THE SCIENCE OF LIFE.

Prof. Whitsley's Lecture at the University Course on that Subject Last Night.

Following is a synopsis of Prof. Whitsley's lecture at the University last night:

In treating the subject, The Science of Life, Prof. J. Whitsley said: According to the doctrine of evolution, man has passed through all the progressive stages of this world's highest phenomenon—life—from a mere one primordial form up to the present wonderfully heterogeneous human age. He that man is indeed a microcosm, embracing in his very make and constitution all the fundamental principles of being. He is literally the epitome of the universe.

It is therefore in the wider study of nature we can best appreciate the special study of man. It was a favorite question with Sir William Hamilton, "that there was nothing in nature so great as man, and nothing in man so great as mind." All the longest known to science touch man and help to explain the science of his life. Hitherto the exceptional complexity of human nature has led to the notion also that neither man individually, nor man in society, can be a subject of science, in the exact sense in which this is true of the objects of outward nature. It is sufficient to say that any force are fixed, or chosen—free, to be a subject of science which allow one another something to operate; laws, although these laws may not have been discovered, nor even in the overturable by our existing resources. For agee the fluctuations of the weather confound the best observers in a guess, but recent science has wonderfully methodized the phenomenon of meteorology. It is true, as an American humorist tells us, "there is a great deal of human nature in man"—and this nature is profoundly obscure and intricate. Nevertheless we hold that a science of life is a possible science, sufficiently so at least as to yield the benefits of science—the increase of human happiness and the decrease of human suffering.

A very superficial survey of life will bring us to the conclusion that the very make of things are such and were manifestly intended to be seen, that if we were consciously intelligent and morally right, we should be individually, socially and psychically happy. Science already has so illuminated the dark sides of life as to inspire the hope that the very evils of life may be, if not altogether eliminated, yet reduced to a minimum that will be easily dealt with and easily borne. As the light spreads the darkness retreat.

Already considerable progress has been attained on some of the dullness of the science of life. We refer particularly to the recent advancement in biological and ecological studies; these two and not less physiology, psychology and ethics are closely related studies to the science of life. It has been said that he who knows his Bible only, does not know it well, so, if we would know well the science of human life, we must know something of those sciences closely allied to man.

We well remember the intense excitement occasioned by Professor Huxley's address before the British association, on "The physical basis of life." Bigotrial thundering was heard for weeks and months from the pulpits and in the press; but the proclamation, which Huxley then stated still remains, and more and more the physicists, the ecologists and statesmen in general are alive to the physical conditions of human life—there is not alone a physical basis, but there is the closest and most essential relationship between the two.

It is in no way surprising that in the list of sciences—the science of life is so recent—and to the thinking of some there is not yet, nor can there be, a science of life. Its formulation is not yet made with anything like completeness, and it should not be expected to have the exactness of some of the older sciences; but its future is unquestionably a great one, fraught with highest good to men and to the societies of men.

STEVENSON IN ARIZONA.

Tells of the Wonderful Fertility of the Soil—A Winter Paradise.

LAYTON, ARIZONA,
January 2, 1896.

To the Editor:

On the way to Bowie, Arizona, on the Southern Pacific railroad, by the courtesy of Mr. S. T. Goodman, general passenger agent, with a clergyman's pass. I left Deming, N. M., for Maricopa and Mesa City, Arizona. The country passed through is more like an open sea for its level view each way is as far as mortal vision possibly can discern. The earth is of a brown, sandy color, with but little vegetation in most places, with here and there a modest hill or low mountain without timber or anything to relieve the dull appearance, but I learn that after the rainy season grass starts up on here as well as in Old Mexico. Even the cactus plant is not so plentiful as in many other parts of our journey, but occasionally there and there small ones appear. No town, scarcely a habitation except stations until we come to Lordsburgh, twenty-five miles on our way. Here I did see one pig, one dog, one blacksmith shop, one store and Hotel rather strong unique.

About twenty-five miles on we pass some flooded extensive beds of considerable dimensions. This is about all to break the monotony of 100 miles except Cook's Peak near where the Mormon Battalion passed in 1846. The story of that important mission was before be told by the sufferers of those days.

We arrive at Evelston, Bowie station, Arizona, fifteen minutes late, being three hours and twenty-four minutes, running 108 miles. There are forty or fifty persons in this place. I was compelled to lay over here to await the train to Fairchild, on the Gila river, till next day. I am not to do missionary work in St. Joseph Stake and then return to this metropolis and on to Maricopa Stake. The accommodations at this hotel are very good. Nights are cool; days have May-like weather.

Saturday the 28th in due time the scream of the locomotive announced the arrival of Gila Valley, Globe & Northern R. R. train. It is about fifty miles to Thatcher. In due time, we glide to Commonwealth, where the Gila valley opens out from three to four miles in width and about twenty miles of Mormon settlements, between Mesa on the east and Fort Thomas, on both sides of the river. There are also wards on the river, and one, St. David, on the San Pedro river, 100 miles up the Mexican Pacific railroad. President C. Layton informed me that now he throws an irrigable tract of land on the north side of the river, and in the mild climate for many miles either by eye or foot.

Above the Mormon colonies is the home of the Mexicans, who are Mormons, as to the faith of the majority. President Layton lives at Frankland, about 10 miles above Commonwealth. Solfed is above this to wards trying town site by Layton, which is only about 3 or 4 miles from Thatcher. Central is a little town between Fort Thomas and Pima, 8 miles down the Gila river. Brother Layton has long 3 thousands of acres of lands between Commonwealth and Solfed and brought out several of the Mexican colonists. In his ground have houses erected. There are many very desirable homes in this valley. The soil is very productive, climate mild, although the cold snap now on is said to be one of the coldest known for many years. The winds are cool but the days are fine. Yesterday, that December, the crops of beans are not seen cleared—I was shown one piece which was sown this year and had been cut three times the same year. Two crops of grain are harvested in one year. It is informed that there are eighty miles of canals running out from the river to different points. It is marvelous to see what has been accomplished in clearing out the Mosaic thoroughfare, leaving up farms, building up many fine red and red brick houses, in the space of nine years. I looked over Brother Christopher Layton's ten acres of orchard and vineyard—some fig trees which he gathered two crops from last year. We measured some branches of pear, plum and prune trees, that measured at this past year's growth eight, ten and seven feet long. Oranges are only yellow in green and next month (January) lemons and other things will show very nicely. A creamery, cheese factory and ice machine are close by and on President Layton's premises his fine residence looms up with thousands of dollars out on it. Brother Layton has a real, merely lucern. One man said that he had cut over 200 cords of wood from his farm of nine-two growing.

Notwithstanding these many favorable circumstances, I find there is even this beautiful valley—and I certainly anyone of moderate means can find and build up a home in Arizona—is easier than in some cold, long winter countries. . . . Thatcher will become a fine place ere long. An enterprising man, patterning mill of small dimensions to begin with, would find some assistance, in the place of freighting all into the country a lot in. It is much needed here.

Since my visit and holding eight meetings I have found many old acquaintances—one of my old neighbors and one one who crossed the plains in my company in 1855. Sister Wirmarth East is living in Pima and was glad to meet her old captain. Her health is poor, age is creeping over her, but she looks happy in the good cause to which she enlisted in Texas. Many of her old Salt Lake friends will be pleased to learn of her fidelity to the cause of truth. She sends a Happy New Year to all her old friends. She is Stake president of the Relief Society. Philemon Merrill, of Mormon Battalion fame, also is one of the saints. Moses Curtis, of Michigan, who joined the Church in 1835; Marshal Fox, of Ogden; Lorenzo Johnson, of Springville, Utah county; William Boyle, of Payson, of old Missouri fame, and many old friends reside in these settlements and flourish with good homes.

The times crush an excellent market for butter, cheese, cows, etc. Plums bring 10cts per pound green, butter 30 to 50 cents, some little difference prevails in some parts. In Layton President Christopher Layton and family drove a fine span of horses with which he took us through the settlements. Lastly on New Year's day to Layton where we had two crowded meetings thus spending our Happy New Year's day. On the 2nd we took train at 10:30 to Bowie where we arrived safely and soon will be off for Bowie and St. David.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

The Theater was crowded again last night, at the second performance of 1896, and the enthusiasm of the spectators was as great as on the previous evening. The engagement closes tonight.

The management desires to state that the performance tonight will in every respect equal the previous ones. The company goes on to leave the city till tomorrow morning, and there is, therefore, ample time to present the play in its entirety.

Mrs Irvin's Widow Jones comes to the Theater on Friday and Saturday.

The attendance at the Grand and the Opera House certainly suffered somewhat from the strong competition at the Theater. Quite a few turned

The Cures

By Hood's Sarsaparilla are wonderful, but the explanation is simple. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood, and disease cannot resist its powerful curative powers. Read this: "My girl had blood disease when five years old. She was confined to her bed and for six or seven weeks the doctor applied weights to the flesh of her limb. When she got up she was unable to walk, had lost all her strength and day by day she became thinner. I read of a case of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and decided to give it to Lillian. When she had taken one bottle it had worked so much good that I kept on giving it to her until she had taken three bottles. Her appetite was then excellent and she was well and strong. She has good health for eight months and walks to school every day. I cannot say too much for

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

G. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited the springs, etc., from time, spending much money, but got no relief. Not could even any temporary relief. My limbs were swollen away so that I weighed only sixty-three pounds, my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being contracted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, sleep for days without, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was crazed by the sufferings that I endured day and night. The pains, at times, were so severe that I could possess relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged for six months, to prevent them from my joints from flying out of their sockets, but it did good only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I tried everything, and suffering the most acute torture, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to straighten, and at the close of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 185 pounds, and I can now care for my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."

OGDEN.

OGDEN, UTAH, JAN. 15, 1896.

Junction City Items.

The mayor has made his first appointments, which failed of confirmation, the vote being a tie. The Democratic committeemen from the Second ward voted with the Republicans, and the Republican committeemen for the same ward voted with the Democrats, for which no explanation has been made up to the present time.

An unusual large amount of sickness prevails at present in Ogden. The doctors report it as being in grippe in an altogether different form from previous epidemics. Several cases have proved fatal.

Substitute Child has been appointed stenographer of the county court in place of Probate Judge Parrin, whose term expires.

A marriage license has been issued to Dr. F. O. Beesley, 34, and Miss Rose Elliott, 22, both of Ogden. The wedding will be a stylish one.

City Recorder E. H. Anderson made his report, showing the finances in a satisfactory condition. The police and fire reports were noncommittal.

Postmaster Israel's two-year-old boy, Lemer Frederick, died of membranous croup.

Clean your blood with Garfield Tea Blood Purifier, made from herbs.

Hall's Hair Renewer restores the natural food and gland matter to the hair, and medicinal herbs for the scalp, curing dryness, baldness, dandruff and scalp sores.

The folly of prejudice is frequently shown by people who prefer to suffer for years rather than try an advertised remedy. The millions who have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and who have been cured of blood diseases, are cured. Be wise for common sense.

The sugar-coating, which makes Ayer's Pills so easy to take, dissolves immediately on reaching the stomach, and so permits the full strength and worth of the medicine to be promptly communicated. Ask your druggist for Ayer's Almanac, just out.

DON'T BE ROBBED BY BIG-FEE SPECIALISTS AND BIG-FEE DOCTORS.

Dr. G. W. Shores, "The People's Doctor," Places the Best Expert Specialty Service Within the Reach of All.

Read the following symptoms over carefully, mark those that you feel to your case and bring this to person or send them by mail to Dr. G. W. Shores and let him tell you whether you can be cured, how long it will take and just what it will cost to get a complete and permanent cure BEFORE YOU PAY OUT A CENT.

THE HEAD AND THROAT.

This form of catarrh is most common—snuffing from inflamed nasal passages which often extends down to the throat. Symptoms vary with the case, but are usually as follows:

"Is the nose stopped up?"
"Do you have nose bleeds?"
"Is the nose sore and raw inside?"
"Do you have a discharge from the nose?"
"Do your nostrils get sore in cold weather?"
"Do you have to hawk and spit to clear the throat?"
"Is your throat dry in the morning?"
"Do you have a ringing in the ears?"
"Are you in any way deaf?"
"Do you have a bad taste in your mouth?"
"Do you have a bad smell in your head?"
"Do you have a dull pain across the forehead?"
"Do you have a hacking cough?"
"Do you have a tickling in your throat?"
"Do your hands often get cold and numb?"

These symptoms mean that the disease poisons attack the nervous system. If you have any of these symptoms don't risk your health by neglect. Doctor Shores has cured hundreds of cases just like this.

THE BRONCHIAL TUBES.

When catarrh of the lung and throat is neglected or wrongly treated it invariably leads to bronchial tubes and often develops into the lungs. Catarrh germs will then take up further disease. Doctor Shores treats:

"Have you a cough?"
"Do you take cold easily?"
"Have you a pain in the side?"
"Do you have body sweats?"
"Do you cough in the mornings?"
"Do you have a tight feeling across the chest?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"

Don't risk neglecting these warnings—stop the disease before it reaches the lungs.

THE EARS.

Catarrh extends from the throat along the eustachian tubes into the ears, causing catarrhal complaint, deafness. Usually ears with little care by neglect, causing distressing:

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Is the wax dry in your ears?"
"Do you have frequent sores down your throat?"
"Do you have ringing noises when you have a cold?"

Don't neglect the first time hearing is temporarily disturbed. Doctor Shores can cure you now.

THE KIDNEYS.

Kidney disease results in two ways, by taking cold and by spreading into the kidneys from the nasal catarrhal poisons. Symptoms are:

"Do you have a dull ache in your loins?"
"Do you have pain in your back?"
"Do you have pain in your legs?"
"Do you have pain in your joints?"
"Is there puffiness under the eyes?"
"Do you have to get up often at night?"
"Is your water scanty or full of sediment?"

Don't neglect these warnings and risk Bright's disease kidney trouble. Cure it now.

THE LIVER.

The liver is affected by catarrhal poisons spreading from the nasal passages down the throat. Quickly cured with little cost by Doctor Shores' improved treatments.

"Do you get dizzy?"
"Have you a bad taste?"
"Do you feel miserable?"
"Do you get tired easily?"
"Do you have a bad liver?"
"Are your spells now at times?"
"Do you have trouble in breathing?"
"Do you have palpitation of the heart?"

These are the seven danger signs indicating disease of the liver. If you have any or all of them see Doctor Shores now and be cured.

THE STOMACH.

Catarrh of the stomach is usually caused by swallowing poisonous mucus which drops down from the head and throat, or acute, chronic cases with close cost by Doctor Shores' improved treatments.

"Is there nausea?"
"Do you feel a bad taste?"
"Are you constipated?"
"Is your tongue coated?"
"Do you have trouble after eating?"
"Is there a bad smell to your breath?"

Now is the time to be permanently cured. Doctor Shores is curing hundreds every week.

THE NERVES.

"Are you nervous?"
"Have you an energy?"
"Have you a good memory?"
"Is there a feeling of sadness?"
"Is your mind often confused?"
"Do you often have a lump in your throat?"
"Are your hands often wet and sweaty?"

These symptoms prove that the disease poisons affect the nervous system. If you have any of these don't risk your health by neglect. Doctor Shores has cured hundreds just like you.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Parcoric, Alcohol, Morphine, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called soothing syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that to most druggists morphine and opium are permitted to be sold without labeling these poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive rights to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have sunshine in your home?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.
