SHOT HIMSELF.

William A. Pickering, Nineteen Years of Age, Takes His Life.

Last night about 10 o'clock, William A. Pickering, who has only had freedom his nineteenth year in his possession, entered the presence of his wife and baby. The young lady were living near Fourth and E streets. The occasion had been in a serious state of mind for some time past, and had been closely watched on account of remarks he has made, expressing his dissatisfaction with the condition in life and things generally.

Yesterday he good quite strangely from ever and after retiring from a few hours in the evening locked himself in a room alone. His wife, fearing something was wrong, endeavored to gain admission to his apartment, but his only object of her efforts was that he expressed the fear he if he rising to rest. A few shots in the room of the house he came out of the room with a revolver, of the Smith and Wesson pattern, leaving from his little finger. He said he was an assassin in which he was the young ladies, and entreated them to leave, but they did not allow so. One of the men tried to take the revolver from him, but he would not give it up. In a few minutes he went, Mr. Frank Pickering, arrived in company with Thomas Matthews, who while they were standing near the house preaching which so did to come, young Pickering stepped from the house, and fired a revolver into his own breast, falling upon the cell calling aloud at immediately. When Dr. Douglas arrived he pronounced life extinct, and the body was allowed to remain where it had fallen the Coroner Gibelbach arrived who gave permission to have the body taken to Undertaker William Taylor's office, where an inquest was held this morning.

At 10:30 a. m. today a jury was empaneled at the undertaker by Coroner Gibelbach and a verdict rendered that deceased came to his death from a pistol shot from his own hand, with suicidal intent, while in a fit of despondency.

Bicycle Ordinance.

In the police court this morning E. C. Allnutt and E. Bowker answered to a charge of violating the city bicycle ordinance. The former has evidence suspended during good behavior, while the latter's case was continued.

TEMPLE BLOCK GROUNDS.

Now Being Put in Shape for the Season by the Gardeners.

Mr. John Starley, who has charge of the Temple block grounds decorations, stated today that it is the design to have the gardening work on that sacred spot done on a more extensive scale this year than ever before. Around the point temporarily occupied by the monument of President Young, a new circular flower bed is being formed in which paths, eight feet wide, will be made from the northeast and southwest, northeast and northwest walks, and in the flower bed will be placed a similar monument of rare flowers. The monument in the other portions of the grounds are now being adorned with a number of a mosaic, and many new varieties of flowering plants will be placed as soon as the weather is generally settled. Among the new plants which will be set out in the new California monster lemon "Lemon." This plant originated in southern Pacific River, grows to a height of four or five feet and has a beautiful appearance resembling. In addition to the ordinary varieties of flowers will be the new varieties of potatoes, asters, etc., like the ones that are of the Southern Pacific, grown from their own stock, and raised from seed as an ordinary sugar cane.

On the north side of the grounds will be a new greenhouse, the foundation of which is already laid, in which will be grown, for more use, the plants, shrubs, etc., that may be required, the house now in use for this purpose being entirely too small for such general use. It is expected that many more bulbs in pots, vines, trees and shrubs will be sent from the Southern States and California, as tender vines, and bulbs lately sent from southern points, which will need proper care and be valuable as the wonderful vines of growth. It is the intention to make the surroundings of the Temple the most beautiful gardens in the world.

RAISING THE WATER.

George Hardy's Windmill Invention Perfected.

THE RESULT OF TEN YEARS' WORK.

For $150 and $2 a Year He Gets Water for a Hundred Farms—Has a Good Thing.

Representative George Beard, of Sacramento county, is in receipt of a letter written from Elkton, Douglas county, by George Hardy, in which the latter presents account of a great invention which he has perfected in the form of a windmill to operate pumps and raise the water flow of water to the surface for power, domestic and irrigation purposes. Thirty to fifty times water is worth the power to be able to bring out of wells, ponds, rivers, etc., where the lift is not more than from twenty to twenty feet, a greater distance than that means the quantity. The great value of Mr. Hardy's invention, if it is what he claims it can, and which he says he has demonstrated by practical experience, will be recognized at once by irrigators and others who have to deal with water as applied in the uses of man in this country. In describing his mill and its operation Mr. Hardy's letter says:

I have been at work upon it for the last ten years and have had two mills at work in some years, one in Iowa and another a twelve foot wheel, which were like a charm. While the work moderated, in fact it is only a matter of a wind and water supply. I have it at a high speed exhibition and am now securing a patent.

I am sending the photograph sent that I take the derrick between two of some poles, and they may be substituted by a tree or two more poles to take a good supply of water. I place two or more pumps in each central well, and, with a twelve foot wheel, in an average wind, I obtain a lifting power of one ton at each revolution of the wheel. The speed is from thirty to fifty revolutions per minute, with a device to regulate the speed so as to not injure the pumps.

I can raise water from a depth of from 100 to 200 feet. Of course I cannot raise the depth for less than another valve, but with a twelve foot wheel where the water is not more than 15 or 20 feet from the surface, I can easily raise enough water to irrigate a forty acre farm. With a twelve foot wheel I can raise water from a depth of 20 feet.

The machine very simple and durable, and would last over 20 for years of harvesting, and can be easily moved to any locality. I take pride in the fact that for the last years without present improvements, and I have only had to substitute in one new set of rocker valves and a little grease.

I can arrange the pumps all on the above back it will pump from a pond, lake or river. It is just the thing for placer mines, dams, ditchers or domestic use. I can attach a grindstone, churn, washing or clothes saw, or back sawing to saw a log small. I firmly believe that it will bring large sums of my labor into circulation, and make home for thousands who otherwise would be without them.

I shall hold one at Sacramento next month and I shall be pleased to have you come and see it work.

MRS. HARRY HYDE.

She Is Reported To Have Turned Over All Her Property to Her Husband.

The Cheyenne Tribune, March 10, 1896, wife of Harry Hyde, proprietor of the Capitol saw mills in the city and who formerly resided here, was at least found passed out No. 4 yesterday afternoon. She will return to her old home at Cedar Rapids, Ia. Mrs. E. Ford, daughter of a wealthy Salt Lake merchant accompanied her. George Gregory and wife, the latter a sister of Mrs. Hyde, went as far west as Lincoln on No. 2 yesterday to meet the lady, and returned to the city with them.

Mrs. Hyde, who occupied a state room in the Pullman, was approached by a Tribune reporter while the train was standing at the depot, and in reply to questions she said she did not care to be interviewed. She looked pale and showed clearly the effects of the terrible ordeal through which she has passed during the past eight days.

It was learned that before leaving Salt Lake Mrs. Hyde turned over all her property, which amounted to considerable, to her husband.

Went Out to Saltair.

A special train load of eastern people left on a visit to Saltair at 2 o'clock this afternoon as guests of Col. N. W. Clayton, manager of the Salt Lake & Los Angeles railway. The greater part of the company was made up of prominent citizens of Fremont City, Mo. Among them were Charles W. Hall, president of the Central National bank; D. C. Wooldridge, president of the Iron Chemical and Farmers' National bank; Arthur Fox, pastor; Charles H. Goodnight, the Boss of Hangman; Hall, president of the Fremont Land & D. Clingman, merchant; F. P. Fitzel, associated with the Eddy Stone Foundry, and Colonel E. Vance Humphrey, president of the state of Montgomery and W. M. Fitzhugh, a well known civil and mining engineer from San Francisco. The gentlemen in question declared themselves as being as equal to any visit to Utah.

TO THE LIBRARY'S RESCUE.

A Series of Excellent Entertainments Prepared for Its Benefit.

The Carnegie Library with its many attributes of highest literature, historical, scientific, philosophical, romantic, etc., is in the distress for the lack of funds. For some time past it very extensive has been jeopardized in that account, and at a meeting of the Salt Lake Press club last night, steps were formally taken to place it on a footing from which it will be able to extend its usefulness. The undertaking is of no mean or easy sort, and the club will ask for the assistance of literary and other societies and vaudeville talent in the accomplishment of the very desirable result.

The meeting at which the matter was discussed was one of the larger kind, there being present in the club rooms. A committee was appointed to organize with those who were present.

The committee is made up as follows: Miss Mabel, president; Lewis Scott, John W. Hughes and John E. Dennis, treasurer; and W. M. Stewart, corresponding secretary.

Other committees appointed were as follows:

Entertainment Committee—E. G. Cox, chairman; Grant H. Smith, Hamilton Kerr, J. H. Lindsay, James H. Ross.

House Committee—Kenneth Kerr, chairman; George E. Hunt, W. C. B. Adams.

Library Committee—Glen Miller, chairman; Edward Dennis, Joseph Lippman.

H. H. Roberts and H. W. Young were unanimous honorary members of the club.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Madame Modjeska opens a two night's engagement at the theatre this evening. Edwin Milton Royle, Selena Fetter Royle and Lucille Hutchinson have splendid parts in the new production, and the other members of the company, including Joe and Jennie of Friends as well as the new members, have congenial roles.

A special matinee of the dramatic performance at Murray, Saturday evening, will be the appearance of Miss Turner, the child prodigy who charmed all the kindergarten entertainment at the Tabernacle. Mr. Tucker will also be there. The affair is under the direction of Mr. Carson Clark.

At the Tabernacle concert tomorrow evening the following choices will be heard in addition to the usual:

Mrs. Nellie Drew Caine, Mrs. Bessie Dare Allen, Mrs. Annette Stevens, Miss Mary Rooney, Mr. George D. Pyper, Mr. Thomas Ashton, Mr. Hansen, Mr. Stanley, Mr. William Weiss, violinist. The Orpheus club, under director Pendleton, will make their first appearance in the Tabernacle since the death of the lamented director who added much thereto. Honors of season tickets have a chance to draw a free trip ticket to California with the choir and the drawing will take place during the concert. No price admission tickets will be sold, but only one draw.

How to Cure Rheumatism.

Akron, Ohio, Company, Jackson, Nebraska, [illegible] to inform you of the good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done in my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies recommended for that complaint but found no relief until she used the Pain Balm, which in a few days entirely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for this trouble. Yours truly, C. A. Brandon. For sale by druggists.
