them. In fact, we might as a nation come into violent opposition to the prosperity of the kingdom of God. Now, the progress of God's kingdom is matchless, chief good, and expect, therefore, we are chief aim; it, therefore, is conceivable, on national aspirations and efforts to increase our national prosperity and power should come into collision with the cause of the human race as a whole and of God's kingdom in the world, it would then be our duty as Christians to stand for Christ and humanity, even against the demands of national pride. To avoid this possible dilemma it is our duty as citizens to bring the interests and aspirations of our country into line with those of the kingdom of heaven.

The true welfare of our country can never be promoted by any course which is contrary to the interests of the human race as a whole, for God has so ordered things that the good of our nation is the good of all.

In his treatise on Justice Plato says that to study justice in the individual is to study it as written in very small letters, whereas to regard it in a republic is to see it in large and easily readable letters. Now, in the case of patriotism, perhaps the letters are too large to be simultaneously within, and we may be able to get a more comprehensive view by examining its equivalent in the individual.

Patriotism or love of one's country is a master form of selfishness, and should be cultivated, but as selfishness when indulged in excess becomes selfishness, so patriotism may degenerate into a feeling of enmity toward other nations or races, and when it takes that form it becomes, like selfishness, a vice instead of a virtue.

The law of God requires every one of us to love our neighbors as ourselves. And that will large is for every nation or race to love every other nation or race as they love themselves. Then, and not till then, will we have no more war, but there shall be

Peace and good will, good will and peace,
Peace and good will to all mankind.

When that day comes the nations of the earth will no longer have to spend thousands of millions of hard earned dollars to maintain armies and fleets.

What greater blessing can we desire for our country than that its people should rise to the high ideals of the Kingdom of Heaven, that they should be animated by the noblest impulses and sentiments? And what greater thing can we do for our country than to awaken in our own hearts and instill into the hearts of others, as far as we may, the pure and self-sacrificing character of Jesus Christ.—N. Y. Sabbath Reading.

The Twentieth ward people, Scandinavian and the public schools of South Bountiful will spend tomorrow (Thursday) at Saltair.

Today is Mark Carnival at Saltair. The event is given under the auspices of the Salt Lake theater employes. A special train will leave this city for the beach half at 8:30 p.m. The last train for the city will leave the beach at 11:45 p.m.

Dairy and Creamery.

There is no unfailing way to prevent that bitter taste in cream, to make butter come easily in February, to prevent white specks in butter, and also to make butter a good color, even in winter. That is to breed your cows as they will come in fresh in December and January. The wise will heed.

Nothing is better for chickens than milk, skimmilk.

If only June butter could be kept over till winter, fresh and full flavored, creamery men would not have to make winter butter and farmers could let their cows go dry. An experiment is suggested of keeping tubs of June butter over in cold storage and trying if it will not be in fine condition. It is recommended that the agricultural fairs offer premiums for cold storage June butter. To be preserved in a proper state, the June butter must be particularly free from moisture. The water in butter, however much it adds to the weight and thus gives dishonest butter makers certainly makes the better (just cause). We somehow destinctly favor winter dairying and creamery butter making, believing that it brings the greatest good to the greatest number. But if there are well founded doubts in this country where there are still no markets for and regions where cows are allowed to go dry and dandy up for a rest. In such places the keeping of tubs of June butter may be of much interest. Perhaps the cold storage experiment, although will try keeping June butter in cold storage and report how it works.

A good way to make dairying pay is for farmers to sell their milk to a good cheese factory from May to September and then will cream on their own account the rest of the year. Cheese factories from the east will cream with advantage to the middle of September till the middle of May.

Why

we don't send samples of Schilling's Best:

1. It is too good to send to people who don't want it.
2. People always think the sample is better than the tea.
3. No need of samples anyway. Every package is a sample—if you don't like it, you get your money back from the grocer.

Also pure and money-for-best: Schilling's Best coffee, baking powder, soda, spices, and flavoring extracts.
