NEWS OF THE WEST.

A Hungarian Caught in a Mass of Flames.

CLUBBED BY A POLICEMAN.

Rolling Dust in San Francisco—Onions in Demand for Sheep Market—Such for a Reservation.

The Pocatello, Idaho, Tribune has come to us as a daily paper with Associated Press telegraph service. It is a spry, well-written journal.

The San Francisco relief society has issued its report for the past year, which shows that the organization has relieved in the past year 1,811 families, 4,439 persons, 3,[illegible] meals, 3,[illegible] pair of shoes, and has disbursed $125 in groceries.

Many of the citizens of Spokane, Wash., who made a rush in the south of Idaho, by way of the Oxville reservation, are returning home one by one, to—angry disgusted that the reservation was not opened. Among the choice locations taken down on the old Indian burial ground, that pressers think is very dim.

Mrs. Anna C. Watson died at her home in San Francisco, Sunday, at 9:30, from the effects of a bow-legged wooden-eye swallowed Friday morning while suffering from melancholia. Work scarcely more than a year and Mrs. Watson was confined in Napa asylum, but was pronounced cured and discharged about nine years ago. She has been married about a year and a half.

A Chicago live stock man says "Western and eastern markets are receiving their last one of hogs for this season and European hogs have sent all trade markets, leaving our packers compelled to prematurely supply the world with hog products this year. I think by only moderate receipts for some time to come and expect to see still higher prices, as the hogs are in stronger hands and farmers want to hold them so as to get rid of their corn."

Omaha Stockman, March 16: "From present indications, the supply of western sheep will be beyond all previous records. Nebraska is feeding 300,000, Montana 350,000, and Colorado, Utah and Idaho will show a decrease. There is no danger of a famine in sheep as at spring. Should the sheep find market in a constant stream, it may not affect prices, but if they are put upon the market in a hurry, they probably will go to market with the cars to stream. Owing to the cheapness of feed this year, it is quite evident sheep will be fed to a finish."

Mrs. Ira Tucker, wife of the oldest voter on the great region of Monterey county, Cal., was dangerously burned at her home at Salinas, Cal., Saturday night. The old lady, who, on last Saturday, will be 90 years of age, was sitting near an open grate, when her skirt caught fire, and since her whole body was one mass of flames, she was alone in the room, and not a cot been of the timely interference of members of the family the unfortunate woman would have been burned to death. As it was, she was so badly burned that it may yet cause her death. The face and hands are badly burned, and the victim is now suffering from nervous prostration and from the effects of the burns.

An unknown man lies in a cell in the Oakland, Cal., police in a partly unconscious condition from a severe clubbing received at the hands of Police Officer B. R. Phillips. Hitfelow is twice warned the police that the health officer says he will recover. The man was placed under arrest on Washington street by Phillips and Hellman, and, in leaving the station, he struck Officer Hellman a blow on the left side of the head, and then ran down Sixth street, and it was after he was found the street station that the clubbing took place. Phillips and Hellman say that it was necessary to club him to be taken violently, but William Hindmann, a contractor, who lives at the Carlton house, and S. Bezer, an Elmhurst blacksmith, stand ready to prefer charges against the officer. Not one has been able to identify the man as he has not sufficiently recovered to tell his name.

ABOUT THE YOUNG FOLKS.

A Correspondent's Timely Thoughts and Exhortations Regarding Responsibility of Older Folks.

PAROWAN, March 14, 1897.

To the Editor:

"Is it after the young," was the astonishing heading to an editorial in the last NEWS to hand. How do we receive it? Do we as a people fully sense the importance attached to the meaning of those essential, timely words? Are we fathers and mothers really doing our utmost towards making brighter and better the present generation? As one of the Apostles, Elder Cannon, recently remarked in a sermon, though we are not sure of a state of perfection in our offering, (since we we will, yet we are assured—an improvement if we watch, pray and work constantly for the weal as the spirits the Father has intrusted to our care; and every Latter-day Saint has a knowledge of the responsibility he or she is under if the moral and religious training of our children is neglected. Aye, truly the officers of our Church representations have—since I veneraged them. What work is there from which one can realize greater satisfaction, than showing to the sons and daughters of our fellow creatures the ways to be pursued in order to enjoy a more perfect state of existence? Methinks a course like this is akin to Christ's mission during his sojourn here. Of course we are not put in the troubles of this world's affection, but the joy the world cannot, otherwise make. Willing be impertinable reward, of labor well used; no remorse of a lost one, but a dying assurance that the world was better for our having lived in it.

Our Mutual Improvement association now does a exceptionally good work this winter, yet we, like other wards, have our way wards ones, that seems impossible to reach through the channel. Yet we have an organization of the most praiseworthy aims and magnificent story. Cross and stay are controlled at least within the meeting sections of the Parowan Central society. Much has the current truly one been verified by the chairmen, G. W. Dozier, assistant superintendent, and Frank J. Wendell, one of the teachers of the class, are the creators and conductors of this society. They have a number of efficient aids, and the Bishop with his influence at the helm. Free of the remoteness members are instructed in the rudiments of music. It reflects, making influence, one given a trend beyond all expectation, and I hear those many voices of all social grades assumed in some place of church music, the can not help feeling that the manner of "feeling after the young" is surely having a bend-my towards weaving the corners of hearts of our "rough diamonds," which we know they will be more easily reached, and let more Bible material for use in our Church organization.

The greatest calamity that ever happened our young people in the vicinity of our ward was the early sale of Marion H. Dozier and Jane Jones by those who appreciated that soul-reaching sentiment, "Feel after the young."

Juarez Stake Conference.

COLONIA JUAREZ, Mexico, March 7, 1897.—The quarterly conference of the Juarez Stake of Zion was held at Colonia Juarez, commencing Monday morning, February 22, 1897, at 10 o'clock, President Anthony W. Ivins presiding. Teets were also present: The General Church authorities Elders Jacob Henry Smith and Heber J. Grant, the Twelve Apostles, to the local authorities, Stake Counselors Henry Eyring and Rosmus Frost, Patriarch Henry Lunt and Winnem R. H. Stewart, high Counselors and alliance of the various wards.

President Ivins, in reporting the Stake, said the condition of the Saints in Mexico is an evidence that the Lord has been exceedingly kind to us. The recent visit of the government colony inspector was he of great value to our colonies with the government, for he was exceedingly pleased with the progress made and went away with good wishes for the continued prosperity of our people. President Ivins was thankful for the high moral standing of the people throughout the Stake, and believes their was less profanity and a closer observance to the law of tithing and the Word of Wisdom than in any Stake of Zion he has ever visited.

Elders Jacob Henry Smith and Heber J. Grant expressed pleasure in the report of President Ivins and the excellent condition of the Stake. Exhorted the Saints to faithfulness, a life powerful and offering faithfulness to the work of God.

The spirit of the Lord was poured on in rich abundance and the many congregations were united to testify.

During the conference the general and Stake authorities were present, and unanimously sustained. Sunday morning was given up to the regular session of the Sunday school.

JOSEPH C. BENTLEY,
Stake Clerk.

Kanab Stake Conference.

ORDERVILLE, Utah, March 9, 1897.—The Kanab Stake quarterly conference was held in Kanab Saturday and Sunday, March 6th and 7th. Elder I. Cumbermelon and Daniel Stoughton of the Stake Presidency, Bishops and the wards, and several of the High Council were present on the stand. Notwithstanding the disagreeableness of the weather, a goodly number were present to hear the good instructions given. The general and local authorities having been presented in the various wards, some but the newly appointed bishops officers were presented and sustained at the conference.

The remarks of the brethren were good and timely.

Sunday forenoon was spent in the interest of the Sabbath schools, and in the afternoon a fast day testimony meeting was held, in which several brethren arose and bore their testimonies to the truth of the latter day work.

It is thought by many that we have received the greatest quantity of moisture this winter that we have received for many years. Notwithstanding this great depth of snow and disagreeable one in traveling season, especially here in Long valley, all feel grateful to our Heavenly Father for the promising outlook of the growth of vegetation for the benefit of both man and beast.

The health of the people is fairly good at present in this part.

F. L. PORTER, Stake Clerk.
