TO BUY THE SEWAGE.

The Offer Now Made by Salt Lake City.

WHO WANTS TO ACCEPT IT?

Sewage and Seventy-Six Acres of Land for Irrigation, Fertilizing and Cultivation.

Bids are being asked by the board of public works for the right to use the sewage of Salt Lake City for irrigating purposes and in such manner as to cause no nuisance or damage of any kind, such right to include the use of seventy-five acres of unimproved land now owned by the city lying at the outlet of the gravity outlet sewer, which is situated near the center of section 11, township 1 north, range 1 west, Salt Lake meridian, in Davis county. The sewage will be delivered by the city at the end of the covered portion of said sewer at the above mentioned outlet free of cost to the contractor.

The sewers of the city are constructed on the "separate system" and at the present time consist of a main sewer about seven miles in length, which is from 42 inches to 24 inches in diameter, and of about fifteen and a half miles of laterals, from 6 inches to 12 inches in diameter, with about 950 house connections are now made.

The main sewer will be provided with a 12,000 gallon flush tank and was but upon one occasion placed about 100 feet apart for taking in the gravity water through the wet portions of the city. There is also a connection with the North Temple street aqueduct where the water will be turned into the sewer for the purpose of flushing it and to prevent the foundations of the houses along the river in seasons of high water.

The volume of sewage which will, at the present time, discharge into the gravity outlet sewer is estimated to be about 1,500,000 gallons in 24 hours. The volume of glacial water is not known, but will perhaps approximate that of the present volume of sewage. The volume of water which will be turned into the sewer from the North Temple street aqueduct will vary according to the season. During seasons of high water this volume may, together with the sewage and glacial water, equal the full capacity of the sewer at the point where at other seasons there may be little if any water to run in it at this connection.

There is a large area of unimproved land near and below the outlet of the sewer that is without water for irrigating purposes, but which could be reclaimed by turning the sewage on it.

Dr. Joseph Albright, late assayer of the U. S. Mint at New Orleans, declares Dr. Price's Baking Powder is "perfectly pure and wholesome."

Building Permits.

The building inspector has issued building permits to a number of persons during the past week. The only one of any particular importance are to Mrs. Mary Judge for an eighteen-room brick house, to cost $10,000, and to C. A. Walker, for a seven-room brick, to cost $1,700.

UTAH'S GUARDSMEN.

Sunday at Saltair is Sure to be a Successful and Memorable Occasion.

It is now evident beyond any question of doubt that on Monday next there will be a great gathering of Utah's guardsmen at Saltair. Tonight the local companies will assemble in response to the orders of their commanders, and a parade will be the result. On Monday there will be a review of the forces and the column of movement is certain to be long and imposing.

The promoters of the excursion are jubilant over the outlook. Altogether the day will witness the largest gathering of Utah's citizen soldiery that has yet occurred.

Afternoon's Police Court.

Lee Hee, a vegetable dealer, made a complaint against Mrs. Dunford for keeping a fierce dangerous dog. Mrs. Dunford denies that her dog is vicious. The case will be tried next Tuesday.

Three men, A. F. Reed, Jerry Bertram and Charles Smith were arraigned on the charge of vagrancy. The evidence for the prosecution was officers Perry, Gillespie, Roberts and Shields. They testified that the defendants kept late hours and associated with gamblers and had had no employment, and Smith and Bertram have been regular companions of twelve months. They admitted practically all the officers testified.

The court found them guilty and sentenced them to twenty-five days each.
