POWERS ON PRINTING

His Tirades Heard in the House. ...The Vote.

PARTY POLITICS IN THE COUNCIL.

Scholer's Union Bill. — Attorneys' Lien Bill Amended and Passed.

The Council had a session in which party politics occasioned most of the time yesterday. The sugar bounty and tariff memorials were under consideration in connection with majority and minority reports on each and the talking and voting were on party lines, the Republicans, of course, prevailing.

Scholer made the following statement to a NEWS representative yesterday:

"My bill, which has for its purpose the union of the Agricultural College and the University of Utah, I regard as the most important measure that may come before this Legislature.

"It is in the interests of education and economy that union shall take place. I have stated Logan as the station for the University of Utah for the reason that I believe Logan possesses the most advantages for it, and the interests of all the people of the Territory would be best subserved by putting it there. However, I am conscious of considering the subject in its broaded sense. Union must be the paramount idea."

COUNCIL.

After the close of the NEWS' report yesterday the Governor sent in the veto of the bill of medical examiners, which went to the committee on public health.

The silver memorial was taken up and passed.

The sugar bounty memorial was considered in connection with the majority and minority reports of the committee. The former was adopted by a strict party vote, and the bill made special order for today.

The tariff memorial was next considered in connection with majority and minority reports. After some discussing the former prevailed by a party vote.

The following bills were introduced:

By Talbot: Making legal a higher rate of interest than 12 per cent. Committed to judiciary.

By J. R. Robb: Relating to liquor licenses.

By Hall: Relating to estrays.

After some further business of minor importance the Council adjourned.

HOUSE.

The following bills were introduced immediately after the close of the NEWS report yesterday:

By Jensen: Relating to leasing school lands.

By Powers: Relating to the payment for the wages of the employes of corporations.

By Hall: Relating to the boating and swimming of mining claims.

By Moses, by request: Giving city council power to select one of their number mayor pro tem during the absence or disability of the mayor.

H. B. 11, the attorneys' lien bill, came up as special order. Warner moved that it be indefinitely postponed and Hubbard seconded the motion. Varian asked the reason for the motion, but was not answered.

Powers spoke in faint advocacy of the bill. He claimed that it only gave what the common law gives to attorneys already.

Warner read from a text book upon the subject, showing that while the common law gives an attorney ample protection, it did not give anything near what the bill would. He stated that no state in the Union had such a law as this bill would be. He thought the bill entirely too broad.

Varian said he did not care a cent about the bill, but he objected to the summary manner of disposing of it. Warner Warner's motion contemplated. He agreed with some of the objections to it, but thought it could be amended.

Hatch thought the bill very reasonable, and would vote for it. The lawyer worked hard and should have his pay. He saw no objection to the bill.

The motion to postpone indefinitely was lost.

Wilson moved to amend so as to make the bill applicable only when there is a written agreement between attorney and client in regard to compensation. Adopted.

Tyler moved that the bill pass. It passed by a vote of 29 to 2.

The majority and minority reports of the committee on public printing came up as special order. Both reports were read.

Powers moved the adoption of the majority report. Varian asked what the Council had done. Powers answered that the Council had adopted the minority report. He claimed that the committee were largely influenced in awarding the bid as they did by the superiority of work and material where the successful bidder offered.

Dealey asked if there were the differences in the bids given in the minority report. Powers replied that Powers could explain that matter.

Hubbard moved the adoption of the minority report.

The pending question was Powers's motion to strike the majority report of the joint committee on printing, and Hubbard moved to amend the motion by substituting "minority" for "majority."

Allen asked if bid number six came in after the others were opened.

Powers replied no.

Powers took the floor on Hubbard's motion. The matter of printing had assumed an importance for greater than the dollars and cents involved justified. The committee had been assailed in the public prints, and accused of venality. He asked for the reading of an article in the DESERET EVENING NEWS of Jan. 19th, upon the subject. It was read by the clerk.

After the reading was concluded, Powers said the article charged the committee with dishonesty and corruption. He declared that it made at least ten charges, and he would call it by fifty, morality, fidelity, etc., but for such allegations of bad faith in the service which he contended he had given, or even to anybody else, was the statement that Mr. Hayes took a bid after the committee had been in session. He declared that bid was put in before the committee met.

He claimed that 75 per cent of the annual competitors who brought in the bidding, had been thrown out of employment by the Enterprise, and that he moved in committee to give the work to other men. "If this be treason, then make the most of it," he stated. He took up the petition signed by John A. Evans, Walter J. Lewis, A. H. Cannon and J. E. Taylor, asking remonstrance by the Assembly of the election of J. E. Riley to be public printer, and denounced it as built in the Assembly, which seldom have been known, out of more willing to sing real. "Upon what meat do these people feed, that they come into war with our city legislature, and interfere in selection of public officers by executives? He charged that the signers of the document were representatives of the institution that has fed on the printing, and how disappointed.

He said at great length upon the reasons he put forth why the public printing should go to some printer. The committee had, he said, adopted his method to test effect, modified by an amendment offered by J. E. Robb, "All bids being equal."

When the committee had opened the bids they found the work was let to whoever was the lowest, or if they were not satisfied with the work for the latest man. The result was dissatisfaction, and the committee had never one bid alike to bite. On the following day that gentleman entered the fray with his figures demonstrating which was lowest. Mr. Hoyt's figures he expected by him to be the executive were very elaborate, and he congratulated the floor of the House could understand what they meant by simply turn his copy, unless he was familiar with the printing business.

Powers made some remarks in reply to the position taken on the printing question by the Council by Williams, who hailed at great length the typographical errors which were so numerous, and displayed the fact that 75 per cent of bidders were very disinterested, and deprived of employment by the Enterprise. He claimed the Council had in favor of giving the printing at all union prices, rather than to allow that employed cheap labor. He then read a long screed written by one J. P. Gordon, which charged that the bills of lading printed at the Deseret News establishment, were full of typographical errors. He boldly claimed the difference in the bids, sneered the minority report congratulating, but admitted later that the gap given in its claiming the difference between the bids, were those of Mr. Hoyt. He made several personal and sarcastic references to Hubbard, dealt hard hit he knew was the stockholders of the Lithographic Co., who was a member of the Assembly, and exhausted the patience of the House by the great length of time he consumed and the objectionable manner in which he treated the subject.

Hubbard briefly observed that Powers had spoken when he (Hubbard) was absent, and had claimed that it was not the province of the assembly to take either as a committee or as a class to swamping the people, but annual gave it to the lowest bidder.

Harris said he saw he had made a mistake in introducing the petition asking remonstrance of the choice of public printer. He should have first obtained the consent of Powers to introduce it. (Laughter.)

After spoke in support of the majority of the committee, and Tolton spoke in favor of the minority.

Evans, in a dignified and effective speech, vindicated the gentleman who had signed the petition for remonstrance, explained that the DESERET NEWS, as it was reputed by law to do, had "published copy" in printing the laws of 1890 and demanded the minority of the committee. He spoke only a few minutes, but he covered the subject remarkably well.

(Hubbard's amendment being put, lost by a vote of 9 to 15, as follows: Ayes—Cook, Hubbard, Lewis, Mc Bride, Monson, Moses, Scoter, Tolton, total 8. Nays—Allen, Hatch, Johnson, Mason, McKay, Noleman, Parson, Pigman, Powers, Sharp, Stanford, Varian, Wattis, Wilson, Mr. Speaker, total 15.

The Speaker announced that Dougall would take the place of Emerson on all committees.

Tolton introduced a concurrent resolution requiring copies of the Compiled Laws of Utah, but be reported to officers throughout the Territory. Committee on ways and means.

Sharp offered a resolution increasing the number of members of the committee on claims and public accounts from five to seven. Adopted.

Varian offered a resolution calling ways and means committee for report on Russell's condition of the Territory. Adopted.

Adjourned.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

COUNCIL.

Word was received from the House that the Governor had signed the bill for incidental expenses and two memorials to Congress.

H. E. Booth presented an invitation to the Legislature to visit the Brigham Young academy at Provo on Saturday. The invitation was accepted.

C. B. 28, relating to the Compiled Laws of 1888 was received from the House, with amendments with concurrence. Filed for third reading.

C. B. 24, to provide for a uniform system of free schools, was received from the committee on judiciary.

Report received and bill filed for third reading.

Williams took the chair and Sheeler introduced C. B. 38, regarding proceedings in justices' courts.

Also C. B. 39, respecting attachments.

R. K. Booth, by request, introduced a bill relating to forfeits.

The sugar bounty memorial was taken up as the special order of the day.

Hart moved that it be postponed indefinitely and spoke in favor of his motion, declaring that it was too late to memorialize Congress on this subject.

J. E. Booth answered him in a caustic way inquiring if the members passed by the mail and those of Hayes accepted on this subject had received the President's message and had passed the House. On motion of Lewis the motion of Hart was lost indefinitely. H. E. Booth spoke in favor of the memorial. Sharp, of Weber, said he hoped that some gentleman in favor of the Sugar memorial would explain why at this county meeting was resolved what would be for the best to the country?

BILLS.

In compliance with Scott's resolution to increase the select committee from five to seven members, adopted yesterday, the Speaker appointed Noleman and Jensen.

Wilson offered a communication from the Utah Sugar company, inviting the Assembly to visit the sugar factory at the time of the visit to the insane asylum. He moved acceptance of the invitation. Carried.

Johnson presented a claim from Abraham F. Smith, ex-member of Sanpete county, for $22.10.

Two bills were vetoed against the decision of the Judiciary committee.

The following petitions were introduced:

By Hatch: From non-resident proprietors asking for a repeal of the present law regulating the practice of medicine.

By Wilson: Asking for a county on sugar beets. Wilson asked to have it go to the committee on manufactures. Powers wanted to have it go to the committee on agricultural. Various supporters Wilson's motion, and Tolton supported Powers. The vote by ayes and nays was taken, the motion was lost, the petition went to the agricultural committee.

A communication from the relatives of the late Brigham Young expressing their feeling toward the Assembly in relation to the institution.

The petition of Alice the invalidism was assigned.

Alice presented a communication from G. W. Russell relating to loss of position of the peace and asserting. Committee on judiciary.

Report were the committees on railroads, judiciary, ways and means and mines and miners, were received.

Various committees judiciary committee reported adversely on the bill extending the time to redeem real estate, also on the bill to repeal a statute then to be repealed. The report was accompanied by a bill to extend the time of redemption of sales of real estate in twelve months. It was a substitute for the other one, and was passed to third reading.

BILLS.

The nine hours' question became mixed up with the business of the House.

Judge Bennett was in the Council chamber before the opening of the afternoon session.

The following House committees held morning today: On education, claims, ways and means, and public.

Both Robinson and Dougall will draw message, and the former will draw the part relating to the time he was speaker.

Mr. Appleman, of Secretary Richards's office, was talking the signatures of members of the Assembly today, on the mileage petition, preparatory to paying their mileage.

The educational speeches recent to be delivered quite a number of passes, hinging by the number who respond to be invited to converse with members of the Council on the floor.

Tommy Dougall took a look over the field Hatch, who has been missed Telegraphic Dougall is now in line with his party principles as well as in respect to the sugar industry, etc.

The House took a definite position yesterday in respect to the general appropriation. The judiciary committee reported adversely on a bill to amend it, on the ground that it was inadvisable at the present time to do this, and the house adopted the report and rejected the bill.

In answer to the question often asked after the action of the House yesterday, what is the status of the printing question, it may be briefly stated. The Council, on Saturday last, adopted the minority report of the joint committee on printing, which had the effect of awarding the printing to John A. Evans. The House yesterday reversed it to the Salt Lake Lithographing Co. Then a deadlock was created, and a necessity for a conference committee was created.

THE ANARCHISTIC EXPOSE.

It Caused Considerable Public Excitement and a Good Deal of Consternation in the Order.

The announcement in last night's NEWS that there was a genuine anarchistic society in this city organized for purposes that have made the very name sic of terror wherever spoken, was the cause of no inconsiderable amount of public excitement and comment, while in official circles it has been the main theme of comment and speculation since last night.

It was ascertained today from a source that cannot be questioned as to accuracy that there was the most intense consternation among those who are supposed to be members of the order. The news is certainly a startling one, coming of the men who are known to be identified with the order, disclosing the fact that they were seen together last night in places of questionable repute with which they have frequented of late and that they were exceedingly cautious and nervous. The public disclosure of their existence and intimate of Bloodsted was undoubtedly to their manifest trouble.

The movements of the members are being closely watched and unless they make a clean go of it they may soon find of the lessons will get themselves where they may plan but not excuse their absence of instruction.

THE BARBER CASE.

Judge Miner Says a County Tax Collector Can Rate Only His Salary.

In the Fourth District court at Ogden, Judge Miner handed down his opinion in the two House cases, which are on a dispute regarding legal points between Daniel Hamer, county collector, and Weber county. The first case was that brought by Weber county against Hamer, the prayer being to compel him to pay to the county treasurer the sum of $18,733.34 as amount which the complaint alleges Hamer held back unlawfully from the county. Now after the bringing of the action Collector Hamer turned over to the county clerk $[illegible], leaving a balance of about $[illegible] still in his hands, which he claims he has the right to keep under the fees of his last year, in accordance with a statute. Weber county sues Collector Cook Lindsay, asking for a peremptory writ of mandate compelling the county auditor to credit him with about $[illegible], which he claims to be his fees for tax sale certificates issued. The two cases were tried together, and Judge Miner decides in favor of the collectors, ruling to the effect that the collector can withhold from the county more than fees, which in this case was $1,000, and that he could not collect fees on the tax roll of the city of Ogden because the Ogden City Tax Collector. Ogden City nothing for serving notices, and where a property is bought in by the county, no fee exists to be paid at all.

Collector Hamer will appeal to the supreme court.

To the Coast for Health.

Hon. Moses Thatcher and wife of Logan expect to leave the last of the month for California, where they expect to remain two months. The trip is taken with a view solely to the health of Mr. Thatcher, who has been in poor health for some time, but a complete restoration of which is hoped will follow a change of climate.

Dwelling Burned.

Bishop L. F. Greener's house of Cortland was totally destroyed by fire one day last week and all its contents excepting a few pieces of furniture, says the Bloomington Enterprise. The fire started between the upper floor and the roof and supposed to have caused from the stovepipe. When the fire was discovered it was got under such headway that it was impossible to stop it. We understand there was no insurance on the house or contents. The neighbors to a man joined together and worked in rescuing the house.

MURDEROUS TODD.

Gen Pat Dennis's Major shoots a Man in Denver.

Particulars of the shooting, at Denver, of Antonio Van Dyke, by Thomas Haines Todd, the major of Pat Dennis, briefly mentioned in the morning paper yesterday, appear in the Denver News. The shooting took place on Sunday night, when Todd and his wife were visiting Van Dyke. The latter is an Indian school teacher, and with his and Todd wife were engaged in a conversation of a quarter hours. Todd accused the latter of some intimacy with his wife. Todd and began shooting with a revolver invited. Van Dyke ran but was taken down by the left shoulder. Todd then ran to the office of the Dennis building, where he was arrested. He was taken to the station and charged by the officer with the charge made against her and the wounded man are doing.

T. H. Todd is the individual who shot and killed Pat Dennis on the night of March, 1891. He was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He was pardoned by Governor Wm. Jan. Hopkins.

The Rescue Station.

The work of the relief committee in giving needy persons employment is going steadily on. During the past week 230 men were employed on the rockpile. The pay roll for the week was about $[illegible]. For this week 175 men have been put to work thus far.

In the women's department of work there has been an average of 20 women engaged for the past week. There are more applicants than can be provided for. The workers are paid ten cents per hour, and work begins at 10 o'clock each day. Only those women who have others dependent upon them are given work, as the demands are limited, so that all cases cannot be employed. The workers are directed each day by three of the women engaged in this labor of charity.

The grand concert in the Tabernacle on Thursday evening is to aid in this relief work, and tickets are now on sale in the principal stores. The prices are 50 and 25 cents.

Brigham City Fire.

On Saturday evening about 9 o'clock says the Ogden Sun of last evening, a fire was discovered in the basement of the Z. C. M. I. by Mr. H. J. Lambert. An alarm was rung in, and quickly responded to by the fire laddies who succeeded in extinguishing the fire in short time. The amount of damage cannot be stated.

When the fire was raging at the Z. C. M. I., some boys started "fire!" in the Opera House, and a very alarmed audience came from the building, and the performance closed. No serious injury occurred to any one, the crowd being more frightened than hurt.

Will Plead Tomorrow.

The surgeons explained by the police last night as mentioned in another column were taken before Justice Smith this afternoon to plead, but at their own solicitation were allowed until tomorrow at 10 o'clock a.m. in which to make whether they are guilty or innocent of the charge preferred against them.
