He who furnishes the Public with a Labor Saving Machine should be highly esteemed for his works' sake.

PATENTED JAN. 1st., 1884.

THE GREAT OBJECT REACHED AT LAST.

THE PUBLIC HAVE LONG NEEDED A pump simple in its construction, durable, cheap and not liable to get out of order. This desideratum H. M. Wyeth of Salt Lake City, Utah, has (after many years of experience) attained by inventing and patenting a Double Acting Anti-Freezing Force Pump. So simple in its construction that any person of ordinary mechanical genius can make it. Every farm or dwelling should be supplied with one or more for house use or for watering stock, gardens, yards or protecting buildings from fire, and it is warranted not to freeze in the coldest weather.

There is a general and increasing demand for pumps, and it is believed that this pump will ultimately take the place of all others in the market. Its manufacture and sale offer the best inducements to industrious persons for a continued and lucrative business and the broadest margin for safe investments and profitable speculation of any invention extant.

Any parties wishing to travel with a good pleasant and paying business in any part of the United States are invited to call on or address H. M. WYETH, Salt Lake City, Utah.
