NORDSTROM'S CASE.

Examined Before Justice Wenger Today —A Very Man in Office Stolen.

The hearing of Carl O. Nordstrom charged with burglary, with intent to commit a criminal assault was resumed before Justice Wenger at 2 o'clock this afternoon. A number of witnesses were sworn and examined for both sides, after which arguments were presented, Assistant County Attorney Harrington opening for the prosecution and contending that inasmuch as the offense charged had been fully proved, the defendant should be held to a higher tribunal. Graham Fulton, counsel for the defense, commenced his opposing argument with numerous authorities cited to him, and was still talking his contention at press time.

Officer Rooney evidently didn't figure on the case coming to look the contrast of arresting citizens of the bicycle ordinance on the ninth side of Second South between West Temple and First West streets. Ever since the officer concluded to "corral a few of them," so to speak it, he has been the hottest man on the force, and each day adds half a dozen or more victims to his roll of honor and credit. Today his victims were five in number and each one handed a cash deposit of $5. The fines should either be awarded a leather medal for his diligence, or have his wages raised, as his former compliment is but dwindling into insignificancy.

I, Lowi, who is charged with allowing his chickens to trespass on other people's property, will have a hearing at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Joseph Lake and Clarence Hudson will be tried on a charge of assault and battery on Monday morning next.

Heavy Rains Do Damage—The Select Levies.

EPHRAIM, Sanpete Co., July 15, 1896.

To the Editor:

Monday and Tuesday, the 13th and 14th instants, we had the heaviest rain fall that has been known for years. Much damage has been done to crops. In the northwest field the hail cut the beets off, and in other parts of the fields the grain is tangled and laying down so that it will be difficult to harvest. If damp weather continues the grain will rust and the sorrel will not fill. Dry weather and wind will raise a great deal of the lodged grain.

A great deal of damage was done to the land near the foothills in the southeast field. J. P. Hansen Jr's land is washed a great deal, the plowed land being washed so that only the furrows are left. The rain does not seem to be over yet. Much lucern is lying in the field out which has been damaged a great deal. The D. & R. G. passenger train due here last evening did not arrive until today.

The Ephraim district school election resulted in placing in as a board of trustees J. P. Jensen for the term of three years, J. F. Hansen for the term of two years and C. R. Durfee for the term of one year. Each of the gentlemen received twelve votes, which were all the votes cast out of upwards of 600 legal voters in Ephraim school district. For several years there has not been much interest shown in Ephraim in the election of school trustees. It is time the people woke up to some of these duties before it is too late. People little think what risk they are running by not attending a simple school election.) A board of trustees handling great deal of money, and who are to employ the teachers who have to mold the minds of the children and star them in life. Suppose men who are curious and indifferent as to the welfare of the people were elected great injury might result in a community like ours.

EPHRAIM.

Not Any Worse.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the report from Elder Abraham H. Cannon's sick room was that he was resting quietly—that he certainly was no worse than yesterday. He will very low, but his symptoms are such as to afford strong hope for his recovery. All possible care is being bestowed upon him.

The Session Closed.

The University Summer school closed an unusually interesting and profitable session today. This is the third annual session, and although the attendance was not quite equal to that of last year, it was good. It is the aim of the University society to continue the school from year to year, and the wisdom of so doing is at once apparent, for hundreds of young people from other colleges will attend at some work done in our University. The advantages that have been offered have been greatly appreciated by the teachers in attendance, having had scores of the library and instruments through the agency of the well equipped chemical and physical laboratories in the school taught. Instruction has been given by specialists from the different departments of the United States and from the principal of the normal school, aided by several instructors near to attention.

A big falling also to the session, as gathering was place late afternoon, at which one several speakers and charade were present. The program included addresses by Professor Stewart, Professor Kingsbury, Professor Winship and Robert Stewart, who responded to the work of the session, the spirit and scope, and also as the aims and results of values and free association.

Notes From Kane County.

GRAMPIANS, Kane Co., Utah, July 14, 1896.

To the Editor:

I thought a line from our little village might not be amiss. Our little burg is located in the northwest corner of Kane county, just over the line from Garfield county. We are surrounded by high hills covered with dwarf cedar and pine. I hardly know how to describe our situation better unless I quote from a letter given by a citizen of one of our sister towns at a Pioneer celebration a few years ago referring to the town in which he lived in said: "Clarksville among the hills, people industrious and are no silly, they take no medicine but Johnson's pills."

Our climate is cool, the season late, far has been dry and windy, but hay crop is good but other crops rather light.

Our village is small and inhabitants few but we have many of the conveniences enjoyed by larger towns, viz., day and Sunday schools for the children, Sunday meetings for all, as well as other organizations for the instruction of the young.

We also have a semi-weekly mail which brings us the DESERET NEWS regularly. I have been a continuous subscriber to it for years but some will show for nearly forty years and have not become tired of it yet. When the political storm burst upon our people, quite a few thought they would give up the NEWS and subscribe for some other paper that was more radical or had more light in it, but the more sensible ones were tired of that and came back to the NEWS again. My sentiments and views so accord with those expressed in its columns that I can't feel like I could do without it, and while there is so much lurking for this issue, that and the other, I say success for the old DESERET NEWS, which has so nobly defended our rights and has visited our homes constantly for nearly half a century.

By the by we have some to the part of the country but a few more families if there are any who are tired of hustle and city life and would like to retire where they would not see or be seen very often.

Yours truly, SIDEY.

Assignment of Madame Lamb.

"Open at 10 o'clock Saturday, J. W. Hoaglin, assignee," was the legend borne by a card that was hung on the door of the millinery establishment of Madame Lamb, 55 East Temple street this afternoon. The assignment deed was not filed up to 3 o'clock, and Mr. Hoaglin, who was interviewed, said he would give no particulars except what that instrument contained. It was in response to a call with that date after press time. Hard times and crowding creditors caused the assignment.

Idaho Notes.

RAYMOND SP., Visher P. O., Idaho, July 11, 1896.

To the Editor:

Just, in this part of the country, was a fine grain growing month, the weather being favorable in every respect. Hay is exceedingly good.

The Teton flows at this season of the year, is a beautiful valley, the tiling is exceedingly fertile, which gives the valley a pleasing appearance.

The water has been very high and still holds quite an unusual height for this season of the year.

Large banks of snow are still visible in the mountains, which is an assurance of plenty of water for a second crop of alfalfa.

The Teton Mining company came into the Teton on the 4th of June, with twenty men and thirty mules, a new twenty-five horsepower boiler and engine and saw mill, and Wheel scrapers for handling gravel. The power will also be used for hydraulic mining. Altogether the company has a fine outfit, and they mean business. We may look for some good results from the efforts of the company in extracting the floor gold.

The summer outfit of the Driggs Mercantile Co., came into the town on the 10th of June. The mill was purchased of the Salt Lake Implement company of Idaho Falls. The outfit consisted of a thirty-horse power boiler and engine and a complete sawmill. We think the owners deserve to be encouraged, it is a good step towards the building up of this valley.

A local and saloon have been built at Reymond. That place is getting a good share of the emigration that is coming into this valley this season.

There are also a considerable number of families going to Jackson's valley. This valley is worthy of the attention of home seekers. I will give the readers of the NEWS a brief description in my next communication.

The Fourth passed off quietly and was celebrated in true ranch style, horse racing, fiddling, looking horses and other amusements, with a dance at night. No drunkenness or rowdyism, which is the proper way to celebrate the great national day.

NE PLUS ULTRA.

Information Wanted.

Chief Pratt is in receipt of a letter from Frank Willy, Atlanta, Ga., in which he asks for information as to the present address of W. and D. Lamb, who left England in 1880 for this city. Their relatives in the Old World are extremely anxious to hear of their whereabouts, as is also Mr. Willy, who would be pleased to receive such information.

The latest Salt Lake directory chronicles the names of Richard and Thomas Lamph, the former residing at 535 West Tabernacle street, the latter at 215 Greater avenue. There is a William Lamph, who is Bishop of Cache Valley and came to this country about 1860, who may be one of the parties inquired after.

THE GREEN BAG.

Mr. Dickson occupied the day before Judge Ritchie arguing in the Geyser-Marion case.

Two teams, five tear belonging to Gerard the dynamite crew were taken to Calder's park this afternoon.

Henry H. Harris yesterday entered suit against T. C. Paine to secure payment of $6,100 on a promissory note.

The State land board met in executive session today, but there was no information ready for publication as yet.

Fifteen of the city's prisoners were today weeding the lawn at the jail building. They were under the charge of Guards Bergstrom and Jim Williams.

The Fixed Furniture company today filed suit against the receivers of the Union Pacific railway to recover $10,000 damages to three car loads of furniture transported over the defendant railway company's line.

The Conglomerate Mining company of Colorado today filed with the county clerk a transcript of its articles of incorporation. The capital stock is $1,000,000 and the incorporators are Henry Mosby, Pennington M. McLean and Wm. McGee.

All the evidence on both sides of the Geyser-Marion mining case is in and the arguments commenced today. The lawyers will probably occupy five or six days in presenting their briefs and then it will take Judge Ritchie before Judge Bilicke can give out his decision, which will be looked for with interest.

Newly-elected school trustees filed their bonds with the county clerk yesterday as follows: District 22, Andrew Helm, with Joseph A. Wright as a surety; District 23, Andrew Helm and Joseph R. Cutlidge as sureties; J. R. Cutlidge, with J. A. Wright and Andrew Helm as sureties. Each bond is in the sum of $500.

DOUBTFUL TOO FAR AWAY.

EDWARD MARTIN'S WEARING HIS WAY DOWN IN THE MOUTH AS HE SETTLES FOR 10.

Edward Martin's wife died five months ago, at the age of twenty-one years, leaving a little boy to care for, says the New York World. The child was a weakling from birth, and his mother's death left the small shadow to live. Edward Martin was out of work when the baby boy was born. He lived in a wretched room at No. 324 East One Hundred and Forty-fifth street.

Day after day he tramped among employers and pleaded for Martin's child while the latter went in search of work. The mothers who had a dozen fine babies whose pile lack in part the pleas of a mother's love.

Day after day, however, the puny baby grew weaker and thinner. He was all Martin had in the world. The latter loved the little boy and would not keep him with him. On Saturday, July 11, the boy was very ill. He lay fluttering painfully, his eyes dilated, and only their white were visible, his little fists clenched in agony, his body wet with cold perspiration.

"He will die," said the foster mothers who had assumed their knowledge of domestic medicine.

"He will not!" exclaimed the father. He took up the boy, wrapped him in a blanket and hurried to the Lenox hospital at One Hundred and Fifty-third street and Third avenue.

There the anxious Martin unwrapped the little bundle he carried. The house physician examined the child.

"I can not carry for you, my man," said the physician. "Your child has gastritis and is very ill. I could live some here, for this hospital does not admit patients under six years old."

"Why?" stammered Martin, looking down on his boy. "You can't take him in?"

"You might go to the superintendent's office of the post, at Eleventh street and Third avenue," answered the doctor. "Take it to a Bellevue hospital," and he gave the addresses of several such institutions.

Martin walked out, muttering, "Eleventh street and Third avenue." He had not a penny in his pocket. He determined to walk, and set out. Every now and then he would stop and look at the baby's face, for he lay so still, his little, wasted body was so light that the father feared he was dead. Once, as he stopped, Martin says, a young woman who were mourning went up to him and looked at the pale, quiet baby.

"He's very ill, ma'am," said Martin, "I'm taking him to the hospital."

The woman in mourning began to weep and hurried away.

Martin wanted her as the Morrisania street station. He stopped and put his ear to the baby's little breast. He could scarcely hear his heart's faint fluttering. He went into the station house and laid the baby on the desk. Sergeant Jones looked up.

"I'm afraid," he said, with moist eyes and quivering lip, "I'm afraid I will not get to Eleventh street and Third avenue in time."

Jones glanced at the baby, jumped up and said a hurry call was sent to Lenox from Patsanas hospital. The baby was put to bed there in a Bloomdale cab.

"Keep up a good heart," said the doctor to Martin. "Come to see the child. Come here tomorrow."

So Martin went to the hospital night and early yesterday.

"How's the boy?" he eagerly asked the doctor.

"He's dead."

HIS PAPA'S BUSINESS.

THE DOCTOR'S SIGN ADVERTISED IT IN A VERY STRIKING WAY.

It is a peculiar belief among the youngsters of many families that the new baby sister of brother is the gracious gift of the family physician, and this belief is generally based upon the solemn assurance of pops and mamma, who have to tell some fairy story in order to hide over those events that occur occasionally to the best regulated families.

Now and then a boy takes the law into his own hands and makes a mess of it. An instance of this kind was raised at the last meeting of the medical society.

It seems that the young son of a well known merchant and the young son of a well known doctor were very chummy, and the former recommended the latter as a statesman on an advertising expedition. The advertising was done by means of a paint brush being splashed liberally over any vacant piece of wood of those encountered, and called upon the male population to purchase their trousers from Brown. Well, in the evening the doctor's boy not returned, and his paternal derivative asked him what he had been doing during the day.

"Advertisin'," quoth the boy.

"Advertising whom?" inquired the father.

"You and Mr. Brown, the merchant."

"How?"

"Why,"

"How did you advertise me?"

"Why, we fixed up a sign 'cost $2.50.'"

STOCKS AND MARKETS.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Stock market opened irregular with changes little. Some old active industrial issues, sugars and Southern railroads were the most active in trading during the hours taken up in London and continuance of large gold engagements for export.

After noon although the market became dull, sugars and Southern railroads were and lower were moved considerably in the net case to the Post. The decline was attributed to small sales for foreign account and pressure by bear traders. Appreciable advances during the afternoon were made in the early hours but gains were lost. Government, Pacific and Southern advanced 1/2 from the low points.

Nearly after 3 o'clock a slight concession occurred but another upward move was started and continued to the close. Sugar advanced at the opening in consequence of Havemeyer's purchase of 1,000 shares, but the effect of reducing business materially, however.

SYRUP of FIGS

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which could before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly relieves. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which produces internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well informed, everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, obtained the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., drank liberally from them, became discouraged, but was induced only slightly more promising, but left sore and lame as ever. I was bent and crippled, my joints were drawn and of shape, the muscles being twisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was reduced, by the disease, that I could not live. The pain, at times, was so awful, that I could scarcely bear it, and by means of hypodermic injections of morphine, I had to have temporary relief, to enhance, to problem, but the pain only temporary relief. After trying everything and suffering the most intense agonies, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 185 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad track walker."
