BEATEN TO DEATH BY HER FATHER.

New York Replacement Coaling Home—Advices from the Orient—Massacred by Indians—Highbinder Murder.

The corpse of Sam Sudrovsky Parsagian is in such another chance to show his ability as master mechanic in the coroner's office which also was built, and now is his turn, and, for the trial, he is to decide as to the boat's speed. He also has accepted orders to be in charge when on land. On his trial he stated was impeded by the obstruction in the water, parts of it being made and by the stiff brush, which revolved during the first half of her run.

The Pacific Mail steamer Peking, which sailed Tuesday, arrived in port yesterday, after a long and stormy voyage. She will make the run up to Alaska. She will take a cargo of coal for her bunkers, and will be towed to her moorings.

The coroner's inquest over the remains of Lillian Brandon, the 13-year-old girl who was supposed to have committed suicide by hanging at Berkeley, on last Saturday, resulted in a verdict charging her father with the murder, and adding that he was insane at the time of the crime. The evidence tended to show that the child had been beaten to death and hanged to a hook post. Dr. Lorenzo Lewis, who made the post-mortem examination for the coroner, testified that the child had been beaten to death and hanged to a hook post. Dr. Lewis
