ENCIRCLED BY FIRE.

Forests in Flames and People Fleeing for their Lives.

LOST IN THE BURNING MASS.

Bridges Consumed.—Trains Abandoned —A Strong Wind Blowing.— People Panic Stricken.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 14.—A special to the Journal tonight from Marshfield, Wis., says the place is surrounded by a sheet of flames in the woods and the people in the country are fleeing for their lives. It is said that at least twenty-five persons have been cut off from escape. Two children, while trying to escape with their parents from their burning home, were lost in the dense smoke and were almost certainly incinerated. Several small settlements have already been consumed and horses, cattle, lumber, etc., destroyed. The refugees are flocking into Marshfield, which is under martial law.

A late dispatch says appearances indicate that a fire fully as disastrous as the great Peshtigo conflagration in '71 is in progress, and that the loss of life may be as great. A strong wind is blowing from the northwest, and the people are almost crazed with fear. The bridges along the Wisconsin Central lines near Marshfield were consumed and the trains abandoned. Marshfield is on the main line of the Wisconsin Central road, in a wood country, and has a population of about 5000.

Word was received tonight that Pewaukee, at which place there is a battery of coal kilns, is on fire. A party of men attempted to go there to render aid, but the stifling smoke drove them back. At least twenty-five or thirty families are homeless tonight. At 4 o'clock the fire gained this city's limits, but was met by every male citizen, who battled manfully and succeeded in keeping it out.

Reports are being brought in hourly by smoke-begrimed persons who live near here, of settlers who have been burned out. The whole country seems to be on fire, and many are the prayers offered up for rain tonight. A message from Stockbridge, five miles east, says five families came in early in the evening. The people are being taken out by railroads.

TWO CITIES IN FLAMES.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 14.—A telegram received at the railroad dispatcher's office at one o'clock this (Friday) morning says Marshfield and Junction City are burning.

DESTRUCTION THREATENED.

OMAHA, Sept. 14.—A Dearwood special to the Bee says a forest fire fanned by wind is sweeping rapidly down toward the city. Everybody has turned out, cutting down trees and endeavoring to check the flames. The entire destruction of the city is threatened.

SUCH PROPERTY DESTROYED.

MERRILL, Wis., Sept. 14.—A high wind all day fanned the smouldering forest fires into flames, and but for the fact that the wind is from the northeast of the city, would be in great danger. Terrible destruction to farms and property has been done. Two Finnish settlements have been threatened with total destruction.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

Comptroller Eckels Speaks in Confidence Strains.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Around a banquet board shaped like a horseshoe, emblematic of the good luck that attended Chicago during the panicky days of July, gathered the bankers of Chicago tonight to do honor to their guest, Comptroller of the Currency Eckels.

Responding to a toast in his honor, Eckels said in part: "Under the heavy burdens of the great expenditures made necessary by the enactment of your marvelous fair, you have yet maintained such a financial standing as has not alone drawn to you the admiration of the people here and elsewhere, but has been of inestimable value in preventing widespread disaster.

The comptroller referred to the conditions prevailing when a banquet was given him in New York, in July, and continued: "It cannot but be a source of mutual congratulation that the gathering of tonight is under other circumstances. The disasters then threatening, happily for us all, have passed away. The affrighted depository, confident that they have come injury to themselves, and feeling that the thousands of banking institutions which they suddenly and without cause doubted, are as yet in the years of their implicit confidence in them, are returning their money, that it may no longer lie in wasteful idleness, but again enter the channels of trade and give life to the deadened industries.

"On every hand is evidence of a better condition, so marked that he who runs may read. The paralysis which so insidiously came upon the people yielded to a degree when the President called Congress in special session to repeal the calamitous Sherman silver act. The success has been marvelous since the heroic treatment accorded it in the House of Representatives, and the recovery will be complete when the Senate, under the coercive force of public opinion, confirms the action of the House."

ASKET THE CHINESE.

Geary Insists on Having the Celestials Photographed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The subcommittee of the foreign affairs committee of the House held a meeting tonight at the residence of Governor Cleary, the chairman, to consider the Everett bill for an extension of the limit of time allowed for the Chinese to register until September 1, 1894. With practical unanimity the subcommittee agreed to perfect the law where it is legally defective, to deduct the time limit to six months instead of a year, as proposed in the original bill, and definitely define the term "Chinese laborers."

Representative Geary of California insisted that a provision be placed in the bill requiring the photographing of all Chinamen who registered under the law, or some other equally exact mode of identifying those who registered, in order to prevent the use of their certificates by others. It is evident that he intends to fight the bill, as agreed upon by the subcommittee tonight, both in the full committee and in the House.

A CURIOUS COMPLICATION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Judge Morrow this morning denied bail to the five Los Angeles Chinese now here awaiting the decision of the United States Supreme Court on their appeal from the district court's decision, keeping them with of habeas corpus. This makes a curious complication. The Chinese are at present in the custody of the United States marshal, who has confined them in the Alameda county jail, though, according to Judge Ross's decision, they cannot be imprisoned, as they have committed no crime; they cannot be deported, because of their appeal to the supreme court, and they cannot be free because of that appeal. The Chinese will bring suit against Marshal Lloyd for false imprisonment. If he releases them he will be guilty of contempt of the court of the northern district of California, which has refused them bail. If he does not release them, he is liable for damages on the ruling of the district court of Southern California, that they are not criminals, and cannot be imprisoned.

Payments Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—Moore & Smith, a lumber firm, and two branch rubber boot establishments suspended today. The liabilities are given by the Dun Agency as $375,000, including both those of the firm and the incorporated companies. The assets are $2,000,000.

FEDERAL ELECTION LAWS.

Majority and Minority Report on the Repeal Bills.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The majority report of the committee on the bill repealing the federal election laws recites that the purpose and object for which these laws were passed have long since passed away. Surely no officer of the law or any court could be left to determine when it is necessary to bring troops to the polls and Constitution too implicitly prohibits it.

With reference to those laws relating to the appointment, duties and composition of the supervisors of election and deputy marshals, the report goes into the constitutionality of the laws, which were passed under warrant of the section of the Constitution providing for elections, and says: "The object of legislation should be to prevent collisions between state and federal authority. The conditions they were designed to meet have happily passed away, and the laws which they cannot be too quickly erased from the statute books. Let every trace of reconstruction legislation be wiped from the books. Let the states understand that the elections are to their own hands, and if there has been fraud, coercion or force, they alone will suffer by it. Responding to the demand for purity in elections many states have enacted laws to protect and purify the ballot."

The report concludes that these statutes should be speedily repealed because they mix state and federal authority, because they have been and will be used as part of the machinery of political parties to torment friends and destroy enemies, because under them the rights of citizens have been taken from them; because their enactment shows distrust of the states and their ability to guard elections; and last because their repeal will eliminate the judiciary from the political arena and restore some what the confidence of the people in the integrity and impartiality of the Federal judiciary.

The minority report, prepared by Johnson of North Dakota, goes at length into the constitutionality of these laws; draws a picture of the conditions existing prior to their enactment in 1870, from a report prepared by Congressman Lawrence of Ohio, and the condition of affairs after their enactment, from a report of the Hon. "Pinkney" Cox, in 1877.

It is remarkable that the minority report does not even allude to the efforts of the election law to the South. This, Johnson says, is in accordance with the policy of the Republicans, not to raise the "bloody shirt" cry.

Arizona's Condition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Governor Hughes of Arizona has submitted his annual report to the secretary of the interior. It states that the year was one of the average prosperity and that the smuggling of Chinese continues unabated. The report makes a plea for statehood.

Failures.

ROCHESTER, Ill., Sept. 14.—Three manufacturing concerns, which, it is said, have been practically in the hands of their creditors for the past three months, assigned today, viz: Union Furniture company, capital, $125,000; Rockford Mantel and Furniture company, $100,000; Rock River Planing Mill company, $50,000.

Mizner Dying.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14.—It is reported that Henry H. Mizner, ex-Minister to the Central American States, is dying. Mizner was recalled from his post by ex-President Harrison on account of his action in the Barrundia affair. Chagrin at his failure to please the Harrison administration is said to be the cause of Mizner's illness.

A Large Draw Span.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Sept. 14.—The large draw span of the Terminal Railway company's bridge between this city and Omaha was completed and turned into position today. It is 287 feet long, and exceeds in length anything of the kind in the world.

Underground Judges.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 14.—The county judges of Dallas county, Mo., following the precedent set by their predecessors in their own county and by the circuit county judges, refuse to issue a tax levy to pay the bonds of the county amounting, with interest, to half a million dollars, pledged in aid of a railroad that was never built, which they are sued by United States Judge Phillips. Two of the judges are now hiding in the brush, seeking to escape the United States deputy marshals.

Cheap Silver.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A Vienna correspondent of the Times says the Hungarian government has reduced the official price of the silver mines from 90 to 57 florins per kilogram. Austria is expected to take the same step soon.

BRAZILIAN INSURRECTION.

Particulars of the Bombardment of the Forts of Rio.

Supposed to Be an Effort in Favor of the Establishment of Monarchy.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 14.—Dispatches are received here from Rio which give some idea of the bombardment which has taken place in the bay. The forts, as they reach Santos, are as follows: The rebel ships Aquidaban, Republica, and Tiradentes yesterday made an attempt to land soldiers and marines at Gamboa, in the bay of Rio. The insurgent ships are reported to have sent only the small repeating guns to Britoyo Gamoa, and their fire is supposed to have been intended more in the purpose of covering the landing of the marines than as a regular bombardment. The rebels had taken prisoners the officers of the gunboat Adjuez, and as this message was sent the insurgents were firing in the direction of the arsenal, with the appearance of blowing it up. The guns on the Aquidaba threatened forts at long range, for the rebel ships were not fourth enough to engage the forts, and the latter replied to the fire of the war vessels without apparent damage. At night there was a period of calm, but hostilities were expected to be resumed in the morning, unless a truce absolutely could be arrived at between the rebels and the government.

It is believed the rebel ships would be only too glad to cut to sea, but the contracted entrance to the Rio bay, with the sugar loaf on the left, and Fort Santa Cruz on the right, is a dangerous place for them to attempt to pass. The insurgents fired a few shots at the forts, but did not engage in the true sense. The sounds of the firing reaching the city, caused alarm among the inhabitants. The loss of life, so far as known, is only one, a woman, resting near the arsenal, killed through a falling brick.

Both sides seemed to know little about the battle, and particularly about artillery. At the rate things are going the war ships will soon have to surrender for lack of ammunition and provisions.

Rio itself was not bombarded. A few stray shells fell in city, the result of bad marksmanship, but no great damage was done.

No doubt many people on the shore are in sympathy with the insurgents, for the latter seem able to keep points connecting sail outside the bay. A few nights ago an attempt was made by a small steamer with some government army and navy officers on board to creep up to the insurgents at night. The tug had a torpedo boom rigged out ahead, and was steaming up to the apparently sleeping insurgents in the darkness, when the search lights were turned on and a second or so later a hail of machine gun bullets was flying. Happily for the turpentoists, the aim of the rebel sailors were very bad and the tug got away with all on board.

To Aid the Rebels.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—The Herald's Buenos Ayres dispatch says regarding the Brazilian revolution: The warship Riradentes, which still remains loyal, has put to sea. It is expected that she will meet the armed merchantman Britanica, which is coming to aid the rebel fleet. If the two vessels meet a desperate sea fight is inevitable.

The students in Sao Paulo have declared against President Peixoto. The foreign ships in the harbor remain neutral and have decided not to interfere with the revolution. Nothing unfavorable to Peixoto is allowed to pass over the wires. The Brazilians living in Buenos Ayres believe the success of the revolution means a restoration of the monarchy.

THE HOME SEEKERS.

An Alleged Plot to Burn a Railroad Bridge.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 14.—The thermometer registered 97 degrees at noon, but the hot wind died down and in its place came a breeze from the northwest. No deaths from sunstroke were reported today. The action of the interior department in provide a means to facilitate registration is heartily commended. The rumor that owners of fast horses had pointed to burn the railway bridges in the strip to handicap those who propose to make the race in excursion trains has caused much excitement. It is believed the patrol of troops established about the borders is sufficient to prevent the existence of all unauthorized persons and that the plan, if any exists, can be frustrated.

Cattlemen having ranges in the southwestern county have telegraphed the following protest to President Cleveland this afternoon:

"The undersigned cattlemen, thoroughly posed upon the condition of affairs here, respectfully protest against the registration system as carried on at the booths. Ten thousand people are now in line and thousands arrive on each train. A conflict between the parties not registered and the troops is imminent unless this system is abandoned. The honor of your administration is being jeopardized. Common humanity demands relief for honest settlers desiring to enter the strip but who cannot register."

At Orlando today over 8000 certificates were issued and the number of people demanding an opportunity to register was fully 10,000. The force of clerks at the booths there was increased again today and a night force put to work.

At Caldwell there is a plentiful water supply near the booths, and this relieved the suffering men in line. Fully 10,000 people are still waiting their opportunity to secure the previous certificate, and hundreds of people are coming on every block laden train. The number of certificates being issued during ten hours reached about 8,000, and it is believed that all will be accommodated.
