A FIGHT FOR INSURANCE MONEY.

Prisoner Takes Advantage of a Row to Escape—Death in a Theater—Hanged a Boy.

Frank Bangs, 11 years old, was hanged to a tree on Friday at Seattle, Wash., by three of his schoolmates because he had given one of the trio a severe thrashing. He was cut down just in time.

The Arizona Gazette announces that arrangements have been made by the two railroad companies running out of Phoenix whereby such route will run an excursion train out to California during the summer on alternate weeks.

Sarah Russell, a young woman 18 years of age, was removed to the receiving hospital Tuesday night from the Orpheum theater, Los Angeles, where she was suddenly taken ill. She died at the hospital next morning. The cause was cerebral hemorrhage.

The coroner's jury Wednesday brought in a verdict that E. A. Harley, who was found dead in his room Tuesday night, came to his death from excessive use of alcohol. He was formerly well known as a scientist, and when quite young accompanied the government scientific expeditions to Central and South America. He was an extensive traveler in Europe and other countries. He was 41 years old. Of late years he has lived in Fresno, Cal., being employed as an expert accountant, civil engineer and assayer.

Frank Wheeler, a convict in San Quentin prison, Cal., escaped from that institution at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. As Wessler, who was employed in the jute mill, was leaving the mill to go to his cell, an accomplice of his started a fight among the convicts, and Wheeler, taking advantage of the officers' attention being centered on the fight, immediately took flight. The prisoners were immediately locked up and a thorough search made for the missing convict, but no trace of him was found. The guards continued their search until 6 o'clock next morning and then searched the surrounding country. They are now positive that the man is within the walls. Wheeler was sent to San Quentin for burglary in March, 1895, and two weeks later made his escape and was not recaptured until 1896, when he was found in Chicago.

Distinguished attorneys are battling in the United States court of appeals at San Francisco for $97,312, the amount of an insurance policy held by Guy C. Phinney, a Seattle millionaire, now deceased. The United States Life Insurance company of New York refused to pay the policy when Phinney died, and the widow brought suit before United States Circuit Judge Hanford at Seattle, and was awarded judgment in the sum named by a jury. The case was appealed, and is now being heard by the higher court. The ground upon which the insurance company is fighting the payment is that Phinney secured it fraudulently by concealing from the medical examiner of the company certain chronic ailments, and by failing to make the second payment of premium. Robert Sewell of New York and ex-United States Senator John B. Allen are arguing the case in the upper court for the insurance company, and Mrs. Phinney is represented by Andrew F. Burleigh, receiver of the Northern Pacific, Stanton Wolfenstein and Lorenzo B. Shepard.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT.

Prevailing Dryness Broken and Smaller Streams and Overflowed Lands Result.

The weather during the week ending Monday, June 1st, 1896, was very favorable to agricultural interests in all sections of the State. The good soaking rains on the 29th and 30th broke the prevailing dryness in the southern districts where it had become somewhat protracted and severe. The warm weather during the first part of the week caused the snow in the mountains to melt rapidly, and as a result the streams in the central and northern sections overflowed their banks, causing considerable damage to crops, bridges, etc.

Crops made wonderful improvement during the week and are fast recovering from the effects of the recent cold weather. Planting corn and potatoes is about finished; cutting and hoeing beets is going on in the extreme southern counties; beet thinning has commenced.

The principal crops are reported in good condition and growing nicely. No bad reports have been received during the week.

Remarks of Correspondents.

Meadow — Weather very warm up to 29th; thunderstorms with heavy rain on 29th, which will do much good; crop prospects better; corn, squash, etc., coming up healthy; wheat and rye first rate crop; oats a failure.

Beaver—The week has been the best this spring; good growing weather; lucern about six inches high and a good growth.

Pine—Warm, pleasant, nice growing weather, in fact the first warm weather of the season; planting corn and potatoes in the week.

Kanab—Fine weather at last, but very dry; lucern will be ready to cut in two weeks; corn and cane coming up and garden stuff growing nicely; water running not good.

New Harmony—The past week warm and pleasant; grain is light but looking well; cattle very backward; May 29th, raining.

St. George—Increased temperature improving appearance of crops; cutting and hauling of lucern actively going on.

Kayville—The past week has been an ideal one for farmers; all crops in good condition.

Orderville—The week has been warm with frequent showers of rain which has been very beneficial to all crops; grain, lucern and grass doing well.

Moab—Splendid growing weather during past week.

Bluff—Crops coming along slowly; lucern about a foot high; fruit trees in bloom; shade trees in leaf; grass on the ranges good.

Mills—Very heavy thunder and rain 29th; lots first cut of wild; everything growing fine and prospects for crops brighter.

Vernon—The past week has been remarkable for heavy showers and mild temperature. Crops showing stand nicely; summer fallow; grain just forming; fruit trees never heavy laden as that ever before; water has been held back and is plentiful now.

Spring City—Thursday, Friday and Saturday some rain; cold and on Friday a great deal of rain and, coming down which did much damage, especially to the fruit. Crops doing well.

Levan—Beautiful growing weather; heavy showers on 29th.

Uintah—Everything has been growing fast this week; very high water; bridges carried away on the Weber river, gates and saws of sawmills have washed away. Rain and thunder on 29th and 30th.

Richfield—The forepart of week sultry and hot. A good soaking warm rain 29th and 30th, giving abundance for distillers of phenomenal crops.

Hinckley—A fine rain the 29th. Everything is backward, but the past week has been warm and crops are growing nicely; rivers high.

Cache Junction—Last week warm; grain and beets growing fast; heavy rain night of 29th with rain continuing nearly all day of 30th. Fruit trees in bloom.

Nephi—Weather last week warm; grain and beets growing nicely; potatoes planted; fruit trees in bloom; bees beginning to swarm; rain on 29th; vegetation looking well.

Lake Shore—The grain crops doing well, commenced to irrigate them; sugar beets all planted and some will be soon ready to thin; lucern growing good; planting corn and potatoes; peas in blossom; rain 29th.

Fairson—Lucern crops extra heavy; helped by rains, everything looking fine. Extra heavy storms 29th and 30th.

Santaquin—Fine rains nearly every day; gardens and everything else growing nicely; lucern two feet high and rye three feet; plenty of irrigating water, still the nights are cool which keeps the streams in check a little; prospects of plenty of water until August.

Lehi—The past week all that could be desired for growth; the fine showers last two days were beneficial; thinning beets progressing; rainfall 14 inches.

Kanarraville—Warmer weather, although wind has considerably been quite strong through the week. Last couple of days quite warm and a couple of good showers today (29th) has helped the vegetation considerably.

Joseph—The past week has been exceedingly warm; warm weather on the foothills; lucern growing fine; wheat and oats looking well; wheat on 29th with fine rain.

Pine—The past week has been very favorable to crops; weather has been warm and vegetation made wonderful growth. Heavy thunder shower on the 29th, which was followed by rain and hail on 30th. Grain and hay looking well considering the late season; some bridges going out and damage done.

Castle—The past week has been very warm, and the last four days and nights it has rained hard at times, causing the snow in the mountains to melt so fast that the water has come down in torrents overflowing the bottom land and doing some damage.

Corydon—A good week for all kinds of crops; everything growing fast. Heavy rain on 29th and 30th; almost a frost this morning; early potatoes coming up. The hot weather of the past few days has caused the snow in the mountains to melt away so fast that the Water river is higher than it has been since 1862.

Moroni—Week very warm and dry the first five days. Heavy rain on Friday amounting to 0.30 of an inch. The warmth first part of the week caused the snow on the mountains to melt and furnished plenty of water for irrigation; the rain on the 29th caused the river to rise and overflow the banks. It has been a good week for vegetation.

Richer—First four days of week very warm, causing high water, great damage done; several hundred acres of grain under water. Provo river is like a lake in some places. Friday afternoon rain poured down in streams, in one hour 1 inch fell. Grain looking well; fruit trees in bloom; vegetation growing rapidly; potato plants lying about over; some few patches yet to plant.
