Romeo and Juliet This Evening—The Grand and Lyceum Filled to Overflowing.

Tonight and tomorrow night the burlesque opera, Romeo and Juliet, will be presented at the Theater by the Orpheus club, under the direction of W. L. Haskell. Those who attend the performances are sure of an enjoyable entertainment.

In Old Kentucky is the bill at the Theater on Thursday and Friday evenings.

Mr. Charles Osgood, the advance agent of Mr. Hoyt's 1492 company, is in the city. He is delighted with the success of the play on the coast, the engagement at the Baldwin theater, San Francisco, having been a brilliant one. 1492 is a combination of comic opera, farce and burlesque, intermingled with ballets, marches and tableaux. The specialties include the original Kilanyi living pictures. The engagement at the Theater commences on Monday, Jan. 13, and covers three nights. Seats will be on sale Friday morning at the box office.

AT THE GRAND.

Standing room was at a premium at the Grand last night, and well it might be, for the play, The Silver Lining, is one that merits a large attendance. Dealing mainly with the money question, with free and resulting substantially in a victory for the white metal, it awakens the sympathies of the Western people and elicits upreams applause at frequent intervals.

The main roles of the piece are James Rhodes, a tramp known as "Dusty" and Kate Overman, the schoolmistress. The former was ably handled by Mr. Edwards. "Dusty" at one time was a poor, confirmed wretch who subsequently "strikes it rich" and comes to the rescue of those few who were his friends in the hours of adversity. His dress, however, as a tramp was somewhat ridiculous. Miss Madge Carr-Cook portrayed the schoolmistress, in her usual emotional manner, and in the second act, where she gives the Baron a scathing rebuke and shows him up to his true colors, the audience simply went wild. Mr. Ingersoll as John Jefferson, an Illinois country lawyer, and a candidate for congressional honors, renders his part in the usual characteristic style, and but for a little embarrassment in the third act, did exceedingly well. George H. Edeson was in his element as Bill Jefferson, the Pike county farmer, while Mr. Tosker, as the president of the Farmers and Merchants' bank, performed his allotment with good grace. Baron Theodore Rothoman, an English financier, representing the Wall street gold-bugs, did fairly well, but of course, the sympathies of the audience were against him. Hugh Ward was highly pleasing as Jack Scribbler, the editor of the Jeffersonville Journal, and as was evidenced by the applause which greeted his appearance, he has a host of admirers in this city. Miss Warren as Virginia Russel was well received, as was also Miss Jerome, who enacted the role of Daisy Bellwood, the part assigned to Miss Pulock, who did not appear on account of being indisposed. Harry Hathaway did very well as the workingman. George Penrose made his first appearance at the Grand last night. His role was that of the sheriff of Pike county. The play continues during the week.

Miss Edith Pollock, it was learned last night, leaves for the East on the 20th to join her husband in New York, who has now recovered from his recent siege of illness.

AT THE LYCEUM.

For lack of seating capacity the Lyceum management very reluctantly had to turn away business last night on the occasion of Harry Corson Clark's first appearance at the West side house. The Zion's Wheel club, one hundred strong, occupied front seats on both sides of the house, their club banner showing up prominently in one of the boxes. Clark reciprocated by wearing one of the club's rosettes.

For a curtain raiser the well known flower scene from Ingomar with creditable staging and costuming was presented with Edmund Hayes in the male role. His fine physique, resonant voice and finished acting coupled with Miss Lytton's able rendering of the role of Parthenia made a very acceptable counter foil to the hilarious comedy that followed. My Awful Dad, a comedy in two acts by Clayton Matthews, is essentially a star piece, and with Corson Clark as the central figure it is needless to say it was an unqualified success. Given a rising young barrister blessed with a father with juvenile propensities, who has a disagreeable way of shocking his fiancee revert on his devoted son's head—and there is a rich mine for farcical comedy. Clark on entering was saluted a big ovation including a bouquet. Not until he had completed a verse of The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo, did the audience quiet down. Adonis Evergreen, the spurious old pater familias, is a part that fits Clark's style like a glove. J. J. Williams, who is well known to the habitues of Wonderland in its palmy days, also made his first appearance with a make-up striking a like one of Utah's ex-governors. He was well received. Mr. Monroe as Dick Evergreen, together with Louis Henry as Felix Rothoskoff, assisted in making the comedy a success.

Miss Tuttle as Matilda Waddington made a charming widow, effectually demonstrating that she is as much at home in comedy as in heavier parts. Emma Marigold, portrayed by Miss Spencer, another debutante, was a strong little piece of humanity. The other cards of Fido, Hoe and Dido were filled by Messrs. Lillie, Mathews and Henry. Mrs. Briggs, the inductive landlady, was impersonated by Nellie Beatty.

My Awful Dad goes the balance of the week and judging from the advance sales, will play to good houses.

LOGAN.

LOGAN, UTAH, - - JAN. 6, 1896.

City Council.

The new city council entered on its duties last Thursday evening, having at that time been convened in special session by call of Mayor Kimball, for the purpose of taking action on his appointments to various offices. The council is divided politically into six Democrats and four Republicans. Hon. John E. Cutler, a member from the First mountain ward, was elected president. The mayor was present and made a brief speech in which he expressed the hope that the utmost harmony would prevail between the legislative and executive departments of the city government. The appointments made by the mayor received the endorsement of the council, and during their term of office the following gentlemen will fill the offices named: Joseph Quinney succeeds himself as auditor; John Dahle succeeds Henry Ballard as road supervisor; A. H. Palmer was appointed watermaster; Edward E. Holden was re-appointed electrician; Dr. W. R. Parkinson is the new quarantine physician, and C. R. Hawkins, chief of fire department. Richard Davidson retains his position as fire department groom. No changes were made in the police force, and as the present officers are capable men, they probably will be retained. President Cutler appointed the twelve standing committees. Company C of the N. G. U., by its lieutenant, F. A. Newberger, asked that the city pay the rent of the armory. The matter was referred to the finance committee. It is not known whether the mayor intends to reappoint the present city attorney, but it is believed he will appoint a successor. The first regular meeting of the council will be held January 15th, when other appointments may be made.

Sudden Death.

An old and respected citizen of the Second ward, Brother Josiah Hendricks, died an attack of heart failure on Wednesday last, which caused his death. He was playing with one of his grandchildren when it was observed that he suddenly straightened out on his chair and his face assumed a grayish cast. He was immediately laid on his bed, where he gave two gasps and expired. Brother Hendricks was over 72 years of age. He leaves a large family, but most of the children are adults, and several of them are married. The funeral was delayed until Saturday morning, as his children were scattered over different parts of Utah, Idaho and Montana, and some of them were hard to reach. The services were held in the Second ward meeting house, and had a large attendance. It was remarked by one of the speakers that Brother Hendricks had many times declared that he would never know the pangs of death, and his sudden and seemed to perfectly fulfil the prediction, as those present fully believed that he did not experience the least pain.

General News.

By previous arrangement companies C and D met on the last day of the old year on the A. C. of U. target range in a test of marksmanship. Company C secured a victory of 157 to 117 points. Fifteen members were chosen from each company, and each marksman fired five shots. The sun was reflected so brightly from the snow that the shooting was not as good as is customary at ordinary practices. On New Year's day company C went to Richmond to compete with company B of that place. Most of the Richmond boys are good hunters and marksmen, and by a beat the Logan company by 55 points. After their inspection and drill on Saturday afternoon, company D formulated a set of resolutions protesting against the adoption of some recommendations respecting the Logan company, made by Inspector General Tanner a short time ago. What those recommendations were has not been made public.

Two bold robbers turned out last Thursday to hold a mountain lion in a man reported having seen lions west of the Logan. They were armed with Winchesters and outfits complete, making preparations to be effective against lions, but "nary" lion did the shooting. After searching for that and finding nothing at dark they returned, only to be reminded that when the man had drawn a bead on the good resolutions expired by the season of the year, and was thought likely "something," if he had it was a winged lion and was over Bridge.

Judging from the blowing of steam, ringing of bells and blowing of whistles on Saturday, when the news was wired that President Cleveland had signed the proclamation, Statehood must have been considered a goodly gift by the people of Logan. A number of citizens went to Salt Lake yesterday to assist in the inaugural ceremonies and jubilee of the capital.

Dancing parties have been numerous during the week. On New Year's eve one was given in the Parker hall, and on Friday evening a ball in the Second ward had a large attendance. Several dances of minor importance have been given. This evening an Innocent ball will be given in the Parker hall, and a character ball in Providence.

On Thursday evening M. H. Farnes, doing business on Main street as a tinner, stove and hardware merchant, made an assignment to John F. Squires. The books are not up to date and it is not known what the exact amount of the liabilities and assets is, but it is believed that the stock is ample, if carefully handled, to insure all creditors against loss.

Mrs. John Kemp, of Lewiston, fell to be committed to the insane asylum, and was taken down by Sheriff Turner. The lady's present mental condition is the result of a severe attack of la grippe, and is not of long standing. Her early recovery is hoped for. Brother Kemp is on a mission, which makes it doubly sad.

Bishop O. F. Whitney will assume his chair as a member of the B. Y. College faculty tomorrow, at the commencement of the winter term. The appointment is very satisfactory to the students and public generally, the Bishop being regarded as a valuable addition to Logan's capable educators.

Pursuant to the requirements of law the members of the board of education met last Thursday evening to select its officers for the ensuing year. The business was very quickly transacted, as all the officers from President Tanner down to Clerk Anderson were reelected.

Joseph Schaub, a photographer who once owned a gallery here, but who for some time has been employed by Mr. Savage of Salt Lake, married Miss Betty Abadie of Logan, in the Temple on Wednesday last.

A number of boys and young men have been arrested for disturbing the peace of Mrs. Martin Fink of Providence, on New Year's eve.

Miss Florence and Miss Winnie, daughters of Hon. Aurelius Stout, came up to Logan to spend the holidays under the new family roof.

Hon. Joseph Clark of Ogden has been here looking after his business interests.

Salt.

It is estimated that the mines and seas of our globe hold not less than 10,000,000,000,000,000 tons of salt in suspension. If these figures are correct and the ocean should be entirely dried up, there would be a deposit 420 feet deep over every foot of the great basin. If taken and spread over what is now dry land it would give us a covering 1,500 feet thick.

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a dyspeptic. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to one hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been taken sick today had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which proposition I cannot say too much."—H. O. Brown, Postmaster and Feeder, Kinsley, Ark.

Dr. G. W. Shores' Offer

To be Continued all this Week—How it Was Received by the General Public—Hundreds Have Availed Themselves of it.

Two Week's Treatment and Medicine Free to Every Patient Beginning or Renewing Treatment With Doctor Shores This Week.

The announcement made in these columns last Sunday that every patient beginning or renewing treatment with Dr. G. W. Shores during the week would receive two weeks' treatment free and all medicines entirely free created a surprise and another expression. It is safe to say that no offer made in this city ever met with such decided approval as this present offer. This was so plainly manifested during last week by the throng of sufferers, both old and young, hastening to Doctor Shores' office in the Herald block, to take advantage of his generous previous New Year's offer, and the thousands outside who could not get in, that it was plain to see that the people appreciate a generous offer made by Doctor Shores, and that he was sincere in his offer. Why, I remember some friends from the Great Salt Lake City, who had come down to see the sights, and I remember how they came from the first—time from all the others together. I shall never tire of telling what my friends told me about the good people living, for he saved my life when everyone believed I should have died.

For instance, Mrs. Elizabeth Parry, whose residence, says: "It does my heart good to see that we are blessed with this great doctor in our midst. My daughter had suffered so she didn't know me, her own mother. Her kidneys was gone and she had spasms confined to her bed. Everyone expected at times. Pain over and hands dripping with perspiration. She was so weak in thinking and conditions that I couldn't leave her alone. And Doctor Shores cured her after all others failed."

SPECIAL NOTICE.

For the benefit and accommodation of busy people, Dr. Shores will open his office from five to seven and Friday evenings from 7 to 8 o'clock.

TOTAL EXPENSE.

The total cost of a full course of treatment at Doctor Shores' institute is at the rate of $5 a month, whether it requires three months or three years to effect a permanent cure. This fee includes all medicines and the consultations and medical care of all patients to a final cure by Dr. G. W. Shores personally.
