FROM WASHINGTON.

A Pension Test Case Before a District of Columbia Court.

THE TARIFF BILL IN THE HOUSE.

A Pension Clerk Dismissed for Loaning Money at Usurious Rates of Interest.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The first attempt to get a judicial determination of the legal right of the commissioner of pensions to suspend a pensioner from the rolls came up today in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. It was brought in the form of an application by Charles D. Long, a justice of the supreme court of Michigan, for a mandamus to compel Commissioner Lochren to restore him to his full rating, $72 per month. Justice Bradley issued an order on the commissioner to show cause why the mandamus should not issue, and the will being returnable today, the matter was argued by counsel.

Hopkins appeared for the petitioner. He spoke of the legal aspect of the case, and then vigorously attacked the pension policy of Commissioner Lochren and President Cleveland, declaring that the first administration of President Cleveland was narrow, illiberal, and parsimonious to the soldiers.

Assistant Attorney General Whitney secured Hopkins' speaking for the newspapers, and said the former Democratic administration of the pension bureau was a matter of public notoriety. He spoke of the pension for permanent helplessness granted Judge Long, and referred to the complainant's occupancy of the office of supreme court justice in Michigan at $5000 a year.

Commissioner Lochren, defending his action in said suspension, said the oath of office required him to exercise this power when necessary, in his judgment. In every case he had given the benefit of the doubt to the soldier.

The hearing will be concluded tomorrow morning.

TO HURRY THE TARIFF THROUGH.

There is evidently a purpose to hurry the tariff bill through when the House reassembles. It is probable the session will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning and last until 11 at night during consideration of the bill. Many people are urging that the bill be passed at an early date so that business affairs may be adjusted to the new conditions.

Several Democratic members of the House who signed the call for a caucus on the tariff bill do not believe it will now be held.

THE UNION PACIFIC.

Many Plans for Its Reorganization Proposed.

OMAHA, Dec. 22.—General Solicitor Thurston of the Union Pacific, in speaking of the scheme of reorganization, said: "There are many plans for reorganization of the Union Pacific property in the air. The general scheme, however, that seems to meet with most favor is that the Union Pacific proper, together with those lines which are properly a part of the system, although owned as leases, shall be reorganized under Congressional legislation, and subjected to sale under the direction of the court. A sale is absolutely necessary, that a new company may be formed that will permit a fresh start being made. With reductions made in the fixed interest charge, the property would be able to pay interest on its obligations and the principal of of the government debt, so that the government security would grow better every year, while the liability would grow constantly less. Should the administration disapprove of some of the features the treaty of reorganization would have to be completely discussed over again. The rights of the government must be sacredly guarded, as well as the rights of individuals, and this requires no inconsiderable time."

ANARCHISTS HEARD FROM

A Violent Manifesto Issued by French Reds in London.

Clever Exposure of the Society Arrested—French Anarchists Excited—Trade.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The Associated Press has obtained a copy of a manifesto which the French anarchists in London have secretly prepared for distribution in Paris. The manifesto is headed "Anarchy, to the Oppressed Class." The manifesto says: "This first dynamite explosion will not be the last by you examples. Since 1871, when you suppressed Paris like a mutinous horse and increased Syrian population, the republic has been turned into a sea of thieves, adventurers, swindlers, the minister Thiers, the traitor Mac Mahon, the thief Grevy, and the swindler Carnot, whose the poor hungry masses were condemned to wither away or die of starvation in the streets.

"Do you think such a state of things can endure? No, revolution will be your job. We would you unlawful, and soon be the means of the morning and respectable, who cause you to lently like the labor regulars, so often because they fail to work. Times clerks and receipts deputies declared recently that you would have been shot like rabbits, but they are afraid to be hoist up by the neck. Don't let the miserable scoundrels responsible for the dynamite; they only want to entrap the poor fellows."

After a further denouncement of the scoundrels the manifesto proceeds to describe the dynamite bomb saying: "Dynamite bombs are the weapons of the oppressed class." The manifesto also says: "Some time ago, Ravachol, who followed the suite of Louiset with a bomb thrown in the midst of your soldiers' cave, to look out for your skins. That was merely a beginning. Moreover, you, who honestly prefer to surrender to being blown into shreds and into the air."

"Viva la revolution socialist! Viva l'Anarchie!"

Aside from the usual business of such gatherings the principles of union, first of Wisdom, second of the Kingdom of God, the gathering, and missions were treated upon, and the lessons we saw to each other fully shown. The Ward and Stake reports were very satisfactory, showing an increasing desire on the part of many to do their duty. HATS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

THE BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS SWARM WITH THE VERMIN.

An army of rats has taken possession of the World's Fair buildings, and since the closing of the exposition they are to be seen in droves in all parts of the grounds. Where they came from is a mystery to the janitors of the buildings, but judging from the vast numbers of the animals they must have congested from all parts of Hyde Park and Englewood. The workmen who are only engaged in tearing down the booths where imports and luxuries were served find regiments of the rodents inhabiting near the floors, in the walls and in all unused corners. In many instances a half dozen or more of the laborers stopped work on the destruction of booths and, armed with clubs, picks, shovels and stones, have drawn an onslaught on the rats. The scoundrels battling, notwithstanding the fact that the highest dignitaries of the exposition are quartered there, seem to be a favorite institution.—Chicago Times.

CATARRH IS CURED

By Drs. Shores and Shores, as the testimonial given below by Mr. Thomas clearly shows:

Mr. H. Thomas, a well known insurance agent, being the general agent of the Home Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Ohio, and the Home Life Insurance Co., of Ohio, suffered from catarrh, which had become so severe that he was obliged to give up his business and go to the Hot Springs, Ark., for a month, but without any good effect. He then came to Salt Lake City and placed himself under the care of Drs. Shores & Shores, and in a few months he was cured, and he now considers himself a sound man. Being on duty in the evening he could not hear the voice of his wife, and he was obliged to use a pick-up horn, and he was almost a deaf mute. Very always relied on him the Western Union. Cases of this kind have been not perhaps the rule but the exception.
