THE DISTRICT COURT.

Young Holden O'Connor Revels in a Nomadic Life.

HE ESCAPES THE REFORM SCHOOL.

A Number of Small Motions Heard by Judge Merritt Today.

An intelligent and well dressed boy of thirteen, named Holden O'Connor, the son of a hack driver residing on east First South street, was taken before Chief Justice Merritt this morning with a view of his being sent to the Reform school; but the application did not carry.

He had been sent up from the police court simply as an "incorrigible;" there was no charge of actual wrong doing preferred against him.

Mrs. O'Connor, his mother, went upon the witness-stand and testified that the lad's weakness consisted in "traveling around," which he had been in the habit of doing for the last two or three years. He was not such a very bad boy, but would persist in going with companions who were no good to him. She had never known him to do anything criminal.

Judge Merritt—Is he a boy of vicious habits?

The mother answered no, and said that he was not impertinent to her; but his father was unable to control him.

"Why?" inquired the Judge; and Mrs. O'Connor answered—"I don't know why; but he cannot."

Judge Merritt asked if the boy was of a roving disposition.

His honor hit it exactly. Mrs. O'Connor replied yes—that he would remain at home only a week or so at a time and then leave the city on quite a long tour. "You can hardly mention a place he has not been to in the last three years," she added, "and I think it would be a good thing to send him to the Reform school."

Assistant District Attorney Howat did not see how, under the statute, the court could commit Holden to the Reform school. He was charged with incorrigibility; but he did not find anything here to warrant his being sent to the Reform school.

Neither did Judge Merritt; so the lad was allowed to go and left the court room with his parents.

MOTIONS.

It took Judge Merritt less than half an hour today to dispose of the motions reported below:

Board of Education vs Wm. Lister et al. Upon motion of Judge McDowell, attorney for the defendant Thos. F. Malloy, the complaint in intervention of the First National Bank of Portland was dismissed owing to failure to file cost bond within the required time.

John Garrett vs Christen Johnson et al. Decree of foreclosure and attorney's fee.

Board of Education vs Salt Lake Pressed Brick Co. Upon motion of Judge Howat, attorney for S. F. Walker, assignee of Mason & Co., and in accordance with stipulation on file to that effect, it was ordered that the clerk pay said assignee out of the funds in the hands of the court the sum of $625.

Louis Toso vs C. A. Hartman et al. Deficiency on judgment entered (on motion of plaintiff's attorney, Judge Henderson) as per U. S. Marshal's return.

ENTERPRISE AT GUNNISON.

Fine New Roller Mill.—Electricity Also.—Stone and Coal.

Correspondence DESERET NEWS.

GUNNISON, July 6, 1894.—At the Gunnison Rio Grande Western station is now going up a first class roller mill, located in the midst of the best agricultural and wheat raising country in Utah, at the junction of Sanpete and Sevier valleys. The enterprising firm, Childs, Franson & Tompson are pushing this enterprise with money, intelligence and hard work. N. C. Fallstrup has done the mason work. Franson and Tompson the frame work, and the Great Western Co. furnish the machinery, with all modern improvements.

The building is 32x60 feet, four stories high. The surplus water power is calculated to be sufficient to produce necessary electricity for Gunnison.

In the immediate neighborhood, is a mine of Kaolin, inviting the promoter's enterprise of manufacturing stone China and porcelain.

The coal mine of Six Mile Creek, is only seven miles off, to where the Sanpete Valley R. R. company is now surveying to extend its track. V. E.

Priesthood Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Priesthood of the Salt Lake Stake of Zion convened in the Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City, today, Saturday, July 7, 1894, at 11 a. m. Elders Angus M. Cannon, Joseph E. Taylor and Charles W. Penrose, the Presidency of the Stake, presiding. The attendance was quite large. All the wards of the Stake were properly represented, excepting the Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Granger. The First, Second, Third, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Twenty-third quorums of Elders were represented by their presiding officers.

The business of the meeting having been transacted, remarks were made by the following brethren in the order named:

ELDER ANGUS M. CANNON

spoke of the lack of uniformity in the recommends given by Bishops to men who were to be ordained Elders. There was a printed blank to be obtained at the DESERET NEWS office and it should be used. The name, full name, place of residence, and the priesthood that he holds, if any, should always be stated.

ELDER GEORGE GODDARD

referred to the Old Folks' picnic to Saltair on Tuesday next, and stated that the railway strike would prevent many attending from Utah and Weber counties. He gave instructions for the Relief Societies who were to assist in the management of the affair.

ELDER NELSON A. EMPEY added a few words upon the same subject. Picnic should be taken to the Rio Grande Western depot by 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. The train would leave at 9.

ELDER ROBERT HARRIS,

Bishop of Herriman, by request, reported the condition of that ward, where certain difficulties existed between the people and their presiding officer.

ELDER ANGUS M. CANNON, gave instructions regarding the duties of presiding officers in the wards, spoke of the unity that should exist between Bishops and their counselors, who as High Priests were set to preside, and the honor and respect that they should show each other. If the Bishopric were not united, how could they expect the people to be? Men in authority should set examples of humility. The proud would lose their influence with the people and their power with God. Bishops should not ignore their counselors, nor should counselors erect their heads over their Bishops. They should consult with each other and act in unison. The people should sustain their presiding officers in the performance of every duty, and if there were ill-feelings in the hearts of the people they should not partake of the Sacrament until such feelings were dispelled.

ELDER WILLIAM C. CRUMP, of Herriman, by request, made a few remarks upon the state of feeling in his settlement, and hoped it would soon improve. There was fault upon both sides, and no one man was altogether to blame.

ELDER JOSEPH RIDDELL, of the same place, also addressed the meeting.

ELDER CHARLES W. PENROSE

continued the subject dwelt upon by Elder Cannon. He showed that the Priesthood should be exercised in the spirit of kindness and persuasion. There should be no disposition to domineer and dictate. Reason and patience should prevail, not pride and passion. There was a strange spirit abroad, a spirit of strife and murmur and the Saints must be careful lest that spirit creep into their midst and create confusion and lead to darkness and destruction. The people composing this Church would not be driven. They were willing to be led. The true shepherd leads his flock; he does not go behind them with a club and a dog and drive them. The speaker explained the duties of Priests and Teachers as instructors and peacemakers. The Teachers had no right to act as judges, to give decisions and adjudicate matters. They were peacemakers, to pour in the oil and wine. The Bishops and their counselors and the High Councils constituted the courts of the Church. There was no "one man power" in this Church, and the disposition to domineer and tyrannize, was not of God. The spirit of the Gospel was the spirit of love.

ELDER JOSEPH E. TAYLOR

followed upon the same subject. In the main the Latter-day Saints were a good people. They could be led, and they should be led, not driven. He sympathized with the Bishops, their labors were arduous and many. They should have the love and support of their people. Where difficulties existed, fasting and prayer would avail to dispel harsh feelings and establish peace.

ELDER CANNON

added further words of advice and the meeting then adjourned until the first Saturday in August.

The Reason Why.

The deputy marshals' room in the Dooly building has presented an almost deserted appearance during the week. With about one exception all the deputies are doing "railroad duty" around Ogden.

The Silk and Fruit Industries.

It will be found to be very recommendable for the people of the Rocky mountains to raise silk, to can and dry fruit, etc., for their home use; and may be also to supply a home market where exchanges can be made on equitable terms in value of labor expended, and where the ruinous effects of the wicked money contraction can have nothing to do with it. But if our experience is worth anything in competing with pauper prices, these articles cannot be produced and manufactured for the market at much higher wages than from 1 to 3 cents per day's labor. The rural population of these regions are as yet not under the necessity of exchanging the fruits of their labor on any but legitimate terms, and have no inclination to engage in commercial competition at above prices.

But let us have some true data, presenting the real labor value, when applied to the silk and fruit raising and preparing for market. To give encouragement enough to cause people to engage in the necessary training and outlay of means will undoubtedly require considerable of a "protection," in order to raise it up to a paying commercial enterprise. There is generally what is called spare time in households, which perhaps profitably could be filled out in these and other industries. But our rural population have plenty to do that will afford them a living, without stooping down to labor for pauper wages. Let us have a fair trial of these home industries, and what profits there may be in them for wage earners, more than to engage in them for home use and consumption.

HONOR TO THE AGED

The Old Folks' Committee Issues the Address for 1894.

SALT LAKE AND DAVIS COUNTIES.

The Respected Veterans Invited to Enjoy Themselves at Saltair on Tuesday Next, July 10.

The Salt Lake & Los Angeles railway and the Saltair Bathing resort, through the courtesy of its management, enables the Old Folks' committee to extend their annual invitation to all persons over 70 years of age living in Salt Lake and Davis counties to participate in an excursion to Saltair on Tuesday, July 10, 1894. All excursionists over the age mentioned will on that day be treated to a free ride from Salt Lake City to Saltair and return; and through the kindness of Superintendent Bamberger, the old people from Davis county will also enjoy a free ride on the Great Salt Lake & Hot Springs railroad.

The invitation is extended to all classes without distinction as to race, faith or color—age only entitles those invited to the courtesies offered. Any person of the required age in Salt Lake and Davis counties is entitled to go after obtaining the necessary ticket.

Any old person who may be blind, much enfeebled or crippled is entitled to have an assistant, but such should be of mature age. We have no room for children or young people. Our guests will please observe this, as the invitation is extended to aged persons only.

All persons between the ages of 70 and 80 should wear a red badge; all between 80 and 90 a blue badge; all between 90 and 100 a white rosette.

The Salt Lake and Rapid Transit street railways will honor for passage to and from the depot all persons wearing the badges before named.

All over seventy living in the south and of Salt Lake valley must make their own arrangements for getting to Salt Lake City on the day of the excursion.

Tickets will be distributed by Mr. John Kirkman at the office of Bishop Wm. B. Preston, on Saturday and Monday, July 7th and 9th.

Every possible effort will be made to make the excursion one of genuine pleasure. The Old Folks' choir, under the leadership of Mr. Wm. Foster, will entertain the excursionists at the pavilion.

The special train carrying the Old Folks will leave the Rio Grande Western railroad depot, at Salt Lake City, at 9 o'clock a.m.

A lunch provided by the respective wards and denominations for their own aged people will be served in the pavilion. The provisions brought in by the respective wards, etc., should be properly boxed and labeled, and delivered at the box car which will be attached to the special train at the depot on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. Badges for the use of aged will be furnished by Mr. Wm. L. Binder, at the depot, on the morning of the excursion.

The committee is still dependent upon the public for aid in their efforts to honor the aged. Let no one be frightened at the cry of hard times! All who have this laudable work at heart can help us to make the outing this season, as on previous occasions, complete, by sending contributions to either member of the undersigned committee.
