WEBER COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

An Enthusiastic Convention at Ogden.—Resolutions Adopted.

There was an enthusiastic meeting of Weber county Republicans at Ogden on Saturday afternoon. Stirring speeches were made and delegates appointed to attend the Republican Territorial convention to be held at Provo, on April 1st next, at which time and place two delegates will be chosen to attend the Republican National convention to be held in Minneapolis, on the 7th of June.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we unqualifiedly commend and endorse the administration of President Harrison.

We congratulate the Republican party, and the nation at large, on the passage and successful operation of the McKinley tariff, known as the McKinley bill, and especially on that portion of it known as the reciprocity clause, which has so largely increased the markets for the manufacturers, farmers and producers of our country and has already turned the balance of trade so largely in our favor.

We commend the administration of the state department for its dignified, masterly and adequate handling of the fishery question on the New England coast, upon the successful maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, upon the wonderful and peaceful termination of the Chilean difficulty with the per, without the aid of the sword, and upon the firm bearing on the During and controversy with Great Britain.

We are heartily in favor of the free coinage of American silver.

We strenuously object to any tinkering with the tariff and recommend that no back ward steps be taken. A proper protective tariff on wool and lead, and the encouragement of the manufacture of sugar are of vital importance to the best interests of the Territory, and that the action of our recent Democratic legislature in refusing to restore the beet sugar industry of Utah, meets and receives our hearty and unqualified condemnation.

Resolved, That in our opinion no public man who has been honored by the Republican party has a right to disavow the mandates and refuse to honor its behest and behest. It is admitted by all that our present great statesman of state, James G. Blaine, is the strongest man who can be named by the National Republican Convention in Minneapolis as its candidate for President of the United States.

Resolved, That our delegates to the Republican Territorial Convention at Provo be instructed to use their influence to elect two delegates and two alternates to the National Republican Convention, who will do all in their power to secure the nomination of James G. Blaine, and to use all efforts to induce his acceptance thereof.

W. R. WEBB,
H. H. MOYE,
W. H. CALLS, Sec.
MOSES GREEN.

Resulted Fatally.

The unfortunate man Ole Eriksen who was injured by being thrown from a wagon while the team was running away on Twenty-fourth street at Ogden, Friday evening, died of his injuries on Saturday at the City Hospital, to which place he was removed about 11 o'clock in the morning. He was kept at Dr. Canry's office through the night. Toward morning he became delirious and died quietly about 11 o'clock unconscious, in which condition he remained until he breathed his last. His remains were removed to Kinney Bros.' undertaking parlors on north Washington to be prepared for burial.

An Interesting Celebration.

The Relief Society Jubilee celebration held in the Eleventh ward on Thursday evening last, the notice of which has inadvertently been delayed, was perhaps one of the largest and most enjoyable gatherings ever held in the ward meeting house. The services consisted of a short and interesting opening address by President Margaret D. McMaster, prayer and sacred remarks from Counselor Joseph E. Taylor, Bishop Robert Morris, and others, readings, recitations and singing. About 10 o'clock a delicious dinner, furnished by the Society, and served by a host of interesting young ladies, was enjoyed by the vast assembly. At 11:30 the exercises were brought to a close. The hall had been beautifully decorated, and over the stand hung likenesses of the first three presidents of the general organization of Relief Society, Emma Smith, Eliza R. Snow Smith, and Zina D. Young; also that of the president of the Eleventh Ward Society, Margret D. McMaster. The report of the society read showed the society to be in an excellent condition and convinced all present that it exerts an influence for good in the community.

Amusement Notes.

The closing engagement of Miss Gale on Saturday last was poorly attended, the weather being anything but agreeable. But those who came to the Theatre were well rewarded, a fact which they acknowledged by hearty and judicious applause. Miss Gale's Parthenia was exceedingly well acted and Mr. Creston Clarke's Ingomar gave good satisfaction.

"THE RIVALS."

This quaint, old comedy will be presented tomorrow evening at the Theatre by the Jefferson Dramatic Company. The engagement is for one night only, and it is probable that the Theatre will be crowded to its utmost capacity. Such brilliant comedies as those comprising this company attract theatregoers in spite of weather and counter-attractions.

PIANO RECITAL.

The noted pianist Mrs. Crawford, will give a recital at the Metropolitan parlors tomorrow evening. She is a graduate of Leipsig Conservatory and is spoken of as one of the rare musical geniuses of the present.

MINSTREL.

Among the features of the entertainment to be given in the Fourteenth Ward assembly hall tomorrow night we notice a vocal solo by Prof. W. C. Clive. Altogether a good programme has been prepared.

WONDERLAND.

The attendance at this place continues large. The "spiritualistic" performance of Dr. Wallis, are some of the most mysterious ever seen even in "Wonderland." The stock company are giving good satisfaction in the theatorium, where "Rixie" is presented.

SUNDAY LIQUOR SELLING.

The Saloons of This City Did a Wholesale Business Yesterday.

Way the law prohibiting the Sunday liquor traffic in this city is not enforced is a question that is now agitating no small portion of the community. Yesterday liquor was served over the bars of saloons in all parts of the city. The clink of beer glasses and chatter of drunken men could be heard for into the streets.

Not only were entrances open to the thirsty and noisy throng who frequented these places, but in many instances front doors swung back and forth on their hinges as they do upon other days of the week.

Policemen paced heedlessly up and down the streets. Occasionally a tightly intoxicated individual would emerge from a dive and be taken to lose, but under such circumstances only, and up to midnight only eight drunks were registered at the City Hall. An official of the department informed the writer today that every saloon in the city was open yesterday excepting the one belonging to Auer & Murphy.

When asked why this palpable and disgraceful violation of the city ordinances was allowed, he replied smilingly, "It is one of those things the least you know about the better."

Assembly Hall Lecture.

On Sunday evening the Assembly Hall was crowded with people anxious to hear Mr. C. A. Hall, President of the "Church of Christ," commonly called "Hedricklites," who have their headquarters at Independence Missouri, and hold possession and title to the land known as the Temple Block. His subject was the consideration of the claims of Joseph Smith, the head of the reorganized Church, as the successor of his father and prophet, seer and revelator of the Church. Mr. Hall occupied about an hour in a calm and dispassionate review of these claims, and showed they were without foundation in fact or in the revelations of Joseph Smith. He spoke with much force and earnestness, and was listened to with great interest and satisfaction.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Kelley, a "Josephite" Bishop, arose from the audience and interrupted the meeting by making a request for the Assembly Hall to reply to the speaker. He was informed that the hall could not be opened for any discussion of the kind. Mr. Kelley persisted in his request and President Angus M. Cannon had previous to the meeting declined to let Mr. Kelley have the building and explained that Mr. Hall had been given permission to use it because he had none in the city, while the "Josephites" had their own chapel. Mr. Kelley still kept up the disturbance, so the meeting was called upon to sing, and the meeting was dismissed by benediction from Mr. Hedrick.

Conference Rates.

High Council.

The High Council of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion will convene on Wednesday, March 23rd, 1892, at 7:30 p. m. Members of the council and all others interested in the meeting are respectfully requested to take note of this.

JAMES D. SPIRLING,
Clerk of Council.

Probate Court.

The following orders were made by Judge Bartch today:

Estate of W. W. Player, deceased; order made fixing April 5 to hear return of sale of real estate.

Estate of Andrew Miner, deceased; hearing on petition for order to sell real estate came on regularly. Hilda Hoses administratrix. Prayer of petition granted on filing additional bond of $2000. Order made for sale of real estate. Barlow Ferguson appointed attorney for minor heirs.

A Pickpocket Nabbed.

ALT o'clock this afternoon Lucy E. Debenham, a young lady, who resides at 541 East Fifth South street, had her pocket picked near the clock corner on Main street. She detected the thief and called upon ex-Secretary Gillespie, of the Chamber of Commerce, who was passing by at the time, to catch him. That gentleman started in pursuit of the offender and apprehended him near Godbe's corner. When asked to disgorge he did so without uttering a word. He was turned over to Sergeant Brown, who took him to the station house, where he plead not guilty. The case was set down for hearing at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

CONCERNING A GREAT SOLDIER.

How General Wolseley Went Learned to Cook.

General Kong was well known in the army as an officer and an accomplished practical cook, and it was during largely to his efforts that the standard of rations for the army was raised as high as it is. In telling how he learned to cook he said that when he was a young man he was fortunate enough to contract a friendship with an old French gentleman who had fled from San Domingo at the revolt of the negroes, leaving his home and settling almost penniless in a little cottage near Petersburg, Va. His sitting room and kitchen were separated by a partition only five feet high. Here he entertained poor, and as he was too poor to hire a waiter or a cook he prepared his own meals, placed them on the table, and then, calling his guest and dressing a dress coat, dispensed his hospitality with the dignity of a king. From this old gentleman General Kong said he learned both cookery and soldiers duck.

How to Ask a Favor.

When one wishes to draw a draft on the friendship of another he is to preface a certain amount of social capital, the amount being measured by the good nature of the person of whom the favor is asked, the degree of friendship between the two persons interested and the magnitude of the request. It is, therefore, best to ask as few favors as possible. When it must be done, however, the request should be preferred with such modesty that it shall be considered as being as though it were asked as a matter of right. Then, again, the form of the request should be so framed that the other party will feel at liberty to decline with embarrassment either to himself or the one asking the favor. Such humble conduct will succeed just as often as the bravery manner so frequently employed by those who sell for tripes with things as though they were meals a matter of course. But it is best to follow the advice of Polonius:

Neither a borrower nor a lender be,
For loan oft loses both itself and friend,
And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.

How to Raise Your Hat.

They do this thing better in France, but there also rather stands it. The proper thing to be raise the hat above the head and bow slightly, moving the hat forward as the head inclines. In one can also take the hat from before the head and bow slightly over it, but the first is the more general salutation. Merely to uncover the head without bowing is somewhat military in its method, but it does not appear to convey the same respect. To simply touch the hat is not much better than a simple nod, and to jerk the hat down to the waist in a line parallel with the body is an insolence which deserves a kick whenever a young man's bump thoroughness leads him to such rendezvous shines. It is needless to say that a proper salutation should always be small imply made and that the smile should not be coarse or spitefully so appear to be only a grin, nor depart so far as to seem to have been summoned by an effort.

How to Hang Up Trousers.

The best way is not to hang them up. Fold them flat and lay them down. If there is no place to do this, hang them on two nails. Bring the waistband, and put the front part of the band on one nail and the middle of the back to another at the same height, so that the garment will hang flat.

How to Trim Trees.

It requires knowledge and courage to trim trees properly. The lack of these qualities has spoiled many a fine grove in the country. The trees are trimmed from being what they should. In the first place it must be borne in mind that a tree needs boughs in which to grow, and that if branches are suffered to grow too near the ground the shade from the tree will kill all the vegetation under neath. Don't be afraid, therefore, to cut down trees which crowd your fine specimens, and do not be afraid to cut off the lower branches of a tree to be preserved. Be sure that all the limbs you get are cut so that they should be contrary to thinks out and those branches which crowd over and cross others to the injury of the symmetry of the tree are those which should be lopped off.

A bear whose head weighed fifty-three pounds and whose hide was nine feet across was recently captured by two Idaho doctors by means of a piece of pork saturated with chloroform and sugar.

A Queer Creature Dead.

Mason Evans, the much paragraphed "wild man" of Monroe county, is dead. The fatal grip took him off. Evans had been a great curiosity in this section for more than forty years, which time he had roamed in the woods, apart from the comforts of civilization, subsisting on roots and berries drawn from the earth, with an occasional beef surreptitiously taken from some convenient barnyard. He was captured several times but always managed to escape. Seven or eight years ago he was captured by some fearless fellow with an enterprising force of mind for the purpose of entering him in a dime museum as the "Wild man of Borneo."

When taken his body was as hairy as that of a bear and covered with filth and vermin. His appearance at the time of his capture and for half almost lost the power of speech. For twenty years he lived in a cave of the Chilhowee mountains, and was never known to have spoken a word during that time. He lived in a state of nudity, and was fond of raw meat.

Those who knew his history say that he was born in Monroe county, near Hiwassee college, in 1837 or thereabout. He was of a good family and received a splendid education. At about twenty years of age he was engaged in teaching school, and in the meantime fell in love with a handsome young lady of his neighborhood, and then left his affections with apparent favor. One night he called and asked her to become his wife. She said "No." He went out into the darkness and it was many years before he was seen again, and then he had fleen his fellow men, like a frightened fawn.—Cor. Chattanooga Times.
