DESERET EVENING NEWS

ANNIVERSARY NUMBER.

Thursday, April 6, 1899, being the 69th anniversary of the organization of the Church, the "News" will on that date publish a special edition enclosed in heavy paper covers, on the front page of which will be illustration of the six Temples thus far erected by the Church. In addition to the full telegraph and local news of the day, editorials, State news, etc., the number will contain the following specially prepared articles:

AN ENSIGN TO THE NATIONS, by Bishop O. F. Whitney, a condensed history of the Church, illustrated with pictures of Joseph Smith, the Prophet, and Presidents Brigham Young, John Taylor, Wilford Woodruff and Lorenzo Snow.

AN ANSWER TO INGERSOLL, by Chas. W. Penrose.

THE RISE OF BABYLON, by M. J. Rudall.

THE TEMPLES OF THE CHURCH.

A NEW INDUSTRY, OLD TIMES IN SALT LAKE, PROMINENT VISITORS INTERVIEWED, and

THE SALT PALACE (illustrated).

No advertisements will be received for this issue later than Tuesday evening, April 4, 1899.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The Twelfth ward Sunday school will resume its regular session tomorrow. The repairs on the meeting house have been completed.

A meeting of the city teachers was held this morning at the High school, where Clark Moreton distributed the substantial sum of $17,549.25 among them as March salary.

The Utah camp of the Woodmen of the World will give a ball at Christensen's on the evening of Monday, April 3rd. Among the attractions will be solo singing by Miss Lettie Levy.

It was unofficially stated today that the board of education would, within the next ten days, decide upon which of the three candidates for superintendent, Dr. Millspaugh as city superintendent, should be chosen.

The Rev. Mr. Moody magnanimously announced today that he would cancel his Monday evening's meeting in honor of the expected presence and lecture in the Tabernacle at that time of Ian MacLaren, the noted Scotch-English author and speaker.

The officers and members of the Salt Lake fire department are the recipients of an invitation to attend a grand ball to be given by the Park City fire department. It will be impossible, however, to accept the invitation owing, as the boys say, to the fact that business will not permit.

Last evening John Abbott, a "killer of the mill" from North Point, got mixed up in a runaway at the corner of South Temple and West Temple streets. His nags were quite badly gashed, and it required several stitches to close it. Mr. Abbot was able to return home that night.

A special meeting of the outside district promoters of the Salt Palace will be held on Monday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, at the old auditorium on Second South street. A meeting was to have been held at this place last night but there was not sufficient time in which to notify all concerned.

A ball will be given in the evening on Friday, April 7th, under the auspices of the Scandinavian committee on arrangements for the benefit of the fund now being gathered with the object in view of erecting a Latter-day Saints' meeting house in Copenhagen, Denmark. Numerous invitations are being sent out for this party, which, it is believed, will be a success.

One of the more attractive attractions will be the illustrated lecture on Quo Vadis or the Sign of the Cross at Assembly Hall on Wednesday evening by the well known humorist and lecturer, David C. Bangs, of Washington, D. C. The proceeds will be devoted to the establishment of a free kindergarten in connection with the public schools of this city, under the auspices of the Utah Kindergarten association.

"Ian Maclaren" (Rev. John Watson, D. D.) the eminent author and lecturer, is expected to arrive in Salt Lake at 9:30 a. m. Rio Grande Western train tomorrow. A good deal of interest exists regarding his visit, and it is hoped that the Assembly Hall will be filled on the occasion of his lecture, on "Traits of Scottish Character" at Assembly Hall tonight. The states which appear in his captivating manner stand out in conspicuous relief, and are as varied and lifelike that they are discernable among the Scottish peasantry of Drumtochty. The delineations exhibit those strong lights and shadows of Scottish human nature that can only be drawn by an author and orator possessing pre-eminent artistic genius. Although the writings and platform expressions of Mr. Watson are linted with the Scottish dialect, they can all be clearly understood by any English-speaking audience.

PROSECUTION IS NEARLY THROUGH.

Defense in Stoutt Shooting Case Will Soon Put in Testimony.

TWO DETECTIVES TESTIFY.

Cross-examination of Chief Pratt Concluded—Further Hearing Goes Over Until Monday.

When the Jones trial closed yesterday evening it was stated by County Attorney Putnam that the prosecution had only two more witnesses to examine before resting its case in chief. These two witnesses are Drs. Pinkerton and Worthington. The former was called in shortly after Mr. Stoutt had been shot and was present when Mr. Stoutt made the statement accusing Jones of having shot him. The defense will begin putting its testimony about Monday afternoon or Tuesday morning. As there are quite a number of witnesses to be examined on behalf of the defendant, there can be little doubt but what the case will not be submitted to the jury until next Friday or Saturday.

When the "News" report closed yesterday, Chief Pratt was being cross-examined by Mr. Brown. Afterwards Detective Gillespie was called and testified when court adjourned until Monday morning.

Brown—You said his demeanor made you think he was guilty?

Pratt—Yes.

"What did you expect him to do?"

"An innocent man accused of shooting his friend and that friend supposed to be dying, would have asked to be taken to his friend's bedside as quickly as possible."

"You thought Jones was guilty, and you have been hunting up evidence ever since to prove him so?"

"Yes, that is what I do."

"And you wanted to keep the knowledge of that evidence from Jones and his counsel?"

"I did. I wanted to keep it from his counsel for"

Brown (interrupting)—You can get your witness against his counsel off at some other time.

"Yes, that is reasonable," said the chief.

Counsel here read extracts from the Deseret News of an interview with Chief Pratt respecting his reason for wanting to hold Jones and the witness said the report was substantially correct.

Counsel then proceeded to question Chief Pratt in regard to the statements made by Officer Wightman and Officer Hedges having done the shooting.

"Jones made a little map to enable you to find Hedges?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"Did you ask him to do so?"

"I don't know. I may have done so."

"Jones said that he didn't accuse Hedges."

"Yes, he said, 'mind you, I don't accuse him.'"

"Did he say he didn't think Hedges was guilty?"

"No."

"Where did he say Hedges lived?"

"In a little court near Jones' house, near East Temple and Sixth South streets."

"When you accused Jones he simply said 'I didn't shoot Stoutt?'"

"That was the first time."

"You told him that Stoutt said he shot him and that you believed it?"

"I don't think I said that I believed it."

"That was the time he said that Stoutt was a d— liar?"

"Yes."

The witness was then asked about the experiments he made as to the possibility of recognizing persons at the following distances, the object in view being to ascertain the time Stoutt was when shot, without any change or modification being made in his direct testimony on that point.

"Did you ask Stoutt, when you went to his house that night, if he knew who shot him, and did he hesitate a moment and then say no?"

"Yes."

By Mr. Putnam: "Did he say anything further about it the first time you were there that evening?"

"He stated he didn't know who shot him."

"You had a further conversation with him on the subject?"

"Yes; in about five minutes after."

"What was that further conversation?"

Objected to and objection sustained.

"In the second talk did he say something in lieu of explanation of his first statement?"

"Yes."

"Dr. Pinkerton was there then?"

"Yes."

"When Jones told you that he walked down home with his wife after leaving the bank on the night of the shooting, did he say anything about another person, George Sutherland, being with them?"

"He did not."

"Did he say would it take to walk from the bank to Sixth South?"

"I have walked it in twelve minutes."

GILLESPIE TESTIFIES.

Detective Gillespie was next called. he was at Stoutt's on the night Stoutt was shot. Gillespie got on the 8:30 a. m. Rio Grande Western train tomorrow. A good deal of interest exists regarding his visit, and it is hoped that the Assembly Hall will be filled on the occasion of his lecture, on "Traits of Scottish Character" at Assembly Hall tonight. The states which appear in his captivating manner stand out in conspicuous relief, and are as varied and lifelike that they are discernable among the Scottish peasantry of Drumtochty. The delineations exhibit those strong lights and shadows of Scottish human nature that can only be drawn by an author and orator possessing pre-eminent artistic genius. Although the writings and platform expressions of Mr. Watson are linted with the Scottish dialect, they can all be clearly understood by any English-speaking audience.

thief. Chipman said there was a time when he would have believed Stoutt, but now he would not believe him under oath. Waldemar Van Cott said he didn't believe that Jones had shot Stoutt. Hal Brown was there too, and testified in the defense against Stoutt.

SHEETS CORROBORATES.

Detective Sheets next took the stand. His testimony was substantially the same as that of Detective Gillespie. Witness noticed that the sleeves and pockets of Jones' overcoat, and his gloves were wet when he came. If a man put a revolver, which had lately been discharged, in his pocket they would be very likely to smell of powder.

Chief Pratt, recalled, said that after Jones had gone home he had suggested to Jones what he wanted him for. That was before the witness had told Jones anything about the charge against him.

"You said you wanted to lock Jones up so he you might go and search his house?"

"Yes; I wanted to go and see if there were any weapons there, and to talk with his wife, the servant and any others that might be there, to find out what Jones had been doing, and to be staved, and any other evidence that I could find."

Further hearing of the case was then postponed until Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

WELL KNOWN IN SALT LAKE

Fate of War Overtook Lieutenant Gregg in the Philippines Yesterday.

At One Time He Belonged to the Sixteenth and Was Stationed at Fort Douglas.

It was a terrible shock to the many friends and acquaintances of Lieutenant John C. Gregg when the sad news came last evening that he was numbered among those who gave their lives in defense of their country's honor, in the battle in front of Manila. Lieutenant Gregg was for some time connected with the Sixteenth infantry at Fort Douglas. He was a very popular and efficient officer and his friends and admirers in the Fort, and in the city, mourn his loss.

Lieut. Gregg was born in the State of Pennsylvania and was appointed from that state to the military academy at West Point. He graduated in 1897 and was assigned as second lieutenant in the Sixteenth infantry. Subsequently he was made first lieutenant and transferred to the Eighteenth infantry and left Salt Lake on June 16, 1898. In May, 1898, he was again transferred. This time it was to the Fourth infantry, and he remained with that regiment until his young life was taken by the insurgent's bullet.

He was a splendid marksman among the officers and at Fort Sheridan—where he was for some time after leaving Fort Douglas—he was one of the department, he was first prize for superb shooting.

Manila, March 21.—General Hale's brigade advanced today from Marikina to the Mariquina river valley, almost to Montalban, driving the enemy to the hills to the north. Hales's army consisted of the Kansas and Nebraska regiments, the Utah battery and the Fourth cavalry and infantry school at Fort Leavenworth in charge. Major Jones, a brilliant examination here for promotion to first lieutenant in 1896. He went out of his regiment to join the Philippine army. During the war with Spain he was on General Lloyd Wheaton's staff, and received a brevet for gallantry at Tampa. Perceval Lowe, a Leavenworth officer, was a member of the Fourth infantry, on special duty in Manila, while his regiment was in Manila. To get into the Philippine service Gregg arranged a partnership with Lowe, and left the Sixteenth for the Fourth. He was very popular.
