PARK CITY.

PARK CITY, UTAH, - OCT. 27, 1894.

Politics in the Park.

Politics in the Park during the past week has been moving along at a lively rate. The opera house has been occupied almost every night by one of the two parties, and the people are ever on the alert for amusement and instruction. The largest turnout of the week was on Wednesday night, when the Republicans held forth with Arthur Brown, of Salt Lake, and J. E. Booth of Provo as speakers. They were both well received and the large audience felt repaid for their attendance. Thursday night the Populists, with speakers from afar occupied the building with a surprisingly large turnout, but not much enthusiasm was shown, as the talk indulged in was not up to what the Park City people expected. Tonight the Democrats open their season here with Judge Powers as the chief attraction, and the Herald glee club is expected to be present to liven things up. The judge will no doubt be greeted by a big turnout. It is the intention of the party managers here to run a special train over the Utah Central from Salt Lake to the Alhambra to accommodate a large number of Salt Lake people who wish to come up to the meeting.

John A. Lenal, our talented artist, has [illegible] for the various political parties an abundance of banners, mottoes and streamers, and from an artistic standpoint they equal anything ever produced in U[illegible] that line.

In Mine and Mill.

The annual improvements at the mills in the way of repairs and painting have commenced. The Marsac mill is being treated to a new coat, and the Ontario mill is indulging in new paint. A general idea of the amount of paint and other materials required to paint the Ontario building, will be found in the statement that over 10 tons of oil and paint are required for the work. This will keep a small army of men employed for several weeks.

At the Ontario drain tunnel general work is being done in the way of permanent timbers, and the amount of water which will flow through this tunnel will in no wise interfere with the timber work. The men who have been employed in putting the tunnel through have been put to work in the mines, until further improvements in the tunnel have been decided upon.

At the Daly-West and Silver King mines work is going along as usual, and the King has commenced shipments of ore, while at the Daly-West the ore is being stored in bins until next spring, when it is expected the new Daly-West mill will be in running order so as to handle it. J. J. Daly and O. J. Salisbury have been in the Park during the week, but nothing of importance has been reported by them as to their future intentions.

The Anchor mill, after a shut down for general repairs, is again at work and concentrates are being moved forward at a lively rate. The idea of moving the mill to a point nearer the mine has been abandoned for this year, but next year it will surely be moved and increased in size.

Weather, Coal and Railroads.

The past [illegible] nights have been bitterly cold, and a large amount of snow has fallen in the surrounding hills. Winter is now on here for good, and soon snow will be of daily occurrence.

Both the Utah Central and Union Pacific railroads are putting their tracks in first-class condition, preparatory to the winter siege, and calculate to be able to handle snow better this year than heretofore.

The water mains on Main street are now in, and water is being supplied through the new pipes. The water company are not particular as to the condition in which they leave the streets, however, as witnessed by Main street.

During the week many teams hauling coal from Coalville have passed through the town. Upon inquiry it is learned that with so many idle teams, it pays to drive to Coalville for coal and sell it here in Park City at a less rate than the railroads sell the same coal for. While this state of affairs is not the best thing for the railroads, it shows a spirit of independence in the people to help themselves when opportunity offers. It is reported also that a great number of teams are at present engaged in hauling coal from Coalville into Salt Lake, and then getting their coal cheaper than they could get it from the railroad companies.

The Union Pacific pay car was in town this week on its regular trip paying off the men at this end of the road.

Notes and Personals.

R. C. Chambers came out from Salt Lake yesterday morning to remain in the camp several days looking over the many properties of which he is manager.

Church socials and suppers have occurred nearly every night during the week, and from now on they will be instituted to fill in the social life of the camp during the winter months.

The police of Park City are having an easy time as far as arrests are concerned, as it has been over four weeks since a single arrest has been made. This speaks well for the good order of the town.

A tank of sulphuric acid arrived for the Marsac refinery during the week, and the hauling of the same from tank to mill occupied one team three days. A pipe line is now proposed to be built to carry this acid from the cars to the mill, and thus avoid the danger of team work.

Supt. McCorkle of the public schools has been after the parents of the children who are not attending school, and the result is a very rapid increase in the attendance during the past week. Parents are too careless in this respect. Mr. McCorkle is trying to correct the evil, with a fair prospect of doing so.

WILL.

The Best Six Roses.

John N. May, an eastern florist, names as the best six roses to grow for cut flowers, covering the principal colors: The Bride, white; Bridesmaid, deep soft pink; Mme. Hoste, pale yellow; Souvenir de Wootton, light crimson; Mme. Cusin, deep rose shaded pink, and Perle des Jardins, deep yellow. These are all fine commercial varieties that sell in almost every section of the country. They also are good, steady, free bloomers, and the same treatment suits them all, and they can be grown together very nicely. If smaller kinds are preferred, you may add Niphetos for white and Sunset for deep pink.

Trees In Transportation.

It is not generally known that in sending trees to a distance the tighter they can be packed, provided they are not very wet, the better they will travel. Meehan's Monthly says that this is especially the case where evergreen trees are to be packed, provided the moss or material surrounding the branches is perfectly dry. Of course in the vicinity of roots considerable moisture has to be provided.

Driving the Brain

at the expense of the Body. While we drive the brain we must build up the body. Exercise, pure air—foods that make healthy flesh—refreshing sleep—such are methods. When loss of flesh, strength and nerve become apparent your physician will doubtless tell you that the quickest builder of all three is of Cod Liver Oil, which not only creates flesh of and in itself, but stimulates the appetite for other foods.
