NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Case in Which Truth is Far Stranger Than Fiction.

A BREWERY BURNED DOWN.

The Tricks of a Gambling Man Create a Stir at Napa, California.

The Nevada Brewery at Nevada city was burned late yesterday. The loss is estimated at $6,000; insurance $2,000.

Eureka (Nevada) Sentinel: Monday morning Nick Rosin came down and brought a bronco in Water canyon, Newark valley. While down the horse stiffened violently and kicked Rosin in the face, stalling him under the eyebrow and literally tearing his nose to pieces.

Andy Johnson confessed to pay his fare to Condumer Pearce of the City Cable company on a grip car at Denver on Monday night and first was a row. Johnson shot twice at the conductor without effect. A man named Harris was grazed by one of the bullets and lost the top of an ear. Johnson was arrested.

One of the fine properties in Spences camp, Gunnison county, Colo., says the Denver News, is the Superior lying now down very low. At a depth of thirty feet the vein was four feet in width, but in the last ten feet an enormous body of ore was encountered, the vein now averaging four feet, the assaying about $100 rock, although pieces assay have yielded upwards of $2,000. The new stamp mill has commenced operations.

The Cheyenne Leader says: From the office of the director of internal revenue it is learned that the sale of the new revenue stamps for playing cards, authorized by the Wilson bill, footed up 130,741 for the six rest of Wyoming and Wyoming on October 1. Since that time a great many must have been sold and it is not improbable that by January 1, 1895, the total sales will amount to 10,000. As each stamp costs 1 2 cents, the government has already realized $2,000 from this source.

The Silver State (Nevada) says: A man who was trading his way over the road was run over and killed at Golconda yesterday morning by a freight train. Coroner Grimes went up to Golconda and held an inquest on the remains, the jury finding that the man's name was Charles Wallace, aged about fifty years, and was a painter by trade. Papers found on his person showed him to have been a member in good standing of Kelly's Industrial army.

Deputy Sheriff Hickman, says the Napa Courier, made a very clever capture of a horse thief the other night in the arrest of one Martin, who claims to hail from Iowa. In the early part of last June Martin was working on a ranch in Tuolumne county and stole a horse, saddle and revolver from Owen Bennins, of Vernon. He came to this county and went to work for Painter Bros. herding sheep. He came to town Tuesday to get his money for his summer's work, but was spotted by the ever-watchful Hickman. He had all the property in his possession when arrested.

Several of the merchants and the proprietor at a leading hotel at Napa, Cal., are regretting confidence misplaced in a man calling himself Dr. Fraser, who came here last May and representing himself as from the University of London. He bought liberally but paid sparingly and went away without settling the talkaway one. The hotel proprietor made a complaint and he has been arrested in Sacramento. He here recommendations which gave him standing, and one night he lectured in one of the leading churches here on "Cannibalism as it Exists Today," and by his talk created a very favorable impression.

James Harris and Mrs. Helen Thurman were married at Applegate, in Josephine county, Or., on Sunday. Twenty-eight years ago Harris and Mrs. Thurman's stepfather owned adjoining claims on Rogue creek, in that county. Harris and the young girl married. A few months later the men quarreled, and Arnold, the stepfather induced Harris's wife to leave him. The following day Harris killed Arnold and then left the country. A few years later his wife sued a divorce and married Charles Thurman. Several years ago Thurman died, and soon after Harris returned to Jacksonville county. He was immediately arrested, tried and convicted of the murder of Arnold. Mrs. Thurman became interested in him and visited him often. After he had served two years in the penitentiary she succeeded in securing his pardon, which was favorably acted upon by G. V. Pennoyer. Soon after Harris was given his liberty he and his former wife remarried.

The Sunny Side.

Every one knows what a peculiar charm is and what a healthful influence it has. Why, during the war two men shot in precisely the same way would be brought into a hospital. One man placed on the northern side of the house would get well; the other on the northern side would die. Doctors all agreed that the sunny side was the healthier.—Philadelphia Ledger.
