A LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

When the Storm King Rules at the National Capital.

SNOW, FROST, ICE AND RAIN

The Arlington in a Deluge—Cab Women Among Their Sisters Abroad—Seeing Sights.

The "News" has been permitted to publish the subjoined extracts of a private letter from Miss Mabelle Snow to her brother, Lorenzo.

It is dated Washington, the 16th of February, and gives a vivid description of the storm that recently played havoc in the East:

I must tell you of the dreadful weather. The snow is 24 feet deep all over the city and Congress appropriated $25,000 to help us out. We had the snow so people could get out of their homes. The street works are all frozen up and we have the good fortune of having lights, but generally throughout the city there are no lights. Our street cars are all tied up, and the cars were completely covered, so cars have run for two days
