A DAMAGE SUIT.

Judgment of the Lower Court Reversed.

Special Dispatch to the News.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 15.—A telegram from St. Louis states that the United States circuit court of appeals has reversed the judgment of the lower court in the case of A. S. Arnot against the Union Pacific Railroad company. Mr. Arnot was injured while he was in the employ of the company in the capacity of engineer, and sent to the hospital in Denver for treatment. The physicians there replaced to remove a piece of rubber tube from his patient's leg which was inserted during the course of the treatment, and in consequence a running sore came out on his leg which continued until the piece of rubber was removed. Mr. Arnot sued for damages in the United States circuit court and the jury awarded him a judgment for $2,000. The Union Pacific appealed the case and now a decision favorable to the company has been given.

The Cattle Market.

Special Dispatch to the News.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 15.—The cattle market on the Pacific coast is said to be paralyzed, and Montana, Idaho and Utah stockmen are compelled to ship to Omaha and Chicago to find a market. It is claimed that after paying the cost of transportation for the long haul western shippers are enabled to sell at a shade better than coast prices.

He is now in jail. Sentence will be pronounced on Monday. The jury recommended him to the court's mercy. Of course the case will be carried to the higher courts.

THE REMEDY FOR THE EVIL.

A Retaliatory Measure Considered by Congressmen.

Mormons Protest and Refusing to Vote May Have Their Salary Reduced.

Special Dispatch to the News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Democratic leaders of the House have under consideration the following rule to be tended to encourage the creation among the Republicans of refraining from voting on important measures and compelling the Democrats to produce a quorum: "Whenever upon roll call a quorum fails to appear, upon demand of any member the clerk shall call the roll of members not voting, and upon roll call in the aforementioned, who shall deduct from the monthly compensation of each member who fails to vote the amount of his salary for one day, provided that this deduction shall not be made in case a member be absent by leave of the House."

The rule equally carries out the provisions of the law which say that the salary of members absent, except on account of sickness, shall be deducted during the time of absence. Heretofore, however, the sergeant-at-arms had no way of officially ascertaining the absence of any member. It is thought the loss of pay for refusal to vote would put a stop to the practice of refusing to respond when called to vote.

THE U. P. SITUATION.

The Representatives of the Receivers Get a Set Back.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 15.—Attorney Thornton and Carvin, representing the receivers of the Union Pacific, who came here to ask Judge Caldwell to hermonize the conflicting opinions of Judge Dundy, Omaha, and Hallet, Denver, had an informal conference with him to secure a date for hearing and get a decided set-back. After listening to a statement of the case, Judge Caldwell said: "You have taken advantage of the employees to bind their cause. Go back to Omaha and revoke your wage order, then I will take up your case. Prepare and advertise your wage schedule and give the men notice. I think sixty days might not be unreasonable. I will come to Omaha and hold a conference with your receivers and representatives of the labor societies, and see if we cannot agree upon a schedule that will be just to the employes and such as the receivers can afford to pay."

Concerning the contradictory orders about the relations of the Union Pacific and their system, Judge Caldwell said he would consult with Judge Sanborn as to jurisdiction and reply later.

It is a very long document in which Judge Dole enters at some length into the withdrawal of the treaty from the Senate by Cleveland, including Blount's appointment and action, the action of the provisional Council to give the Hawaiian representative any information as to the United States government toward the provisional government; Willis's action, etc., and drawing the conclusion that the attitude of the United States toward the existing Hawaiian government under the present administration is distinctly hostile.

Second, "Whether or not a law providing for an attorney's docket is desirable for the association." Third, "The best means of making the Territorial law library more beneficial to practicing attorneys."

In the Siccek Basin, Idaho.

Some time ago J. D. Hollon, a mining man from Warren, was in this city, says the Boise Statesman. He moved mysteriously about, and it leaked out he was here on mining matters of great importance. This caused Mr. Hollon to issue his marching orders for Warren, and the reason for his hasty departure has recently come to light.

It seems Hollon, with Phil Markson, the Seven Devils mining man, and several Boise people, including United States Marshal Pinkham and F. H. Betsworth, have been busily engaged in operate immense gravel deposits in Secesh basin in the vicinity of Meadows and Warren, which are said to be very rich. Twenty acres of ground, by reason of the scheme, would locate around of them, Hollon was sent post haste to locate all the ground he could for the company. J. Barbidi, now in the city, who is also interested in that section, has ordered a couple of Bonyrne machines to work the ground. Whether or not Mr. Barbidi is interested with the new company is not known.

The gravel will have to be worked with sluices owing to the ground being so uniformly level as to preclude successful dumping. The fact that Mr. Barbidi has ordered Bonyrne machines to be used on ground in that vicinity strongly points to his connection with the new company. As he represents considerable capital, it would not be at all surprising if the coming season would see witness a healthy mining boom in Warren district.

Ward Concert.

There will be a grand concert at the Fifteenth ward meeting house Friday evening, February 16th, for the benefit of the Fifteenth ward. Prices of admission 25 cents; children 15 cents. IT CREATES A STIR.

Attorney T. Marriott Appointed Court Reporter by Judge Merritt.

PROTEST BY FRANK E. McGURRIN.

He Claims Desire to Enter as Objection, But the Chief Justice Won't Listen to Him.

Mr. Thomas Marriott, who is a member of the Salt Lake bar, has been appointed by the examining committee to be "the winner" in the contest for the position of official stenographer of the Third district court, held yesterday afternoon.

When the tests had concluded the committee called the contestants in one by one and requested them to read their notes. These were selected out of the twelve on the list were Miss Florence Hartley, Messrs. L. C. Falconer, F. E. Parker, Thomas Marriott, C. M. Dell and F. W. Mitchell. Fred McMurrin had previously withdrawn, because of the action taken by the committee in refusing his brother Frank. In the end the committee decided to recommend Mr. Marriott as the man, that position was being made, as they considered, a splendid showing.

FRANK McGURRIN'S PROTEST.

The Frank McGurrin is for from satisfied and has evidently had a haughty spirit in the Third district court, seeing from all the cases with which the intensity and the lawyers are fully, and the people are sufficiently, against him, and concluding as follows:

Your petitioner was and is competent for the position of phonographic reporter of the court, and claims that he is capable, competent and skilled as any women in Utah, and contrary to law, excluded from competing for said position.

Therefore your petitioner prays that said appointment be set aside and he be appointed by the said examiner, examine your petitioner and said appointee as recommended to the court, and upon proof your petitioner will ever pray.

FRANK E. McGURRIN.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE'S ORDER.

When Chief Justice Merritt took his seat on the bench late morning Mr. H. J. Dunlavy, counsel for Frank E. McGurrin, had the following colloquy with the court:

Mr. Dunlavy—If your Honor please—

The Court—(interrupting)—What have you to present?

Mr. Dunlavy—I have filed in this court a petition, and I desire to be heard on the appointment of the reporter for this court—

The Court—Just the point wanted, Mr. Dunlavy. Dunlavy. I will hear anything on that subject at all.

Mr. Dunlavy—Will you allow me to take an exception to that, your Honor?

The Court—Anything you please. I will say as to this case, that I have the power, and it is my pleasure to make a decision in this case. I shall do so and take all the responsibility. Further, Mr. Marriott did not tell me if I had any personal objection to him. I have called on a number of times. On the contrary, I have always employed him, both when I was city attorney, in the public business, and in private cases, and I have found no fault in the question. There is no obligation here, and I don't see that any good can come from any talk. As I said before, I have made my decision, I feel pleasant, and that concludes the case.

Mr. Dunlavy—May I be allowed to say one word, your honor?

The Court—What is it?

Mr. Dunlavy—It is but that is just where I disagree with your honor.

The Court—Well, I have settled that. You could used to say anything more about it.

Mr. Dunlavy—Of course I cannot reply, if your honor will not permit it.

The Court—I will not. Take your seat.

Mr. Dunlavy complied.

THE COMMITTEE COME IN.

The examining committee then presented their report as follows:

Hon. Samuel A. Merritt, Chief Justice of Utah, and Judge of the Third Judicial District:

The undersigned committee, appointed to examine the stenographic Third judicial district court, do hereby certify that after public notice given by the clerk, the candidates for examination met on the 14th day of February, 1894, in the office of Sutherland & Howat, in the city, and all such candidates except Frank E. McGurrin, appeared and submitted their notes, were examined as to their qualifications for office, and we certify the F. Marriott was found competent to perform the duties, and is duly qualified, and is a man of good moral character. We recommend him to the office of reporter.

Dated Salt Lake City, February 14th, 1894.

(Signed) J. G. SUTHERLAND,
JAMES A. WILLIAMS,
E. M. DONALD.

MINERY TESTS AGAIN.

Upon the report being read by Acting Clerk McMillan, Mr. Dunlavy said: If your honor will permit me, I wish to enter a protest to that. I object to the report of the committee, and to the appointment.

The Court—If you have any legal status, you can commence a suit.

Mr. Dunlavy—I am going to do that all right, but I just want to preserve all the rights we have.

The Court—I appoint Mr. Marriott official reporter of this court. Let him be sworn.

An exception was taken by Mr. Dunlavy, who was shortly afterwards called to the bench and Judge Merritt stated to him privately that he meant no disrespect to him in any ruling he had made, or anything he had said, but that it was merely to express his ruling on the question presented.

Mr. Dunlavy replied that on his part, he meant no disrespect to the court, or to the judge personally, in presenting the motion but did it merely as an attorney to protect what he considered the rights of his client.

SOUNDS GOOD ENOUGH.

Judge Sutherland informed the court that on behalf the other contestants, the committee did not consider there was one sufficiently qualified for the position of official stenographer, and they had decided to request to hold another examination for the purpose of making a selection.

FIRST WIFE ACS.

At the request of Judge Merritt a of the attorneys present in a case pending in his branch court, Assistant Sheriff Frank T. Shurtleff was sent scurrying into Commissioner Baskin's place for the purpose of reporting as usual today.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

The newly-appointed official stenographer was not present when Judge Merritt called court on time to be sworn, but he came in later on and Clerk McMillan performed the required duty. Mr. Marriott was at once made his seat at the table, until yesterday afternoon occupied by Mr. McGurrin.

Further developments are promised.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

Criminal and Civil Business Before the Judge.

The trial of James Nicholson, a negro, charged with committing a criminal assault on a Swedish woman named Inga Sadlack, in Salt Lake City, 1893, was resumed in Judge Merritt's court this morning. The case went to the jury just before noon.

The jury found the prisoner guilty and Saturday next was set for passing sentence, on which day a motion to arrest of judgment and any of motions will be entertained by the accused's counsel, Mr. Goodwin.

The grand jury has ignored the charge against H. S. Amano, the man arrested, it was supposed, of taking part in the burglary at Robert Walker's tailoring establishment.

Thomas Hart was next placed on trial on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Hart, living in the dwelling-house of Cooper Hamer, in the Tabernacle block, with intent to steal, on December 7th, 1893.

THAT DAMAGE SUIT.

In Judge Dunn's courtroom of the Third district court this morning the further hearing of the action brought by Wm. Anderson against the Salt Lake and Los Angeles Railroad Co. took place. The facts were stated in yesterday's News. The action was brought by the plaintiff's 8-year-old boy, who was drowned on May 28th, 1893, by falling through a temporary foot bridge erected by the defendants over the Jordan river on South Temple street. Carelessness and negligence on the part of the company in not providing a railing lasted to properly secure the structure and allowed it to remain unguarded.

The hearing will again occupy all day.

Marriage License.

The county clerk this morning issued a marriage license to Frank Emery, 21, of Park City, and Mrs. Rose Jones, 18, of Peabody, Marion county, Kansas.

Fillmore Chamber of Commerce.

"A Bird" writes from Fillmore, Millard county, Feb. 10th, 1894, that the organization of a chamber of commerce was effected in that city that day with the following named officers:

Alma Greenwood, president; Jos. E. Ray, vice-president; Jos. Melville, O. C. Robbins, James Greenwood, John T. Atkinson and J. P. Jacobsen, directors; J. C. Jenkins, secretary; George C. Yorke, treasurer; and Joseph S. Gibbs, corresponding secretary.

The snow day Fillmore was having the worst snowstorm of the winter.

Time Table Changes.

A new time table will be put in operation on the Sanpete Valley railway, on Sunday the 18th inst. After that date the regular passenger train will leave Nephi at 1:45 p.m. instead of 8:30 p.m., and arrive at Manti 2:05 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. as formerly. Northbound the train will leave Manti at 8 a.m. instead of 12:55 p.m., arriving at Nephi at 10:40 a.m. instead of 3:40 p.m. as heretofore.

Sadness at Willard.

James Chandler writes to the News from Willard City, Utah, under date of Feb. 14, as follows: Yesterday funeral services were held at our tabernacle over the remains of two precious little ones from whom we have been called to part; they were Mr. Chandler's daughter of James J. and Harriet E. Chandler, born October 31, 1892, died after three weeks of intense suffering from scarlatina and diphtheria, at 6 o'clock, Feb. 12, 1894.

George Hughes, son of Charles and Emma Hughes, born Jan. 1, 1893, died at membranous croup, Feb. 10, 1894.

Birthday Surprise Party.

Elder Frederick W. Schoenfeld, Bishop of Brigham, was yesterday, the 14th, the happy recipient of many warm birthday congratulations from the members of his ward. There was a four practice last evening, and the choir, under George M. Jones, invited the Bishop to attend and note the progress that had been made. He was greatly surprised when he saw the home filled with friends who received him most cordially and congratulated him on the occasion of his sixty-third birthday. The evening was pleasantly spent, an interesting program being rendered.

Boise Land Trouble.

The controversy in the United States land office between the city of Boise and J. C. Pence, says the Statesman, may develop into a far more important matter than the title to the small plat of ground over which the contest is waged.

Mr. Pence claims the section held under the act of 1891 to extend the boundaries of the city inside is not in reality what you may know as Ada, Hyde park, Bloomsbury, Adelia and several other additions, was to hold. The claim then is no more or less than every having been called in both. The only people in possession of the city council claim it was has been invested in at that time.

The land office has temporarily suspended the entire controversy and the decision now rests in the hands of Mr. Pence's counsel, whether or not they will carry the matter up to the city. If the extension was an legal then the contests of the new additions should, it is said, be sustained. The only people who have at the city may be taken to retain the land already paid.

The matter is of such great importance that it will no doubt be carried up to the court of last resort.

Pleasant All Around.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent yesterday by the Sunday school children of the Twenty-five ward. The little ones with their mamma and parents gathered at the meeting house about 2 o'clock and participated in dancing, marching, etc. A feature of the entertainment was the distribution of valentines among the merry crew. The gathering dispersed about 6 o'clock. The music was furnished by members of the Sunday school and ward choir and was very good.

After the close of the children's party, the Sunday school teachers to the number of twenty-five, with their friends and the presence of the bishop, Elder Steele in an address labored and teacher in the Sunday school, and James Maxwell, the superintendent, as well as his assistant teachers, thought the occasion opportune to express their love and show for the kindly feeling existing towards her by her co-laborers. Supper was partaken of and an interesting evening spent at late hours.

Three Hours Late Today.

The Rio Grande Western passenger train due here from the East at noon today and which brings with it Colorado and other north and eastern points was three hours late.

A Drunken Female Prisoner.

Among the victims of law who appeared before Police Justice Smith for arrignment this morning was a woman who gave the name of Lilly Masterson. The charge against her was drunkenness, an offense which is said to be brought in her case into the wee sad and sickly dressed and appeared to be very sorry for her transgression. She stated that she had been in the city but a few days and that if the court would be charitable enough to discharge her she would pack up her all-one and take the evening train for the east. The justice took her at her word and allowed her to go unpunished on the positive promise that she would not "speed" him.

A WILD ANIMAL PARK.

The Game Law and the Vigilance of the City Officers Slowly Creating One Near at Hand.

All of the reminders of early western life have not yet disappeared from the region of country surrounding this city. An old and well known resident of Utah, who now lives on Capitol hill, says that there are many wild animals in the mountains above his house. The deep ravines and rugged cliffs afford them ample shelter and protection during the day and in the darkness of the night they venture forth in search of food. The cunning coyote is very cold while on his knee of depredation and lurks in the foothills up his mournful howl uncomfortably close to the homes of those who live, semi-country life near the foothills. There are also cats, badgers, and wolves among the wild animals that roam above the city and it is claimed that a mountain lion was seen on Friday night in the canyon.

These beasts of prey are not alone in their occupancy of that part of the Wasatch as birds of dove and often seen in the morning would be loth to believe by know that they will not be molested, and in some instances venture very close to the haunts of civilization. The game section that the game law has offered them and the fact that the city has been very careful and vigilant in providing houses from trespassing on the grounds seem to be having the effect of creating an extensive wild animal park which spreadeas almost to the city's gates.

MADE OF TEMPLE WOOD.

A Table of Nearly One Thousand Pieces The Work of a Salt Laker.

Mr. George E. Hume, a well known Salt Lake wheelwright, who lives in the Second ward, brought to the News office today one of the most unique parlor tables ever exhibited in this city. It is the result of his own handiwork and reflects great credit on him and proves him to be an artist both in execution and design.

The table is made of scraps of wood which fell from pieces used in finishing the various rooms of the Temple. Some are business blocks in all and the number of pieces fair has from a score hence one thousand. The use of the table is all inlay work and the grain and different colors of the various woods have been well preserved, flowers and designs are very pretty.

There is one piece of wood—a very small one—in the table that was taken from a twig cut from a tree on the Temple block in Independence, Missouri. In the center of these inlaid designs is a picture of the Salt Lake Temple covered by a small and beautiful piece of glass that was once a part of one of the magnificent mirrors in that building.

A PARK CITY SUICIDE

W. W. Kennedy Blew His Brains out With a Revolver this Morning.

THE AFFAIR CREATES A SENSATION

The Victim Was an Old Timer and for Many Years a Blacksmith at the Ontario—Inquest Tomorrow.

Special to the News.

PARK CITY, Feb. 15.—The community was greatly shocked and surprised here today on account of the suicide of W. W. Kennedy, an old and respected resident of the Park and for twelve years a blacksmith at the Ontario mine.

The child not was committed at time which and was wholly unexpected. As a favorable opportunity presented itself at that time Kennedy placed a revolver against his head and blew out his brains. Death was instantaneous. The cause of the rash deed arose from a variety of troubles which recently developed and which are believed to have made him temporarily insane. He was 55 years of age and leaves a wife and four children.

NATURAL PHILOSOPHY CLASS.

Dr. Talmage's Able Lecture on Electricity Continued at the Church University.

A large audience, among whom were many earnest students, greeted Dr. Talmage, of the Church University, as he stepped before the natural philosophy class last night at 7:30. A careful review was taken, designed to refresh the memory, as many points considered under magnetism, frictional and galvanic electricity. Many illustrations had been placed upon the board to show the principles explained. Since magnetism was induced in a bar of soft iron around which the electric current was passed, the question arose: May electricity be induced by the presence of a magnet? It was known that magnetism resides in the coil of copper wire and in the current. Tests were then made by placing the ends of a sensitive galvanometer, the dependent principles of which had been fully explained, in discussing the telephone it was stated that the sound waves were not conveyed from the speaker to the listener, but again created at the receiver, the bell, independent of the sound, vibrating only to attract attention. The telephone was most considered and practical illustration produced before the class. The question only, was considered upon the principle of the induced or secondary current was explained in its entire construction and several reproductions were made, showing how them the dynamo, by the operation of which a coil of wire was moved in the presence of a powerful electro-magnet. All the business and experiments were performed under consideration of frictional or static electricity, were now repeated, with the current electricity from the dynamo coil. Experiments with the pane and tube were followed by the Geissler's tubes, twisted in various shapes and of varied colors. The indescribable beauty of resistance, colors and fluorescence even exceeded that of the former occasion.

Several members of the Legislature were present at the lecture, who appeared much interested and delighted. The grounded and radiant matter tubes exhibited with so much success are some of the finest ever seen in this region. Among the instruments explained by the lecturer was a beautiful galvanic battery, donated to the institution by Dr. Benedict.

Gone East.

AMUSEMENTS.

OPERA AND DRAMA—In response to a very widespread request, Manager Burton of the Salt Lake Theater, has arranged to bring out the musical success of the day in local circles, The Crimson Scarf. It will be put on the boards for one night, on Thursday, March 1st, and the event will be signalized by the reappearance of the popular House Dramatic club, after more than a year's absence. H. M. Wells and Edith Chapman will have the leading parts in a new one act drama of the serious order called Tears, Idle Tears—after the school of "certain-to-succeed" plays in vogue, only a little more sanitious than the usual short piece seen here. This will form the prelude to the heavy and illustious opera The Crimson Scarf which will be rendered by the same people who made such a pronounced success, Mrs. Jennie Hawley Woodruff, Miss Jennie Wilson, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Pyper, Mr. Waterrell and Mr. Clawson. Professor Krause will direct a specially engaged and enlarged orchestra, with Willard Weber at its head. The players and singers have received special invitations to appear at several places outside of the city, and performances will be given in the Lehi theater on the 26th, the new Bountiful opera house on the 28th, and the new temple of amusement at Murray on March 3rd.
