HIS FIRST DEFEAT SIX YEARS AGO

How Terry McGovern Lost to Young Corbett at Hartford.

EDGREN RECALLS THE FIGHT.

But Few Queensbury Fans Believed Little Denverite Had a Ghost of Chance With Brooklyn Terror.

It seems only yesterday that Young Corbett and Terry McGovern fought at Hartford, writes Bob Edgren. Looking back over the long list of dates in my memory, some stand out so clearly in detail that it is hard to realize they were fought years ago.

And in all the list none stands out clearer than that one on the dull Thanksgiving day in the old Connecticut town six years ago.

Young Corbett came out of the west heralded as the new and husky fighter. None of Terry McGovern's admirers, of course, thought that the unknown Denver lad would have a chance to beat the Brooklyn idol. Terry McGovern and Sam Harris thought so less than all the rest. In fact, Sam brought Corbett on, paid his traveling expenses, and gave him a good share of the purse. Terry had cleaned up the featherweights in the east so thoroughly that there were none left to give him battle.

A week or so before the battle I went up to Hartford to see Young Corbett work and to get a line on his ability.

The little Denverite had taken off the layer of fat that surrounded his equatorial section when he arrived. He was training with Charlie Sieger, the "Iron Man." Perhaps Corbett showed off a little that day of my benefit. At any rate, he beat Sieger all over the place and wound up by knocking him cold with a right-hander flush on the chin.

After the training we went to a cafe for lunch. Corbett ate a huge steak. He wasn't a vegetarian.

As the steak disappeared Young Corbett told me what he expected to do.

"I'm no novice," he said, "although I've never been away from Denver before. I've whipped Broad and Bernstein and Sanfry—and Gardner and Dixon and a lot more. I'll whip McGovern just as easily. I know I will whip McGovern. I saw him box in Denver, and he's made for me. I've studied him out, and I know just what to do when we fight. He hasn't a chance on earth."

I couldn't help entertaining a feeling of pity as I looked over this young, ruddy, confident kid. He might have whipped a lot of others—but Terrible Terry—well, that was a different proposition.

On Thanksgiving afternoon the clubhouse at Hartford was packed to the doors. The time for the main event arrived. Young Corbett, walking past Terry's dressing room on his way to the ring, pounded on the door with his fists and called, "Come on, you McGovern, and take your licking."

At the bell McGovern swiftly attacked. But Corbett, instead of backing away like the other fighters he had been meeting, met him with a rush as fierce as his own and a smash that nearly lifted Terry from his feet. McGovern, with his most ferocious glare, rushed in savagely again and again, while the westerner, cold as ice, gave blow for blow.

The first round was an even affair. At the end of it the crowd, wild with excitement, raised the roof with a roar of cheers.

Then out came the little fighters again and swept instantly into a furious rally. Suddenly something happened. McGovern's blows were flailing about Corbett's ears, when the Denver lad lightly unshed Terry's head back with le left hand and instantly shot the right over to the tip of Terry's chin.

McGovern fell, lay for a moment, crawled to the ropes and slowly pulled himself up to his feet. Terry's back was toward the ring and his eyes were turned up toward the ceiling. Corbett, cold still, walked away and waited. Terry turned, saw his rival, and made for him with a bull-like rush. Corbett smashed him once as he came in, but was beaten back against the ropes. And here McGovern smashed madly away at him with both hands for half a minute, while Corbett covered up as best he could until the chance came to slip away.

It looked then as if Corbett must be beaten down. But he escaped and, still calm as ever, backed away toward the middle of the ring. Terry, following furiously, swung a vicious left, instantly Corbett letting the blow pass, crossed Terry on the chin with a savage right hook. Terry fell flat on his back and lay still. The fight was over. Ten seconds later McGovern, still unconscious, was dragged to his corner.

Then followed a dozen or more of little fights—mere pot boilers—after which Corbett met Hanlon again. This time Corbett was in shape and he gave the game little Frisco boy such a beating in 16 rounds that he never fought well afterward. Corbett beat Dave Sullivan in 11 rounds.

And then, at the height of his career, considered an invincible champion among the little men, he fought Jimmy Britt and lost. This was the beginning of Corbett's downfall. Discouraged, he fell into dissipation. He lost his stamina and fighting skill. He put on many pounds of fat. After a few indifferent short fights Corbett went back to San Francisco and fought Battling Nelson. The Dane knocked him out in 10 rounds. Corbett had thought it impossible for any one to knock him out. He got a return match with Nelson, trained long and painfully this time, and was knocked out again in nine rounds. Corbett's fighting career was over. He became a punching bag for the men who couldn't have whipped him a year ago. But even now he fought like a champion, neither giving nor asking for quarter. He fought the best men he could get matches with, and fought to win or be knocked out. He took his medicine. Hanlon beat him in 20 rounds. Aurelia Herrera knocked him out in five. Fighting Dick Hyland knocked him out in five. Coming back to New York and going into several months of hard training to make one last desperate attempt to "come back" He was knocked out by McGovern in Philadelphia, and later was badly beaten in six rounds by Tommy Murphy.

AGGIES ARE WILLING.

Logan Players Anxious to Get a Chance to Play St. Vincent.

Efforts are being made to raise sufficient funds to bring to Utah the St. Vincent college team, which walloped Utah recently, for a game with the Logan Aggies. Coach Walker stated last evening that he would like a game with the Los Angeles aggregation and believes that his team is capable of beating the team that won over Maddock's men.

The main trouble about bringing the team here is the expense. It would cost over $500 and the question arises: "Where is the money coming from?" If the amount can be raised the game will be played Saturday before Thanksgiving.

CLUB INCREASES ADDED MONEY IN ALL STAKES.

New York, Nov. 12.—Announcement is made by the Coney Island Jockey club of substantial increases in added money in almost all the stake events decided at the Sheepshead bay track, starting with the raising of the guaranteed value of the Suburban handicap, considered the foremost turf event in the country, to $25,000.

This increased liberality, it is stated, is an acknowledgment of the splendid success of the season that is now closing and betokens a willingness to share the profits that have been reaped with the owners of horses.

The announcement of the Coney Island Jockey Club was accompanied by one of similar purport from the Gravesend management stating that henceforth the guaranteed value of the Brooklyn handicap also will be $25,000.

INDIANS AND VACCINATION.

Tough Combination Which Coach Stagg Is Up Against.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Commissioner of Health Evans today issued an order that all members of the football team of Chicago university be vaccinated. The members of the team declare they will not be vaccinated, and Commissioner Evans has asserted that if they refuse to obey his orders he will cause the arrest of somebody. The Chicago men have a game scheduled with Carlisle Nov. 28, and they fear the effect of vaccination on the team's condition.

Two students of the university were today taken to the isolation hospital suffering with smallpox, one of them being a member of the freshman football team. The latter said that Hugo Bezdek, assistant coach of the team, refused to allow him to be vaccinated even after he had been in contact with a student who had the disease.

Commissioner Evans declared later that his afternoon he will send physicians to the university to vaccinate the members of the football team, and that if objections are made he will stop all football games for the season. He will not allow men who have been exposed to smallpox to mingle with other people, he said.

TO REGULATE FIGHTS.

Los Angeles, Nov. 11.—The city council today adopted a new ordinance which will regulate prize fighting in this city. It provides that contests are not to exceed ten rounds in length, prohibits the presence of a referee in the ring and forbids the use of any gloves lighter than six ounces. The action of the council is regarded as a compromise with the reform element. The measure will take effect within thirty days after its signing by Mayor Harper, who, it is believed, will offer no opposition.

FOOTBALLIST INJURED.

San Francisco, Nov. 11.—Ralph Butler, fullback for California in the intercollegiate game on Saturday, lies in a Berkeley hospital in a very serious condition. He has two broken ribs and his kidneys are dangerously affected, as the result of a kick received during the progress of the game.

AEROPLANE A SUCCESS.

Henry Farman Succeeds in Flying Kilometer and Returning.

Paris, Nov. 11.—Henry Farman this afternoon successfully accomplished the feat of flying a kilometer with his aeroplane and returning to the point of departure. The machine was under perfect control and displayed marvelous equilibrium, making the turn on even keel.

The aviation commission has been summoned to meet tomorrow, when an official attempt will be made to win the Deutsch Archdeacon prize of $2000 offered to the aviator who first completes a circular kilometer in the air.

JAPANESE WRESTLING.

Washington, Nov. 11.—An exhibition of Japanese wrestling was given in the east wing of the White House today, before President Roosevelt, the Japanese ambassador and a number of personal friends of the president. The bout was directed by Tamimon Hitachiyama, champion wrestler of Japan, who is on a tour of the country. The wrestling was done by two assistants of the champion.

Preliminary to the bout Mr. Hitachiyama, who is a man of large stature, gave an exhibition of his training.

The wrestling bout was divided into three trials, occupying about half an hour. The Japanese system of wrestling differs entirely from the European system, and those who witnessed the bout did not see in it the sport which usually attends an ordinary wrestling match.

"PENNY" GOSSIP.

The Lafayette football team has issued a challenge to play the Emersons. The Lafayettes deny they have been beaten by the challenged team.

G. J. Robinson met defeat last evening in the pool tournament at the hands of N. C. Williams. The score was 50 to 35. J. Peters beat F. Seymour, 100 to 96.

Boston, Nov. 11.—Cyclone Thompson of Illinois and Kid Goodman of Boston fought a twelve-round draw before the Copper Athletic club tonight.

At the Ogden roller skating rink a six day race on the little wheels is going on. Speedy skaters from Salt Lake, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Butte and other cities are entered. The contestants race 30 minutes each evening.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 11.—In a cutter race of Magdalena bay last Thursday the crew of the flagship Charleston defeated the crew from the cruiser St. Louis by ten seconds over a three-mile course. More than $7,000 was wagered on the race.

After the Attell fight, Freddie Weeks announced that he would not quit the ring but would try and work his way to the top again. He blames his defeat on the low weight and says that in the future he will not do better than 124 pounds for anyone. Attell said "bring on some more veneers! I need the money."

Tom Longboat, the Indian long distance runner, attempted to break the record between Hamilton and Toronto but collapsed four miles from the finish. He made good time until within twenty miles of the destination when he began to show signs of distress and when within four miles of Toronto he was compelled to stop. He started at 12:15 from Hamilton and it was 1:35 when he quit.

The Chicago Cubs will leave Tuesday for the Catalina Islands which will be reached in Chicago on November 21. Cubs hope to put up a good game against the Indians who also play Minneapolis this season. The eastern critics who have been watching the Cubs take up practice they are in fresh shape and if they get away in fresh shape they will be hard to beat, but if the other teams get in shape before the Cubs they are liable to be dangerous after that.

Frank Tolly of the All Hallows college football team is getting his eleven warriors into good shape for the game with the Carlisle Indians Thanksgiving day next. It will be the second game of the season between the two teams. The first game went to Dale by a score of 18. All Hallows boys think they should win the game. In the first game the collegians were in amazing hot weather condition for the struggle and they are working hard now and will undoubtedly give Carlisle a tough tussle. They are training every day and are practicing on new plays.

Next Saturday marks another important step for Maddock's men when they go to Dayton to meet the University of Notre Dame. Last season Maddock had no mix-up for gridiron and to see the work done was astonishing to everyone in attendance. It was the greatest team on the Indian lacrosse field this season. Dayton has had this game on its schedule for a long time and it promises to be a very hard game for the Indians. If the team is as good as it was last year it will be in shape for the big struggle. It will be because they have not trained properly to gain that end. Dickinson is one big stumbling block in Dayton's way but it is expected he will be all right for the game.

Matters were with the mound squad last night and enthusiasm and thoroughness were the watchwords.

Sleep And Rest

Every movement of the body consumes energy. So does mental effort. Energy is supplied by the nerves. It follows that physical or mental exhaustion simply means an over-draft on the nerves. Nature restores energy through rest and sleep. You cannot sleep with tired nerves. Dr. Miles' Nervine soothes the irritation and restores nervous energy.

"Although I have lived nearly 78 years, I have stood up against testimonials for publication, but the unequaled excellence of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, as a medicine for inherent insomnia, induced by long residence in a high altitude, compels me to recognize its superiority over every other medicine I have ever used for nervousness and sleeplessness. I feel sure that the Nervine is free from injurious nostrums found in most nerve lines for insomnia, and can conscientiously recommend it to the tired and nervous." MRS. W. H. PICKMAN, Colorado Springs, Colo.
