Irrigation Scheme On.

Eastern Utah Advocate: Robert Forrester and O. H. Young of Salt Lake were in Price early in the week. The gentlemen were here in the interest of a big irrigation scheme to cover the country north of Price river and extending east to sunnyside. It is to be hoped their plans will meet with speedy success.

PLEADS FOR UNITY OF EFFORT.

Prof. Stewart Says All Classes of Utah's People Should Work for Success of Schools.

Prof. Wm. M. Stewart of the Utah University lectured at the Laboratory building last night on Our Public Schools and the Recent School Elections in Salt Lake. The professor spoke to an interested though not large audience. Education, he said, was the bulwark of American institutions. The public schools were the great medium for imparting intelligence and of creating and developing a social condition among the people.

Regarding Utah schools the professor said the people had just cause to be proud of them. In this city the average attendance of the school population was more than 90 per cent; in the state at large the average was 85. It was not true that Utah was without a public school system before 1890. One of the first acts of the territorial legislature after the formation of an educational system that would be the pride and glory of future generations was the founding of the University of Deseret received early in 1850. The institution has had very hard struggles. Sometimes it seemed to be a question of life and death. During the years of a Church war it suffered from the opposition of the extreme religionists who said that it was antagonistic to religion and from another class who from radicals who said that it was insufficiently religious. Just it has survived the storm nevertheless and has done much to liberalize the people of Utah. There should not be too much criticism against the early school system of Utah. For a long time the people were in abject poverty. For a long time they were engaged in a struggle for existence. If there was any neglect of education it was made necessary by obedience to that law of nature—self-preservation.

Concerning the recent school election the speaker said: "I was very familiar with the bitterness existing in the State and Territory, and when the election demonstrated the fact that the embers were still smouldering and a little fanning meant they would burst into flames again, I felt alarmed. The good sense of the people is going to determine whether we shall have the strife again. Only by a conservative policy, by being liberal on both sides, can we stop the danger that would come to the schools if the strife should come again. There is occasion for alarm. The majority of the people favor the free public schools, and the schools have come to stay, but how much good they are going to do depends on the wisdom of the people. Fight against the Democratic establishment would be the height of folly for us to meet of our schools. We can retard their growth or accelerate it. I believe the common schools are safe, but their advancement depends on wisdom. Whatever the Democrats may do, we should not take a hand in the fight; I mean teachers should not act as ward leaders nor assist to stir up the strife. If educators cannot be broad-minded, what can we expect of the masses? They should use their influence to keep from stirring up the bitterness. Every intelligent man and woman should work for the success of the schools. The system, University, high schools, academies, kindergarten all can be made to triumph along conservative and economical lines."

The speaker then turned his attention to the newspapers and preceded to criticize them very severely. They could not, he said, be depended upon for truthful utterance. They were animated by political or financial motives in what they said. No confidence should be given to their reports. They were after sensations and constructed them upon the slightest rumor. This source was pursued because it meant money to either the publisher or the man who controlled the paper's policy. During the campaign of the recent school election strife was fostered by a great deal of sensation. An effort was made to show opposition to the High school when in reality no opposition existed, but it served as a means to an end—it was a deception and answered its purpose.

As a conclusion to his lecture Prof. Stewart took the position that the education of today was not sufficiently practical. Industrial training should characterize school work, beginning at the kindergarten. But it would cost money to do that and it was a question as to whether the people could afford it. Nevertheless an effort should be made in that direction if there had to be a revision and shortening of High school and grade courses.

LOCAL CAMBRIAN ASSOCIATION.

Articles of Incorporation Filed Today—Will Promote Music, Literature and Eisteddfods.

Articles of incorporation of the Cambrian association in Salt Lake were filed with County Clerk Dunbar today. The object of the incorporation is to promote music and literature, and the holding of Eisteddfods at such times and places as the promoters may decide upon. The capitalization is fixed at $1,000, divided into twenty shares of $50 per value of $50 each. A provision is made, however, whereby the capital stock may be increased at any time. The trustees of the incorporation, each holding one share, are as follows: Geo. R. Roberts, William W. Williams, Arthur G. Thomas, David L. Davis, Elias Morris, Richard J. Thomas, Henry F. Evans, John Morgan, Walter J. Lewis, Thomas F. Thomas Jr. and David John. The residence of each is given as Salt Lake City. The officers are Arthur G. Thomas, president; David L. Davis, vice president; Henry F. Evans, secretary, and Elias Morris, treasurer. The other gentlemen complete the directorate.

Dr. Dart Fined.

Dr. James M. Dart, charged with violating the quarantine rules, had a hearing before Justice Wenger yesterday afternoon. The defendant was found guilty, whereupon a fine of $5 was imposed, and upon giving notice of appeal, five days' stay of execution was granted. Dr. Dart was arrested on complaint of City Physician Dailey, who alleged a failure to report a case of scarlet fever at the home of W. S. Godbe.

Some Suggestions for HOLIDAY PRESENTS.

DIAMONDS. A large and varied assortment of choice gems—you know what our reputation is for handling reliable goods.

CLOCKS. Nothing so useful. We can easily figure out a saving; quality considered.

WATCHES. Gold and gold filled, for men and women, right prices; many novelties in hand made cases. What is nicer than a watch for a Christmas present?

SILVERWARE. A great variety for all needs. Nothing so useful as articles always useful; always appreciated.

RINGS. All kinds; all prices. No other store can hold a stock so nearly as complete. Nothing so appreciated as a ring.

BROOCHES. Are very popular this season. We have line of them we are proud of. All prices.

LINK BUTTONS. In silver, gold and enamel; large variety of many styles and shapes. Large range of prices.

$25 Needless to enumerate more. You know what we handle and what good jewelers have to stock. We claim to be of the "Good Kind" and have everything in stock. Prices right. Don't wait until the last day or two before Christmas. The assortment will not be as good. We won't be able to give you as much of our time, either.
