An Exciting Scene, Which Promised a Tragedy, at a Hotel.

[illegible] Recovering—A Boom Town from the Shadow of Bankruptcy.—A Boy Hero.

The body of J. M. Hines, conductor on the Great Northern, who had been missing three weeks, has been found in a badly decomposed state on the prairie near Great Falls, Mont., with a pistol near by, indicating suicide.

Two girls, eighteen years of age, Annie Alton and Gertie Sweitzer, daughters of the leading merchant and county auditor respectively, of Anacortes, Wash., made a start for the World's Fair without apprising their parents of their intention. They got as far as Seattle when their nerve failed them and they telegraphed their parents to come and get them.

Bert Young, a machinist in the Santa Fe shops at San Bernardino, was badly injured on Monday by the sudden falling of a large casting which he was assisting in putting on a lathe. One of his ears was nearly torn off, his left arm was lacerated and two fingers on his left hand were cut off. Eight stitches were cut in his back. He will probably recover, but will be badly scarred.

Word has been received of a murder at Little Bear Valley, Cal. It seems that a party camped on the mountains, and after drinking began quarreling. Charles Button and Gus Hohn became victims and the latter, as the report says, accused the former of stealing a bottle of whisky. Hohn started for Button with a knife when it was taken from him, after which he went over for his Winchester, but Button was too quick and shot him dead.

The divorce case of Tillie Pife against James M. Pife was heard in the superior court of Oakland, Cal., on Monday. The wife accused her husband of cruelty because he refused to kiss her. She pleaded with him for a kiss, she said, and he replied, "I do not want any of that kind of love." Then again she says that he used to gather the neighbors at his house and they enjoyed a little gambling. The judge ordered a portion of the complaint stricken from the record.

A. J. Marley, an old resident of Wardner, Idaho, has been adopted home and sent to the Blackfoot asylum by Probate Judge Gregory. For some time Mr. Marley had been at work on a washing machine by which he expected to obtain a patent, and this is considered the exciting cause of his derangement. A large scar on the top of his head, the result of a saber cut received during the war, is also thought to be a predisposing cause.

Some two weeks ago George Poindexter, of Portland, Oregon, when he arrived at Laramie, Wyo., going west, made known the fact that he had been fleeced on the train of $20 by accepting a sharper that smoked on a $1000 check on a Denver bank. Three of these smooth confidence men have been making headquarters at Cheyenne, where two of them have just been arrested. In the possession of the men were found blank checks on Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake and Cheyenne banks.

Mrs. E. M. Denny, of Astoria, Oregon, has received by mail a living tree from the Garden of Gethsemane. It was sent by T. J. Alley, of the Jewish Relief mission at Jerusalem, in appreciation of the lady's untiring work for the relief fund. The plant was packed in a condensed milk can, the package weighing less than half a pound, which is the weight limit of the International Postal union. The brave little traveler is growing beautifully in its new home, says an exchange, and boasts of having accomplished the longest voyage ever made by a living tree, fully 11,000 miles.

A distressing tragedy occurred on Monday afternoon at the old Hopper ranch, ten miles south of Santa Rosa, Cal. Chester Lehman, a twelve-year-old warshoe and I. stanly killed by his companion, two years older, named Gasperich. The boys had been playing near the dairy house when the farm hands were called into the house to dinner. One of them had been cleaning a gun and left it lying on a table in the dairy cellar. Soon after the men went into the house the loud report of a gun was heard. A man rushed to the dairy house and found the lad lying in a pool of blood, the lower portion of his face being shot away. The gun was on the floor, but the boy was nowhere in sight. The shooting was wholly accidental, but it is thought the boy became so frightened that he ran away to the hills.

A sensation was created yesterday at the Baldwin hotel, San Francisco, on Monday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. It became evident that a quiet but neatly dressed man about 45 went in and passed up to the parlor floor, accompanied by a dark-haired and rather handsome young woman. In a few minutes the elevator boy heard loud and angry words, saw the woman draw a revolver and snap it at the man. The latter sprang like an athlete upon her, knocked her down and took the revolver flying. Then he ran down to the office. Meanwhile the proprietor and chief clerk had become aware of the trouble. They all met at about the same time. The man seemed considerably excited. He proved to be ex-District Attorney Allen of Santa Rosa, for some time past a resident of Fresno county. "You know me, don't you?" he said to the clerk. "Yes, I know you," was the response. "But what's that got to do with it? Why do you come here and make trouble? You are not staying in the house." Allen admitted that he was not, and said that he had gone up to the parlor on suspicion of the woman. Afterward she got angry, and drew the revolver. She was, it was intimated, an acquaintance whom he had known for some time. The man went out one way and the woman, who had come alongside, another. They wanted to go back and get the revolver and also two small valises or portmanteaus, but the hotel people would not permit it. It appears that Allen and the lady first again showed up once in the elevator, and, though the latter had snapped the revolver, they went away together. Allen was district attorney of Sonoma county some eight years ago. During his term of office he secured large land interests at or near Fresno very cheaply and from which he is said to have grown very well off. He has a wife and several children in Fresno county. It is thought the woman claimed that Allen owe her husband. Her husband, who demanded an idle, was Allen is going to county, she said as her eyes flashed and as she drew the pistol, "Then I will kill you!" The proprietor's district attorney saw the shot. Where they went when they finally left Allen was not known. There was considerable excitement at the hotel over what came so near being a tragedy.
