BREVITIES.

Intelligent pet: "Ma, dear, what do they play the organ so loud for when church is over? Is it to wake us up?"

A child tied crape on the door knob to see if the carriages would come to take her out riding, as they did the family across the street.

"Bob, why did you take an armful of my shingles on Sunday?"

"Why, sir, mother wanted some kindling wood, and I didn't want to split wood on Sunday."

A recently-married lady lately consulted her lawyer on the following question: "As I wedded Mr. Smith for his wealth, and that wealth is now spent, am I not, to all intents and purposes, a widow, and at liberty to marry again?"

A little boy had a great liking for the water. His mother told him not to go down on the wharves or near the water—"For, Freddy if you should get drowned we should never know what had become of you." Oh, yes, you would, cause it would be in the papers."

An exchange lets fly the following: "Pulverized alum and common salt put on a piece of cotton and checked into a hollow tooth will shut up its aching so quick you will want to hug us for telling you; but you can't unless you have a certificate of good moral character, are a married woman, and over twenty-five."

A French priest recently declared that insurance was flying in the face of heaven. "To insure one's property," he said, "O, my hearers, is a crime! Calamities of all sorts are chastisements from on high. If you insure your property you prevent God from punishing you, should He see fit to do so."

Two ministerial candidates for a vacant pulpit, named Adam and Low, having to preach on the same Sunday, Low, who preached in the morning, took for his text, "Adam, where art thou?" In the evening Adam gave his return shot by selecting for his text, Lo, here am I."

There is a good chance for some nice young gentleman of delicate health, who wants some one to love him, some one to caress—and to work for him—at Antioch, Cal. Miss Agnes Lewis, of that region, is sixteen years old, and has plowed over 100 acres on her father's ranche, near Antioch, driving six horses attached to a three-gang plow.

Theodore Hook was relating to his friend, Charles Mathews, how, on one occasion, when sapping in the company of Peake, the latter surreptitiously removed from his plate several slices of tongue; and, affecting to be very much annoyed by such practical joking, Hook concluded with the question:

"Now, Charles, what would you do to anybody who treated you in such a manner?"

"Do?" exclaimed Mathews, "If any man meddled with my tongue, I'd lick him!"

The effeminate man is a weak poultice. He is a cross between root beer and gingerpop, with a cork left out. A fresh-water mermaid found in a cow-pasture with hands filled with dandelions. He is a tea-cup full of syllabub; a kitten in pantalettes; a sick monkey with a blonde mustache. He is a vine without any tendrils; a fly drowned in oil; a paper kite in a dead calm. He lives like a butterfly—nobody can't tell why. He is as harmless as a cent's worth of spruce gum, and as useless as a shirt-button without a hole. He is as lazy as a bread pill, and has no more hope than a last year's grasshopper. He goes through life on tiptoes, and dies like cologne-water spilt over the ground.

A gentleman, dressed in the height of fashion, and who recently arrived at the North Central depot, in Baltimore, from some point north, rushed into the baggage room, and in a peremptory manner demanded that his baggage be given to him in preference to all other customers. His manner was somewhat offensive, and when informed by a plainly clad but humorous son of the Emerald Isle, that he must have patience and wait his turn, he turned upon the adviser and imparter of knowledge with, "Sir, you'r an ass." The honest Irishman gazed at him an instant, and then replied, "And you, sir, are an ape; and what a pity is that when we two were made beaten that ye wasn't made an illephant, so that ye could have yer b——d trunk under your nose all the time."

Singularly enough with the decision of the Ecumenical Council at Rome that the Pope was infallible, it was announced by the American public that DOOLEY'S YEAST POWDER was universal infallibility.

We do not wish to dispute with Pius IX as to his infallibility, but we challenge any Baking Powder to be produced that is as nearly infallible as ours in strength, purity, freedom from deleterious substances, and that will stand such a chemical analysis. It is the healthiest, cheapest and best ever yet known. Try it, and be convinced.

President's Message to Congress on Southern affairs!

Prussians will Return to Paris unless Order is Established!

Insurgents obtain a Million from the Bank!

The Germans threaten to Open their Cannon on Paris!

A Conflict and a Terrible Scene

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Executive message to Congress—Naturalization Treaty with Great Britain confirmed.

WASHINGTON, 22.—Farnsworth, rising to a question of privilege, offered a preamble and resolution setting forth that the Senate has adopted a resolution declaring that it will consider no other legislative business but the deficiency appropriation bill, thereby refusing to consider any business which may originate in the House, therefore be it resolved that, the Senate permitting, when this House adjourns to-morrow, it shall be until the first Monday in December next at eleven o'clock a. m.

Earl De Gray and Lord Tenterden have accepted an invitation to be present at a banquet to be given in their honor, on April 10th, by the Grand Lodge of free and accepted Masons in the District of Columbia.

The Senate, in executive session, yesterday, confirmed the naturalization treaty made by Motly with the British Government. By this treaty Great Britain acknowledges the right of her subjects to renounce their allegiance and to become citizens of the U. S., and the reciprocal provisions made for conferring naturalization on Americans who may wish to become subjects of England.

The President sent the following message to Congress this afternoon: "To the Senate and House of Representatives:—A condition of affairs now exists in some of the States of the Union, rendering life and property insecure, and the carrying of the mails and the collection of revenue dangerous. The proof that such a state of affairs exists in some localities is now before the Senate. That the power to correct these evils is beyond the control of the State authorities I do not doubt. That the power of the Executive of the United States, lying within the limits of existing laws, is sufficient for the present emergencies, is not clear; therefore I urgently recommend such legislation as in the judgment of Congress shall effectually secure life, liberty and property in all parts of the United States. It may be expedient to provide that such law, as shall be passed in pursuance of this recommendation, shall expire at the end of the next session of Congress. There is no other subject on which I would recommend legislation during the present session."

President U. S.,

NEW YORK.

The gold market—Resignation.

NEW YORK, 23.—Gen. McClellan has resigned his position as Superintendent of the Stevens' battery, the two million dollars appropriated by the United States and Commodore Stevens, for its completion having been exhausted.

There is no truth in the report that James Fisk, Jr., and Recorder Tweed, in pursuance of an order issued from the United States District Court, have returned the safes, papers, &c., taken two years ago from the office of the Union Pacific Railroad Co. Immediately after Judge Nelson's decision transferring the case of Fisk against the U. P. R. R. to the United States courts, Field gave to Hammond, the attorney for this road, permission to seize the safe, and for the past two days he has been examining the contents, and this fact is the only foundation of the report.

There were thirty-six bids for gold yesterday, amounting to $6,000,000, at from $11,050 to $11,088.

FRANCE.

Bismarck threatens Paris—Insurgents make a raise.

VERSAILLES, 22.—All the chiefs of the imperial army are retiring from the service; they have all returned from Germany.

PARIS, via London, 23, a.m.—Affairs continue quiet in Paris. Badges of the nationals are commanded to be worn. Vendome, in the front of which traffic is allowed; there all carriages are stopped. Cannons threaten the Rue de la Paix and Rue de Castiglione. Isolated groups along the Boulevards Montmartre, are discussing the condition of affairs. The general opinion is that the new government is incapable of providing work for the people, and that the military and administrative functions of the government ought to be entrusted to energetic Republicans.

VERSAILLES, 22, via London 23.—A later circular from the Executive to the prefects of departments states that order is gradually being re-established in Paris. The anticipated demonstration, Saturday, will be closed citizens of Paris yesterday, had a beneficial effect. The Assembly has voted unanimously, a dignified proclamation to the people and the bonds of the Assembly and Executive are drawn closer. The mobilee have offered to assist the government against anarchy. The circular closes by declaring that all good citizens may may feel assured.—Marshall Canrobert has made advances to Prest. Thiers, which are well received.

PARIS, 12.30, p.m., 23.—At one o'clock this morning great excitement was caused by a false alarm that the Prussians were coming to-day. Shots were fired from rifles and cannon at Bellville and Montmartre.

The Journal Official publishes a proclamation in the name of the public and the garde nationale, deprecating acts of violence.

The Paris deputies publish a manifesto to electors, of which the following is a synopsis:

"On the 10th instant the people of Paris, insisted on the removal of the Assembly to Paris, as that city could be the only possible capital of France; and it was necessary to avoid agitation, while the invader despoiled in the soil of France, for the Assembly to hasten thither for the delivery of France and to serve the Republic." The proclamation is well received.

VERSAILLES, 22.—Several Paris newspapers have removed to Versailles. The Paris insurgents obtained, from the Bank of France a million of francs, against a formal deposit of treasury bonds; a requisition was made by them on Rothschild, who refused payment.

PARIS.—The Journal Official says that Bismarck has informed Thiers that the Germans will occupy Paris on Sunday, unless by that time Thiers is master of the situation.

VERSAILLES.—In the National Assembly to-day an adverse report was made from the committee on the bill to provide for the election of a municipality in Paris. Jules Favre read a letter from Bismarck, who says that events in Paris do not indicate the execution of the convention entered into with the German commanders when the peace convention was signed. He forbids any approach to the lines before the forts occupied by the Germans. Bismarck claims the restoration, within twenty-four hours, of the telegraph leading to Paris, which has been destroyed, or Paris will be treated as an enemy, and should there be any more proceedings in violation of preliminaries the forts will be opened on the city. Favre stated to the Assembly that he had replied to Bismarck that the insurrection in Paris was a surprise to the government, but would be repressed; and if there was any delay in its suppression it was because the government was still hopeful of avoiding bloodshed. The government had no means of repairing the telegraph, but would ask its reinstatement of the mayors of the arrondissements through which it passed.

PARIS, 22.—This evening a large number of unarmed persons reached the Rue de la Paix, at the entrance of the Place Vendome, and appealed to the sentries to give way, and not impede their passage into the districts occupied by the insurgents and the national guard, but the request was refused by the sentries. The demonstrators thereupon unfurled the colors of the nationals. The sentries threatened to bayonet the flag bearer, and the crowd at once commenced to retire. Baron Nathan then seized the flag and exhorted the crowd to advance against the illegal force occupying the place. The order was obeyed, when the nationals occupying the place, beat their drums and fired in the air and the crowd retreating too slowly, three ranks of the nationals filed out from the body, and fired. There was a terrible scene for five minutes, then the crowd broke into a terror-stricken retreat. At least 30 persons were killed and wounded. Baron Nathan received two shots in the chest. The nationals in the Place Vendome have since been reinforced. The national guards generally have been called to arms, and fighting is apprehended to-night. The affair creates a sensation among the people of Paris.
