MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Benefit of the Dustin-Farnum's Empire stock company appeared for the second time during their engagement at the Theater last evening in the above named play, and further established themselves as artists of high class, which it affords genuine pleasure to see and hear. The Benefit of the Doubt is a play that gives ample opportunity to the actors who gave it last night, and fully satisfied the audience that they had witnessed a play worthy of the great ability possessed by such actors as Viola Allen, Ida Conquest, William Faversham, J. E. Dodson, Robert Edeson and the actors connected with it. The thread of the story held enough to be followed with the most intense interest; you could have heard a pin drop in the audience during the strong scenes, as rapt was the attention. The story is the old one; a jealous wife's imagination leads her to suspect her husband of an undue intimacy with another man's wife, which leads to an estrangement between two families and finally ends in the divorce court. Reconciliations are effected to no purpose for some time, though the differences are finally adjusted. Considerable work was done by Viola Allen, particularly in the scene where she is somewhat modest the influence of wine, instead of a scene usually seen a most finished piece of acting was given, thoroughly denoting the true artist. Miss Conquest seem to be a good winner of the honors, further extending the good impression made on the night before. Mr. Faversham with his pleasing stage appearance and manner simply captivated his audience, while the ease with which Mr. Dodson assumed the old man, with his many scenes, delighted, was genuinely enjoyed. The play was so well received last night that the announcement was made that it would be repeated tonight instead of "Hamlin." This will surely meet with favor, and it will no doubt be the means of filling the house for tonight's performance, which is the last of the engagement.

Mr. Chauncey Olcott's engagement will be the last attraction at the Theater commencing Tuesday, September 10th, and continuing for the balance of the week. Mr. Olcott is one of the clever young Irish artists of the American stage and he will present during his three nights engagement here three decidedly clever plays, opening Tuesday night with Mavourneen, giving The Irish Artist Friday night and closing his engagement with The Minstrel of Clare on Saturday night. Mr. Olcott is winning exceptionally high praise for his clever portrayal of the romantic Irish characters in Mavourneen, The Irish Artist and The Minstrel of Clare.

Mavourneen, which he will present here, recently had a phenomenal run in New York City and Mr. Olcott's night have been playing there still and not outside contracts interfered with the run. Mavourneen is a romantic tale of a hundred years ago, dealing with an epoch, that was, in this country and Ireland, full of dramatic interest. It was a period that tried men's souls, and while Mavourneen does not depend on sensation for its chief interest, it has many exciting moments. Mr. Augustus Pitou has equipped his star with a company of musical excellence and has placed before the public a production that, in point of scenery and costuming, has never been equaled in Irish drama.

On the Bowery, by Robert N. Stephens, produced by Thomas H. Davis and William T. Keogh to an artistic and magnificent manner, is the original and only genuine Bowery play ever the public. Steve Brodie, the champion bridge jumper of the world, who is known as the "King of the Bowery," and an adventure cast terminating successfully a billet of genuine "Bowery Girls," added popularity and other real passengers from that famous thoroughfare, appear only in this production. All other Bowery plays are flagrant imitations. The scenes and Bowery types of On the Bowery have been widely discussed and discussed in every leading journal of the world and contain everything of interest to be found in this metropolis of streets. The press in every city have pronounced it the greatest and truest stage picture of New York low life, especially of the Bowery, that has ever been seen.

The elaborate scenery, which takes two special cars to transport it, is from the brush of the artist John H. Young of the Broadway theater, New York, and was painted from photographs and sketches taken on the spot. Scenes of all importance points on the Bowery are shown; Chatham Square and the Bowery "L" road; both the exterior and interior of Steve Brodie's saloon, where the "Bowery King" reigns; East River by night; the famous of the Brooklyn Bridge; and take it was been equaled on stage presentations. This great show with its remarkable company will appear in this city before long. On the Bowery is a tremendous attraction and proves every where its last two seasons to be the greatest monetary success and sensation on the road.

Miss Hayden's Benefit.

The recital that will be given by Miss Lily Louise Hayden has been arranged for Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, at the Grand Opera House. The entertainment contains a musical treat such as Salt Lake has not had for months. Miss Hayden will be assisted by a number of the most prominent local artists. Miss Hayden during her residence in Salt Lake was a great favorite with the public, and it must be remembered that while she was here she had the benefit of more than fifty years of the best instruction that New York teachers, this Hayden. The enthusiasm created by Miss Hayden when she appeared here four years ago in the Tavernaise with Emma C. Thursby and Myron Whitney will be remembered by many. It was then that Myron Whitney said upon hearing Miss Hayden sing, "This is a wonderful voice. It is the time to make her mark in the future. It will be because she lacks the opportunity." Dallas golden secrets of the period a brilliant future for Miss Hayden, and it is upon their advice that Miss Hayden goes to Paris to complete her studies. This is the only opportunity the Salt Lake public will have of hearing Miss Hayden as the gifted young lady will after her return. The public should also remember that Miss Hayden was born in Salt Lake and desires to give her services to all worthy enterprises. There are very few stars who traditions or attributes in the city that have such a strong hold on the recipients of her country. This is the time to extend appreciation of the artist's generosity, and the public should turn out en masse and give Miss Hayden a cordial welcome at her recital. A long time ago will seven Miss Hayden are the Mormon Tabernacle, Mr. Hamlin Kinge, Miss Ruth Eldridge and Miss Myra Dryden.

"The Blue Danube."

It was the blue and not the quick thought of the writer who wrote the musical Hussar and his wife were day playing a strain in the park at Sarajevo, when suddenly the composer exclaimed: "Mozart, I have a waltz in my head quick, give me a sense of paper or an old envelope, I must write it down before I forget it." And After much rummaging Mozart at last found that neither of them had a letter about them—not even a tradesman's bill.

Strauss' music is continued light, but it weighed as heavy as lead on his brain until he could transfer it to paper, and he then called it "Danube." At such a heavy thought struck Franz Strauss, who little cared a cheap roll. The composer continued to ponder, and to the entire house and was successful. In music followed still the inspiration was incomplete. Strauss was frantic, and was about to make a wild dash for home, with the last part of his work ringing unceasingly in his head—his ears knew was long colored exhibit—when suddenly his free without beside of her dress, said he so forcat the remaining bars of "The Blue Danube" coursing to surface.

In New York a new department store is to have a continuous vaudeville show running in its building for all patronizers of a good, entertaining by more than 25 will be given free admission.

Augustin Daly announces that he will send out no road companies this season. The Union will no longer lease to his theater on the 7th of September. This place is extremely popular in London. The regular season will begin in November.

In the third act of H. Pinero's a parent working threatening machine is introduced. The hanging and cooking of the machine and the flying of the chew is so realistic that it startles the audience of the author back to scenes and sandbeds of days gone by.

A new Napoleon play is by Georges Ohnet, the novelist and author of "the Forge Master." It is called "Dernier de Lagardère," and the action takes place at the close of the great French emperor's reign. This character is quite black, however.

Madrid theaters must hereafter close at midnight by order of the military governor of the city. It has been necessary for some of them to keep up their performances till 2 in the morning. Madrid audiences demand a great deal for their money, two fresh pieces and a cuttle-cider being an one-season program.

T. Daniel Frawley's warm receptions by the patrons of the Columbia indicate that he is no mere or a favorite to leave himself out of the cast of his future productions unless there is a stronger reason for it than a desire to take a rest. His friends like to see him work and considerations of fatigue or inconvenience deserve no weight in court in them.—Music and Drama.

The spectacular feature of an American Beauty, the new comic opera in which Cheney & Lederer are to present Lotten Hewett the coming season, tableau a circus tent, introducing the circus stars of an elephant. The steed astride of which the sometimes is to make her first appearance in the new work was secured from a recent Arabian importation.

Anthony Hope has dramatized his novel Half a Hero, by way of following by the end of Francis Wilson's H. M. S. Pinafore. The prospect of an incredible dissertation of this sort of thing is appalling. Imagine Hawkes Harbor serving in Queen of a Queen, Tweedledee of a Thief, Sixpence of a Saint, or Fourteen of a Fork.

The opening of the Grand has been delayed unavoidably, for one week from the opening date, September 12th, so that the house will formally open for the season on September 20th. Three of the company so far known are Walter Edwards, George Edwards, E. S. Simpson and package Blakely. Rosenquist will appear during the opening week.

The Aryer company close their engagement at the Lyceum with tonight's performance. The company's opening here was a surprise and a delight to all who attended. It is one of the best attractions to visit Salt Lake to give the patrons an opportunity to see a high class company. Mr. Aryer showed the company to drop and the overture so that showed work with it in a certain extent. This company has proved that they are better than the average company of the sizes on the road and contains some clever people.

It now appears that the late Frank Mayo had not his income for $25,000 at the time of his death. It appears that when Mr. Mayo began his engagement in San Francisco, in April, his policy lapsed. As soon as he realized that he was in search with his managers he started to straighten out the matter. He was reinstated in his insurance, and gave some time all right, and he immediately sent a check for the amount of the premium to the New York office of the company. A month later Mr. Mayo was dead, and his promptness saved the $25,000 to his widow, and responsible at the received from his estate.

Grammar grade—G. L. Countryman, Lucile Howell, Arthur Harper Jr., A. J. Stigar, A. G. Cunningham, W. L. Rawlins, Edward Anderson, Rob A. Faust and Mary E. Corrigan of Salt Lake, J. R. Wilson of Miller and Mahonri Spencer of Taylorville.

TO THE DISTRICT COURT.

Mrs. Fay Chapman Held to a Higher Tribunal for Forgery.

Mrs. Fay Chapman the young ballet dancer will have to face the district court on the forgery charge. The case was concluded before Judge Winder yesterday afternoon, when the defense having no testimony to introduce, the court bound the girl over in bonds of $500. Being unable to furnish the required bail, the defendant was given over to the custody of the sheriff and taken to the county jail.

The concluding witnesses for the prosecution were Stephen Lyons, paying teller at McCornick's bank, who gave expert testimony as to the handwriting on the forged check being quite different to that on the genuine. Alfred Moore, Frank L. Talbot, the Carnival of Mystery proprietors, who gave similar testimony to that given by Mr. Harrison and Chief Irvine, who testified that on the night of her arrest he took specimens of her hand writing and that these specimens were as like the original writing on the forged check that he accused her openly of having done the work in the hope that he might get an admission of guilt from her, which, however, he did not succeed in getting.

Family Temple Records.

It is of much importance that families who do work for their deceased kindred in the Temple should keep private records of that work. The reasons for this should be apparent to every intelligent member of the Church.

The printed instructions to the home records, which are on sale at the DESERET NEWS office, enable many of the saints to keep an accurate and intelligible account of their Temple work, but there are others to whom the task is difficult, or who cannot devote the necessary time to it, and would prefer having it attended to by some competent person familiar with the kind of clerical labor.

The Genealogical Society of Utah proposes to do that kind of work, for all those who desire its services, at moderate charges. It will undertake to enter upon the work, and, if desirably in the order of family groups, genealogical information for those who are about to begin temple work. When this is done the sacred labor can be recorded by simply making the entries in the spaces under the appropriate headings opposite the respective names.

The society will also straighten out and put in shape, as well as can be, records which have become confused by irregular methods of entry.

All those who desire the services of the Genealogical Society in getting their family and individual records in systematic form are invited to communicate with the secretary, John Jaques, Historian's Office, Salt Lake City, or Franklin D. Richards, President Utah Genealogical Society.

"OR AND HIS TEACHERS."

Harry Vivian's, the famous Chesterfield, is to be heard in Salt Lake.

The Chautauqua Scientific and Literary Circle is known wherever the league of the Anglo-Saxon is used. It originated about 1878 at Chautauqua lake, New York, and has graduated after 18 to 20 year courses many tens of thousands of students. Dr. Lunder and chancellor, Bishop John H. Vincent, is known as widely as is the Chautauqua Circle and is in constant demand in Europe and America as a lecturer on questions scientific, literary, moral and religious.

Through the efforts of a prominent Salt Lake, the similar strong, has been provided upon to come fresh from Chautauqua to Salt Lake City next week and Tuesday evening, September 8, will give the most famous of his lectures, Tom and his teachers, at the First Methodist church. It is unnecessary not to be missed.

NOT A SICK DAY

For Over Thirty Years!

RESULT OF USING

AYER'S PILLS

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills for over thirty years have kept me in good health, never having had a sick day in all that time. Before I was twenty I suffered almost continually—sick headache, constipation—from dyspepsia, headaches, vertigo, or bile and other eruptive diseases. When I became confined that time some of my troubles were caused by constipation, I began the use of Ayer's Pills with the most satisfactory results, never having a single attack that did not readily yield to this remedy. My wife, who has been an invalid for years, also began to use Ayer's Pills, and her health was quickly restored. With my children I find no need that many of their ailments were remedied by constipation, and I never lost the pleasure of knowing that with children as with parents, Ayer's Pills, if taken in season, avert all danger of sickness."—H. Wentzel, Byron, Ill.
