SUGGESTED CHANGES FOR THE EXCHANGE

Pay-Day at the Mercur and Geyser-Marion Mines—Satisfactory Settlement—Getting Out Anthony.

A page will taken was this curbed inc effect by the Exchange governing board, when it changed the hour of meeting from 11 o'clock to 10:30. The new order was announced to the meeting and it worked admirably. Although six or seven hours are in all when the mines become fully acquainted with the situation. The call was another of those "first summers" to much spoken of, and when the brokers left the pit shortly after twelve, the record showed sales of 17,000 shares with a selling value of $10,610.

Now that the Exchange has a fully authoritative governing board, and one which believes in supporting mining, there is a good chance, perhaps it would not be amiss to suggest a change in the rules. The Exchange is now considered a prominent broker, who suggested this morning that a raised platform be provided for the president, so that he could always be at the command and so located as to make possible a good view of the blackboard all the time. As it is now, said the gentleman, the newspaper boys are not in great demand because dodging around the table are and standing on seats the men are many guess in order to see the figures as they are posted on the board, while on top it is difficult for the president to a seat, as well occupied by others are those intended for members of the press. Another suggestion made by the gentleman was that the Exchange employ a stenographer to take a record of every transaction and hold it off as it occurs. In this way, said he, no mistakes will be made, and each broker will be bound to live up to his contract, because the Exchange will then be able to keep a long file record of each day's proceedings.

Also was the initial order on the call, the stock handing out 100 shares at 50 cents a share. This came a little interest in the latter stock, and after which Four Aces was tackled and made transfers at figures ranging from 8½ to 11½ cents, while the closing bid was the first quoted. In Geyser-Marion trading was quite spirited at a stiff figure there being sales of the stock as high as 92 cents and a standing demand for it at 88. Mammoth was also in good tone and took part quite trading, while Lower Mammoth, Northern Light and Sunshine all responded to the day's business, each finding takers at satisfactory quotations.

Pursuing stocks of a lower order, Alice created a surprise by coming out as a seller at 85 cents, and was followed by business in Dalton, Dexter, Eagle and Blue Bell and several others, all of which received favorable recognition and did much to swell the tones of the day.

The banner stock, however, was Little Pittsburg, whose advance was notoriety and whose selling tendency was almost without bounds. Starting with transfers at 12 cents, the stock steadily rose in the bidding until 17 cents was the figure reached, at which point trading ceased after upwards of 1,000 shares had found takers. The stock closed with a bid of 16½ cents and offerings at the highest selling figure. Following this animation there was a good volume of business in Sunbeam, while South Swansea made transfers at good figures, and Star Consolidated, Valeo and Wachusett added their names to the list of sellers.

The closing figures were as follows:
