SUIT FOR $20,000.

Michael Simmons Has Its Present Day Coil Century.

ATTORNEYS ENGAGED IN A RING.

Not Big Cases Are Tried, Claimed—Lawyers Have Not Been and Fine Days in Court.

Michael Simmons filed his suit in the Third District Court against the Pioneer Living Coal company for damages in the sum of $20,000 and costs of suit. The complaint charges that the plaintiff is the owner of and that the defendant is a corporation of Utah and that on November 1 last the plaintiff was employed by the defendant company to work, mined in the mines of the company, in the mines of the company, and that while in the performance of his duties he was injured by a fall of coal, and that the defendant company failed to provide a safe place for the plaintiff to work, and that the defendant company failed to use ordinary care in the matter of the plaintiff's employment