AN ARMY OF DELEGATES

Hundreds of Sunday School Convention Workers are Arriving.

BUSY AS BEES AT UNION HEADQUARTERS

A General Information Bureau and Caterer's Accommodations—Assembly Hall Probably Too Small—Program.

Interest and activity of the most earnest character prevailed at the headquarters of the Deseret Sunday School Union in the Temple block building for several hours yesterday in preparation for the convention which begins in the Assembly Hall on Monday morning next, and continues for two days.

The place resembled a large library bureau and hum more than anything else. The various committees in charge were kept constantly busy giving information to the delegates as they came in and reported from the different Sunday schools of the Stake.

The committee on entertainment, consisting of George W. Brimhall, J. W. Summerhays and George Goddard, had their rooms well supplied with information of general interest. The committee on reception is composed of George Goddard, Julia Dean Johnson, Mrs. Emma Lewis Levy, W. Richards, while the executive and finance committee is made up of J. H. Wallace, Joseph Bennion and W. H. Dwyer. All of these committees were being assisted by an energetic military company of ladies, Mrs. Harriet Farrell was in charge of a large corps of young boys who were kept running hither and thither with messages from the various committees. Across from the Assembly Hall, the well known caterer, had a number of tables spread, at which the ladies of the various wards in the Stake were busily cared for in being made the recipients of a palatable luncheon.

The assembly hall on the first floor of the Bee Hive was full in Utah and the indications are that it will be very largely attended. The general committee has already ordered three thousand badges and the most of them have been delivered. The number of badges will represent about the number of delegates present.

Secretary Pyper and other members of the committee became convinced today that the Assembly Hall would have to be abandoned for the sessions of the convention and in anticipation of that arrangements have been made to secure the Tabernacle.

A pleasing feature of the convention will be the increasing musical exercises. The will be participate due to the untiring efforts of Secretary Pyper, Prof. McClellan and John Held.

Tomorrow morning the delegates to the convention will be kept busy. Beginning at 9:30 o'clock, and continuing on every train throughout the day, will visit the various ward Sunday schools and attend the Sunday school service in the morning, and in the afternoon and evening at which they will speak, giving their views on Sabbath school matters.

A two days' session of the convention will be held and a most interesting program will be enjoyed. Five thousand copies of it have been distributed and more have been ordered printed. The program is as follows:
