The general and local authorities of the Church are requested to promote the interests of this conference, so far as they are able, that it may be largely attended and productive of the utmost good.

A general invitation to the people is extended to be present.

THOMAS ELSMORE, Charles Johnson and Albert Breese are in the city jail awaiting trial on the charge of vagrancy.

RECEIVER DYER and his attorney, P. L. Williams, were in Logan yesterday. District Attorney Peters went north this morning.

THE little son of Mr. Hulse, of the Twenty-first Ward, who has been afflicted with diphtheria, died from the terrible disease at noon today.

A MRS. CUMMINGS who resides in the Seventeenth Ward, was arrested this morning on a charge of drunkenness. She pleaded not guilty, and the trial was set for this afternoon.

THE railway tickets for those desiring to attend the Manti Temple dedication are good going from tomorrow, Thursday, morning until Sunday. Holders of tickets have the privilege of returning any time before May 31st, without extra charge.

Wishes to Correspond.

Dr. Isaacson is desirous of becoming acquainted with all the members of the Church who are of the Jewish race, as he naturally feels a special interest in them. We are requested by him to say that he can be reached by correspondence addressed to him at the Historian's Office, Salt Lake City.

Discharged.

Charles W. Nibley, of Logan, had an examination yesterday before Commissioner Goodwin on the charge of unlawful cohabitation. After hearing all the testimony, the Commissioner discharged Mr. Nibley, there not being sufficient evidence to warrant holding him to the grand jury.

Suit by the Receiver.

Receiver Dyer has instituted a suit for the property known as the Wells corner, north of Z. C. M. I. general store, in this city. The piece of ground, 10x10 rods, is now owned by Z. C. M. I., Francis Armstrong, A. H. Cannon and Zion's Savings' Band & Trust Company, the latter being in possession of the corner, where it was proposed to erect a handsome bank building. The Receiver claims that the property was at one time owned by the Church, and as such he has a right to it. It was never held by the Church, as was shown by the testimony before the examiner, but the title has always been in private hands. The suit will prove one of deep interest.

A Rough Read.

E. R. Young, Esq., came in from Wanship, Summit County, traveling in a buggy through Silver Creek and Parley's cañons. He had a pretty rough time of it, as the roads through both these cañons are so badly broken up by sheep that it is very unpleasant traveling. It is estimated that not less than 500,000 sheep have passed eastward through Parley's and Silver Creek, en route to the vicinity of the headwaters of the Bear River, and in passing along the roads and on the mountain sides have rolled down an immense quantity of broken rock, which in places renders the roads almost impassable. It will take considerable work to replace the roads in good condition.

"The Paymaster."

The presentation at the Theatre last night, of the military comedy drama, "The Paymaster," may be described in a few words, as a passably interesting entertainment. The acting on the whole exhibited no high artistic finish, although a eulogium may, with propriety, and indeed should, be awarded the author, Duncan Bradley Harrison, who in the title role elicited generous sympathy and applause. His support was ordinary and failed to fill out the merits of the drama, though the new and elaborate stage scenery and the rather excellent representation of the manner and discipline of camp life went far toward redeeming the general want of that which makes up the real elocutionist and actor. A discriminative criticism should also be made regarding Miss Annie Adams, who as Mrs. O'Conner in a feeling manner depicts a mother's passion. The lady was liberally encored.

The story of the drama is of literary merit, is simply and directly told and is full of elevated sentiment, although wanting in that personal characterization that would flow from the pen of a master student of "the humanities." The story exhibits two officers of Her Majesty's army, a paymaster and a colonel suing for the hand of Ethel Miley. The colonel becoming worsted in the race seeks revenge by first robbing his rival of funds held to pay off the troops, and then fastening upon him the crime. Of course in the end all things are adjusted in a manner to suit at once justice and the auditors. There are many striking situations in the plot, a few of which, however, from a critical standpoint, we adjudge to be far-fetched, as in the instance of Ethel, who when alone with the colonel, and on the brink of a torrent, takes occasion to adduce resentfully the conclusive evidence in her possession, of the disfavored suitor's villainy and guilt. To say the least, Ethel was injudicious, and of course the author is compelled to follow up the thread of the story, by an attempt upon her life. Again, when the Paymaster who has escaped jail is sought after by a posse of soldiers under command of the colonel, the former unconcernedly steps forward, protests his innocence and represents to the common soldiery the evidence of the guilt of their commanding officer, which might better be reserved for a higher tribunal. At this juncture, particular and timely orders from headquarters happily relieves the colonel of his odious command and his arrest is then secured. It is much easier to criticise a play, however, than to produce one, and in the authorship of this work there is more to commend than disparage.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

One Man Killed and Two Severely Hurt at Coalville.

A terrible and fatal accident occurred on the Union Pacific at Coalville at noon on Saturday last. There has been a narrow guage track up to the Home Coal Company's mine, and the railway employes have been engaged in changing it to a broad guage. Mr. Wilds, the section foreman, and his men were coming down from the mine, for dinner. They were riding on a trolley, which had no brakes, and were coming down the steep grade at about twenty miles an hour.

Mr. Wilds had in his hands a piece of 2x6 scantling, to be used as a brake. On reaching the Coalville road he attempted to apply the rude brake, when it caught in some way, and the timber snapped in two. Mr. Wilds was hurled forward on the track and the next instant the trolley, with its load of eight or ten men, came crashing against him.

The unfortunate man was in a terrible situation. He was so caught by the wheels of the car that it was stopped almost instantly. All but two of the men sprang off, and escaped with slight injuries. Mr. Wilds, with the other two, was pinned to the track. Mr. Morby, who was close by, rushed forward, and with the superhuman strength which came with the excitement of the moment, he caught up the trolley and threw it to one side, with apparently very little effort. The car was so heavy that subsequently he could not budge one end of it.

The two men who went over with the car, and whose names we have not been able to ascertain, were pretty badly shaken up. One was taken to his home, but the injuries of the other, among which were a broken shoulder and broken leg, were so serious that he was sent to the Union Pacific hospital at Ogden.

The most careful attention was paid to Mr. Wilds, who was horribly crushed about the breast, where the whole force of the terrific blow was received. He suffered great pain whenever moved. He was taken to the home of his grief-stricken family, and a telegram sent to Evanston for a surgeon.

From the first, Mr. Wild's injuries were known to be fatal, and at 4 o'clock on Monday morning he died.

The man who was taken to Ogden had been in the employ of the railway but two weeks.

Brother Wilds was about twenty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and three small children. He bore an excellent character, and his sad end is deeply regretted by a large circle of sympathizing friends.

Closing Hours of the Grant Manslaughter Case.

In the continuation of the manslaughter case against Richard Grant, yesterday afternoon, a number of witnesses testified to the good character of the defendant, who was, at the close of his case, called as a witness, and testified: My name is Richard Grant, commonly known as Dick Grant; have lived in Park City since 1875; have a wife and four children; the youngest 11 and the eldest 16; first came to the coast in 1851, going to California; after leaving California went to British Columbia, thence to Montana; and then came to Salt Lake; from there to Pioche, Nevada; thence to Ophir, and then to Park City; was night foreman at one time of the Ontario mine, but resigned in 1881; went back to Montana for a while, returning to the Park the same year; I then went into the saloon business, but have done nothing since this trouble; I never had any sort of trouble with anyone before this time; I may have been out with the boys; I challenged a man to fight once, but he backed out; I went to the saloon on the evening in question about 5 or 6 o'clock; knew Anderson by sight, but never knew his name; had never met him until the night of the homicide; it was about 7 o'clock when he first came in that evening, when he went straight to the club room and gave a terrific yell; I told him to shut up; he came out; I then put him out; he turned around and said, "You s— of a b—," and then went off; he wanted whisky, but I refused to give it to him; half an hour afterwards he came back again and asked for whisky; I told him to go over to the "Scandihoovian," where he could get all he wanted for money; he then went away; soon after he returned in company with another person; I refused to sell him anything, and told him to go out; after a struggle, I put him out; at that time a policeman came along, and I supposed he would be arrested; he came back the fourth time about 10:30; I was behind the bar; Anderson rushed in the door, throwing it back against the wall; he had something in his hands, and he turned round and said he would "kill the s— of a b—;" I took down the gun, and when he came towards me, I pulled it on him; he kept coming and I fired again; he then turned quick and walked toward the door, where he fell and rolled.

To Mr. Hoffman—I heard that Anderson was 17 years old; I never knew anything about him before this occurrence; there was plenty of time for him to drop before I gave him the second shot; I went right behind the bar; I knew that Anderson was dead; he walked six or seven feet from the door after I shot him; I had no ill will towards Anderson, and he had never injured me in any way; I honestly believed that when he came towards me he intended to injure me; I was satisfied he had a knife in his hand before I shot him; I shot to kill; I aimed at the centre of his body, and that is where I hit him; after I hit him the first time I waited a second or two to see if he would turn, when he didn't I fired the second time.

The prosecution then introduced a number of witnesses, who testified that Anderson, the deceased, was of a quiet, peaceable disposition.

This morning the arguments before the jury began, Mr. Hoffman opening for the prosecution. Mr. Snyder followed Mr. Hoffman, and Mr. Dickson then made an exhaustive plea for his client. Mr. Clarke made the closing argument, which had not concluded when we went to press.

Bandmann.

Daniel E. Bandmann, the German tragedian and versatile actor, will appear in his own version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which will be presented at the Theatre next Friday and Saturday evenings. Of his acting and of the piece the Omaha Bee of the 10th inst. says:

Daniel Bandmann appeared at Boyd's opera house last night in his own dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's uncanny novel "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." The audience was composed of the best theatre going element of the city and was one of most enthusiastic as well as discriminating that ever assembled to pass judgment on a new piece.

Mr. Bandmann has been very successful in extracting the strongest dramatic scenes and situations from the weird story. The dialogue is spirited and some of Mr. Bandmann's long speeches are full of a dramatic fire that could not be expected of the probable Dr. Jekyll of the book. The play is consequently an improvement, without being a plagiarism, upon Mr. Stevenson's work. At the end of each act Mr. Bandmann received a call; the third time responding with a neat speech, thanking the audience both for their liberal attendance and appreciation of the piece. The supporting company is fair throughout and the play was well staged.

George P. Wall is the manager of the company, but the troupe is playing west of the Missouri River under the management of Al. Hayman, of the Baldwin and Californian theatres, San Francisco.

CITY COUNCIL.

Various Items of Business Before the Municipal Authorities.

The City Council met in regular session at 7 o'clock last evening, Mayor Armstrong presiding.

Annie Brown asked that a correct deed to a certain lot situated in this city be issued to her. Referred to the Mayor.

A. B. Simmons and others asked that the water mains be extended from Sixth to Fourth Street, in the Twentieth Ward, under the provisions of the new ordinance. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

John Edgar and others asked that a flume be put in at the intersection of Third South and Seventh West streets, and that the canal in that vicinity be cleaned out. Referred to the watermaster.

Mark Spencer and other residents on West Temple, between Sixth and Eighth South streets, asks for an extension of the water mains. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

W. F. Foll asked for a free butcher's license. Granted.

Wm. Pinney represented that the tannery adjoining Pugsley's Mill in the Nineteenth Ward was and asked that it be abated. Referred to the marshal.

Wm. Dent and others asked permission to lay a supply pipe on I Street to their residences. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

J. N. Ricketts and others asked for an extension of the water mains on Fifth South Street from First to Second East streets. Referred to the committee on waterworks.

E. Braby & Son asked for a rebate on their license as butchers. Referred to the committee on license.

J. G. Angell and others called attention to the filthy condition of the water ditch on the west side of First East Street, and asked that it be cleansed out. Referred to the marshal.

Mrs. Sarah Brown and others called attention to the fact that Sixth South Street, between First and Second East streets, is in a bad condition owing to garbage having been dumped there, and asked that it be covered with a layer of gravel. Referred to the committee on streets.

Three retail liquor licenses were granted.

A map of Heath's subdivision of block 49, plat C, was submitted for the approval of the Council. Referred to the committee on streets.

E. A. Reed called the attention of the Council to the fact that in October, 1887, a resolution was passed ordering Eighth South Street to be opened, but that no further action had been taken, and he asked that the work be done. The petition was received and filed.

The following communication from the city engineer of Omaha, which was received by Alderman McCornick, was read and ordered filed with the auditor:

In response to your asking about our

PRICES FOR PAVING,

I have to say as follows:

Asphaltum	$2.65	per square yard.
Sioux Falls granite....	2.45	" " "
Colorado Falls granite.	2.45	" " "
Colorado sandstone....	2.45	" " "
Cedar blocks	1.82	" " "
Cypress blocks	1.80	" " "

We have at present 8 7-10 miles of asphaltum pavement, 3 2-10 miles of Sioux Falls granite, 3 2-10 miles of sandstone, and 7 2-10 miles of cedar blocks.

It is extremely hard for any one to state what the best pavement is, as so much depends upon circumstances. Granite is the most durable, asphalt the most pleasant and cedar block the cheapest. For heavy business I would prefer granite; for residences, if I could afford it, asphalt, and if not cedar block. None of our pavements have been down long enough for us to judge of their durability by experience, but from general observation we can form a pretty fair idea of what will come.

Hoping the above will be what you wish,
Very truly yours,
GEORGE A. TILLSEN,
City Engineer.

The superintendent of waterworks, to whom was referred the petition of W. H. Casbell, asking for an extension of the water mains, reported that the cost of the extension would amount to $2,375. The report was received, and the Mayor instructed to furnish the customary notices.

The committee on streets, to whom was referred the petition of H. P. Richards and others, asking that Second South Street be graded, recommended that the grade be established according to the profile prepared by the city surveyor. Adopted.

The committee on enrollment reported that the ordinance in relation to paving and grading sidewalks had been correctly enrolled and published. The report was received and adopted.

The committee on improvements, to whom was referred the petition of the Continental Oil Company, asking permission to erect buildings for the near the D. & R. G. depot, recommended that the petition be granted. Adopted.

The committee on public grounds, to whom was referred the petitions of J. P. Witburgs and Hannah Madson, both of whom claim a certain lot, each, asking for a deed to the same, reported that the legal title to the property is in the city, and recommended that both petitions be not granted. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the petition of J. W. Young, asking the city to sell him four acres of ground situated near the Warm Springs, recommended that the petition be not granted. Adopted.

The committee on canal, to whom was referred the petition of S. B. Young and others, asking that they be allowed to use water from the canal for irrigating purposes, recommended that the prayer be granted upon surrender by the petitioners of their water rights in the water from Emigration and Red Butte and Parley's cañons.

Alderman Sharp stated that, in his opinion, there was no matter of greater importance before the Council than that of obtaining a larger

SUPPLY OF WATER.

The city could not be served nor the streets properly sprinkled until a larger supply of water could be obtained. This was the object which the committee had in view in making the recommendation, which, he thought, would be generally accepted by parties owning land south of the city, and through which he hoped the city would obtain the right to the water from the cañon streams.

After some discussion the report was adopted.

The committee on police, to whom was referred the report of the police justice for April, stated that it had been examined and found to be correct. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the marshal's report, stated that it had been examined and found to be correct. Adopted.

The committee on waterworks, to whom was referred the petition of W. E. Pack, asking for an extension of the water mains, recommended that the petition be granted, and that the superintendent of waterworks be instructed to furnish an estimate of the cost. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the petition of R. C. Badger, asking permission to lay to his residence, recommended that the petition be referred to the superintendent of waterworks. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the petition of H. Duncan, asking that a spill on Eight South Street be replaced, recommended that the prayer be not granted. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the petition of J. E. Walker and others, calling attention to the unwholesome condition of the water in the mains near their residences, recommended that the superintendent of waterworks be instructed to investigate the matter. Adopted.

The same committee recommended that the petitions of N. S. Woolley, J. J. Shaffet, H. Salmsbury, Jas. Watson and others, asking for extensions of the water mains, be reported back with the recommendation that the superintendent of waterworks be instructed to make an estimate of the cost of the work, and report the same. Adopted.

The same committee, to whom was referred the bill for an ordinance in relation to reported a new bill, supplemented by a resolution, which are practically the same as the former bill.

The bill of Mrs. Burt, for furnishing city prisoners with good meals at 15 cents each, amounting to $403.80, was received and the amount appropriated.

The recorder stated that it would be necessary to make an appropriation of $37.50, to pay Mr. Cunningham for a horse sold from the estray pound, the ordinance requiring the amount realized, less the costs, to be held subject to the demand of the owner of any animal which might be sold. The amount was appropriated.

The sum of $166.66 was appropriated to pay interest upon a corporation note.

STREET PAVING.

Alderman Riter moved that the Supervisor be instructed to macadamize South Temple Street on the north side of the railroad track, between Second and Third West streets, the material to be furnace slag, the space covered to be thirty feet wide, the top dressing to be of some suitable material and the work to be commenced immediately and prosecuted to a speedy conclusion.

On motion of Alderman Sharp the matter was referred to the committee on streets.

The bill in relation to

was taken up, and passed its second reading.

The resolution which accompanied the bill, and which designates the streets to be sprinkled, was then passed. The bill was then taken up on its third reading and passed, only Alderman Riter voting against the measure.

Councilor Young moved that when the Council adjourned, it be until next Friday night, to consider the question of water supply in executive session. Carried.

Alderman Sharp said that he hoped the use of spills would be discontinued and the water used for street sprinkling be taken from the hydrants, as is done in other cities. The spills were unsightly scare-crows, as well as being inconvenient.

Alderman Riter said that this season promised to be an unusually dry one, and very little City Creek water could be used for street sprinkling, the most of it would have to be taken from the canal, and spills would be necessary for that purpose.

The Council then adjourned until Friday evening, at 7:30.

That Banner.

The dismissal of the libel proceedings against Mr. Duval and others, for displaying the banner caricaturing a white man who refused to respond to the call for the boom fund, did not finally close the transaction. After the case had been dismissed and the costs paid, Duval applied to the justice for the ridiculous banner, saying he wished to take it back where he got it from. As under these circumstances this would cause the offensive picture to be again displayed in the public streets, the court refused. Later in the day Messrs. Stanton, Young and three others made a formal demand on Justice Pyper for it, and were again met with a refusal. Then a document was served on Marshal Solomon, ordering him to surrender the banner, but as the Marshal didn't have it, there was no surrender. Subsequently a suit was started before Commissioner Norrell, against Justice Pyper and Marshal Solomon, for the banner, but, today this was dismissed. There is something very remarkable in the efforts to regain possession of the caricature.

At the Opera House.

The audience which assembled in the Opera House last evening was only moderate in size, but it was composed of very intelligent people, for the most part. Mr. Wood's rendition of the double character of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" was powerful and impressive, but marred at times by a tendency to vociferation. His support as a whole was good. Marguerite St. John is an actress of prepossessing appearance and graceful and artistic manner, and makes a very pleasing impression from the first. Mr. St. Clair is a good actor. The version performed is so condensed that the cast numbers only eight persons, Miss St. John being the only lady, which detracts from its merits as a drama. While the strong features of the plot are retained, the details necessary to its symmetry and a full and pleasing effect, have been cut out. The same company repeat the piece in the Opera House this evening. The music was very good, and the orchestra was repeatedly applauded.

Death of a Venerable Lady.

President Angus M. Cannon has received a communication from Cleveland, Ohio, informing him that his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Quirk, mother of Mrs. Col. Creighton, died in that city on the 6th inst., at the age of eighty years. The maiden name of the deceased was Catherine Quayle, and she was the last of a family of ten. She was a native of the Isle of Man, and came to this country over half a century ago. The funeral was conducted on the 9th. Mrs. Quirk was much respected as a most estimable lady. A private letter states that she retained the use of her faculties almost to the last moment of her life.
