he sent to the American legation. The promised letter was not sent. On the contrary the Chilean government called Montt, its minister at Washington, to demand Egan's recall, because he was persona non grata. Blaine's reply to the request for Egan's recall was delivered yesterday. Instead of being an instruction to Egan to return home, it instructed the American minister to deliver the ultimatum of the United States to the Chilean authorities.

Minister Egan was instructed if the demand of the ultimatum is not complied with at once to sever diplomatic relations with the Chilean government.

The Chilean public are not aware of the gravity of the present situation, nor does it know that the American ultimatum is received. The Cabinet has been acting secretly, and is accused in some quarters not only of giving false news to the public, but also of keeping the real facts from the committee of state. Vague and uncertain rumors have gained circulation in Santiago and Valparaiso, but the real danger is not generally known. Kennedy, the British minister, acting under instructions from the home government, went to Santiago this morning to offer the friendly office as a mediator. I am confident that the United States government will receive all its demands, and fully believe that the action of the Cabinet, in allowing the present complications to arise, will be censured tomorrow at the meeting of the chambers. There is a marked sentiment, however, in army and navy circles against admitting the American flag, should that be demanded. I am positively informed that the British Admiral Hotham is very much opposed to the British policy of the Chilean government. It was definitely ascertained today that Pereira, minister of foreign affairs, has sent Egan a formal notification that the Chilean government will reply tomorrow to the note containing the ultimatum of the United States.

PROBABLE EFFECT OF A WAR WITH CHILE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Post tomorrow will publish interviews with several prominent persons upon the Chilean subject, one with Representative Holman, who said: "There is no doubt of our ability to conquer Chile, but the principal thing to be taken into consideration is the effect war would have on the other South American nations. In course of time," said he, "you would see a close alliance between the countries of South America should this country wage war against Chile." Holman says in closing: "The Administration will receive the unqualified support of the Democratic House in any measure necessary to uphold the government's honor. There will be no question of party at all."

CHILE WAKES UP.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 24.—Excitement over the controversy with the United States is growing rapidly. The Valparaiso incident is the prevailing topic of conversation and the probable results of war are eagerly discussed. While it cannot be said that the excitement has reached the stage known as a war fever, yet the natural martial instincts of the Chilean people are greatly aroused. It was definitely ascertained today that Senor Pereira, the Chilean minister of foreign affairs, has sent United States Minister Egan a formal notification that the Chilean government will reply tomorrow to the note containing the ultimatum of the United States government. It is also learned that the British minister to Chile has received instructions from his government to offer his services as mediator to prevent war between Chile and the United States.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—The Daily News' Washington special representative says: Mr. Hopkins of Illinois said today: "I do not think President Harrison's message will call upon Congress for a declaration of war, but practically it will impose such a course, decendent upon Chile apologizing. I expect as a result of the message that a joint resolution will be passed by the House and Senate declaring that hostilities shall be commenced at the end of a certain period, unless in the meantime Chile shall have made such reparation as the country shall deem satisfactory."

SERIOUS DANGER OF WAR.

The Times Washington dispatch says: That there is more serious danger of trouble with Chile than at any previous time is conceded by those who hold the machinery of war or peace. This afternoon the President met Mr. Tracy, Commodore Folger of the naval ordnance department, and Commander Ramsay at the office of Secretary Tracy. They had a conference of two hours. One serious indication of trouble is that high officials are beginning to tell the truth to a few people, whom they know well.

THE POWDER WORKS ACTIVE.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Jan. 24.—The powder works of this city received a dispatch from Washington yesterday to rush the work of manufacturing gunpowder to its full capacity. Some of the works. Probably an increased force will be put to work at once.

GUN FACTORIES RUNNING NIGHT AND DAY.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—At the Midvale Steel Works, where forgings are being made for the guns for the new war ships, orders having been received from the navy department to rush the completion of the forgings, extra men have been put on, and the works are now running night and day. The same is true of the castings for the harbor defense ram now being built at Bath, Me.

WAR WITH CANADA NOW.

United States Officials Arrested in the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Jan. 23.—United States Customs Inspector Sol. Tuttle, Special Treasury Agent J. Converse Smith and W. Normoyle were arrested last night at the instance of J. J. Miller, a merchant tailor, on the charge of conspiracy. The affair appears in the light of a dodge on the part of Miller, who already had been arrested for smuggling. Miller is supposed to be on the ocean at present, and the story goes that he is to be arrested on his arrival at New York or any other United States port at which the vessel touches. The treasury department has suspicion that a large quantity of clothing was actually smuggled into the United States. Miller's arrest is to be one of the results of the investigation. One of the points to be raised is the prosecution in the light of the United States treasury department officials to act as detectives in Canada.

LATEST NEWS.

Chile Preparing to Defend Herself if Necessary.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The Herald's Washington correspondential telegraphs to his paper that the rumor that the cruiser "Philadelphia" is on the way to the Mediterranean is unfoundedly true. The government says it is for purpose of the "Philadelphia" to keep a close watch of the Chilean craft "Captain Prat" and that the Chilean government will probably encounter difficulties in getting that vessel fitted for war purposes. It has been known to American naval officials for some time that the Chilean government is exerting every effort to get "Captain Prat" into a condition to leave Toulon at the moment that France fires the first gun or gives a declaration of war. It is the belief of the officials that the departure of the "Esmeralda," "Cassiar" and three other Chilean vessels from Valparaiso for the south has some further significance than that of assisting recruits to accompany in the departure from Valparaiso. The dispatching of the "Esmeralda" and other vessels southward is now thought to be part of a plan to enable "Captain Prat" to be assisted to get into Chilean waters at once, should war be declared. While "Prat" in her present unfinished condition and with a green crew, she would easily fall a victim to the "Philadelphia" and the Chilean doubtless realize this as well as the Americans do. The possession of a vessel means a great deal to Chile and that government will do everything in her power to get her out of a neutral port at once.

STARTLING NEWS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—According to a Washington correspondent a startling piece of information has reached the navy department which adds to the seriousness of the situation. The agents of the department have reported that "Captain Prat" is not the only Chilean vessel preparing for sea at the French ship yards, but the cruiser "Presidente Pinto" is fitting out for service at a French Atlantic port and is actually ready to sail. If Chile succeeds in her evident plan of delaying action in this country, for three or four weeks longer, the United States will find it a difficult matter to secure from that nation any terms, and a naval expert is authority for the statement that the United States would find it

IMPOSSIBLE TO DEFEAT THE CHILEANS

They already have a warlike fleet, armed and otherwise put in condition for actual service. They have increased their stock of torpedoes and supplied all ships with smokeless powder. They are at work on coast defenses and have so far progressed with the work that in a few weeks will see them on a very formidable war footing and one that will make a planned invasion of Chile by the United States fleet extremely difficult. The navy department is laboring under a disadvantage just now of having no source of information from Valparaiso, but the latest advices are anything but reassuring. The department people look upon the request for the recall of Egan as in reality emanating from this country, and that the prime movers in the measure are American Brun who care for much of their individual financial interests to allow the matter to go before Congress on its merits.

ARBITRATION.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—A correspondent of the Times at Santiago today telegraphs that paper that it is understood that Chile has agreed to submit her entire difference with the United States to arbitration.

COAL FOR OUR PACIFIC SQUADRON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—The Southern Pacific steamer "San Benito" has been chartered by the United States government to convey coal to Chile for the warship stores, and will probably be ready for sea by Friday. It is learned that at least three other ships will follow the "San Benito" on the same errand and the cruisers in Chile will soon have all the coal they need.

Senator Dubois has the Support of the Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The Senate committee on privileges and elections had a meeting this afternoon and decided by an almost unanimous vote to report in favor of Senator Dubois of Idaho in the contest of Claggett for the seat now occupied by the former in the United States Senate. The committee also decided by a unanimous vote to report in the case of Senator Chilton of Texas that his appointment was regular.

SECRETARY SPAULDING

Gives Information as to the Economic of the Government.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—By request of the ways and means committee, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Spaulding appeared before the committee today. The object was to secure official information as to the revenues and expenditures of the government as a preliminary to any possible tariff legislation. Spaulding made a comparison between the current fiscal year ended June 30, 1892, the year before and the year before that. He said the total revenue receipts (estimated) for the year would be $385,000,000, against $348,000,000 for the fiscal year of 1891. The actual receipts were $347,721,000 for the first six months of the current fiscal year, about $37,000,000 more than the expenditures for the corresponding six months. The expenditures (estimated) for the current fiscal year would be $356,000,000, or about $20,000,000 less than the estimated receipts. Spaulding stated that the postal receipts and expenditures were not included in his statement, but that the deficit in the postal department was included in the expenditures. To the surprise of everybody, tariff was not affected. The Secretary said that it would be necessary to take $40,000,000 out of the apparent surplus of $21,000,000 to provide for the sinking fund requirements. He added that in addition to the $21,000,000 apparent surplus there was "cash in the treasury of nearly $100,000,000 in excess of the legal $100,000,000, the reduction in the cash in the treasury the gold reserve of $100,000,000 held for the redemption of greenbacks amounting to $346,000,000.

Mr. Bryan (Neb.) asked if this gold reserve was available for Government expenses. Spaulding replied that he understood that Secretary Foster so construed it, and in reply to further inquiries Chairman Dunnerstone members, who desired to know if Congress had not sanctioned the gold reserve as set apart for a special purpose, he said that it was no one statute setting it aside. There might be a resolution setting it aside tacitly.

The discussion of the gold reserve soon resulted in a sharp quiz between the Democratic and Republican members of the committee, the former contending that the gold was a special purpose, and not available for ordinary purposes, while the latter asserted the contrary, McKenna declaring that many always spoke of it as part of the ordinary resources until Secretary Manning set them straight by his system of Treasury bookkeeping.

Mr. Dockery said that if Spaulding intended to imply that the Treasury was to get into a pinch, could the gold reserve be used?

Spaulding—Yes, sir, I think so.

Turner—Now, if some $20,000,000 bonds should be extended, don't you think it would create a panic?

Spaulding—No, sir. They were extended in the opinion of the government, but not of the holders.

McMillan, chief clerk of the warrant division of the Treasury Department, in reply to Mr. Turner, said: "The extension was not under the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury, but between the government and its creditors."

Turner said that unlike from the gold reserve, he understood that the chief of the Treasury Department showed a surplus of cash in the treasury of $35,000,000. Taking out the fractional silver and extending debt, there would not be any surplus, would there?" he inquired to MacClennan.

He replied "there would be a little left, but not very much," and to Bryan he said that the $10,000,000 on account of the sinking fund was still left out of the calculation.

In reply to Springer, McClennan said that, of the cash of last month the Treasury department had paid out upwards of $2,000,000 on account of sugar bounties. The department, however, did not have a direct appropriation, and there were "other things" to meet the French spoliation claims, for instance.

After some talk the committee adjourned.
