HYRUM.

Women's Relief Society Celebration—Ode to the Acts of Philanthropy.

Special Correspondence.

Hyrum, May 13.—On Tuesday, May 9th, the Relief society held their thirty-ninth anniversary celebration. The meeting was held at 2 p. m. A large number of ladies were present. Mrs. Lucy Cardon, Stake president, Messrs. Barker, Allen and Jones of Logan were present. A fine program was rendered, interspersed with speeches from the visitors.

President Cardon advised the sisters to be kind to the strangers who only come among us should they need food or shelter, remembering our own sons, brothers and husbands who were in the missionary field, using judgment and prudence, but never turn a person from our doors, since the Lord has given us a home.

Mrs. Amos spoke of her visit to the boy, Conley, in Logan county jail. She and sister Widdison had attended the funeral of the young man, Kill, who had committed suicide a few days before, and on returning home she remembered that both Conley and Kill's parents were dead, and what good people they had been. Mrs. Amos asked her companion, "Have we done our duty to this boy, our dead sister's children? I'm afraid not."

Mrs. Amos read her ode to the sons, on tomorrow and visit this poor orphan boy in prison. She continued: We met with a prayerful heart, and we felt the spirit of the Lord and talked with him. Conley wept like a child. We spoke to him of his dead parents here. He said, "I have felt I had not a friend in the world. No one thought of me. I prayed earnestly last Sunday morning as my knees ached for help to be a better boy, and now you have come with sweet words of comfort and cheer to me, and I will be better." He promised to leave off bad habits and be a good boy in the future.

Mrs. Amos said that they had felt blessed in their visit and more than that, felt prompted to pass on and say, "Take not a great responsibility out somewhere, does it not rest on you, or our sons? Look around and see if any of our sons are being neglected at home, while we are casting monuments all over the earth. Steps are taken for the honor and the young people's societies to do.

The women of Hyrum are kind to the sick and poor. They have some valuable real estate in Main street, which Lyle Hatch, of Wheelwright hand, and others have an empty treasury.

PAYSON.

May-Day Festival for the Children—Crop Prospects Good.

Special Correspondence.

Payson, Utah, May 11.—Payson observed the May Day on the 10th. The children were out in their best in large numbers, holiday apparel, with their parents and friends in their carriages and on their mounts. The program in the forenoon consisted of a parade, followed by the address of welcome explained the substance of the proceedings of the day. The chief sacrifice was the election of a queen, resulting the May pole in the days of Charles II, King of England, music and could singing followed.

The afternoon was devoted to racing and sport. A very exciting game of ball was played in the afternoon between the Athletics by one score.

The evening ball was a great success. The prospects of the fruit are bright, farming is the chief topic just now. Stock and sheep are doing fine. There have been some lambs among the latter during the recent storms.

Lose Among the Flocks—Jail Breakers Captured—Ward Conferences.

Special Correspondence.

Price, Carbon Co., Utah, May 10.—The weather is somewhat stale, but warm, everything is growing nicely.

Sheepmen report considerable loss among their flocks, during the late cold weather, especially in the Gordon and Nelson Brothers of Monroe, is going to collect a book account. As defendant made no appearance, and having filed any answer, motion or demurrer herein, plaintiff took judgment by default in the amount of $189.82 with costs amounting to $17.75.

EXEMPTION RIGHTS DEFINED.

The remainder of Judge McCarty's time for the day was occupied in hearing the case of Baker vs Cross.

After testimony was all in and arguments of counsel made, the court announced his decision, by rendering judgment against Sheriff Cross for damages in the amount of two cents, and enjoining the defendant from selling the sheriff's sale and certificate thereof, and declaring them null and void by the sheriff to be a homestead of plaintiff and therefore exempt from levy and sale under execution, considering the fact that no one given by plaintiff, upon which judgment was being enforced by execution, stated upon the fact that the maker waived all exemption rights.

As the Consolidated Implement company is the real party in interest in this case, it will in all probability be carried to the Supreme Court, as defendants ask and have granted ninety days in which to file notice of intention to move for a new trial.

BEFORE JUDGE HIGGINS.

Judge Higgins' time was occupied during the week day in hearing testimony in the damage suit of Lambson vs Monroe Irrigation company et al. The case has been before the court two full days now, and the testimony is about finished.

Court adjourned to 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Double Session of District Court—Closing Exercises of District Schools.

Richfield, May 13th, 1899.

To the Editor:

There was held a double session of the district court here today. Hon. F. W. Higgins, judge of the court of Lincoln vs the Monroe Irrigation company et al, and Hon. Wm. H. McCarty the case C. W. Cullen vs James Butler.

The former case is one for damages caused by plaintiff's land by an overflow of defendant's canal, and was tried before Judge McCarty some two years ago and terminated in favor of defendants, from which decision plaintiff appealed to the Supreme Court and obtained a reversal of the case and an order for a new trial.

The question involved in the case of Baker vs Cross is that of homestead exemption. A judgment was rendered some time ago against plaintiff and in favor of the Consolidated Implement company, and Sheriff Cross sold the grain of land in question to satisfy said judgment. Plaintiff now claims that the land was exempt from execution on the ground that he is the head of a family, though an unmarried man, on account of his having to support his aged mother.

In both of these cases the testimony was heard in part yesterday and will be completed today.

BURIAL OF MRS. ANNIE ANDERSON.

There was buried here yesterday Mrs. Annie Anderson Thomson, an old lady of years old last December.

Deceased was a native of Sweden and came to Utah with her husband and sailed in 1861. Her husband died soon after their arrival in Salt Lake City, when she with her children moved here to Richfield.

Deceased leaves three children surviving her.

The public schools of this city held their closing exercises at Andersen Hall today. The school board and many patrons of the school were present to witness the exhibition of the progress and awarding of certificates of promotion.

The grades of our school have been well attended all the year—coming from four to five hundred pupils, while the enrollment in the high school has been about forty-eight.

The school as a whole under the able principalship of Prof. Jos. Ballif has passed a very successful year, and most of the present corps of teachers will be re-engaged for next year.

The graduates from the eighth grades throughout the county will hold their commencement exercises in the Opera House here next Friday evening.

Hon. F. W. McDonald of this city is to make the address to the graduates.

VERNAL.

Discovery Flat—Some Victims of Whooping-cough—Business Brisk.

Special Correspondence.

Vernal, Utah, May 12.—Yesterday a haystack of about 20 tons belonging to Mr. Hill Whipple was burned. Mr. Whipple was burning weeds and rubbish and the wind carried the fire to the stack. Before assistance could be rendered the entire stack was in flames and the most one thread to have during the afternoon and night. The loss is a heavy one from the same cause this spring.

WHOOPING COUGH STILL EPIDEMIC.

Three deaths from whooping-cough is the record for this week so far. Mr. Gus Gibbs buried one child this week and this morning Mrs. Ashby's little boy died. James Mitchell also lost one yesterday and two or three to the same vicinity are in a dangerous condition. The epidemic has claimed more victims in this county this winter among children and adults than all other diseases put together. The most of them have suffered alike. The subject of warm weather doesn't seem to have any effect upon the disease, and as there are more deaths now than during the cold weather.

Horses are doing especially well, considerably more than half the colts have been dropped, but no sales are recorded yet. The sheepmen are busily engaged in shearing.

Bishop Davis and Wm. Withuck are in from Diamond Fork today on P. V.

Mr. Elias Beadle is an outgoing passenger on today's stage.

POCATELLO, IDAHO.

Fine Church Building and Other Improvements—The Tramp Nuisance.

Pocatello, Idaho, May 13, 1899.—In traveled north I noticed that ample time, since the last report, had been given hay to the late heavy frost. The farmers are jubilant and are breaking up more land than ever before.

Pocatello looks much more in spring than it did in winter, although there are many signs of the hard times in lawns and paint more all over town. Lots of the opinion that hardly a little of all kinds will be seen this year.

New business and residence buildings are going up in the town, and a substantial material and the days of the lumber and paper shacks are forever gone.

Among the new buildings is the new Protestant Episcopal church which was dedicated April 9, 1899, by bishop Leonard. The building cost $1,800, and is a great credit to the labors of the Rev. Mr. Ingle, the rector, who has edifice been here two and a half years. The former church was an old lumber shack. The new church was the meeting ing so on the street mill. The Deseret News kindly noticed our little enterprise, and we thank them for the time. Now it is finished, and I have just returned from Salt Lake City, where I went to attend the church. In and we what we have done. I did so and found the church inside very nice indeed. Mrs. Ingle presided in the tender and good taste, and justly proud of his work, and is very popular with all classes of people.

Preparations are being made for a proper celebration of Decoration day, on the 30th instant, which is Tuesday. I and every lodge known to creation flourishes in this town.

Footed and not our Night should be called Bitte Chicago, for it is a very windy city. The wind blowth where it listeth, and it listeth here every day.

THE TRAMP PROBLEM.

The tramp nuisance is a horrible horror. Fifty to seventy-five a day is the average number of the gentlemen who are upon bread. The gentry of the road nearly, without exception, are the spring chicken of the road. Last week a young boy had a leg and yesterday a man was killed falling under the spring. Yet there is no time in sight, but when it comes, a large number of young boys are found among them, also young children. Tramps are between twenty and thirty-five much better able to work than many from whom we hear the cry of hard times. Probably disposed to the poor and unfortunate, there should be some means adopted to secure a collection public for a fund of grain, tie and tat, lazy, hulking fellows.

FRANKLIN, IDAHO.

Contract Let for a $12,000 School House—Other Business Items.

Special Correspondence.

Franklin, Oneida County, Idaho, May 11, 1899.—The contract for building our new high school house has been let to Mr. Thomas Nelson, of Salt Lake City, for $12,000. The unit of the heating of the school is 12,000, which is not the cost of the building, as Mr. Nelson is to pay the difference. Mr. Nelson is a Mormon, and he will be this year board to take 200. The house is to be ready for occupation the last of August next.

The Cache Mercantile Union is not going yet. Offers have been made but were considered too low.

The Franklin Flying Elder Isaac H. Nash, delivered a lecture before the company meeting of the mutuals in the Mormon and Christian of the Welsh people.

Peter Sorenson and Margaret E. Minor were married in the Logan Temple last week.

Today about half past two o'clock, the chimney of the Oneida Mill Fuel company was blown down, caused by a strong gale coming through the end, and it is supposed that the chimney was unsafe. The citizens, both men and women, worked like beavers to subdue the flames and succeeded in saving the building, but little else. Considerable damage was done to furniture by moving it out. Insured for $1,000 on building between $1,800 and $1,500. No insurance.

Some sickness prevails here. Mrs. Lucy Mitchell is very low with a fever. Whooping cough among children is also prevalent.

Farmers have nearly all their crops in. Fall wheat looks well, but not much damaged by frost. Prospects for dry farming good, weather getting a little warmer.

BAKER, NEVADA.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Lucinda Wilson—Southern Silver Creek.

Special Correspondence.

Baker, Nevada, May 11.—Mrs. Lucinda Wilson Brothers, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Miller on Silver Creek, White Pine co., Nevada, on May 1, 1899. She died very suddenly last Sunday morning while dressing to go to the south and dry tools came to a sore suddenly that ever.

Here in Lake Town the grain crops are about all in and the "spring" are being planted and showers appear another year D. V. of prospering of the right idea for our good people. The health of Lake Town is good, the weather is all that we could ask for, though rather breezy. Our cows take on a good deal of exercise to repair to be hot in peaceful waters.

The roads are getting in good condition, and the prospect is that "Lake" of produce is being hauled to Evanston, Bonneville and Kemmerer from our Lake Town. Our farmers are doing the business and dairy and stock raising business better prices than in several years to come. Butter brought from ten to twelve cents per pound. Oats and potatoes are in good demand and being prices. Potatoes are in demand and are the Abraham's seed, so numerous that no man can count them. The Jackson Hole Hay Ranch is in demand and if any gets unmolested it will be because mathematics fail. Lambing is in full blast and the prospect is good. Shearing—then wool—comes next, or other of the C. O. D. This will make up for the losses of the poor unfortunate repair.

Little Bound Valley wool shearers are doing fine work. The Bound Valley Incorporated Last week make the style of the Cottonwood Water & Reservoir company.

Messrs. James Knerl and George and Amos Bailey are in for Bonneville and Mr. N. Bailey secretary and treasurer.

David J. Knerl was elected as waterbailiff for Lake Town on Saturday last.

Mrs. Nancy B. Franklin, Blake president of the Lake Town Ward, died suddenly, unannounced and unexpected, and was laid away with services as follows: Prayer by Bishop Wm. Withuck, speakers, Misses S. A. Widdison and L. Weston, secretary, and treasurer, Misses J. A. Lambson and M. J. Knerl respectively.

Special Blake Miss—Mary James Quinn, of Provo, died Friday morning, after a long and painful illness—lung—lung—lung—lung among our people. This good old sister was a great sufferer, and died in the way of filling his mission—mission to all the towns, Salt Lake City, Provo, and Kamas, and Lake Town. Her life was cut short by the cruel hand of death, and died without pain and sorrow, and died in doing a good work, to the regret of her family, the Bishop presidency and the benefit of all among whom she labors.

For the Boudoir, the breakfast, dinner or supper table—for any occasion where good tea is wanted, try the best that comes in packages.
