A Seven-Year-Old Boy Crushed by an Electric Car.

MAYOR ARRESTED FOR SWEARING.

Killed in an Asylum—Damage for a Life—Locally Shot—Engineer in Jeopardy—Other Items.

Major W. W. Woods, one of the Populistic choices on the Democratic ticket in Idaho, was formerly a Salt Lake lawyer.

Mrs. Mattie Allen, a simple minded woman, was murdered in Sacramento, Cal., on Thursday evening, by a Japanese. Mrs. Allen had learned that Lee was concerned with the shooting of a Japanese, and Lee killed her to prevent her telling on him. She leaves three small children.

Mrs. Bettie A. Neil was given a verdict Friday against the Montana Central Railroad Company at Helena for $15,000 for the death of her husband. He was a brakeman, and was knocked off the top of a train by the timbers of a bridge. Plaintiff's case rested on the allegation of the company to keep in repair the pendants used to warn trainmen of approaching danger.

Wednesday a street furnace by the name of Carl Gustenkiel, a graduate of the California state insane asylum, was mopping the floor of one of the wards. Another patient named Owen Clements, was tantalizing the latter, by kicking him on the foot. The big fellow turned around sudden-ly, and hit his tormentor over the head with the long mopping stick. Thursday forenoon the injured man died.

Charles Dow, the 10-year-old son of W. S. Dow, superintendent of construction of the state penitentiary at Hawkins, Wyoming, was hunting Wednesday evening, and while resting allowed his shot gun to slip from his hand. The hammer striking upon a rock the gun was discharged, he receiving the full charge of shot in his left arm and side. Surgeons removed two inches of bone in the left arm. His chances of recovery are doubtful.

Evanston, Wyo., News-Register: A party numbering about twenty from Salt Lake got off the train at Evanston Friday. They are to take a team and go to Woodruff creek, where they intend to spend a couple of weeks hunting and fishing.....F. A. Walker, traveling freight agent of the Union Pacific, Weber R. R., and W. L. White of White & Sons, of Salt Lake, went to Wasatch on Thursday where Mr. White will make a shipment of twenty cars of sheep.

Mayor Davis, of Oakland, Cal., has been arrested on a charge of using vulgar language on the street. The complainant is J. C. Buttner, the Populist candidate for mayor against the incumbent in the street of the city's executive head. No one was known will say what the objectionable words used were, but it is rumored that they must have been pretty strong to have so terribly shocked the Populistic leader. The alleged offense was committed on Monday evening last during a conversation between the Mayor, Buttner and J. B. Randolph, the attorney.

Louis Locks, the seven-year-old son of Morris Locks, an employe of a clothing house, was run over and almost instantly killed by an electric car in Mission street in San Francisco on Friday. The little fellow had been playing with several of his schoolmates, and in attempting to get away from them ran in front of the car. He was smashed down, one of the wheels crushing the right side of his head. Several eye witnesses of the accident rushed to his assistance, and with the aid of the motorman and conductor dragged his almost lifeless body from under the car. He was then placed in the patrol wagon, which had been summoned, and hastily transported to the receiving hospital. Ten minutes elapsed before he breathed his last.

Reports of hog cholera or swine plague of some kind are becoming more common every day lending the conviction that the hogs are dying throughout Nebraska in large numbers. News from Stromsburg states that an epidemic which is causing much loss and which is alarming big farmers has appeared among the swine southeast of there. So far only the hogs in a limited territory have been affected but within the last few days the disease has begun to spread and it is feared it will become general. George Lawson, a prominent farmer and stock raiser has lost forty head of hogs. Er. Mayer, one of Larson's neighbors, has lost 100 head. People who are familiar with cholera say the symptoms indicate that disease. They do not know what it is, however, and the hogs are dying by the hundreds, no effort being made to save them.

A band of 125 cattle which H. B. Crane of Tulare, Cal., had sold and was driving to the point of delivery met with an accident while crossing the Chowchilla bridge over the Merced river Wednesday. While the cattle were being driven over the bridge the further edge gave way, precipitating a number of them into the bed of the stream, absolutely lost. Some were subsequently afterward the other end, wrenched by the strain, gave way, and more were dropped. On the center portion of the bridge, which remained intact, six of the animals were left standing. The cattle were pretty well distributed over the structure, which has been a sudden opening, followed by the snapping of timbers. In no instant the whole bridge, except the middle section, fell apart, plunging the cattle in numbers feet into the river below. A score of the animals had their legs broken either by being caught in the timbers or by striking the shallow water. A most of them are dead and others will perhaps have to be killed because of their injuries.

A Luminous Cat.

Those who have been tolerate mice or rats for about the house certainly must be blind to the fact that a luminous cat, which costs very little in money and nothing to keep, has been invented and can be placed in any dark corner or room and effectually scares away all such pests. This cat is made of stuffed form sheet metal or other like material so as to represent in appearance the exact counterpart of its animated fellow sister. It is painted over with a luminous paint, so that it shines in the dark like a cat of fire. After being used for about a week the place is never free of either mice or rats.—Popular Science News.
