REPUBLICAN DINNER

The Largest Political Gathering Held in Boston for Years.

BOSTON, April 8.—The largest political gathering of any kind held in Boston for years was the first dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, held in Music Hall this evening. Covers were laid for 850 guests, besides the speakers.

President Roger Wolcott presided, and among the prominent guests were Secretary of the Navy Tracy, Lieutenant Hale, Congressmen Walker, Lodge, Greenhalge and Moses, Governor Ames, Senator Aldrich, ex-Governor Brackett and General Banks.

Secretary Tracy, in his speech, paid a high tribute to the republican party and the present administration, and defended the Fifty-first Congress against the charge of extravagance. The Secretary then gave a detailed account of the work in which the Navy Department is at present engaged, and concluded as follows:

One last point in naval affairs remains to be considered—the question of employment of labor in the navy yards. For fifty years this has been a weak spot in naval administration. Whatever the party in control of the government, it seems hitherto to have been powerless to exclude political influences in the employment of navy yard labor. It is not enough, apparently, that the mechanics and workmen in the government shops should be Republicans or Democrats; they must wear the collar of the ward bosses or run the local political machine. This practice is a source of demoralization to any party that attempts to use it, destructive to the government service and debauching to local and municipal politics. It is an abuse in the naval administrative system, and I propose to cut it out.

The secretary said the details of the system he proposed to adopt are being prepared, and in a short time will be in full operation. The essential features, as applied to navy yards, are: (1) The appointment at each navy yard of a board to register all applicants for employment in the department of unskilled labor, to be selected as regards their fitness for first preference, first served, with preference only to army or navy veterans, or men having families to support; (2) registration of all applicants for positions of skilled labor under the same rules of preference; (3) the selection of foremen upon competitive examination. The board will consist of the officers of the navy engaged in conducting the work of the yard.

The Secretary added that having begun in this way, he does not propose to stop until the principle of efficiency and worth is the only test of navy yard employment. He is satisfied that the plan can be extended so that it will remove all suspicion of machine politics from the navy yards, that economy and efficiency of work will be promoted, which the community will be sure that the navy yard is in midst, instead of being the focus of local political intrigue, is the place of employment of a body of independent and self-respecting workmen, whose only road to promotion lies in good work.

Whether the present civil service law is the best that could be devised to improve the civil service of the country, I do not know; but I do know from personal experience that the civil department that persons appointed under the system are unquestionably more efficient, as a whole, than those selected by the system of patronage, and I know, further, that no republican charged with the responsibility of administering one of the great executive departments of the government can be true to himself, to the faith of the republican party, or to the people, if he fails to employ any and all means within his power to elevate, purify and render more efficient the civil service of the country."

Mr. Roger Wolcott, in the course of his speech, said the republicans of the country must rally to its standard new recruits and drum out the mercenary. The loss of thousands of votes in the State of Pennsylvania was due to the revolt against Quay, who is still chairman of the national committee. The kind of personal politics that seeks and rewards which is called "friendship" always at the expense of the party is a blighter when it is not a crime.

THE EIGHT-HOUR QUESTION.

Seventy-five Thousand Miners Threaten to Quit Work.

PITTSBURG, April 8.—The Interstate Miners and Operators' convention began the day discussing the eight-hour question, and all indications are that the next month will see 75,000 miners in Ohio and Pennsylvania quit work unless their demands are granted by a compromise effected. They were told today by Bituminous officials that the demand will not be conceded, and that a strike seems inevitable if the men refuse to modify their demand. The battle will be renewed tomorrow.

REPORT OF THE "Q."

Railroad Troubles Ascribed to Adverse Laws.

BOSTON, April 8.—The report says: "The large part of the country served by the company's lines depends on the corn crops that any serious damage to that staple must affect its business. The effects of the bad crop will be only temporary, however. Our more serious difficulties come from laws which do not allow us to do business on business principles. The law prohibits pooling, the most convenient, if not the only effective form of association, and it remains to be seen whether any substitute can be found to check the tendency to unreasonably low prices, which always prevails with independent action. Without some method of effective cooperation the competing lines must become bankrupt and in the end consolidate. There are signs of a growing belief, both in and out of Congress, that the Interstate law should be amended. The law has cost and is costing the country millions of dollars and that the public can find it for its interest to long maintain laws which make railroad properties unnecessarily and unnecessarily hazardous and unprofitable would seem impossible."

Could Not Pronounce Toast to the Queen.

LONDON, April 8.—At a dinner given by the Devon Congregational Union at Plymouth, Devonshire, a sensation was caused by the presiding minister, Rev. Mr. Davis, who said he could not propose the toast to "the Queen," and he would therefore call upon the Rev. Mr. Johnson to perform this feat. Davis added that he (Johnson) might also toast the Prince of Wales and all the members of the house. He (Johnson) consequently proposed the toast of "The Queen," saying that her Majesty had no more loyal subjects than the dissenters. Disorder followed the proceedings, with the exception of Mr. Davis and wife, who rose to their feet and sang the national anthem "God Save the Queen."

The local governments of the Parliament have not been hurried, but there is a proviso that in the event of laws clashing, the Federal Parliament shall prevail.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so cheerfully and willingly. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind several years, for a little boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. U. S. STEAMER ALERT.

A Board of Inquiry Report Several Officers Neglectful in Preparing Her for Sea.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S SEEKING SEA PROCLAMATION.

An Appeal for Charity Results in the Arrest of a Prominent Society Woman.

By Telegraph to the News.

NEGLIGENT OFFICERS.

The "Alert" Was not Ready to Go to Sea.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—About six weeks ago the steamer Alert at the Mare Island navy yard and the vessel put in commission, which means that she received a full complement of officers and men and was ready to go to sea. But the vessel did not sail and she is today at her berth waiting repairs. It was noticed that the repairs were so unsolicitated in character that it would be dangerous for the vessel to go to sea. On the other hand there were considerable rumors that the officers did not want to sail in the vessel, as they preferred the new cruisers and were trying to cause a souvenir trip sought to be postponed. Boards and surveyors were ordered there. It is said their reports indicated that the repairs had been scamped, that the iron skin of the vessel had not been properly renewed, that serious defects in it had been covered over with paint, and that the boilers were liable to stick through it.

The state of affairs led the Department to order an investigation on the following lines: "Has there been any neglect of duty on the part of any officer of the navy or employe of the navy yard at Mare Island in preparing the Alert for sea? If so, state the name or names of such officer or officers, or employe or employes, and the particulars or carelessness in such cases."

The board of inquiry made a report, which was made public today. Naval Constructor Frasier has been careless in the supervision of the repairs upon the Alert and neglectful in examining those of the work as it progressed, which resulted in serious defects in the ship being passed over without repairs and in unsatisfactory workmanship to the repairs made.

Master Shipwright Williamson was negligent in the performance of the duty entrusted to him in the immediate direction of the first repairs, prior to November 24th, 1890, which was the immediate cause of serious defects in the ship being passed over without repair and in omitting the important work of scaling the corroded surface before painting.

Master Shipwright Artine Weisse was negligent in the performance of his duty in not exacting proper workmanship in the repairs made upon the bottom of the Alert, subsequent to November 24th, 1890, and in not properly carrying out the recommendations of the boards of survey by failing to remedy the defects which they mentioned.

These findings have been approved by the Navy Department and Naval Constructor Frasier has been relieved from duty at Mare Island. Master Shipfitter Webster has been discharged, as was Master Shipwright Williamson.

A Board composed of Commodore Irwin, Commander Barthett, Constructor Fernald, Assistant constructor Stahl and Chief Engineer Kutz has been assigned to survey the Alert again and report what repairs are necessary, while Constructor Fernald has been ordered to assume charge of these repairs.

Abused by the Sugar Trust.

ALBANY, April 8.—Before the Senate committee of investigation of trusts today Henry Gray, receiver of the North River Sugar Refining Company, said he had been grossly abused by the sugar trust. A certain person came to him with a message from an officer of the trust, to the effect that if Gray wanted to make a profitable thing of the receivership he should see the officers of the trust and agree with them, otherwise he would get nothing. The statement of the trust attorney that he (Gray) had speculated in sugar was a lie.

Section three of an act entitled "An Act to Provide for the Protection of the Salmon Fisheries of Alaska," approved March 2, 1889, provides that section 1956 of the Revised Statutes is hereby declared to include and apply to all the dominion of the United States in the waters of Behring Sea, and it shall be the duty of the President at a timely season in each year to issue his proclamation, and cause the same to be published for one month at least in one newspaper (if any such there be) published in each United States port of entry on the Pacific Coast, warning all persons against entering such waters for the purpose of violating the provisions of said section, and he shall also cause one or more vessels of the United States to cruise in or near such waters, and arrest all persons and seize all vessels found to be, or to have been, engaged in any violation of the laws of the United States therein.

FATAL EXPLOSION IN NITRO-GLYCERIN WORKS.

Minister Hale Replies to a Question Concerning His Attitude in Regard to the Chinese.

By Telegraph to the News.

NAPOLEON'S WILL.

Prince Victor is Totally Ignored as a Relick.

PARIS, April 8.—The will of the late Prince Napoleon is remarkably precise. In the disposition of his effects the Prince bribes the presence of his eldest son, Prince Victor. He directs that his remains be buried in St. Jerome Chapel, Church of Invalides, Paris, near the tomb of the First Napoleon, unless the government refuses permission, in which case he directs that his body be embalmed and placed in a coffin of solid rock in Free Sanguinaires, in the Gulf of Ajaccio, "where my grave may be watchfulness in image of my stormy life." Prince Victor is made Prince Victor is a relent and totally ignores him in the disposition of his property.

The reading of the will was a painful ceremony. When the passage excluding the rest of the family was reached, Prince Louis ran to his mother and frantically embraced, crying, "Never, never, dear mother, we are outcasts!" It is stated that he will adhere to his resolve, which ex-Empress Eugenie approves, to follow the property equally among the members of the family.

How many more, if any, were in the building at the time is at present unknown. The five acres on which the building was situated is literally covered with small pieces of small bone and flesh, and the remains of the three already identified could be put in a basket twice.

BRAVE NEGROES

Five Hundred Attack a Jail and Rescue Assaults.

KANSAS CITY, April 9, 4:25 a.m.—A crowd of 500 negroes has just attacked the county jail at Kansas City, Kansas, with the intention of lynching William Morley, who brutally murdered his sister, Nellie McCombier, last Sunday night. An attempt to lynch Morley was made last Monday at the time of his preliminary hearing, but the prison was so well guarded that the attempt was abandoned. The indignation of the excitement among the negroes has subsided, and the precaution has been relaxed.

The attack tonight was totally unexpected. About 1 o'clock a crowd of negroes gathered in the vicinity of the jail, and quickly made a rush and stole in the outer door. The portion of the building partitioned for the jail is separated from the other part by a about iron door.

Only one guard was on duty, but he threatened to shoot the first man who approached the door, and the lynching committee, after a lengthy parley, once more adjourned. A large guard has been placed on duty to prevent the possibility of further attack.

BOTH PARTIES

Claim to Be the Victors in the Election for the Mayoralty in Chicago.

THE RETURNS GUARDED DAY AND NIGHT.

C. H. Harrison Has Never Before Attended the Polls in the Hoodlum Districts, He Says.

By Telegraph to the News.

THE CHICAGO MAYORALTY.

Both Parties Claim the Victory: The Vault Guarded.

CHICAGO, April 8.—At midnight tonight both republicans and democrats were claiming to be victors in the exciting election for Mayor of Chicago. Each side, however, had practically intimated its claims to a plurality of two or three hundred. The official count is now being worked up and with impatience. The democrats put forward the assertion that many votes for Elmer Washburn, the citizens' candidate, were cast for Hesing instead Washburn. On the other hand, the republicans protest that in one precinct alone at the stockyards over a hundred votes were disposed for Hesing that were refused registration, and that some of the names are those of persons who have been dead for weeks or months. In this particular precinct, it is charged, affairs were so manipulated that every judge and clerk, without exception, were democrats and the plurality for Cregier was something abnormal. Not a few people tonight were inclined to believe the many alleged mistakes and attempts to fraud were in the interests of the gambling element and were designed to give certain big bookmakers a chance to hedge out on their bets.

Colonel Nye, chairman of the republican campaign committee, went before the election commissioners this morning and requested that two members of his committee be permitted over the vault in which the returns and documents are locked up night and day, until the official canvass has taken place.

"My reasons for asking this," he said, "are simply sufficient. I have been informed upon unquestionable authority that Mayor Cregier has declared that no circumstances can remove him from office for two years. That seems to me to warrant extraordinary precautions against fraud."

The election commissioners finally agreed that the request should be permitted to remain in the vault, even until the official canvass commences tomorrow. As an additional precaution the election was changed on the safe containing the official returns. Subsequently Chairman Nye asked that the judges of the Fifteenth precinct, Twenty-ninth ward, be prosecuted for refusing to admit Anton Poepkal, the challenger of the republican and citizens' parties, to the polling room. Nye stated that of the 365 registered votes in that precinct, only 342 shown to have voted, a strangely large proportion, and that of these 342 are recorded for Cregier and only six for Hesing and Washburn. Before the other three candidates. He said he had strong suspicions that fraud had been resorted to in several precincts, and he was engaged in ferreting out the perpetrators.

HARRISON RETIRES.

Ex-Mayor Carter H. Harrison this afternoon announced his permanent retirement from political life. He proposes to leave Chicago for good and either travel or go on a farm.

Concerning the tactics of the Cregier wing of the Democracy, he said: "It was in line with its action for the past two months, intimidating, corrupting and disgraceful. It was a revelation to me, for I had never before attended the polls in the hoodlum districts.
