RECORD CROWD AT PURE FOOD SHOW

Manufacturers' Day Expected to Witness Banner Attendance At Auditorium.

BABIES HAVE TURN FRIDAY.

Chinese Wedding One of Features Planned for Saturday Evening —Elks' Purple Day.

This is Manufacturers' day at the Greater Salt Lake Pure Food and Industrial exposition, and no doubt before the doors of the Auditorium close at 11 o'clock tonight the record crowd of the week will have passed into the big Richards street building. The price of admission has been reduced to 10 cents, and every person holding a ticket today will be given a check entitling the holder to a chance for one of the 130 prizes, valued at $300, given by the manufacturers, and which will be drawn for and distributed at 10 o'clock tonight.

The prizes are arranged in a neat exhibit just back of the Hewlett booth which is most attractive. Manager A. A. Tremp is confident of a large crowd this evening and he has been hard at work preparing to receive the visitors. All Lakers are learning that the colored lights lead to the Auditorium and they are flocking there. The building is as clean as a new pin, and the handsome decorations were put up by John M. Snyder of Cleveland, O. Mr. Snyder has completed the work and will leave shortly for the coast.

BABIES' DAY FRIDAY.

Another big day will be Friday. It is Babies' day, and scores and scores of little ones upwards of six months of age will be taken to the show by fond mothers. There will be a prize for each mother and baby, given by the Kellogg Corn Flake company, and on Saturday, school children will be admitted for 5 cents each. They will also be given prizes.

UNIQUE ATTRACTION.

Manager Tremp is arranging for a rather unique attraction for Saturday night, and if he is successful in his efforts, there will be a Chinese wedding at the Auditorium, the contracting parties to be pretty Mon San and Lee Yung. Definite arrangements have not been made but Manager Tremp feels confident that the event will take place Saturday night.

Friday night will be for the Elks and the building will be ablaze with purple and white decorations. Special prizes will be given, and a most pleasant time is assured the antlered herd. Shoppers' and Salt Lake day proved a big success Wednesday, and the attendance was decidedly good. A number of special features will be on the program for next week, and there is every reason to confidently predict success for the show.

AMUSEMENTS

The Theater's next attraction will be the perennial success, "In Old Kentucky."

Shubert Theater—Society, with a large s, and a big section of the usual first nighters, were in attendance at the New Shubert last evening, when the widely heralded play, "The Man From Home" was presented for the first time in this city. Everyone who keeps in touch with eastern theatricals knows that this play came from the clever pens of Tarkington and Wilson, and that the peculiar homely talents of William Hodge were fitted to its central role. Mr. Hodge is not with the present company, but his place is very capably filled by Mr. Henry Hall, who in the role of the Indiana country lawyer, called on to deal with some of the intricate complications of life, diplomacy and crime in southern Europe, acquitted himself to the delight of all the truly loyal who love to see America ever on top.

The whole company and the general stage presentation were fully up to the Shubert standards, which are always high. Of the supporting cast, those deserving particular mention are Mr. Herman, an old friend of the legitimate days, who had the role of the Grand Duke, Mr. Reynolds, another old timer of the Frawley days as the Earl, John Martin as the Russian convict, and Mr. Trevor, who gave an excellent character sketch of the young English aristocrat.

The ladies were hardly up to the standard of the men, but Miss Meffert filled the role of the adventuress with care, and Miss Forbes, the American girl who came so near to trading herself off to an English degenerate until her American guardian upset the design, acted sweetly, though she hardly rose to the opportunities in the strong scene at the close.

The incidental music, rendered by genuine Italians, was a special feature and the new orchestra, under Prof. McClellan, which gave a strong list of numbers, both varied and timely, had several rounds of applause.

The bill will run through the week and is sure to do heavy business, for the play, while it cannot be ranked in the list of truly great dramas, is at all times natural, delightfully humorous and the interesting third act, suggestive alike of "For-get-Me-Not" and "Diplomacy," presents a scene thrilling enough for the tastes of any lover of melo drama.

The commanding general in charge of "The Man from Home" forces is the veteran Robert Brower, who has been coming to Salt Lake for more than a generation past. He was here most frequently at the head of the Kirke La-Shelle attractions, especially with the "Bonnie Brier Bush" company, and is an intimate friend of Bob Easton and wife. Mr. Brower knows every detail of the theatrical business, back of the curtain as well as in the box office; when he reached Salt Lake yesterday and found that the stage which must accommodate his 40-foot drops, was only 30 feet wide, his stage carpenter threw up his hands in despair and said the big and handsome Bay of Naples scene simply could not be put in place, whereupon Mr. Brower took off his coat, picked up a saw and cut the framework of the drop down to the required size, making a cyclorama effect of the rear drop. In other respects the scenery was made to fit the Shubert stage quite effectively.

Orpheum—An excellent and well balanced bill is attracting large audiences daily to the Orpheum. For the Thanksgiving day performances the advance sale was larger than usual. The bill runs through the week.

Colonial—"The Girl Question" will be seen this afternoon and evening and at the usual matinee Saturday. The engagement closes Saturday evening.

Next week's bill will be the western play entitled "In Wyoming."

Grand—"Brown of Harvard" with its big college episodes is proving a timely Thanksgiving piece, and is expected to draw heavily this afternoon and evening.

Bungalow—That wonder of the world, "Counsel, Jr," who scientists are unable to decide whether he is man or monkey, comes to the Bungalow theater tonight for a week's stay. This Simian is a marvel. He knows more than some men, and his appearance here costs the Bungalow management $1,000, a large sum to pay for one act in vaudeville. The management said yesterday that should Thursday be a bright sunshiny day, "Counsel, Jr.," would drive through the streets in a carriage. Believers in the Darwinian theory declare that "Council, Jr.," is a real specimen of the original "link" The continuous performance today runs from 1:30 o'clock p. m., until 10:30 p. m.

Miss Josselyn's Success—Miss Hazel Josselyn, who left Salt Lake two years ago with the De Wolf Hopper Co., has remained in the profession ever since, and word has just been received here that she has taken the place of Blanche Ring in "The Yanke Girl." Miss Josselyn is only 20 years of age, and her mother, Mrs. Emma Josselyn, of the Walker store, is naturally much gratified to hear of the recognition her daughter has received.

Mrs. L. C. Robinson and Miss Noble entertained at a beautifully appointed luncheon yesterday at the Alta club, the table being laid in the gold room and decorated in Thanksgiving effect, baskets of fruit being at each end of the table and the place-cards being in the shape of minature turkeys. A basket of violets formed the centerpiece flanked with vases of chrysanthemums and candelabra shaded in lavender. Covers were laid for 50 guests. Miss Flora Wilson, whose concert engagement next Monday will be the social event of next week, was the guest of honor. Miss Wilson, who has a charming personality, wore a Worth gown of ashes of roses velvet, trimmed with beautiful Irish lace specially designed and made for Queen Victoria's mother. This historic lace belonged to Secy. Wilson's uncle, Sir Andrew Lusk, who was knighted by Queen Victoria. Sir Andrew Lusk is now in his one hundred and second year. Lady Lusk is much interested in Miss Wilson's singing career and presented her with this beautiful gift, expressing her best wishes and hoping it would bring her good luck in her concert tour, requesting that after she had worn it, she should present it to a museum. The gown is made with a Dutch neck, and the waist is heavily trimmed with the lace. The skirt trimming extends around the skirt, the front panel being about 20 inches deep. The waist and skirt are edged with sable. In the morning Miss Wilson spoke at the luncheon given to the football team at the Commercial club. She delighted the boys with her reminiscences. She said her father determined to have all of his five sons have college education, if he had to sell his farm to do so. One of the boys was tired of college but was most anxious to take dancing lessons. Secy. Wilson made a bargain that he would pay for dancing lessons if he would keep up with his class in geometry. He agreed to this and completed his college course. Another boy was persuaded to complete his college course and proved to be one of the best athletes in the college; has been a professor of Rookings college for six years. Miss Wilson was a visitor in Salt Lake six years ago, when she accompanied her father in his tour of the west, when he visited sugar factories, large fruit farms and the forests of the west.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT TABERNACLE

Seven Hundred People Attend Thanksgiving Service at Noon Today.

ADDRESS BY ELDER THOMAS

Musical Selections by Organist McClellan and Mrs. Lizzie Thomas Edward.

The special thanksgiving service in the tabernacle at noon today was attended by about 700 people, who enjoyed the music furnished by Organist McClellan and Mrs. Lizzie Thomas Edward, as well as the excellent though brief address delivered by Mathonihah Thomas on the subject of Thanksgiving day.

The services, which were in charge of Benjamin Goddard, opened with a selection from Lohengrin, which was followed by prayer offered by Elder Goddard. The organist then rendered the "Communion in G," by Batiste, and "I Need Thee Every Hour," arranged by the performer.

Mrs. Lizzie Thomas Edward sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" in her usual excellent style, after which a short address was given by Elder Thomas. This was followed by the solo, "Beyond the Gates of Paradise," by Mrs. Edward, the closing selection being the "Pilgrims' Chorus," rendered on the organ.

ELDER THOMAS'S ADDRESS.

In his address Elder Thomas said in part: "It is a long time since the first thanksgiving was celebrated in 1621, and it needs no prophetic eye to see what we as a nation, have to feel thankful for today. We should feel thankful that we are at peace with all the world. The nation has had a phenomenal growth, in which there is also cause for thankfulness. Then there is also peace in the world, and the feeling of good will seems to be growing. Things are not altogether as we would like them, but progression along the lines of peace is noted. The spirit of peace is permeating the world and controlling the thoughts of the great men of this and other nations.

"We have cause to be thankful because of the progress that has been made by this nation in arbitrating difficulties instead of resorting to war. In the beginning, when it was announced that no religious test would be permitted in the United States under the Constitution, it was thought by some that the nation was irreverent, but the spirit underneath that provision was one of freedom and not irreverence or infidelity. The United States is not an irreverent nation, in spite of the fact that all may not recognize Christ as the Redeemer of the world. All acknowledge him as a great teacher, and the United States has established its name and power in the world as a Christian nation. There are very few who do not believe that God has cared for the nation from its infancy.

RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH.

"We should feel thankful that we have the right of free speech, and that the right to gather together and petition regarding our grievances is not denied us. No people in the world have had such a guarantee of liberty, and when the chief executive of the nation proclaims a day of Thanksgiving the people welcome it. Their thoughts turn to the early days when the small body of colonists met in 1621, and the spirit of thanksgiving continues to grow. We also have the right of free press, and more has been done in this direction in this country than in any other nation.

"Another thing which the people of the nation feel thankful for is the growth of education. Compulsory education has been established never more to be taken away, because the people are assured that the perpetuity of American institutions depends on the education of the children. For this reason the property of the people is taxed to provide education for the poor as well as the rich. The state desires all the children to have like opportunities regarding education. We are living in an age when the light of God has entered the souls of men, and they are demonstrating that they are holding these opportunities as stewards.

SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING.

"The nation has advanced in power during the year that has gone. Great crops have been harvested, and the executive of the nation did the right thing in declaring a day of thanksgiving. In the beginning the people offered their thanksgiving after they had gone through great trials. The spirit of thanksgiving has grown since that time, and the nation that does not forget to thank God for its blessings is a Christian nation. We should be thankful that God continues to hear our prayers, and that as a nation we have grown stronger and better, and as individuals we are growing to feel that all men are our brothers."

COURT NEWS

RAILROAD COMPANY ANSWERS.

Denver & Rio Grande Avers Franchises Estop Condemnation.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad company filed an answer Wednesday in the Third district court to the suit of Carl A. Ek and fifty others for an injunction restraining the railroad company from closing up Third and Fifth South streets and also a portion of Sixth West street which are being used for the yards and depot in the course of construction.

The railroad company contends that the franchises estop condemnation suits because the company is operating under these franchises granted by the city. It is also denied that the streets mentioned in the complaint have been tendered impassable to the property owners or that its occupancy has in any way damaged the plaintiffs. The railroad says that it has owned the property in litigation since 1867 and that on Jan. 25, 1901, and Jan. 3, 1906, the city council passed ordinances giving the company the right to close up the streets. The railroad company asks that the suit be dismissed.

SUPREME COURT ORDER.

The supreme court issued an order Wednesday against the plaintiffs in the suit of H. Otto Hanke et al., against Josiah Barnett and the Daly-West Mining company, which is returnable at 10 o'clock Monday morning to show cause why the appeal bond filed by the defendants should not operate as a supersedeas bond and stay the proceedings in the case pending the hearing of the appeal. The action was brought for a writ of mandate to compel the officers of the Daly-West Mining company to permit the plaintiffs to examine the books of the company. A writ of mandate was issued and the defendants appealed. Now they want the bond to operate as a stay of the examination of the books until the appeal is heard.

DESERTED ON WEDDING DAY.

Mrs. May Hentz filed suit Wednesday for divorce in the Third district court against Earl W. Hentz charging him with deserting her on the day after their wedding. They have a child William W. Hentz, five months old, of whom she asks the custody. She also asks for $10 a month alimony, $50 attorney's fees and her maiden name, May Carr. They were married May 10, 1909.

AMEND RULES OF PRACTISE.

The four judges of the Third district court met Wednesday and amended rules, 5 and 21 of the practise in the district court by adding the following paragraphs:

"Rule 15—Findings, judgments and decrees proposed shall, before being presented to the judge, be served upon opposing counsel, and the proof of service must show the hour as well as the day of service. Unless otherwise ordered in a particular case, 24 hours will be allowed to elapse after such service before signing, to enable opposing counsel to propose amendments in writing to the judge."

Rule 21 is amended by adding to it the following paragraph:

"Settings for trial will be made, except as hereinafter stated, only on the first Saturday in each month, but when the first Saturday is a holiday, settings will be made on the second Saturday in the month; and on such days will be made without other notice than this rule."

When, in exceptional cases, it is desired to make settings at other times, notice will be given by the clerk to attorneys of record in each case of the date upon which settings will be made, and without such notice a case cannot be brought to trial except by consent or by order on special application.

BUILDERS ARE SUED.

The Presbyterian board of missions was the plaintiff Wednesday in a suit against J. W. Barratt and others in the federal court for alleged breach of contract. The allegation is that the defendants did not construct the Presbyterian school at Logan according to contract.

MORRISON WANTS DAMAGES.

J. G. Morrison filed suit Wednesday against the Utah Light & Railway company to recover damages in the sum of $10,175 for injuries alleged to have been received by him Sept. 29, 1908, by being struck by a street car at Seventh South and West Temple streets. Morrison was riding in a delivery wagon of the Syms Grocery company when a car struck the vehicle and threw him against a trolley pole inflicting serious injuries.

BARBERS LICENSED.

Of 18 aspirants for tonsorial privileges examined by the state board of examiners of barbers, 12 were passed and six were disqualified. The successful ones being W. H. Brown of Bingham; Flansint Marchi, John I. Christensen and F. H. Howell of Tooele; John F. Ost, Dolph Horning, Holland Hair of Midway, J. F. De La Mare of Tooele, C. A. Carlson of Sandy, Ross Sprinkle, M. Kiura and Guy R. Draper of this city. Those disqualified were refused certificates because of the fact that they had not sufficient knowledge of the sanitary requirements of a barber shop, which is one of the most important requirements of the state law on the subject.

MEET FRIDAY NIGHT.

Manufacturers and Jobbers and Pure Food Commissioners.

E. W. Burke, state food and dairy commissioner of Wyoming, and H. G. Knight, state chemist of the same state, are Salt Lake visitors, and Wednesday afternoon they made an inspection of local factories, accompanied by Willard Hanson, state food and dairy commissioner. Friday night the local manufacturers and jobbers will hold a meeting at the Commercial club and the visitors will attend it. They are interested in a movement started recently to secure more uniformity in the pure food laws of the western states.

Dan Grow, who lives at Fourth North and Second West streets, and John Aldrich, a neighbor, are locked up in the city jail charged with burglarizing the store of the Fluff Rug company and getting away with $100 worth of property.

The arrest was brought about by a peculiar bar shoe on the horse attached to the rig with which the loot was hauled away. Officers noticed the tracks and followed them to the home of Grow, where all of the stolen property was found. Patrolmen Barker and Conyers worked up the case.
